Kelly Re-union at Twelve O'clock Point

The third annual reunion of the Kelly family was held at Twelve o'Clock Point on Saturday, August 6, was a splendid success. The day was so pleasant that over one hundred members were present to enjoy the outing. Grace being sung dinner was served shortly after 12 o'clock, those enjoying the delicacies of the season, arranged on long tables.

The business was very capably managed by the president, Mr. Wm. H. Kelly, of Madoc. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Annie Lowery, mention being made of the four departed ones, all as the two marriages and three births since the last reunion. Little Miss Helen Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bartlett, received a prize for the youngest baby on the grounds. A collection was taken to pay expenses.

The president's interesting address was followed by the election of officers who are to hold office for two years:

President—Thomas Elliott.

Vice-President—Samuel Kelly.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. Annie Lowery.

Press Secretary—Miss Alice Morgan.

Sports Committee—Harry Grooms, chairman; Harry Kelly; Clifford Elliott, Mrs. Harry Kelly, Mrs. Doris Grooms.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Twelve o'Clock Point on the first Saturday in August, 1933, and that dinner be served at twelve o'clock. A committee to report next year was appointed to look over other grounds for the following year. A vote of thanks to the retiring president was very ably responded to.

The sports for the day were conducted under the management of the chairman of the sports committees, Mr. Harry Grooms, suitable prizes being given the winners:

Children's Race, 8 years and under—Bobbie Elliott and Mary Jane Grooms.

Children's Race, 8 years and under—Edna Morgan and Mary Grooms.

Children's Race, 10 years and under—Muriel Bartlett and Douglas Bonghton.

Children's Race, 12 years and under—Dorothy Grooms and Doris Morgan.

Children's Race, 15 years and under. Doris Grooms and Olive Howes.

Peanut Scramble—Zellah Grooms and Doris Morgan.

Men's Marshallow Race —Fred Elliott and Everett Elliott.

Shoe Kicking Contest—Mrs. Blake McMullen and Mrs. Murray Morgan.

Grandfathers' Race—S. J. Kelly and Wm. Kelly.

Grandmothers' Race—Mrs. W. C. Morgan and Mrs. S. G. Rose.

Watermelon eating contest—Thos. Elliott and Fred Elliott.

Girls', Boys'—Muriel Elliott and Lena Sutherland.

Lucky Number Prize—Mrs. Simpson Elliott, Sr., and Roswell Bedell.

The feather contest which closed the sports program furnished much amusement to contestants and onlookers alike.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in quiet talk among the older members while the younger ones enjoyed a dip in the waters of the Bay of Quinte. Then all returned to their homes feeling that it was a day well spent and hoping to meet another year.

FOXBORO GUILD

The August meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held in the Sunday School Room, August 10th, with the president, Mrs. James Lake in the chair. The meeting opened with Hymn 330, "All the Way My Saviour Leads Me"; Scripture lesson, 5th chapter of Revelations was read by Mrs. (Rev.) Hill; prayer by the president; minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Business was then discussed, followed by a reading by Mrs. Wil Woods; roll call with each member responding with a verse of Scripture; a solo by Mrs. Vermilyea; a selection on the piano by Miss Watt; collection; a reading by Mrs. Jacques; Hymn 464, "O Where are the Reapers that Garner In." The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

"Fair Competition" is Basis Reached Between Canada and British Isles

Canadian Tariff Board Has Yet to be Appointed

Delegates Elated Over The Big Step That Has Been Taken

OTTAWA, Aug. 13. — Canada Thursday afternoon bridged the last gap of uncertainty as to the sweeping success of the Imperial Economic Conference when the Behemoth Cabinet approved a proposal that will enable United Kingdom manufacturers to enter Canada on terms of fair competition with Canadian products.

The Canadian tariff board, still to be appointed, will be the court of last resort as to what constitutes fair competition, and British industry will be permitted to appear before and have its contentions heard and adjudicated.

Most Important Concession

The concession is the most important, from the British viewpoint, that has been offered, and in return for it and concessions previously announced by Canada, Britain freely declared Britain will very generally meet the concessions asked by Canada.

It is stated that Britain qualified her offer of a market for 1,330,000,000 board feet of soft lumber, of a million wheat and upon hoppers with the proviso that in return Canada would admit the principle of fair competition and establish means of determining the basis of such competition. The British proposal was that an Empire tariff tribunal be set up to deal solely with Empire tariffs. The Canadian Government took the position that determination of its fiscal policy could not be vested in any body not wholly Canadian.

A compromise was reached by the decision to use the machinery of the Canadian tariff board. Legislation to create such a board was passed by Parliament 14 months ago but the Government never made any appointments to it, because it was felt that such action should await the outcome of the present economic conference. The legislation setting up the board provided that it shall be solely a fact-finding body and that it shall investigate only such matters as are referred to it by the Minister of Finance. It is understood that the scope will be widened to enable industries, either British or Canadian, to bring their applications before it and have them dealt with.

Cabinet Accepts

At Thursday afternoon's Cabinet meeting it is understood the principle was accepted by Mr. Bennett's colleagues and that the form of the agreement has become a matter of draftsmanship.

The British delegation took the position that without this concession it was impossible for them to recommend to the British Government acceptance of preferences which would, in effect, perpetuate a tariff system in the United Kingdom. Without ability to enter the Canadian market on terms of fair competition, they could not, they asserted, justify long hours with their electors.

Granted that concession they were prepared to meet practically every request put forward in Canada's representations. It is understood a reservation was entered that the methods adopted by Canada to achieve the objectives might not in every instance be acceptable to work out with Canada alternate means to reach the desired end.

When it was apparent that the Bennett Cabinet had accepted the fair competition principle, spokesmen of the British party observed that the conference was as good as over —and a success. At once it was generally conceded that the result of next Thursday's plenary session will mark the end of the gathering and not merely the clearing up part of the work.

Manufacturers' Reaction

What is intriguing manufacturing interests represented in the Capital is in what terms "fair competition" is to be defined. There is assurance that they will include proper cognizance of labor and over head costs as well as consideration of exchange rates. The first reaction to news of the Government's concession was on the part of manufacturers in Canada, one of apprehension. Later the situation was considered less menacing, while the Government attitude was that granting of the right of fair competition to Britain in the Canadian market would be simply compensated for by a more active and prosperous market in Canada through money obtained by the sale of Canadian natural products in the British market.

It is stated that in adopting the principle urged by the United Kingdom, Canada expects to receive a higher preference on wheat than the three cents per bushel hitherto offered Wednesday, the request being renewed for 6 cents per bushel.

It is also expected to exercise an important influence upon the success of negotiations for removal of discrimination against Canadian feeder cattle and Canadian potatoes and for material preferences for bacon, dairy products, eggs and poultry.

Just how important a factor the Canadian decision of today is considered may be appreciated by the announcement of a British delegation spokesman, who said: "It looks very much as though the system of preferences and of tariffs has come to the United Kingdom to stay."

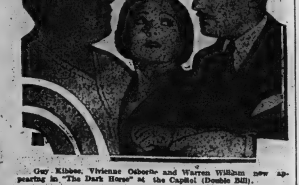
SECRECY IN NEGOTIATIONS OVER IRELAND

Sean T. O'Kelly and Rt. Hon. R. H. Thomas in Conference

PARLEY GOES ON

Ambiguous Statement Made in Free State Senate

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Interchanges between Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, British Secretary of State for the Dominions, and Sean T. O'Kelly, leader of the Irish Free State delegation to the Imperial Conference, continue to be shrouded in an atmosphere of secrecy. That these discussions have been going on practically since the Conference began is well known. Mr. O'Kelly and Mr. Thomas have frequently been to each other's company during the past three weeks, while one of the British leader's favorite diversions has been to engage the Irish delegates in auction bridge.



Linked up with those circumstances is the fact that Mr. O'Kelly has had a number of trans-Atlantic telephone conversations with President De Valera.

Deductions

In view of the fact that the Free State leader emphatically stated, on the floor of the Senate of the Dominion, that Ireland would not enter into any trade and negotiations with the United Kingdom or Ottawa, but still officially unconfirmed deduction was that Mr. O'Kelly and Mr. Thomas were continuing in London the discussions on the Anglo Irish situation which were interrupted in London by his departure for Mr. Thomas' side.

Observers place regard as significant the somewhat ambiguous statement made yesterday in the Free State Senate by Joseph Connolly, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs. When the Senate opposition directed his attention to the recent "overtures" of Sean Thomas Kelly, Irish Attorney General, and Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, and challenged him to respond Senator Connolly's reply, differed greatly in character from the previous statements of Mr. De Valera and Sean MacEntee, Finance Minister.

Mr. Connolly said he did not think it wise to deal at short notice with such important matters as the British Ministers' statements. "The situation is being availed day by day", he added "and outline of policy is being followed."

HITLER MEETS HINDENBURG

National Socialist Leader Invited to Meet President

Berlin, Aug. 13—Adolf Hitler, whose bid for the German chancellorship appears to grow stronger with each day, is coming to Berlin tomorrow to talk with President Von Hindenburg.

The President himself, who is reported as wavering from his determination to maintain a non-party Cabinet, summoned the National Socialist leader to come in and talk things over. Today Hitler was on vacation in the Bavarian Alps with other leaders of his party while the country celebrated Constitution Day, the 13th anniversary of the founding of the Republic.

Science would have been the slave of isolated facts and observations had imagination not filled the torch of hypothesis ahead of it.

Easy to Catch Mudcats, Perch and Sun Fish but try Landing a Fish Hawk

When ordinary angling for mudcats, bullheads, perch or bass showed no result, try fishing for gulls or fish hawks just to break the monotony. James Ling, now camping at Jones' Creek, heads the list of fishermen who have landed a fish hawk. He did it with ordinary bait, and without half trying.

The youth had been out on the waters adjacent to the camp, Thursday morning, casting for bass with an indifferent lure. Flying high over him swung a large osprey who eyed the boy, the boat and the plug in a manner as intent as that in which the boy eyed him. Once or twice it swooped low to take a look at the colored plug he was casting. On the final sweep it "struck" the lure on the end of the long line and started heavenward with the whole outfit. James describes the next few moments as being mostly hustle and tug. However, the bird after some frantic beating with wings managed to shake free of the straining line, gave a few hoarse squawks like a lurky gobbler, and then lit out for distant parts.

James thinks he practically undamaged after the battle with the bird which had wings "four feet across."

INJURED ARE MUCH BETTER

Dr. and Mrs. Cleaver Show Some Signs of Improvement

Barrie, Aug. 13.—A slight change for the better was noted Thursday in the condition of Rev. Dr. Robert Cleaver and his wife, who are in the Royal Victoria Hospital here, suffering serious injuries following an automobile crash here yesterday. The following bulletin was issued at 8 o'clock last evening by Dr. N. M. Laurie, who is attending them:

"Dr. Cleaver's condition is about the same, although very favorable. His wife's condition is slight. Cleaver's condition is unchanged, and if anything, somewhat improved although still critical. She has an appeared spine injury that has somewhat paralyzed both arms and her right leg. She is quite conscious.

Marat, one of the leading actors in the French Reign of Terror, declared himself in the terrible words: "I am the anger of the people."

LITHUANIA WINS APPEAL

World Court Finds Governor Had Right to Dismiss Boettcher

The Hague, Netherlands, Aug. 12—After three months deliberation, the world court today decided substantially in favor of Lithuania in a suit brought by Great Britain, Italy, France and Belgium.

The action had to do with the dismissal by Lithuanian authorities last February of Ott Boettcher, President of the council of Memel which was followed by the appointment of a new council and dissolution of the Memel Diet.

By a vote of 10 to 5 the court decided that the Governor of Memel was entitled to dismiss Boettcher, that the appointment of a new council was in order, but that dissolution of the Diet was not in order.

BYRD LOOKS OVER CRAFT

Explorer Says "Bear of Oakland" Not Like City of New York

Boston, Aug. 11—The Bear of Oakland, rugged veteran of the Byrd Antarctic fleet which Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd plans a second journey into the Antarctic, arrived in Boston harbor last night to be groomed for new adventure beneath the southern lights.

The Admiral with a group of army and navy officers members of former expeditions and guests, called down the harbor in the tug Lima to greet the vessel. As she hove in sight in President Roads her white sides and furled sails spectrally beneath a threatening sky, the Admiral said, "she sure doesn't look anything like the old City of New York at a distance." The City of New York was the craft in which the last Byrd expedition sailed into the frozen continent that formed the 6th Pole.

"IF IT'S CITIES SERVICE . . . IT HAS TO BE GOOD"

This Pressure Test is a check against stalling caused by "vapor lock"

If you are to start quickly, your gasoline must vaporize quickly. But if it vaporizes too quickly — before it reaches the cylinders — it bubbles and is apt to form in the feed line while your motor is running, breaking the flow of liquid fuel to the carburetor. When this happens, your motor misses — sputters, balks, may even stall. That is called "vapor lock."

To avoid "vapor lock," chemists check the "pressure" of gasoline — much as you check the pressure of your tires. They put a sample of gasoline in a sealed container with a pressure gauge attached. Then they heat the gasoline — and the pressure gauge shows how readily the gasolines vaporize

Cities Service chemists check vapor pressure, as well as power, quick starting, anti-knock, etc. Any one of these tests that shows a tendency to vapor lock is sent back to the refinery for more treating. Cities Service vapor lock depends in part on the temperature — any run which fails to fit the climate requirements of the section where it is to be sold is likewise rejected and refused for sale. That is the meaning of — "if it's Cities Service, it has to be good."

Cities Service—one of America's ten largest industrial organizations — broadcasts Fridays, 8 P.M. (E.D.T.), over WEAF and 33 N.B.C. stations.

NOT MOVING AS MUCH THIS YEAR

Truckers Are Less Busy Than For Years Past

Belleville folks, who in the past have religiously followed the ancient formula of packing their few longings together along about the middle of August and proceeded to find themselves new lodgings for the winter months are this year standing pat, declare local trucking concerns and movers, who are experiencing one of the quietest seasons they have had in some time. Many have decided that the memorial set aside at the one day in which to migrate to other quarters by the great army of movers also produced a like quietness and continuance in the old surroundings. However, while many moving plans have been forced to depend on other work for income with truck long distance movers have reduced so badly during the summer and up to now, according to their own statements. Many new arrivals in the city during the past few months have helped to reduce the number of empty houses and keep the trucking concerns busy. The majority of the new residents of the city are those who have acquired positions with different companies who have recently opened offices or sales rooms in Belleville.

CYNICISM PASSING

That the school of emotion or cynicism in literature is showing signs of disintegrating, is the view of Prof. Denis Saurat of the University of London, expressed in an address at the Summer School in Columbia University, New York. "The sense of responsibility which was lacking in the last ten years seems to be returning," he says.

His opinion is very interesting as he gives an analysis of the emotions which literature best describes. "The chief subject matter of literature is a description of love. Therefore, any literary school, if it has any real originality, has to have a new description of the emotion of love. In the last ten years there has been in literature such a new description, in which the emphasis has been put, first, on the physical side to the exclusion of the moral or the intellectual; and, second on the fragility of love, which does not last, fidelity being practically an impossible thing, jealousy then being the dominant note. This leads to a cynical view of human nature and a new view of the self as something very complex in which there is no permanent element.

"Among the various features of the human soul, such as reason, passion, imagination, this modern school says the emphasis on sensation, but among all the sensations it happens sometimes that there is one in particular which seems to have an eternal value; that is, the sensation of God. The modern school is also a mystical school."

Professor Saurat said the chief representatives of the modern school are Proust and Mauriac in France, Kafka in Germany, Hemingway in the United States and Lawrence, Joyce, Huxley and Hudson in England.

THE "PUSSIES"

The skunk has won his rights on the highway. Rightly so for he is a pretty animal and harmless unless he is attacked. There is no need of anyone attacking a skunk.

The skunk possesses a real armament which preserves him more than the shell of a turtle. If a skunk starts to cross a highway, it is not so much the reluctance to kill animal life which prompts a car driver to escape the beast by all means but the threat bottled up in its odorous fluid sack.

The skunk knows better than to trade this sack for the turtle's shell. A motorist would pounce down upon the shell though even at the risk of jarring his car a bit but the soft helpless body of the polecat is cut off such approach by the possession of this gas sack.

Nature when she gave the skunk the sack and armed it to its present proportion and use did not know it would one day help the black-and-white-striped animal to carry on its race from generation to generation in a world of wheels.

RIN-TIN TIN'S FAREWELL

Rin Tin Tin, the movie star, the monarch of dogs, has gone the way of all dogs. Monday was the end of his life as he had his last romp with his master.

Rin Tin Tin had been on the screen four years and in every way this highly intelligent dog did what earned him his just fame. In the movies he was the idol of all with his keen eye and his faithful guardianship.

He was a German police dog brought from the war and trained to do remarkable things.

His was not a mushroom fame, it was earned by his qualities of devotion, keenness, and his almost human qualities which have rank him the idol of childhood. Millions of boys will grieve for Rin Tin Tin as they would for their own pets.

Rin Tin Tin did more to popularize the police dog type throughout the North American continent than any other agency. The best of the breed, his class was taken up in every part of the country. There was also the infatuation with the very name of this breed, associated with the Great War and the police of Europe which made the police dog popular beyond all the larger breeds.

A COMING EVENT

School days are coming nearer as examination statements and the announcement of opening dates appear. Summer holidays have a knack of melting away all too soon, though even their end brings the inevitable joyous reward of revived associations and the opening of new wells of learning. Columbus-like on the brink of school days, the children gaze into the new continent of thought in the coming year's studies.

"Three months in jail," said the prisoner. "Splendid!"

"What do you mean, splendid?" demanded the judge, sternly.

"I'm tired and tired of my wife asking me where we're going for our summer holidays."

"TYPHOID MARY," once a familiar name in newspapers, a Front Page sensation or a decade ago, when it was discovered that Mary Mallon was a human carrier of virulent typhoid germs, has reappeared. Some inquiring newspaper man has discovered that "Typhoid Mary" lives in a little cottage on North Brother Island, New York City, where she has been practically a prisoner for seventeen years. She is in perfect health but she is under detention and probably will be until the end of her days. She works in the laboratories of a city hospital on the island, takes all her meals by herself in the little cottage and while she is not strictly a prisoner she is never allowed to get very far from the watchful eye of the city health department. She has never had the disease herself but fifty-seven cases, some of them fatal have been traced to her. All of which reminds us that there was a typhoid carrier in Belleville vicinity not so long ago, said to be responsible for an epidemic of typhoid fever. It would be interesting to know what, if any, restrictions have been put upon him.

YOUR THYROID DOES IT WORK AT ITS BEST?

Malfunctioning is Not Necessarily Serious

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

As you probably know, the thyroid gland is situated in the front of the neck just behind and below what is known as an Adams Apple. This gland is composed of two lobes, one in the center and two on the sides.

LOUIS E. BISCH

If the thyroid is functioning normally, there is no swelling which appears in the front of the neck, nor is their any pressure backward on the throat, but when the thyroid is not functioning normally, these and many other types of symptoms may develop.

At the outset I wish to make a reassuring statement: Although the thyroid is not working as it should, that does not mean that such malfunctioning is necessarily serious. There are many cases, for instances, where the thyroid varies, particularly during the monthly cycle, during pregnancy and during the menopause. This is a perfectly natural thing and no steps need be taken to overcome the condition.

The thyroid is one of the so-called "endocrine" glands. It secretes a powerful chemical substance, known as iodin, a substance which affects the general health and even the mental alertness of the individual. It is known that people who have too much thyroid in the system are likely to be highly vivacious, display considerable unrest, nervousness, excitability and irritation, and if the condition is progressive, they may develop what is known for a personality that is sluggish, dull, slow, inactive and there are no less mental apathy.

The strange part of it is that the thyroid may be enlarged, yet not give rise to symptoms of thyroid poisoning. On the other hand, if the gland is made up of a connective tissue framework within which only bodies of glandular substance are lodged, malargement therefore may come either from an increase of connective tissue or from an increase of glandular substance. In the former case the thyroid may become so enlarged as to form actually hangs on the shoulder. When the latter is the case, there is only an increase or glandular tissue may also cause the enlargement.

The value of the thyroid in the growth of children is well-known among scientists. A child who is not getting along well at school is frequently and simply because he is not getting as much thyroid as he should or as he should, and this sometimes can be overcome by the continual giving of thyroid extract in the proper dosage. A definite feeble-minded state, known as "cretinism" often occurs. This is due to a congenital deficiency of the gland of infancy but many belong in the higher mental ranges of imbecile and moron.

The way a Cretinous child improves, both mentally and physically, when thyroid is administered over a period of months is nothing short of marvelous; but the thyroid treatment in such cases must be kept up through life, or the patients soon slip back to their former state. Five grains are absolutely essential is the proper functioning of the thyroid.

Another thyroid deficiency state known as Myxoedema, appears in adults and is a very marked condition of insufficient thyroid secretion. Those suffering also, as a rule, gets well when thyroid is administered.

When thyroid is given it is usually in capsule or tablets made from sheep or hogs. To take such medication, however, without the advice of a doctor is not dangerous, especially for the heart action.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

A precocious child may not be an unmixed blessing. Such children are often over-stimulated and strung and need special attention. Often, too, they become classified because they learn too easily. However, they are more than worth the extra trouble they may make.

With her I fill my glass again.

More cheering to the lips and breast

And its name is Contentment.

Other Papers' Opinions

SPEED LAW OBSOLETE

The foolishness of a law that insists on 36 miles an hour as the maximum speed allowed for a motor car found expression from the bench on Saturday, when His Honor Judge Costello was summing up the evidence in the charge of criminal negligence against Percy Hale. In Judge Costello's opinion, did not show that the defendant was driving too fast when a driver must be governed entirely by circumstances. He must use the degree of caution which an ordinary prudent and cautious person would exercise under similar circumstances. This might under-some circumstances, be a good deal less than thirty-five miles an hour, but Hig Honor said it seems foolish to fix a legal limit of 36 miles an hour when two-thirds of car drivers drive at a much higher speed. Judge Costello pointed out that the idea that a driver must stick to the right side of the road was erroneous. He must pass another car when meeting it by turning to the right or must allow another car to pass him on the left when approaching or overtaking another car should pass on the left but otherwise had a right to travel on any part of the roadway. A motorist sometimes found it necessary to change from the right side of the road or in the centre of the road, and sometimes on the left of the road a motorist would avoid injuring the pedestrian.—Goderich Star.

BACK-TO-LAND

The back-to-the-land movement may not be as extensive as some of its friends would like to see it, but as less ample proportions, it will have a permanent value. There is room there has been too much readiness to believe that the towns are overcrowded and that money can be picked up there in abundance. The sad disappointment that has come to many who are far from being Klondykes. Wealth does not grow overnight and luring in the thought of receiving every week a salary which the farmer would take a month or more to make, the needs of a town life multiplied that wealth rapidly disappears as fast as it is earned.—Orillia Packet and Times.

MR. HOOVER'S COMEBACK

The great initial loss of confidence in Hoover occurred because at the outset, when the skies were overcast, he was not prepared for a lead; because he botched the tariff, and because he failed to bring about prohibition—because he showed a weakness rather than a sensational mind. If there had been no panic or depression, he would have lost considerable prestige because of these. It...If the depression has cost him much, it has also given him opportunity. It afforded him means, especially during the early years of his term and part of the ground he had yielded. His prestige has risen instead of fallen as he has shown himself a "comeback".—Prof. A. Nevens in Current History.

HUMAN SPEEDOMETER

It would be a mistake to assume that the citizens of Barrie have no neighbors. Many have other loving motorists who pass through Barrie daily because the only constable resorts to the rough-and-ready method of guessing the speed of the cars.

It is a fair guess that the average constable exceeds the speed limit but it is contrary to the principles of human nature to arrest each nobody on mere guess work, even when the guesser is Barrie's husband.

Chief Constable Stewart's indictment of motorists as being one of the worst drivers in the province is not entirely convincing. Barrie is a tempt to get back at his critics. If he had said that the average Torontonian frequently exceeds the speed limit, he would probably have been right. But they are not the worst drivers in the province—not by a considerable bit. The reason of the fact that it requires a great deal more skill in driving a car through the traffic in a city like Toronto than it does to drive a motor car in the country or in the smaller cities and towns of the province.

Nearly everybody breaks the speed limit, both in the city and in the country, but nearly every one is not a careless driver, and many of the safest drivers are men who frequently disregard the speed limit without fear of fatal repulsions.—Toronto Telegram.

AN OVERPAID TEACHER?

Nobody loves the teachers these days of salary slicing. It seems, and consequently it is just a surprise to find a situation such as the one which arose near Hamilton in the hiring of a pedagogue for a rural school.

Applicants? Yes there were about 450 of them. Other teachers who had quit their jobs because their salaries had been cut were glad to apply for this one. Then there was also a large number of newly graduated teachers, seeking their first period of schooling.

Work? That was the most plentiful thing. Teaching in a rural school carries a great burden of work because of the number of classes that have to be instructed at the one time. But the teacher chosen rose above all this. Besides teaching the ordinary subjects she undertook to add more to the curriculum, including elementary education, vocational training, physical training, religious knowledge, music and agriculture. Doubting will have to be removed from the category of the "white" jobs if this sort of thing continues.

Pay? This is the most important part of the whole matter. Considering the competition for the job, the high qualifications of the teacher selected, and the great amount of work she promised to do, one would think this was a job that was well paid position. As a matter of fact the teacher chosen will receive only $650 a year! This means $14.42 per week, or the only fair wages for an unskilled workman. Of course she will get two months' vacation in the summer, or a week at Easter and another at Christmas. Not counting this time, the brilliant young teacher will be paid $15.40 a week.

Under this rate of wages the lifetime to support herself and at the same time pay the cost of her tuition in the various schools she attended.—Lindsay Post.

USES OWN COFFIN AS DINNER TABLE

Perrie, Tex., Aug. 12—Far from the roar of his native Paris, the famous French artist, Henri Phillipe Hillo sits beside the coffin in which he is to be buried—waiting for death.

The coffin, covered with a cloth by Albert Schmidt, is also a dining table in his remote little cabin. Hillo made it here several years ago he drove into town with a neighboring rancher and out of his life's strange pattern. With the sallh casket with the silver handles, the self-appointed artist has erected a gravestone "At Rest".

He has no friends as he speaks in barely more than monosyllables. He was born in Paris, France, in 1842. He left an army lieutenant and joined the Union forces in the Civil War.

Old settlers describe him as having had more complete Indians during the early Indian wars than any other white man.

What made the bachelor to lead the life of a hermit, he alone knows. He...ried married and has no known relatives. He never writes nor receives letters.

Hamilton Leanders Win Heat Joe Wright and Mic-Mac are Eliminated in Rowing Events

FINE CHANCES

Reg Dixon Has Chance to Finish Second in Sailing

By ELMER DULMAGE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Los Angeles, Aug. 12.—The fourteen days of competition in the tenth renewal of the modern Olympic games nears the end. The final flag will be lifted, the last champion crowned in Olympic Stadium on Sunday but the international combat ceases tomorrow.

And Canada fights to the finish. She has chances for points all five of the closing events. The Hamilton Leander's eight-oared crew and Ned Pratt of Noel De Mille of Vancouver, doubles scullers, enter the semi-finals tomorrow. Horace Gwynne, Toronto, and George Meaghan, Montreal, get into action in Lock 3 today wind-ups, while Reginald Dixon of Pictou, Canada, races in the last of the Monotype Yachting events. If he finished well up in today's race Dixon may gain second place behind Ian Maas of Shiland, who had the title cinched.

Leanders in Final

Leanders gained the final of the eights with the British Cambridge crew, the University of California eight and Italian crew by virtually winning their reclassification trial yesterday. Hamilton rowed very smoothly and powerfully, had little trouble defeating Meiji and Japan in comparatively slow time.

But two other Canadian hopes, candidates, were knocked out of the picture. Joe Wright, Jr., of Toronto, former Diamond Sculls holder, failed to reach the final when he met Bill Miller of the United States and Guillermo Douglas of Uruguay. Miller won and Douglas took the South American by three lengths.

Halifax Micmac, gallant quartette of Nineteen rowers, lost heat to Germany and the United States after terrific battle in the elimination event of the fours without coxswain. Germany won by only a quarter of a length over the United States with the Micmacs hanging on a half a length further back at the finish.

Dixon gained a sixth, fourth and eleventh place in yesterday's monotype yacht races to wind up in fifth place in the point standing with 56 against 57 for Maas with France second, Spain third, Great Britain and Britain fifth. The star class championship went to Gilbert Gray of New Orleans, wound up yesterday with England second and skipper H. E. Wylie of Vancouver third.

Spence Still In.

In swimming Walter Spence of Montreal is the sole Canadian progressing in remaining events. He gained a second place in the 200-metre breast stroke trials, while Marjorie Norris of Montreal was eliminated in the semi-finals of the 100-metre backstroke. George Burrows of Lachine, Que., was fourth and Dick Wyndham of Victoria in the 400-metre free style, semi-finals.

Three Canadian girls were also eliminated in yesterday's swimming battles. Irene Price of Toronto, Ruth Kerr of Windsor and Betty Edwards of Toronto all found the pace ing too hard in the 400-metre free style for women.

P. E. COUNTY GIRLS' TEAM TO COMPETE

Prince Edward County will be represented in the Domestic Science Inter-County Judging Competition at Ottawa Exhibition, on August 22nd., by a team composed of Kathleen Giles, Ameliasburg; Merle Calnan, Picton; Marjorie MacDonald, Wellington. The field day competition by Misses Charlotte Wilson, Picton, and Mrs. Lyons, Bedneyville.

The dishes to be judged are:

Nutrition—School Lunches and Family Meals.

Clothing—House Dress and Patching.

The method followed in selecting the five girls is similar to the way in which the boys for the Inter-County teams are chosen—that is, they represent the individuals with the highest scores in the local competitions held in the counties of Hastings, Edith Hopkins of Lindsay, visited the County on Monday and held a demonstration for these girls at the Department of Agriculture. This is the first time a Domestic Science girls' team has competed at Ottawa.

CONTINENTALS WIN FIRST ONE

Score 15-1 Victory Over Railroaders in Final Series

TRENTON, August 12.— (Special)—Wolfe C.P.R. dropped the 5th game of the playoffs with the Continentals 15 to one, The game up until the sixth was the best ball we have yet. Both teams playing airtight, but in the sixth the first run of the game in the first inning. Begin getting on with a clean single and was scored by Tuyle. In the second the Continentals evened things up, when Richard hit one into the Bay for a homer. Neither team was able to do much in the innings the game going into the sixth, when Burtt hit a three base hit with three on. Johnson, the next man up also got on when Wolfe had a boner letting the local up to six. Bowler, who up until this stage of the game had been pitching ball was replaced by Burtt who held them during the remainder of the innings. In the next innings the insurance men collected another four, when Burtt allowed a hit to Cook then walked two men, when Hild hit another homer with three on. In the ninth they collected another four runs Culverson getting a homer the only one he has hit this year. He proved that he can more when he has to by the way he went around the bases. In the box Burtt was pitching getting eleven strikeouts walking three men and allowing only three hits during the entire nine innings. Culverson has too much speed for this league the boys can't get their swing started quick enough to hit the ball. He showed a change of pace drawing over a few slow ones, that nearly broke their backs. The Continentals have the advantage of having four pitchers but if Culverson keeps up the way he has they won't need them. Bowler has as much control as any pitcher in the league but lacks a little speed. Begin on second for the railroaders accounted for a number of the runs by the three errors he made. Lineups.

CHICAGO CUBS REGAIN FIRST PLACE IN NAT.

Defeat Pirates 3-2 in 10 Innings, Neither Hurler Finished

19TH VICTORY

Wes Ferrell of Indians Now Leading All in Games Won

(By Herbert W. Barker)

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Nine days after Charley Grimm took over the managerial reins, the Chicago Cubs have regained first place in the National League pennant race. Whether or not attributable to Grimm's managerial-mindedness the fact remains that the Cubs, under his handling, have won six of their last eight games, all on the road.

Their 3-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday gave them the top position in the eight-team race by inches and reinstated them in the pace-setting position for the first time since June 26th, when the Corsairs first took command.

Neither Hurler Finished.

The battle of the two leaders started out as a pitcher's duel between Steve Swetonic and Lon Warneke but both were around at the finish. Warneke went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth after the Pirates had counted twice on doubles by Gus Suhr and Earl Grace and a single by Floyd Vaughan. The Cubs tied it up in the eighth on a pinch double by Gudat, a single by Herman and Woody English's sacrifice fly. The went into extra innings, Vaughan's low throw to the plate in the 10th. Stephenson's single sent "Kiki" Cuyler home with the game and winning run, on Moore's long fly. The only other National League game of importance saw the Phillies end a six-game losing streak at the expense of the Boston Braves.

American League.

Action in the American League also was limited to two games. Wes Ferrell won his 19th victory of the season as Cleveland beat Detroit 3-0. Ferrell allowed only seven hits, widely scattered, to the Tigers. Whitehill granted the Indians only five safe hits when Cleveland made full use of them. Earl Averill's 27th homer accounted for one run and a single by Frank Pytlak, a sacrifice and Porter's single won it for another. The Indians' third tally came in the seventh on a walk, an error, a single and Joe Vosmik's double.

The St. Louis Browns walloped Ted Lyons for five runs in the fifth inning and won a ball game 6-5. What's more, it was the winning run was scored off Phil Gallivan in the sixth with Luke Appling's fumble a contributing factor.

COLLEGE HILL BOYS CHAMPS

Defeat Cannifton in Final Tilt By 7-6 Score

Replaying their final game for the championship of the Thurlow League, which was called off on account of darkness in the sixth innings last Thursday night, the College Hill "All stars" defeated the Cannifton "Sluggers" by the score of 7 to 6 last evening.

The College Hill lads took the lead in the first innings by batting five runs and never were headed after that rivals, who fought gamely back, however, the "Stars" added another counter in the fifth and another in the sixth to seal the scoring.

The "Sluggers" counted twice in the first, once in the third and once in the sixth but were their last and final stand, when they scored two runs. It came within one of tying up the old ball game, Doxtator, in centre field for the Cannifton boys, making a great player of the night, when he retired no less than seven players via the fly-out route Empson alone retired the side in the first innings when all three batters filed out to him. Pitcher Jenkinson was again on the hillton for the winners and although he hurled consistent ball was much wilder than the previous games. He was ably handled by Andy Carr, while Jim Carmichael did the catching for the losers with Bob Empson behind the bat.

Townsend of College Hill was the only player to hit for the circuit, when he crashed out a long three-bagger in the fifth to left field in the fifth frame for four bases. The 7 to 6 victory gives the College Hill boys the League title for 1932 and judging from the large crowd present last evening well they deserve their laurels.

The lineups:

College Hill—Jenkinson, Simpson, Meen, Elvins, G. Jenkinson, Townsend, Gray, Shrieder and Bushel.

Cannifton — Jarrell, Phillips, Empson, Webb, Whiting, Carmichael, Smallbrun, Loucks, White and T. Jarrell.

CURRENT SPORT
Knocks and Boosts

It was officially announced by Secretary Neet Thompson yesterday that Cobourg had defeated their postponed game of July 23rd by Belleville. This move places the Belleville Nationals in second place in the O.B.L. and gives them the right to meet Kingston in the league playoffs. This is the fifth consecutive year in which the Nationals have been in the league playoffs.

It was also decided that the playoff series was to be the best three out of five games, with the first game to take place at Belleville on Monday evening next. The second game will be played at Belleville on Wednesday afternoon, the third game in Kingston on Friday evening, the fourth game, if necessary, will be played at Belleville on Monday evening. In case both teams win two games the fifth game will be used for. The club winning the toss getting the choice of fields. Right here we wish to announce that Kingston gained the league that they were playing their final playoff games at their new Fair Grounds. This alone is joyous news in the camp of the Nationals, for the new grounds wins three straight games, however, the expense of the third game, including mileage, will be taken out and the net gate receipts split between the two participating clubs.

It is to be hoped that the Nationals can present their entire full line-up for the play-off series. Of late Manager Gerow has always been minus the services of one or two regular players during league games. The Nationals need the Kingston game on Wednesday and it is to be hoped that they still continue their present winning streak. Both Tommy Feinter and Carl Casey will be available and present for the series while Alex Weir will be given responsible on the hillyte in order to have him ready for said purpose, if necessary. The Parks have signed Fournier and Smith to rely on for pitching assistance while Morrow, who hurled excellent ball during his sojourn on the mound on Wednesday, is not eligible for the playoffs as he has not taken part in three league games.

* At a meeting of the executive of the Nationals held last night they were of the opinion that there was no chance to play a five game series, however, According to the league by-laws they must have at least two full weeks or more in order to play a five proposed five game series, so contended last night's meeting. In all probability we shall have more along these lines tomorrow.

Double-headers at this time of year are something of note. On Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. the first of the double-bill under O.B.A.A. playoffs has been scheduled to take place in Belleville when the Peterboro Juniors meet the local B.A.A.A. kids in Belleville. The game was supposed to have been played in Peterboro but the locals received word yesterday that the game would be played in Belleville. Coach Herbie Morris has had the Peterboro kids out twice this week and he feels quite confident that the kids can take the measure of the Peries. In all probability Ernie Smith, elongated right-hander of the locals, will get the pitching assignment for the day. If Smith is right he should win in a walk. The locals have been hitting the ball quite freely lately and Saturday afternoon should see a real classy ball game in Belleville.

Following the game the Picton intermediates are scheduled to play against the local juvenoris in the Bay of Quinte boys. This game also means everything to the lads as they must win to stay in the league running. Manager Campbell will throw Archie Campbell, his eccentric left hander, in against the Prince Edward lads and if he is at all near his form he should put the ball through with a win. The Vics have been a little slack in their hitting of late but after last night's practise Coach Channey Gerow announced that he intended changing his batting order and so as to give the team a little more punch on the offence. The intermediate game will directly follow the O.B.A.A. playdown fixture and the fans will be treated to two games for one admission.

Jack Corcoran announced during Wednesday night's wrestling bout that he was considering staging another "Strangling" show in Belleville in the near future. In fact if the "grunt and groan" artists get as even brisk in Belleville, Mr. Corcoran intends establishing a training camp here for some of his "rassers." If Mr. Corcoran intends staging another bout in the near future we would suggest that Hod La Rogue be given another chance at the Masked Marvel. The way in which the final bout of the evening terminated was not in any way satisfactory to the patrons. Many of the fans present seemed to think that the Marvel had not got even in Frenchman's sporting chance after the referee had forced La Rogue to break his hold. We feel that a return bout between these two wrestling wizards would go over in a big way.

U. S. SAILORS SWEEP CARD

Three Major Trophies of L. Y. R. A. Go to States

Cobourg, Ont., Aug. 12—(By The Canadian Press)—United States sailors had in their possession today the three major cups of the Lake Yacht Racing Association regatta which concluded yesterday.

Conewago, the Canada's Cup defender from Rochester Yacht Club, added to her laurels, when she sailed second to her sister ship Thisbe, to lift the Gooderham Cup. Conewago also annexed sufficient points in the first two days of the regatta, to make it unnecessary to win yesterday.

Shadow, R.Y.C. boat sailed by Newton Castle, campaigned successfully in the class "R" event to capture the Lipton trophy. Shadow although finishing behind Bobcat, of the Buffalo Canoe Club took the great 8 miles advantage from the previous day's sailing, for the latter's misfortune.

This victory entitles the Shadow to represent the LY.R.A. in the Richardson Cup race to be held on Lake St. Clair, August 6, 7 and 8.

Cayuga, later ship in other two winners, started the clean sweep by winning the Freeman Cup on Wednesday.

GAME IS WON BY PINCH HITTERS

Jimmy Ethier Realized a Ball Players Dream

Jimmie Ethier's home run in the last innings with the bases well populated gave the Continentals a thrilling 7-6 win over the Canada Cement ball team at Belleville last night. The game was a pitchers' battle from the first to the last innings with the score of 2 to 5 in favor of Cement when Jimmie Ethier realized a ball players dream of a lifetime by driving the ball over the fence in the last innings to eventually win the game.

Johnnie O'Dell opposed Earl "Sonny" Casey in the hilltop and both pitchers were in rare form keeping the hits well scattered. Gaulin and Lott were the only Cement lads batting for an extra base hit while H. Bawden collected four safeties. The Continentals use S. Tuttle, C. Tuttle and Vic Hannah each helped themselves to two hits apiece.

The win gives the Continental Rifle lads another chance at the play-off series for the championship of the Bay of Quinte League. Forfeball title, they having won the first game of the series by 15 to 6. The third game of the series will be played at the Cricket Field city by the Rifle lads. Insurance lads expect to make it three in a row.

PLAYOFF BERTH FOR CIACO NINE

Meet Belleville Fruit For Right to Play Maids in Finals

Considerable controversy followed Thursday night's girls' softball game, when the game was called in the last half of the sixth innings with the score standing 11 to 10 in favor of Ciaco over the National Maids.

Many different versions were handed out as to just what constituted a softball game. Some said 5 innings while others claimed 7 innings. After some lengthy argument, Secretary W. B. Vandervoort and President P. Deacon informed the teams, that the game stood as played and the Ciaco team would meet the Belleville Fruit nine in a sudden death game for the right to meet the league leading National Maids, tonight at 6.15 p.m.

The Ciaco nine literally pounded their way into the play-offs Thursday evening, when they hit the combined efforts on the mound, of Molly Gray and Jean Stewart, high up and far away for 13 hits in five innings. The Maids committed no less than six errors, which also helped in their downfall. Beatie Doolittle started on the hillop for the winners but was relieved by Vera Iley in the fourth of innings, when the Maids threatened.

Morgan, Baker and Day were the only three to hit for the circuit during the game, while Lela Empey and Pearl Tuttle were the best for the losers.

The lineups:

National Maids — Kelleher, Meiklejohn, Empey, Scott, Tuttle, Thrasher, Rowbotham, Gray, Stewart and Knoll.

Ciaco — Baker, Doolittle, Morgan, Howe, Verreaux, Thompson, Day, Canning and Iley.

In One Month I Looked 10 Years Younger

"There were wrinkles around my eyes and mouth and an alarming sagging of the chicken. To-day my complexion is fresh, firm and youthful—every bit as good as many of my girl friends who are fifteen years younger than I. It is due entirely to the wonderful discovery of a Vienna University Professor. His treatment it is now age that causes wrinkles but a lack of Blood in the human tissues. When applied in connection with other food ingredients Blood restores youth to the skin. In four weeks it has made me 10 years younger. I recommend every woman over 25 to try this marvellous discovery."

Crème Tokalon Skinfood, (Rose Colour) contains "Blood," a marvellous, highly concentrated tissue obtained from young animals. Discovered by Prof. Dr. Stockhl of the University of Vienna and used in his famous skin nourishing cream, in three weeks time from 55 to 72 years of age, wrinkles completely disappeared in 4 weeks. (See full report in Vienna Medical Journal).

Use this new Crème Tokalon Blood Skinfood (Rose Colour) at night—it nourishes and rejuvenates your skin while you sleep. In the morning use Crème Tokalon Skinfood (White Colour). This treatment is guaranteed to restore the expression of youth to the face and to give you a new and beautiful complexion in 28 days or your money will be refunded in full.

More than 5,000,000 tubes of this world wide, every day, discovery are used by Vienna women.

FIFTY CENT PIECE MAY PASS AS LEGAL TENDER

Vancouver, Aug. 12—The 50-cent piece is in a fair way to pass out of use as legal tender in Vancouver until the flood of numismatic coins of that denomination is stopped.

Only large corporations, it is stated by police to have taken in more than $100 worth of the spurious money, while other firms refuse acceptance of sums ranging from $50 to $500.

A number of persons detected passing the coins have been questioned by police, but in each case it was obvious they had accepted them innocently.

Hair Thrives Under Gentle Treatment

Every beauty shop operator who shampoos feminine tresses is familiar with the impatient customer who always waits to have her hair combed properly, but must thrash through the tangles, breaking delicate hairs. Then she runs with hirsute ravelings. She devastates her brush bristles. And now that she must display that smooth crown from which no curls escape, that lovely undulated glistener surface, she is committing a beauty crime.

Hair thrives only in gentle care through the scalp can take a lot of pummeling with zest and enjoyment. If a woman must get rough with her own head, let her concentrate her energies on the scalp. Comb, brush smoothly imperia to the hair ends. Then comb with deparsimonious, put on the gloss that makes possible those attractive lights and shadows that fascinate the eye.

Bring order to the tousled mop by using the coarse teeth of the comb. There won't be much to salvage then. Follow along with the finer teeth. Then use the brush which for best effect, is narrow, bristles not too close. What is known as the marcel brush serves very well. The huge affair that sweeps the way through yard-long locks is a clumsy beauty took now that the universal sisterhood has a membership of shorn lambs. The small brush is more sanitary, can be washed in a jiffy. Doesn't cost as much. One can, without bringing returning to Edmonton, after spend- extravagance, own two of them.

Brushing gives hair relief from that same old arrangement, the water wave, which plasters down. Now and then hair enjoys a riotous field day, achieved by brushing it the way it shouldn't go. Throw the head forward, curry from the back of the head upward to the crown. With head turned so one side groom from the ear upward. Brush the front portion from the crown of the head to the forehead hair line. Then, as a grand finale, take the hair, strand by strand, brush straight upward from the scalp.

This form of brushing is a part of service well known exponents of hair treatment. Its purpose is ventilation and invigoration of the scalp surface which the bristles or the brush touch lightly.

To prefer the shampoo with this method of curry-combing is to have surface and pretty well removed before the sudsing begins. The shampoo is a real luxury and hygiene. It locks emerge from their bath with more glisten, more of that live look which makes hair so fine. Its greatest benefits are two-fold when there is a thorough brushing beforehand and afterward. A ten minutes' friction with thumbs and fingers outstirred moving the flesh over and the skull. Hair and scalp thrive on it—dandruff is banished from the moorings, and the shower from the bathproof carries it away.

Hair-dressing pays a generous beauty dividend.

Terror in the Cockpit

By Maude L. Robinson

Sage and chaparral bordered the huge western landing field, lizards basked in the sun and rattlesnakes in the heat-baked earth. To Bob Hickey it was familiar country and he gave it no glance as he emerged from the hangar office stuffing several large envelopes under the pockets. He was dressed for flying. Before him, a dozen miles or more miles spin to Tamnerton, the airport's nearest city. He must cross a spiky range of young mountains before he would not choose to make a landing.

A group of circling mechanics behind him watched him go and he watched his speedy plane skim the field. Then he lifted her and held her until it suddenly zoomed up. They liked to watch Bob Hickey fly. He took no interest in anything but his plane and the upper air.

Bathed in clear western sunlight, soaked in the aquamarine of the sky, the ship was a mile of space cutting him off from the worries of earth, the steady purr of the motor as soothing to his ears as a bedtime song. Bob Hickey knew later joy. He was a airman born, not made. And it was a perfect day for flying. A slight re-touous young breeze added zest to the travels. One hand struck an air pocket and frowned a bit as he recovered and climbed. For, as the drowsed his ears caught a queer little noise.....he dropped him. Instinctively he grasped the stick the plane again. The sound was not imagined. He must have imagined it..... Below him the Coyote river threaded its way like a yellowish bit of twine dropped carelessly. Ahead of him were the low hills of the mountain range. It was time to climb.

Then the most startling, indisputable clarity—came the odd noise again, this time imperative and almost at his feet. It was the deadly whirr o rattler!

For ten seconds the place-roamed spark entirely on its own. In a brand new sensation of utter terror and for the first time in his entire carefree existence, Bickey was not in control of the situation. If one thing more than another chilled him to the bone it was a snake. He had let others attend to them when occasionally they appeared on the field itself. Once a brother pilot had found one lazying on a wing.....

The rattle came again, instinctively he drew up his feet...Peering down into the dark corner with loathing, Bob thought he could see the scaly bulk of his poisonous passenger. Panic seized him. Below, no landing place. Ahead of him the mountains where he needed all his skill to fly. Death was in here if he lingered. Death below if he dropped.

The sun was blazing but to him the sky was dull and grey, the air murky. He must conquer the panic-hisser stirred again. With one his veins and his nerves. Then he let his plane down, down.....

Only by such a method, to escape this horror which curdled his young blood and crimped his very flesh in waves, could he know how or where he landed. It would be better than to fly on and on and on.

Down he shot at an insane speed for he was beyond calculating or restraint. He might have dropped into the bunch of greasewood just beyond the Coyote river or he might have landed among the scattered rocks on the little plateau scarcely a mile of space for any lying as it did on the first slope to the mounting ridge. As it happened, he half-slid, half-crashed into the plateau itself, the plane bumped, rumbled, spilled and the day turned into sudden night.

Across his body as it shot out of the cockpit fell the rattler in a last sinuous fell. Its flat head rested tremulously on the bare flesh of the limp wrist before it raised to strike. But Bob Hickey was spared the knowledge for he had been knocked unconscious in the crash-up.

As the plane had spun downward there had been a stir in the rambling log house almost hidden among the one large group of trees at the far end of the plateau. There in complete and blissful isolation lived Fred Thurlow, eminent physician and head of a university prolonged experiment. It was his summer home and favorite study. At times his wife and daughter made life more civilized from their viewpoint in this out of the way dwelling.

It was edith Fulligan and her father, climbing through brush and dodging rocks, who reached Bob Hickey first after his spectacular fall, carrying with them a medical kit. And it was Edith who helped her father give medical aid to the badly battered, snake-bitten flyer.....

Two days later, Bob Hickey—head bandaged in Turk's fashion, only one uninjured eye showing in his nice straight nose a bit out of joint and his arm and body so thick that seemed oddly cut and sore—looked up from his pillows into the faces of two anxious women. Behind them hovered the professor and the Indian man-of-all work.

Oddly enough his gaze soon centered on the smooth black wave of Edith Fulligan's head, her beautifully curved lips and luminous eyes. He paid little attention whatever to soothing questions or agitated queries from the others. Bob surveyed her minutely, studiously and then with a sigh of complete satisfaction, closed his eyes again. The born aviator had found at last something vastly more interesting to him than the plan and the air-lines.

MRS. F. MARTIN BID FAREWELL

Presentation of Linen Lunch Set and China Tea Set Made

A most delightful surprise party gathered at the home of Mrs. Fred Martin, 163 Church street, Thursday afternoon to bid her good-bye on her departure from Belleville to reside in Picton.

The party, held during the afternoon, Mrs. B. Robertson won the prize, Mrs. Mitchell second and Mrs. F. P. Cavanaugh third. At the end of the game a very dainty afternoon tea was served by about twelve guests.

At the end of the distribution of prizes Mrs. J. Calhcart presented to Mrs. Martin from the party a lunch set and china tea set on behalf of the ladies present.

Mrs. Martin left for many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Martin that they are leaving the community where they have always been held in the highest esteem by all who have come in contact with them.

"The good wishes for happiness and prosperity in their new home, are all to them in their new location.

At the conclusion of a merry afternoon which will ever be remembered by those present, Mrs. Martin she's a jolly good fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne".

Correct Manners

(By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman)

TEA PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—If I have been invited to an afternoon bridge tea and as no specified time was given I would like your advice.

2.—Would you give some suggestions for inexpensive entertainment of a visiting lady guest?

I am a daily reader of your column, as are other members of my family, and receive much help from your writings.

L.

1.—I am sure that there was some mistake about this, and that your invitation just failed to state the time. Of course it is important that you know, if you are going to accept, and it would be quite correct and taken-for-granted for you to telephone and write your hostess and ask her what time she expects you.

2.—A tea party, which can be so delightful and so free of anxiety or gracious hostess-ship, is one of the most inexpensive ways of entertaining for a visiting lady guest. You can plan your party with such perfection of detail, and accommodation as to the things you serve to eat, that your guest will be delighted. You can plan to play bridge, if you wish, or just have a few friends in to luncheon the day be very simply and inexpensively done, and a delightful time may be spent informally very special friends to dinner, or to a theatre party, before your house guest. You may have bridge afterward, if you wish, or take your guest to a movie or for a drive.

Sunday morning breakfast, serv-ed buffet fashion, is very informally, is a very popular form of entertainment now, and for this you may, of course, invite both women and men. And this can be beautifully done with extremely small expense . . . . just breakfast dishes and perhaps some addition of one item that you "feature". . . . popovers, for instance, waffles, or scones, or something of this kind. Besides this the Sunday evening buffet, where delicious and inexpensive dishes may be served . . . . cold meats and salads, with all kinds of salads, compotes of fruits, delicious hot small cakes. This is an especially hospitable plan for summer-time, when men and women are returning from golfing from the country, just in time for this happy party to "top off" the week-end.

(Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on good manners sub-ulted by readers.)

QUEBEC COULD SUPPLY 400 MILLION FT. LUMBER

Quebec, Que., Aug. 13 (CP)—After taking care of home consumption, the Province of Quebec could have available for export each year 200-000,000 feet, board measure, of soft woods and 100,000,000 feet of hard woods, states a plea made by the province before the Ottawa Economic Conference for a larger share of the lumber market in Great Britain. The brief was issued here to-day.

These figures applied to crown lands alone; not taking into account the large timber limits pa-

Mayor Walker of New York Appears Before Governor

Albany, N.Y., Aug. 12—A new "Jimmy" Walker—earnest and vehement, with rumpled hair and wilted collar—faced today the second engagement of his battle for political existence.

After prolonged legal argument in the course of which Mayor James J. Walker leaped to his feet, interrupted his counsel, and rushed into what his friends described as the best oratorical outburst of his career. Only two of the 15 "conclusions" of Samuel Seabury, on which are based demands for his removal from office, were covered at the hearing before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday.

Points on which Governor Roosevelt is expected to question Mayor Walker before the hearing is resumed include:

The whole story of Russell T. Sherwood, missing book-keeper of the law firm of which the mayor formerly was a member.

The joint account established with the mayor as beneficiary by Paul Block, publisher, whose young son, Billy, wondered "how Mr. Walker can get along on his salary." The mayor has acknowledged receiving $246,000 profit from this account.

Bus Transaction

The whole matter of the Equitable bus franchise, with Seabury's charge that the mayor, influenced by his friendship with Senator John C. Hasbrouck and by a $10,000 letter of credit purchased by a company official for use by the Mayor and his party on a European trip in 1927, succeeded in getting the franchise through, to be later overruled by the Senate Transit Commission.

Quietly, with gentle, persistence, Governor Roosevelt questioned the one-time associate in the legislature yesterday about the charges with regard to the $26,000 in bonds Walker says J. A. Biehn, broker, sent him, not as a bride to procure favorable action on taxicab control, but as his profit in a pool; and about $1,000 worth of bonds of the Reliance Bronze and Steel Corporation, which the mayor said he gave to his wife and had forgotten when the company obtained a $43,000 contract to manufacture traffic light standards for Fifth Avenue.

Weather conditions are reported by movements of birds, animals and insects as faithfully as the modern instruments.

SUBSTANTIAL SETBACK SEEN

N.Y. Market Reacts After Nominating Speech is Made

NEW YORK, August 12. The stock market smoothered a substantial setback in the early trading today, with a number of shares off $2 to more than $5 a share. Before midday, however, several issues came back $1 or so from the low-est.

The list opened with a moderate setback, went forward momentarily under leadership of some of the Utilities and Chemicals, then went into a pronounced decline when the Chicago wheat market opened about a cent a bushel lower. Brokers' efforts to interpret the effect of President Hoover's acceptance speech upon the market varied generally according to their political affiliations. Some commented as favorably upon the speech saying the market was over-ripe for a technical reaction. Others pointed out that Republican Farm implements broke sharply with wheat.

SEAGRAMS AT A NEW HIGH

All Liquor Stocks Rise After Announcement of Pres. Hoover

TORONTO, August 12.—President Hoover's stand for State control of liquor brought a quick response on Toronto Stock Exchange today when Canadian Distillery issues made new highs for the year in the most active trading of the year for this group.

Walker was up to 8 and back to 7 for a net gain of 1 1-4. Distillers-Seagram established a new high for the year at 7 1-2 and dropped back to 7, a gain of 5-8, and Canadian Industrial Alcohol advanced 5-8 to a new high of 2 1-2.

The General List was inclined to be irregular. International Nickel lost 1-4, while Smelters is gaining 1-2.

Oils were irregular and Dominion Bank scored a gain of 5 points.

PRICE RANGE IS IRREGULAR

Noranda And Sherritt Gordon Respond to Prospects

TORONTO Aug. 12. —Irregular price movements in somewhat reduced volume marked forenoon trading on the standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market today. Trading in midday totalled 188,000 shares, against a total of 424,000 shares for the full session yesterday.

Noranda and Sherritt responded to prospects of British Metal Preferences, former advance 22 to $19.25 and the latter's couple to 39. International Nickel was off 36 to 19.40., however, and Coast Copper lost a similar amount to $3.30.

Silver Shares, yesterday's features, showed mixed action, reflecting a reaction in the White Metal price. Nipissing and Eldorado slipped 3 cents to 2.10, and 4.25 respectively, but Mining Corp moved up 10 to a new high of 21.65. Otis were dull.

CENT RESTAURANT
183,000 PATRONS

New York, Aug. 12—The 183,000th person clicked through the turnstile at MacFadden's Cent restaurant at 47th Street one-cent restaurant and cafeteria here celebrated the first month of the second branch of this institution.

A trifle over 6,000 persons per day had been fed since its opening. The average meal cost 4½ cents each. Hot cracked wheat with brown sugar-at one cent per bowl was the favorite food. Over 250 pounds of wheat per day was consumed.

The new table de'hote dinner at ten cents, including soup, meat cakes, cold slaw, creamed cod fish, raisin bread, coffee and prunes, is making a big hit with the evening crowd.

The chef is a former member of the cooking staff of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Horse Entries Cheer Board

At Thursday night's Belleville Fair Board meeting the members were assured of a much larger mid-way than they had previously anticipated. The Sim's Shows have engaged two new rides lately, one of which is to be a caterpillar, and also intend adding another feature to make their Midway Town on the Farm."

The board of directors feel that 1932 is going to see a revival along the lines of fall fairs. Secretary-Manager R. H. Ketcheson reported that there were more entries of live stock in the Provincial at present than ever were five days previous to last year's exhibition. The Fair Board met the Parks Board on Thursday afternoon and made special arrangements for the erection of new fair grounds along the north fence of the fair grounds.

Chairman Harry Ketcheson, of the Parks Commission reported that he had communication with an Alberta forestry official considering the ing bringing four horses to enter the races at Belleville Fair. The horse committee is at present a little worried about the lack of accommodation for the incoming race horses as the barns at the grounds are already filled with horses that are expected to enter.

Special prizes have been added to nearly every class and entry of the fair list. Secretary Ketcheson the largest prize list in its history. The Belleville Citizens Band has been engaged to supply the music each afternoon and evening during the entire exhibition.

It was also deemed advisable to have opening day, Tuesday, August 7-h. designated as Children's Day and all school children of the district are expected to take advantage of the low prices which will be in vogue. Arthur Ellis, secretary of President Robert Mitchell voiced his sentiments by assuring the various committees that he looked for the Belleville Fair to have its banner year in 1932.

CAR HITS POLE
ONE IS KILLED

Gananoque, August 12.—Arthur J. Levert, Detroit, was instantly killed late today when an automobile left the highway on a curve five and a half miles east of here and crashed into a telegraph pole.

John Plunkett of Detroit, passenger in the same car, suffered a fractured skull and was taken to the hospital at Kingston. The careening automobile snapped the telegraph pole in two, before plunging over on its side, completely wrecked.

Admires Local Filter Plant

Miss Carmel Craig of Windsor Calls it Ideal

Miss Carmel Craig, Windsor, who is official record keeper connected with the Windsor waterworks system and filtration plant now spending a few days with the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Fiynn of this city, spent some time Friday going through the Belleville pumping station and filtration plant, and at the termination of the visit declared herself enthused with the cleanliness and order in the local plant and the excellent product that is turned out. Belleville tap. "Belleville has an ideal plant which ranks very favorably with our own. The only exception is that Belleville eight filter beds while the Belleville plant has only four. But of course, she declared, "our larger population is accountable for that." Miss Craig was shown through the plant by Manager E. T. Austin and employees of the station who took pains to point out the workings of the station which was readily understood by Miss Craig owing to her connection with the Windsor plant.

Travels Four Thousand Miles To Shop

Famous Discoverer of Eldorado Visits Toronto

Charles St. Paul, well known prospector and discoverer of the famous Eldorado gold mine is at present in Toronto. After travelling thousands of miles into the Northwest to make his fortune, St. Paul has travelled back over half a continent, quietly in order to replenish his wardrobe. He was seen recently in a showroom of the Tip Top Tailors, limited.

Toronto's newest customer has come straight from Great Bear Lake in the Northwest Territories, where he has made his exciting discovery. The thrilling but perilous pursuits of gold prospecting in Northern wilderness, has not destroyed Mr. St. Paul's desire to be well-dressed.

When in a more civilized part of the world, Mr. St. Paul shows, by his visit to Tip Top Tailors, that he has not lost his taste for smart clothes.

Glasgow, Scotland, has started a drive to induce everyone to give the municipal car lines.

If people are at the right kind of a job very few of government should work.

Admires Local Filter Plant

Miss Carmel Craig of Windsor Calls it Ideal

Miss Carmel Craig, Windsor, who is official record keeper connected with the Windsor waterworks system and filtration plant now spending a few days with the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Flynn of this city, spent some time Friday going through the Belleville pumping station and filtration plant, and at the termination of the visit declared herself enthused with the cleanliness and order in the local plant and the excellent product that is turned out. Belleville tap. "Belleville has an ideal plant which ranks very favorably with our own. The only exception is that Belleville has eight filter beds while the Belleville plant has only four. But of course, she declared, "our larger population is accountable for that." Miss Craig was shown through the plant by Manager E. T. Austin and employees of the station who took pains to point out the workings of the station which was readily understood by Miss Craig owing to her connection with the Windsor plant.

Famous Discoverer of Eldorado Visits Toronto

Charles St. Paul, well known prospector and discoverer of the famous Eldorado gold mine is at present in Toronto. After travelling thousands of miles into the Northwest to make his fortune, St. Paul has travelled back over half a continent, quietly in order to replenish his wardrobe. He was seen recently in a showroom of the Tip Top Tailors, limited.

Toronto's newest customer has come straight from Great Bear Lake in the Northwest Territories, where he has made his exciting discovery. The thrilling but perilous pursuits of gold prospecting in Northern wilderness, has not destroyed Mr. St. Paul's desire to be well-dressed.

When in a more civilized part of the world, Mr. St. Paul shows, by his visit to Tip Top Tailors, that he has not lost his taste for smart clothes.

Glasgow, Scotland, has started a drive to induce everyone to give the municipal car lines.

If people are at the right kind of a job very few of government should work.

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

She sat down and it was to be seen that she chose a low chair close to Peter and rested her head on boy's big, bony hand and held it against her breast. Every little movement looked as though it were studied, full of love and sorrow and trust, and when she did so her boy would smile back at her with a boyish sort of reassurance and shoulder in his eyes.

"Mr. McCann," Mrs. Carracadden said impressively, "all this has broke me heart's joy entirely."

"No, no," the judge said seriously and gently, "we mustn't say that. We must say that. We'll get to the bottom of this matter and straighten it out, and I've no doubt."

He stopped and sighed.

"They're right, in His goodness, that God'll make it all clear to us," he said.

Mrs. McCann freed her hand from Peter's long enough to find a handkerchief and wipe her eyes. Frank, standing on the hearth, looked down on them all in turn. A coal fire was sleepily burning in the old-fashioned grate, and the big heavy velvet curtains at the windows and the thick hangings at the doors that crowned inside them the quiet holiday morning looked dozily over and over was beginning gently to fall. The heaviness and shadow of Christmas seemed to make only more luxurious and hand some that comfortable room, filled as it was with books and chairs and firelight.

"Did Frank tell ye what Cassesly reported?" Judge McCann opened the talk by asking.

"That was after I got home last night from Peter's office. I went to see if was at Carracadenes," Frank said.

"That's right, too, Cassesly came here," said the judge in his mild, fatherly way, with a report on the Columbus Avenue place.

"If they're a bunch of liars!" Peter spoke up angrily and suddenly. "that's nothing to me! Why do you take what a bunch of liars say against me, and not what I say, for God's? You didn't expect to get the truth out of them, did you?"

"Cassesly saw the marks of where the kids had jumped out of the back library window," Judge McCann continued. "And he saw the door where they come in, the smoke—and me that paper, Frank."

He glanced at a paper which his eldest son picked from the table and handed him.

"There's an artist, Joseph Bertin, and his wife and baby, lives in that studio," he said mildly, scrutinizing the paper. "They've been there a year; the manager's feller. Tony, knows the both of them well. She was out at church last night, and so was he, but—"

"His statement is that a young couple came runnin' down his stairs laughin' and covered with snow and that they met their death and told him the way they'd been trapped, and with that went on, he knows not where!"

He stopped. Everyone looked at Peter, who shrugged, tossing his head, and Sheila said:

"That's all a lie," Sheila said firmly.

"Well, well—" the judge said, making a little clicking noise with tongue and teeth. He hid the paper aside. "That ends that," he said.

CHAPTER XXIII

"Peter," his mother began gently, "had you only come to me and told me, dear! Gertrude would be so gladly let you off. You could have been married rightly, with all of us there—"

"Judge McCann," Sheila said, "you don't believe that Peter and I ran off to Boston and got married by a justice of the peace!"

"Not if you say you didn't dear, he answered in a troubled tone.

"Well, I do say we didn't! I say we were taken up to Connecticut somewhere in a truck and kept there."

"Why, well," the judge said, acutely "then I'll believe you. But how was you sent on, Colleen? Five minute. You and Pete here met last summer, didn't you? Where was you?"

"At Timber's Beach, on Labor Day, it was."

"And you liked each other very much?"

Almost color blazed into her white face; she put up her hand and pushed her hair back with a quick, nervous gesture and the fine bank of copper mist fell over her face, hiding it.

"We did."

"He asked you to marry him, did he?"

"We only knew each other that one day—" Sheila stammered, unable to more her eyes from those of her interlocutor.

"Only knew each other that one day, but you liked each other?" he might have." Sheila said with an effort. That is, I was glad to see him. But we didn't see each other again."

"Why was that?"

"Because Peter lost the paper with my name on it," Sheila said, a fleeting glance at Peter; looked back. "I didn't know she was rich—was a rich man's son. I thought he was just—just like me, I suppose."

The artlessness of it made a sudden onslaught upon her hearers.

"Well, what; if you had?" the judge began, clearing his throat, and Mrs. McCann said quickly, "What difference would that make, Papa?"

"No difference at all!" Paul McCann said.

"And there's where ye both were so stupid" he added feelingly. "Why didn't ye come to us and tell us the truth? Sheila comes in here play-acting—"

"There was no sin in that!" Sheila herself said hurt.

"No, no, no," he agreed.

"Have some behavior to ye!" Mrs. Carracadden warned her daughter, in a bitter aside.

"The boy sees her, poor and pitiful, as we thought she was then," the man continued. "And all his love for her comes back. There's love at first sight ,as we well know don't we, Mamma?"

"We work it out that he's promised to Gertrude, but he meets Sheila, their plans had, and off he goes with his true love!" the judge continued the story. "Thank the way it looked." he added, placatingly.

Sheila laughed, disagreeably. Her cheeks were still aflame.

"Only that isn't what happened," she said.

"Sheila," Mrs. McCann began pleadingly, "Never mind—that happened. Even if—I mean" she corrected herself, apologetically even considering that you and Peter were kidnapped, and did spend two nights in a farmhouse up in Connecticut, and considering that the newspapers had the story of your marriage last night and this morning, and that you and Peter do like each other—"

"I'm getting all tangled up in this, Papa," Sheila broke off to say with a troubled smile. "It's because I'm so stupid about telling things."

"But this is what I meant, Sheila, suppose that Father Judge, or McCann and I said this to you and Peter: You like each other, you've been thinking about each other for months. Today was to have been Peter's wedding day. Well, have it so. Be married quietly this afternoon, right here in church or Lenox, and have a little party afterwards, to celebrate the first wedding—"

There were tears in her shining eyes. She wiped them away, and went on, still holding Peter's hand, still patting it gently.

"Then you go off to Pittsburg. I've a brother there; Judge McCann had him on the telephone this morning. Peter, my brother, has a big foundry there, and he'll find a job for Pete. He'd seen the newspaper story and he was so nice about it, wasn't he Papa? And of course you and Peter not being able to manage on what he'd earn why, we'd see to that part of it.

"I talked to Peter about this this morning," she concluded, with a glance at her son's attentive face. "Tell Sheila what you think, dear."

"Why, I think it's the best way out of it. Certa gone to her grandmother—she's off me for life!" Peter said gruffly.

Sheila stared at him in blank amazement, pained. Her eyes went to Frank. Her eyes went to every face in the circle in turn.

Mrs. McCann gently persuasive, at the judge, who was watching keenly, with a half-frown, at Peter flushed and stirred and heroic, and at her own brother, who had been quietly following all the proceedings without himself taking any part in them. Her startled face she reached last; the look of outraged surprise that had been in her countenance had worn through the entire morning and was slightly softened now, but Mrs. Carracadden was not mollified, but she was interested at least in the thought of this unexpected solution.

Sheila's look returned to Frank, who was studying her with his odd, grave half-smile. Frank, so comfortably secure in his own wedding plans—

"I don't love Peter!" she stammered.

Mrs. McCann interposed in a soothing tone, as if she were speaking to a small refractory child:

"Peter loves you very much, Sheila, and he never would permit—and his father and I never could permit—your getting out after all this, with such a stain on your name. There's no question in that for him, or for us. It may not seem so serious to you now but the time will come when it would be serious, believe me. And the judge thinks so, too. The world would think very hardly of you both. They wouldn't know if you were married or weren't married—it wouldn't care what the world thought!" Sheila asserted.

"No you wouldn't now. But the time might come when you'd want to marry someone else, and then there'd always be that shadow," Judge McCann said I wouldn't want Peter to be responsible for it, and Peter wouldn't, either—"

"Why, but Peter knows perfectly well what happened!" Sheila persisted, indignantly. "He knows that we were both as innocent as babies through the whole thing!"

Peter, who appeared to be exquisitely uncomfortable, cleared his throat.

"Well, I hate to give up my law work," he said, courageously. "But Judge Mother says—I've never seen my uncle's foundry—"

"You have to think of the appearance of evil you know how much we hear of that," Frank said.

"And you mean to say, Peter—" Sheila began bewildered, and stopped. Peter, at twenty-one, was only a little boy after all, a little boy, who would be delighted to drop his law studies and be off to a strange city and a new job. She looked piteously, imploringly.

"This seems very funny to me—" she said.

"Sheila, dear," Mrs. McCann said, in reconstrance and distress, "you mustn't think we're trying to coerce you, dear, of to trap you! Judge McCann and I talked this over all day yesterday almost all night last night. We want to do what's fair to you. This seemed to us the fairest thing, the thing you'd want to do! Surely—surely if you and Peter are fond enough of each other to have remembered each other all these months, to have made an engagement with each other only a few days before he was to have been married, surely then it is natural that we should think that this plan would please you both."

"And admit that—that I'm glad!" Sheila exclaimed, angrily.

"As Sheila, pull yourself together!" Joe said, unsympathetically.

"Dear child, we were only thinking of you, Mrs. McCann protested, in a hurt voice.

"I thank you all!" Sheila said, in a loud, hard voice. "But it isn't necessary to—to sacrifice your son on my account!"

Suddenly she was shaking with rage such as she had not known since very small, schoolgirl days. She walked out of the room, with her head up, and out of the house, and down the sidewalk to stop for, of, if anyone did, she was too blind, too deaf, to know it.

Down the brownstone steps, that were being gently powdered with snow, she went quickly. Her figure air of the silent holiday noontimes smote her hot cheeks refreshingly. Timid little flakes fell all about her, her footsteps were soft and muffled in thin covering of the snow.

At the corner she turned back, looked at the street. She was not being followed. There was not a human being in sight.

TROUBLED ALL LIFE WITH CONSTIPATION
But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Real Relief

If you are subject to headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness and other effects that so often result from constipation, read Mrs. Turner's voluntary letter.

"For the past six months I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and cannot praise it too highly.

"I am fifty years of age. All my life have been troubled with constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has not only helped me, but has cured me.

"I thought I couldn't like the taste of bran, but Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious." (Mrs. C. J. Turner (address upon request).

Taste show ALL-BRAN contains two things to overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR.—No. 2

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

For a moment Werper gazed at his dead victim. Then he heard the excited shouts of the soldiers running towards him. Soon they would seize him, probably kill him. Terror tore at his heart. He had no desire to die. Never had he so yearned for life as now that he had found his right to live. In desperate haste he turned and fled madly across the compound.

At the gate a sentry halted him. Werper did not pause to parley; he merely raised his weapon and shot down the innocent black. Quickly the fugitive tore open the gates and vanished into the blackness of the jungle, but not before he had transferred the rifle and ammunition of the dead sentry to his own person. All that night he fled farther and farther into the wilderness.

Dawn came at last, but still the man struggled on. All sense of hunger and fatigue was lost in the terrors of contemplated capture. He could think only of escape. He dared not pause to rest or eat until darkness was no further danger from pursuit. So he staggered on until at last he fell and could rise no more. How long he fled he did not know, nor where he was.

He fell exhausted and so Achmet Zek, the Arab, found him. Achmet's followers were for running a spear through the body, but the wily Arab would have it otherwise. First he would question this Belgian. It was easier to question a man first and kill him afterward, than kill him first and then question him. Achmet's followers laughed gleefully over their chief's little joke.

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

JEWEL ROBBERY" CO-STARS WM. POWELL-KAY FRANCIS

A two-fold interest and importance attaches to Warner Bros.' "Jewel Robbery," the William Wyman picture, showing at the Belle Saturday and Monday, matinee daily.

First and foremost, it marks the screen reunion of William Powell and Kay Francis after a lapse of many months.

Secondly, because "Jewel Robbery" has fascinated and amused the theatre - goers of two continents with its witty dialogue, subtle satire, and its gay, delightful locale.

WILLIAM POWELL ity.

Powell is a polished, debonair master of the gentle art of crime, the smartest police agents of Europe.

Kay Francis is the spoiled wife of Vienna's richest banker whose proud boast it is that no man can give her the thrill that a her jewel records her.

The afternoon that her doting husband has spent in search for her a cherished diamond, at Vienna's most exclusive jeweler's is the afternoon that "The Robber" has chosen to pay the same jeweler a profound visit.

Even while she is being robbed, the Baroness Teschig has the ideal for precious stones in her admiration for the artistic outlay with which gallantly relieves her of her jewels, as a mere incident in the looting of the shop.

Her heart, she finds to her horror and delight, is irresistibly stirred, so She finds she has been robbed of more than her jewels.

Done in a mood of romantic whimsicality and daring that lends to fuzzy situation pace and sparkle, the story never slows up for a second.

William Dieterle has directed the picture with a suavity and a subtle humor that is in perfect harmony with the elements of the story.

The supporting cast of players reveals exceptional strength.

Constance Bennett.

Fold up your hats, magazine. Never mind about the Radio Chatterer's "Inside Stuff." If you want to talk about Hollywood, it's at the Bellemow in the shape of Bennett's "What Price Hollywood". Constance Bennett's starred in this keenly penetrating picture of the movie capital, and again proves she is as talented a comedienne as she is a dramatic actress. It's worth seeing.

At The Capitol

POLITICAL BURLESQUE AND RAILROAD DRAMA TODAY.

The first of the Presidential year imitations is to reach the local screen, "The Dark Horse," which began a run at the Capitol Theatre today, also has the distinction of being one of the finest comedy dramas since the advent of talking pictures.

It was produced by First National Pictures from an original screen story by an anonymous author and was directed by Alfred E. Green, who gave us "Union Depot", "The Rich Are Always With Us" and "I'm Tough To Be Famous." Joseph Jackson and Courtenay Terrell, two former newspapermen wrote the dialogue and the adaptation.

As a contribution to the excitement of the election period, "The Dark Horse" carries a certain satirical message, but it is really fast and frolicsome entertainment that will give ma and pa and the kids who are casting their first vote a splendid evening of laughs.

Through a comedy of errors a dumbbell nitwit gets the nomination for governor. It then becomes a real job to elect him against his opposition, a high powered promoter (Warren William) is retained from the slimmery prison.

With the entrance upon the scene of William the story moves rapidly, with comedy and melodrama mixed in liberal portions.

In telling the story Director Green has done a bang-up job. He has valuable assistance from one of the best balanced casts seen in months.

Warren William, who topped a year of fine performances with a tremendous job of acting in "The Mouthpiece," again turns in a splendid performance as the night boss who has the lead opposite to him, gives one of the best characterizations around. young woman has shown in Hollywood this year.

Besides the two featured leads, the cast includes Guy Kibbee, Robert Warwick, Frank McHugh, Sally Eilers, Hardy and Virginia Osborne.

This picture may well be labbed as 100 per cent. entertainment, with added interest lent by the note of realness and the realism that has been injected into it.

"Dynamite Denny."

The second feature at the Capitol today and Saturday presents one of those pictures which we loved to laugh in the days of the "nickel show."

A fast-moving railroad drama, more attractive as it might happen in Belleville, telling of the efforts on the part of a young engineer to divert disaster caused by radical strikers.

Under the title of "Dynamite Denny" this drama will provide a real thrill for everyone.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Warns Against Dosing Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sour-ness and indigestion, have now discovered that sweetened, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, alcoholic tonics, carminatives and artificial digestants, and instead take a teaspoonful of Sturzed Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia find that the approach of meal time ceases because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, freshen the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this simple yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Be sure and get the new style package, dated March, 1932. This new package gives three times the former dose at a greatly reduced price. If your druggist hasn't the new style package he will get it for you. Insist on it.

ROSLIN INSTITUTE HEARD ADDRESS BY MISS STIRK

Roslin, Aug. 12—The Roslin Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting at Miss Stirk's cottage on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 10th.

There was an attendance of twenty three.

The time for the meeting Mrs. Harvey Chisholm occupied the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary.

It was decided to give $15.00 to the performing music taught in the schools. The contents of the sandwich box to be sent to the hospital and to $3.30 The roll call was responded to by ways of keeping cool.

Master Gerald Stirk gave a violin solo and Miss Stirk gave an interesting and instructive address on "Teaching the Deaf to Speak."

In her opening remarks Miss Stirk said that the deaf were not nearly as the year 700 we have a record of some one being taught, and still in Dynamite Denny."

The school in Belleville is over 50 years old, and is one of the best on the continent.

Miss Stirk said communicable diseases such as scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, etc., are responsible for a great deal of deafness.

Miss Stirk spoke of the classes in lip reading for adults and of lessons conducted by correspondence from them.

In closing the speaker said she was pleased to have opportunity of speaking to the Women's Institute on this subject, as she felt that there was very little known to the public at large about it. She also gave some examples of how the deaf are taught.

A hearty vote of thanks was rendered the speaker for her splendid address.

It was decided to allow a point to each person for their side who brought something made from a flower each to the next meeting.

The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem after which a dainty lunch was served.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

ACCEPT PROPOSALS

Regina, Sask., Aug. 13—Preliminary announcement of a scheme whereby the Saskatchewan Government would accept all grain pegged prices in payment of relief debts of all forms was made by Premier J. T. M. Anderson at a banquet of the Associated Committees of Rural Municipal Secretary Treasurers of Saskatchewan last night.

Final details of the plan were being worked out by the government and the official announcement would be made later, Premier Anderson said.

The Premier has also announced that the government is prepared to accept payment for seed grain on the basis of bunker for market regardless of price. He said he hoped by such means the government of Saskatchewan would be able to set an example in the reduction of the debt problem. Premier Anderson did not say at what price grain would be pegged for the payment of relief debts, but it was gathered that it would be considerably higher than current market prices.

'LAWYER' HELD IN HAMILTON

Charge of Conversion Laid Not on Legal Roll Say Officers

Hamilton, Aug. 13.—Sidney Heaton, 30, of Toronto, well known in legal circles in under arrest on a charge of conversion preferred by Vincenzo Daddelo.

Detective Sergeant Harold Barrett brought Heaton back from Napanee this afternoon, and lodged him in the cells. Unable to raise $1,000 bail, he was transferred to the jail tonight.

The police were unable to state the exact nature of the charge, but give any other particulars. They stated that Heaton went to Napanee about a short time ago.

Heaton, who is 46 years of age, claims to be a lawyer and is listed on the roster at Central police headquarters here. Investigations of local legal authorities he is not a member of the Law Society.

Heaton was associated for many years with H. H. Fetch, prominent lawyer, who was sent to jail for converting clients' funds to his own use.

CANADA USES HER OWN PORTS

Canadian Shippers Route Practically All Exports This Way

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP)—Canadian ports are being used by Canadian shippers to a greater extent than possibly ever before, and the routing of exports through the United Kingdom via the all-Canada route is increasing. Forthe United States ports got the bulk of Canadian grain for shipment overseas, but when the situation has been changed in the past year. Overwhelming proportions of the exports of Canadian wheat and coarse grains in the crop year ended July 31 went through Canadian ports, which 75.29 per cent was shipped through Canadian ports and 24.71 pared with only 50.67 per cent of the 1930-31 harvest in the preceding crop year.

The figures of the Department of Trade and Commerce says in a statement, are based on preliminary estimates but when a final statement is made, the percentage of grain flowing through Canadian ports will be considerably higher.

The United States, of other goods, says the statement, shows a similar trend towards greater use of Canadian ports rather than routing their trade through the United States. Imports and $1.28 of all her exports for the 12 months ended July 31 recorded as having passed through Canadian ports.

OUTSPOKEN IN COMMENT ON OTTAWA MEET

New Statesman Says Canada Intends to go Her "High Way"

FIASCO FEARED

Spectators See Little Value in Canada Raising Duties

London, Aug. 13 (By Thomas T. Chambers, Canadian Press Staff Writer)— Great Britain's weekly reviews all join in commenting on the Imperial Economic Conference today, not hesitating to offer both criticism and praise.

"Canada," says the New Statesman and Nation, "for the present intends to go her own high protectionist way, quite prepared to get as much as she can from Britain and give as little as possible in return."

Predicts Failure

"In fact," concludes this journal, "on all major issues a fiasco seems imminent at Ottawa. Our fear now is that the British delegation, moving afraid to return to admit failure, will be tempted to make the sacrifice the British consumer on the altar of economic Imperialism, and thus to disrupt the Empire countries, and which in return for the sacrifice will do little or nothing damage Great Britain's international position."

Values of Duties

The spectator, admitting Prime Minister R. B. Bennett's difficulties in bringing the strongly organized manufacturers," says the latter would not have carried out the compromises from across the border at they had been hard-headed. The Canadian Government is to have little faith in the usefulness of Canadian tariffing her duties against foreigners.

Tied Hand and Foot

The week end review is not attracted by the conference, but considers all the other Dominions have shown more or less disposition to talk business. Canada, under Mr. Bennett's influence, has so far submitted no proposals worth serious consideration. While it is unfair to condemn the Premier for politician tied hand and foot by sectional protectionist interests, it is clear the tune must come to save Ottawa from major failure."

18 MONTHS GIVEN STIRLING YOUTH

Ernest Hamilton of Stirling, was sentenced to serve 18 months definite and not more than two years less a day in Bellefonte reformatory on Ontario Reformatory in the local Police Court held before Magistrate Mikel Saturday morning.

Hamilton was charged with three charges of petty thieving in and around the Stirling district, to which he pleaded guilty. It wrenching and a gallon of oil from a Studebaker car belonging to Ernest Hall; guilty as he did to a charge of ness horrowing a dollar bill from a construction company. On a charge of breaking and entering and a hang axe Hamilton pleaded not guilty but after hearing the evidence submitted by Constable Constable Wisketi and Provincial Officer Harry Worship found guilty as accused guilty. Hamilton later admitted being present at the time of the theft.

Hamilton also admitted stealing gas from motor cars by siphoning it out with a rubber hose. No charge was laid for these thefts, however.

Delegates to Parley Taken on Tour of Industrial Quebec

Visit Sawinigan Falls to See Power And Chemical Plants

Shawinigan Falls, Que., Aug. 13 (By C. R. Blackburn, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—Delegates to the Economic Conference delegates and visitors, including Ramsay Macdonald of the British Empire, who boarded a special train at Ottawa late last night after a week of strenuous bargaining, awoke this morning to find themselves in the heart of the industrial Quebec. The party numbered about 150 and included many high officials of the Empire delegations, faced a busy tour of the St. Maurice River Valley, how the industrial centre of the ancient French-Canadian province.

The immediate objective of the party was the huge power plants located near this town, where the tumbling waters of the St. Maurice have been harnessed to provide electrical energy for far away Montreal, metropolis of Canada and numerous other towns and cities, and industrial plants lying within a radius of more than one hundred miles.

They also will visit the great chemical plant located here, largest of its kind in the British Empire, the presence of which was brought out significantly felt during the Great War.

TARIFF BOARD IS PROPOSED BY DOMINION

Britain Urges That Duty Should Give Canada Fair Chance

TEXTILE INDUSTRY

Equaling of Rate According to Differences in Production Costs

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 13—Through the week end, British and Canadian experts are to work over the proposed Anglo-Canadian trade agreement, an important point has arisen in regard to textiles. The British delegation takes the ground that the offer of a Tariff Board to study Canadian products should be fixed "so as to give Canada a chance to give a reasonably efficient industry in the Dominion a fair chance." Canada's offer in this regard is said to be:

1. Appointment of the tariff board contemplated by legislation passed by the Dominion Parliament two sessions ago.

2. Reference of the textile tariff to the board with instructions to make recommendations equaling the rates according to differences in costs of production.

Absolute Control of Cabinet Hitler's Aim Refuses Several Posts

Fiery Chieftain of National Socialists Upsets President Hindenburg's Plans by Declining Vice Chancellorship

DETERMINED OPPOSITION TO GOVERNMENT,

Hitler's Mind Thoroughly Made up—No Change in Attitude is Expected by Those in Close Touch With Him

Berlin, Aug. 13—Adolf Hitler, fiery chieftain of the National Socialists, upset the plans of President Von Hindenburg and the present government today by declining an offer of a Vice-Chancellorship in the new cabinet which is to be formed soon.

Hitler announced his decision to Chancellor Franz Von Papen at a conference which began at 11.45 a. m. He informed the Chancellor that his policy would be one of determined opposition to the present government.

Posts Declined

He also declined an offer of the Ministry of the Interior for one of his party colleagues.

As a result of Hitler's decision his conference with Chancellor Paul Von Hindenburg was postponed.

Plans had been laid to offer Hitler a Vice-Chancellorship, which would include the premiership of the state of Prussia, which has been vacant since a virtual dictatorship was established by Chancellor Von Papen a few weeks ago.

Wants Chancellorship

Hitler declined the Prussian premiership in combination with the post of Vice-Chancellor, demanding instead that he be made Chancellor with absolute control of the cabinet.

The announcement that his audience with President Von Hindenburg would be deferred until this afternoon was accompanied by a semi-official statement to the effect that this meeting "will now be a matter of formality since Herr Hitler already has announced his opposition to the cabinet."

Political observers did not think the President would be able to change Hitler's mind.

Chow Dog Sentenced to Exile for Biting, Saves Lives of 17 Other Dogs

Baltimore, Aug. 13.— Ming Toy, prize-winning famous chow dog, who several months ago faced an ignominious death for biting, today was hailed as a heroine. The Chow was instrumental in saving the lives of 17 other dogs, trapped in a burning barn.

Fire broke out in a barn where 20 dogs were housed. Ming Toy, in her kennel nearby, gnawed her leather harness, broke away and climbed over a fence six foot corral or forced Her way through the wire gate. An attendant was awakened by Ming Toy's frantic barking, and was able to free 17 of the dogs in the barn.

Ming Toy was sentenced to die for biting. A stay was granted to permit her to nurse her six puppies and later the sentence was commuted to exile.

The condition of John Carr, who has been very ill at his home in Trenton, is reported today as very serious.

WALL STREET MAKES GAINS

Bears Sell Out and Buy in Again in Late Trading

New York, Aug. 13—The stock market recovered in the last hour today, after a further sharp dip in the early trading.

Losses of $1 to $5 in many of the leaders, on top of even sharper declines yesterday, were largely regained, and a number of issues closed with advances ranging from a few cents to $1 over yesterday's final prices, but selling was resumed in the final dealings, and most of the losses were left with small gains.

Trading was moderately active, for somewhat under 2,000,000 shares for the two hour session.

New York, Aug. 13—Bears took their profits in a sharp reaction in the stock market today, their operations stirring up a fresh support in the late dealings.

The market broke to a backwash of selling from yesterday's upturn in the opening hour, and a number of issues were carried down about 1 to 5 points, in extreme cases, but the recessions of the previous session, but recovered from these lows almost wholly regained under the influence of short covering and fresh buying in the last hour, and closing prices showed gains of fractions to a point over the final prices of Friday. The closing tone was active.

Trading was moderately active, turnover for the two hour session, however, slipped partly from yesterday with a lower opening in most of the leading issues and some of the commodities improved along with stocks later.

Bonds, also turned off for the first time in about 10 days. After making gains early in the face of the break in stocks in the previous session.

TWO ALLEGED REDS TAKEN

Amos, Que., Aug. 13—Two alleged Communists, said to have been active in and around Rouyn and Noranda, have been taken into custody by Sergeant Turnbull of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and brought to Amos. The two men arrested are Emil Solomon and Tony Frsanuck. They will stand trial immediately.

Miss Nichols to Fly Either Atlantic or Pacific

New York, Aug. 13—Miss Ruth Nichols, noted woman flyer, has intimated she would fly either the Atlantic or Pacific Ocean in the near future, depending on the weather. Asked the destination of her flight she had been planning several weeks, she answered:

"I really can't tell you because I don't know. I have one or two flights in mind depending on weather conditions. If the weather is unfavorable for one I will try the other."

RETURNS TO HOME AFTER OPERATION

Miss Marion Adams, Bridge street west, who has been a patient in the hospital has been removed to her home, slightly improved.

WEATHER

London Press Hits at Hoover on War Debts, Tariff Speech

London, Aug. 13—British newspapers criticized President Hoover's acceptance speech today, especially the part of it referring to war debts and tariffs.

Most of them added, however, that the speech was more of a campaign document than a declaration of state policy.

While the speech seemed "primarily intended to influence voters," the Times said, "its references to the debts and tariffs showed a determination to ignore the main causes of the depression."

"He was careful, however," it added, "not to close the door to future negotiations."

The News Chronicle said the speech was intended to encourage the British delegation at Ottawa to make "as liberal a use as possible arrangements with the United States and thus to enable the president to open the door to debt revision."

After praising the "admirable record" of the president's foreign policy, the Daily Herald lapped smartly at the references to war debts.

"It is largely owing to the existence of the debt obligations and the impossibility of liquidating them," it said, "that the world is in the present condition and the American people are condemned to bear hardships immensely greater than would be involved in cancellation."

40 ACRE WHEAT FIELD YIELDS 1068 BUSHELS

Fifty acre wheat fields in the district of Pickering reputed to be among the largest in the Province, have a close match in the County of Hastings where a record acreage of that grain has also been reported for this year. While there may be other instances of larger farms devoted solely to wheat in this district, the only one which has been reliably reported in this immediate vicinity is the farm of Mr. Daniel Phillips, Corbyville, who this year planted forty acres of wheat. The crop which was recently threshed was said to have yielded in the neighborhood of 1068 bushels.

Bitter Fight Over Dog Sentenced to Exile

Mrs. Ming Toy's famous chow dog, who several months ago faced an ignominious death for biting, today was hailed as a heroine. The Chow was instrumental in saving the lives of 17 other dogs, trapped in a burning barn.

Fire broke out in a barn where 20 dogs were housed. Ming Toy, in her kennel nearby, gnawed

QUARRY OPERATIONS AT FULL BLAST

Quarry operations have resumed again at full blast with apparently effects been ensured employment to normal days. The crushed stone which is being put out at the crusher is being used for Johnston street roadway, which is now being rebuilt. Crushing of other roads will account for the rest of the output at the quarry.

20,000 MILES FOR WORKS DEPT. TRUCK

A peep at the speedometer of the Department of Public Works' truck shows a tidy total of over twenty thousand miles, which has been checked off in daily runs since the machine was first acquired just a little over one year ago. Every day, rain or shine, the familiar little green truck can be seen running through the streets of the city loaded with tools and equipment for various jobs, and sometimes playing carryall for the men who are being transported from job to job. Not a repair has been necessary to the truck since it was bought, according to Mr. John Henderson, foreman of public works in whose charge it is.

THREE DOGS ARE NOW IN POUND

One puppy and two full grown dogs are present in the city dog pound awaiting a claimant. The puppy is a light-colored brown, collie, a nearly full grown hound is colored black and white, and a full grown police dog is colored dark grey with white splashes on him. While in other two are apparently of good breeding, the police dog has a questionable ancestry.

DOG FRUSTRATED IN ITS ATTEMPT

Answering a hurried call to Station St. early Friday evening, the local police were called to the home of Mr. Lyle to time to frustrate the attempts of a dog to kill some of Mr. Lytle's prize chickens. The dog was taken to the pound by the local dog pound operated by Mr. Thos. Tracey where it will be disposed of if its owner does not claim it and has to be canned chained up in the future. Mr. Lyle informed the police that he had lost a number of chickens previously in the alleged same manner but he did not know whether the murdered dog was the previous killer or not. The dog was caught before it had a chance to destroy any of Mr. Lytle's chickens on Friday evening.

MINK FARM IS MOVED TO THURLOW

Corbyville has acquired a new industry, Mr. Joe. Thorne, recently of the United States, who has long been known as a successful mink breeder, and who carried on that business for some time in the vicinity of Bancroft, has moved his stock and equipment to Corbyville where it is reported he intends going into business on a larger scale.

NEW LINE IS NOW COMPLETED

Hydro employees who have been working for some days in the vicinity of South Park Street and East Moira, changing over the old telephone lines on their own circuit to the new lines, complete with new poles, finished the work Friday evening. The lines which formerly ran through some property recently acquired by Mr. Thomas Harris on East Moira street have been shifted north a slight distance to accommodate one more house on the new road being crossed. New lines stretch across the river at nearly the same location.

MEN WORK 40 HR. WEEK SCHEDULE

While it is not believed by officials that there will be any increase in the number of workers now employed on the Hall line in the Canadian National Railway yards, it is understood that the present force of fifty five men will be ensured work for at least one month yet, with a possibility of more orders being received before the completion of present orders. The men are working on an eight hour day schedule, five days a week.

Fishing Arm is Developed Here

Anglers Claim Waters They Know as Best

If, while you have been walking around the streets of Belleville of the city, you have seen numbers of men walking along with hands spaced at two and three foot intervals in front of them in what seems to be a fixed position from which they can not unbend, you may diagnose the case you are not as an apparent paralysis of those important members of the body, but simply as another seasonal epidemic of slight proportions which will appear when the colder weather comes. The case is not as serious as it looks at first. In fact when you see have surely been fishing —and then fishing for the big one corner about the big ones they have caught, or the bigger ones which got away. For the latter you have the missing fish hook and line broken line as proof. Of the ones which have been caught you have ample proof when you see the long spaced position of the hands. How is the fishing? That's the question which seems to lead all others' gab now. The hands and arms in rigid position is the answer.

Fishing is good. One party jumped in an outgoing motor boat, headed for the bass shoal near the old fifth bridge, and returned the day hauling in bass—that long. A few go over to the Bay Bridge, drop their lines off the pier and come home laden down with pickerel. Some others travel to Muscote Bay and get in a little lunge fishing. These fish are generally considered of the deep which lose no size in the trolling. Some others are naturally come in useful for these parties. In the river waters of the Moira River, near Corbyville, residents there take a stroll out with a spear and line and get in slightly less longer, while all along the banks of the river that pole is out on down to Belleville, patient boys with bamboo poles are awaiting for creditable catches of all kinds of the finny tribe. Not to be outdone are carp—that long. But, wherever fish are caught, there will you find the anglers claiming superiority for their own waters. Nowhere else are they so fine and the proof is when you ask them they will readily demonstrate with their outstretched hands and arms. It's a habit which gripe even the best of them.

POULTRY THEFTS ARE PUNISHED

Three Boys Arrested in City Given Terms at Napanee

Charged with the theft of live poultry, from Albert Smith, 19; Benjamin Laine, 19, and Lawrence Edmunds, 24, all of Elmgrove appeared before Magistrate Graham of Napanee police court Friday. All pleaded guilty.

Smith and Laine were committed to the Ontario Reformatory for two years less one day and Edmunds was sentenced to two years in Portsmouth Penitentiary.

The trio were arrested in Belleville, Thursday, while in the act of selling the poultry.

EARN RIGHT TO PLAYOFFS

Ciaco Nine Eliminated by Belleville Fruit by 13-5 Count

"Babe" Lewis, slight built hurler of the Belleville Fruit girls' softball team, realized large ambition, when he pitched her team to victory over the hard hitting Ciaco club and thus put-up-or-shut-up the local girls' league, when the Fruit maidens beat the Corbyville nine by the score of 13 to 5 at the Armouries ball park Friday night.

Not only did the tiny "Babe" hurl superb ball but she was also a star at the plate, hammering her team mates, Doris Dining, B. McClure, and Pat Wilson batting for heights at times to make sensational plays in the field and pull their team out of what looked like threatening situations. Lewis let the slugging Ciaco team down with but eight hits all of which were well scattered. The Ciaco nine did not look the team that they were in the league and they failed to play up to the form which carried them to the unenviable berth pennants.

Kitty Howie, in right field for the losers was the big hitter of the night when she clouted the ball for a home run with the bases on and a single in three times. Helen Smith, first and second baseman of the winners, also helped herself at the bat to a hit one of which was a home run. The only other four base smash came from the part of Pat Unger, who also hit one we'd over the heads of the Ciaco outfielders.

Bessie Doolittle opposed "Babe" Lewis and her circuit blow in the her windup was relieved by Vera They, who later developed a rather sore arm and was forced to retire in favor of B. Doolittle, who finished the game on the mound.

The win entitles the Belleville Fruit girls to a play-off with the league leading National Maids for the league title and the right to represent the Belleville League in the Eastern Ontario play-downs. The local play-off series between the two teams is to be the best two out of three games, the first one starting Monday night and the second Tuesday night until one team has won three games.

Meteor Vigil is Rather Failure

Perseid Display Next Year Will Again Attract

Stiff necks and ailment were again in evidence this morning as the result of night vigil of the curious by dozens of residents of the city who watched a desultory performance during the stars early Saturday morning between the hours of twelve and one o'clock. The much advertised sky show, with Perseid playing the chief role, failed to live up to the advertisements however and even though there were a few meteors seen flashing across the north, they were small spaced at lengthy intervals and were not as brilliant as many expected. Early birds report that during the earlier hours of the morning the meteors increased in frequency and show as they shot across the velvety backdrop of the world's starlit stage, but for most of them that hour was too late, and yawns which prompted bed shortly after twelve o'clock were smothered in bed clothes. Next year the Perseid meteor display, which has been an annual event ever since they were first mentioned in old Chinese documents, ante-dating Western civilization, will return and before that, however, there will be one more chance to see them. In November this year, it is expected that they will be stronger than ever.

Treasure Hunt Develops Stork-Like Posture

New Place to Carry Money is Found. It's The Trouser Cuff

That curious stork-like posture you may have observed among various young men about town lately may be seen standing on one leg in dressing rooms, hotel lobbies, bed rooms and elsewhere as they intelligently search the lower extremities of their pants for several inches of merely a treasure hunt. It's just an epidemic that has arrived among young men and old men have become trouser cuff conscious. Rivalling in mystery and blood tingling excitement real search for pirate's buried gold such as occurs in tale off Cocoa Island, the new game has taken such grip on the fancy of trouser wearers of all classes that it is difficult to break away for lunch, work or any of the other necessary routine jobs of daily life. All sorts of things are being brought to light from the musty depths of the turned-up cuff. Things which have been mysteriously lost in the past, and for which some innocent bystander or baby has been blamed for its loss at the time of its mysterious disappearance. You have read oc acquaintances being struck up through the trouser cuff. You have heard of articles which have been lost for weeks, but which all the time reposed, and was carried around, in a trouser cuff. Daily new stories trickle into the editorial room about the astounding cuff, and at the risk of appearing too trouser cuffy they must be retold with only the names changed to protect the guilty.

Fred makes a pass at his trouser cuff with one hand while Jessie desperately crams her mouth full of rings and wrist watch and bracelet. The following is a rather free translation from real life:

Fred Pearson and Jessie Pearson sit in the front parlor. The lights are turned as low as the cricket's fiddle.

Fred pulls Jessie down on the family album and lays it aside. With his watch and his pocket he feels pretty flush, so he proposes. Jessie accepts gladly. Curtain.

Act Two. The window opens. A husky intruder with a big gat crawls in and levels it at the shaking pair. He makes them stand with their hands up while he searches them. Not a thing. He leaves in a disgusted manner.

Act Three: "How we can't get married," wails Jessie. "I swallowed my rings." "Never fear, the day is saved," replies Fred. "I had my money in the trouser cuff, and I'll buy you a new set tomorrow." Curtain.

Another use has been found for the cuff.

SUN'S ECLIPSE 1932

Total Eclipse of the sun 1932 August 31," is the title of a pamphlet issued by Dr. John Shaw, F. R. S. C., and A. Vibert Douglas, B. Sc., Department of Physics, McGill, University, in the interests of science. The book is published by the Renouf Publishing Company, 1433 McGill College Avenue, Montreal, and will profit from sale of book, price of which is set at 25 cents will go to science.

In the last thirteen hundred years the lunar shadow has only twice passed over London.

This pamphlet is prepared for the general reader in order that he may be able to appreciate to the fullest extent this unique phenomenon which will not again be seen in the Province of Quebec in our life time.

The various features of the eclipse with some elementary reference to their interesting interpretation are outlined in simple language.

Information as to duration, position and best means of observation are given, together with some suggested observations for enthusiastic amateurs. Maps showing the path of the eclipse and illustrations of inner eclipses showing the beautiful crowns are included.

The whole is prepared at a nominal cost in order that the general public may not miss the main feature of what will be the opportunity of a life-time.

Summary of Currency Report

Ottawa, Aug. 13—Declaring it "urgently necessary" that Government come to "grips with the evil of deflation" by raising the level of wholesale prices, the Imperial Conference currency committee's findings, issued Friday night, may be further summarized as follows:

1. In the monetary sphere the primary line of action toward a rise in prices should be the creation and maintenance, within the limits of sound finance, of such conditions as will assist in the revival of enterprise and trade.

2. Among these conditions are low rates of interest and an abundance of short-term money.

3. The rate of interest for all purposes should be kept as low as financial conditions permit.

4. Favorable monetary conditions must be achieved by orderly monetary policy.

5. The conference recognizes the great importance of stability of exchange rates, but the complete solution of this problem must await the restoration of conditions for the satisfactory working of an international standard. In the meantime it favors the creation of an "area of stability" of countries whose currencies are related to sterling.

6. The ultimate aim of monetary policy should be the restoration of a satisfactory international monetary standard. The conference does not make any recommendation on the question of which is the most desirable standard.

ASK DEATH PENALTY

Madrid, August 13.—Attorney General Martinez Aragon said today that the penalty he will ask for General Jose Sanjurjo and those arrested with him in connection with last Wednesday's revolt will be that demanded by the military code for officers and men, who rebel against the state.

Although he refused to use the word death penalty, this is the punishment the code provides in such cases.

B. W. BROWN

"THE DOLL DOCTOR"

Bernard Woodbridge Brown was born in Liverpool, England. At an early age he learned the trade of shoe repairing and eventually became established in a small business on his own account. After carrying this on for eight years he sold the business and came to Canada, arriving in Peterboro in June 1907. Failing to obtain a job at his trade in that city and having been invited by a friend from the old land, who had settled in Belleville, to visit him, Mr. Brown came to this city in August, 1907. He was at once most favorably impressed with the beauty of the place and hoped that he would be able to obtain employment at his trade and settle here.

After being in the city for only a very short time, he obtained a position with Gorman's Shoe House and was in charge of their shoe repairing department until 1911, when he left them to open a shoe repairing shop of his own at 4 Bridge street near the lower bridge. Later he opened a second shop at 10 Campbell street and today he is conducting an excellent business in both locations.

Mr. Brown is also interested in umbrella repair work, which was his father's trade. He has also made many of the little child happy by repairing the broken head or injured body of her pet doll and owing to this he is often called 'the doll doctor.' He played in starting them in their chosen line of work.

Numerous shoe repairmen now in business for themselves in this district, learned their trade with Mr. Brown and he derives a pleasing satisfaction from the part

Mr. Brown is a good citizen. He has been industrious, enterprising and saving and as a result of his efforts he is the owner of a nice amount of city property, and has been able to visit his old home in Liverpool on three occasions.

Mr. Wm. Hart, who is a brother-in-law of Mr. Brown, is in charge of the Bridge street shop, assisted by Mr. Jack McKnight. Mr. Brown makes his headquarters at the shop on Campbell street and he is assisted in the work there by Mr. Thos. Dack and Mr. Fred Mason, both old countrymen, who have resided here for some years.

The Brown Shoe Repairing Shops are outfitted with the latest and most complete machinery for the performing of all kinds of shoe repairing quickly, and satisfactorily. In none of the larger cities will there be found more complete equipment than that used by Mr. Brown.

Business has kept up to a satisfactory mark at both of Mr. Brown's shops and he is very pleased that he has been able to give employment to the same staff of workmen as he has done for some years.

Just Another Whataman!

By N. Florence Leech

"Yes, but you will!" Burley Wilson's voice was loud and forceful, and his grin on Daisy's arm was determined. "You're going out to dinner with me, so get a move on."

"All right, Burley," Daisy answered obediently, and Elsie noticed that her friend's eyes were bright as stars.

Elsie watched anxiously as they started briskly down the street, then she turned to the man beside her in the porch swing.

"Burnley's a modern cave man, isn't he?" she said, and sighed.

"He looked and acted—like a piano mover," Jimmy Nolting reforted. Then his voice softened. "Will you go with me to my sister's tomorrow?" he asked, almost diffidently.

"Yes," she frowned, aware as always of the contrast between him and Burnley. "I'll be busy all day."

"But Elsie," he protested, and a dull red darkened his cheeks. "No," she repeated, loudly. "No!"

"Then I'd better be going," he said with quiet dignity and, taking up his hat, he left.

Elsie went slowly to her room, her mind seething with conflicting emotions; anger at Jimmie because he was slender and blond instead of big and muscular and dynamic like Burnley; envy that her fortunate roommate; a vain wishing that she were small and petite, instead of an inch taller than Jimmie, and a strange mingling of pity and contempt for herself because she wasn't satisfied with him as he was.

Elsie had thought not so long ago that she would be the happiest girl in the world when she was married to Burnley. Then Daisy became engaged to Burnley, and unspectacular Jimmie was eclipsed. Burnley was at home in many circles and had worked at many jobs; Jimmy was merely a teacher. Burnley was an amateur wrestler; Jimmy was a good chess player.

"I don't love you enough to marry you," Elsie told him, with a queer, twisted pain in her heart. He combined to call on her, and do favors for her, and at every opportunity he reminded her of his love. No; he was not impressive, but he was persevering; and strangely enough Elsie could not stop thinking of him.

Daisy returned home early. "Burnley has to go tonight on another business trip" she explained "To West Virginia this time. He'll be gone a week. I wish he weren't away so much."

"How about our going to Ocean View tomorrow?" Elsie asked, snatching at anything that might divert her mind.

"A great idea," Daisy returned with enthusiasm. "Burnley never takes me to the beach."

Accordingly they joined the crowd on the early morning excursion train and, as they sped through the cool, sweet countryside, Elsie listened with growing impatience to Daisy's chatter about Burnley.

"Jimmie is the most thoughtful person I have ever known," she presently surprised herself by saying, defensively. "And smart enough to write a book!

"Is he? Burnley can—" and so it went.

It was mid-morning when they reached the beach. The sky and the ocean were blue; the sunshine was golden; the laughing crowd was scattering like wind-blown confetti.

"Come on." Elsie cried, and they hurried to the bath-house where they put on their swimming suits. Then, hand in hand, they ran laughingly across the sand and plunged into the surf, and swam out to a moored raft which was dotted with bright-clad bathers.

"Gorgeous, isn't it?" exclaimed Daisy, breathing deeply of the cool salty air.

"Marvellous!" answered Elsie, but for some reason she wasn't really happy.

They swam farther out, laughing and paying like children in the warm, white-capped waves. Then they returned to the raft to rest. Daisy began talking to a stout, sun tanned girl who lay face down on the slippery logs. Elsie sat with her arms hugged around her knees, gazing at the lively scene with lingering approvingly on the tall, well-formed men.

On a nearby raft a bronze-haired girl was trying to entice a blonde girl in red up beside him. She was shrieking with laughter, and pretending to struggle.

"That fellow yonder looks like Burnley," Daisy said, suddenly.

"Uh-hy," answered Daisy.

certainly with Burnley were here."

The girl in red was on the raft now. The man kept his arm around her and bending swiftly he kissed her. She slapped him, then rumpled his thick hair. He laughed aloud, and turning, faced them.

"Hello, Burnley," Daisy called gaily, enviously. "Dyou see that?" Daisy was staring wide-eyed, and Elsie realized with a sick feeling of dread. The strange, tall, dark shouldered man was Burnley. She gripped Daisy's arm wildly. "Who are the loving couple?" she asked the stout girl, lightly.

"She's a Miss Swift, and she stays at the Ride A Wee where I do", the girl informed them. "They are engaged, and he comes down here almost every week."

Daisy did like a seal from the raft.

"Wait." Elsie cried, plunging after her, but swift as an arrow Daisy sped to the other raft.

"Hello, Burnley," she challenged the swarthy man. "I see you didn't go to West Virginia after all."

He muttered something, and his flushed face darkened.

"Oh, Daisy continued, in her clear, carrying voice "that is your diamond ring in the bath house safe. You evidently need it for your little playmate here. Or do you buy engagement rings wholesale?"

The girl in red was gazing at her incredulously; the silenced bathers gaped curiously.

"Come away", and Elsie jerked her friend's arm, and plotted her through the staring crowd to the shore.

After they reached the shelter of the bath-house Daisy collapsed, and Elsie helped her clean, took her to a hotel and secured a room. Wordlessly she sat with her arms around her friend while the girl wept, scalding tears for the man she had loved.

"If only Jimmie were here, he'd know what to do," Elsie said, wordlessly, as she patted Daisy's shaking shoulders.

"J—J—Jimmie," the broken voice was scornful. "He's just another man."

Elsie smiled, and gently laid Daisy back on the piled pillows. "I'll call him long distance, and he can come for us in his car. That'll be better than going home by train."

She got up briskly and powdered her nose. A flicker of excitement swept through her at thought of talking to Jimmie.

"I'll be right back," she said to Daisy, "you lie still."

She dashed hurriedly downstairs to the telephone. Jimmie would be tactful with Daisy. There would be time, too, on that hundred miles trip home, to tell him that she (Elsie) had changed her mind about marrying him. . . . She laughed excitedly. Daisy would get over this . . . she would find a man who was true and honest. Maybe—maybe—she would find someone as wonderful as Jimmie!

OUT FROM THE CONFERENCE

While the Imperial Conference has been in progress at Ottawa for over three weeks and news of interest to the world outside of the Empire has been coming out, the first direct voice of the delegates of the Empire to reach the world at large is the call made upon them to state in as like exchange as one of the essentials of the present day. The restoration of a satisfactory international monetary standard is felt necessary. Wisely the Monetary and Financial Committee of the Conference refrains from any attempt or scheme for the world.

That such an appeal to the nations will have its effect is altogether likely, owing to the attraction which the matter under discussion have had for the rest of the world.

Those who have watched the fall of prices with no small concern will study with interest the statement of this committee which says that rise throughout the world of the general levels of values in prices is the highest degree desirable, and that the evil of falling prices must be attacked by government and individual action by all causes whether political, economic, financial or monetary. International action is declared necessary and the committee promises every co-operation.

The announcement of the completion of a treaty between Canada and Britain is one of the cheering notes which are becoming more frequent as the great scattering house of the empire draws to a close.

HIS GIFT TO WORLD

The man who made the first moving picture machine is dead—Jean Acme LeRoy. He lived in obscurity and was not rich, following his inventive bent until the last, trying to give the world something new.

Like most inventors he did not reap the harvest which he sowed. It was left for business men to do that.

Hamilton Spectator does not call his life a failure because he did not make money, but says that is because he preferred his calling to money-grubbing.

Wherein lies success? In doing the work one likes best of all in the world and following it without sacrifice for the good of others? or making fortunes out of the work of others as the makers of fortunes out of the movie machine? Surely if the latter is called success the other ought to be called a more successful life because it is the germ of inspiration to the millions. That the man who is able to capitalize and use the inventions of others to make money does a notable public service must be admitted but his gifts are merely less important to the world than those of the inventor, the real giver, who thinks not of himself.

No one could say LeRoy failed in life. Though he lived in obscurity and was little known, his fame ten years after his death will be no less than that of a wealthier man ten years after death, for death is the greatest leveller of fames and reputations. LeRoy gave his name to unselfishness. The other of man gives men work and makes others happy with the gift which LeRoy probably did not have the ability to capitalize for the world's good. But LeRoy was greater than this man and others.

Stratford Beacon-Herald points out that every child born in the Dominion "inherits $600 worth of federal, provincial and municipal debt. It may be is never called upon to pay up his portion but during his lifetime he is going to help carry the load and it shows not against settings about the Beacon-Herald goes on, "To be sure we have heard speakers tell about our wonderful natural resources and would but the individual gets his hands on such things. Only the debt is his."

This statement graphically points out something about debts of which many people know sufficient from their own personal experiences. It points a duty to legislators, federal, provincial and municipal to watch the purse strings. It should do more, it ought to give the individual pause as he thinks of his own personal and business debts. Can a whole world live on debts?

Debts are always paid. There has been no escape about cancellation of war debts that people may think there is such a thing as wiping out debts. In reality that is not possible. A debt represents something more than a mark on a piece of financial paper or a bank bill or a gold piece it means that labor has been performed and that equivalent has been given for the debt which is acknowledged. Debts are always paid, or they are prepaid. There is no slate wiping with them. If one owes a man and does not pay him, the latter is the man who pays or has paid.

But nevertheless the great fact remains that there is dead of debt on every child born. Though he may not feel the debt, it is there.

WHEN AN EDITOR QUITS EDITING, temporarily or permanently, what does he do? Take to the bush, naturally, to get away from the shams and hypocrisies of life in the so-called civilized zones—back to the great, open spaces where the men are mostly men and women are all-women, and the birds and the bees, and the beasts are wild and free, like one of Brer Curran's Sox wolves which will not bite unless they are hungry. So, then this is the story of an editor who disappeared some weeks ago from the vicinity of Deseronto, and left no forwarding address as "Whereabouts Unknown." From Dore Lake, which is reached after much travail and other hindrances, Douglas, Ontario, comes a message from Harry M. Moore, Nature Lover, Sport Authority, Writer-Printer, in his usual terse style, announcing his continued presence on this terrestrial ball. No, he does not say it with flowers, fragrant and dewey, but with flowers of speech, vagrant and floral, all about the size of a cabbage, named Ian Mack who lives up the creek in the tiny wee shack—all this in verse, which might have been worse,—and in other short tale of a skunk in a swale, with a smell that was stale, a hole in one, and a groundhog in two, also Ben James, of Ben Hope, and a strange tale of animal instinct and other smells he has known. However, here's the stories of Ian Mack and Ben James. Will you, Mr. Moore, blame it on your old friend Harry Moore.

Ben James of the Scotch Bush was crossing his field one evening recently when he met a skunk. The skunk stopped. Ben stopped. Ben does not like skunks, so he picked up a stone and threw it. He made it so hot for the Perfume Bearer of the animal kingdom that the skunk disappeared down a groundhog's burrow. It so happened that in the burrow at the time was a groundhog mother and her five youngsters and she was not exactly in the mood of having away from trouble when Trouble darted into her front parlour, without so much as a "Howdy." Ben stopped up the hole with stones, sat down nearby and listened. War broke out below the surface of the soil. There was a gnashing of teeth, shrill whistling. Through the stones openings in the stones placed in the burrow opening, a thick vapor, a pungent, evil-smelling, sickening vapor came. Ben stood it as long as he could and then left. Next day he returned, removed the stones. A skunk, somewhat bedraggled, somewhat fatigued, tail between its legs, fur ruffled, came out of the hole and ambled off into the woodland. Other than that, there was nothing to show what had been the outcome of that skirmish. Ben went his way. Some below. A few days later Ben was crossing the same field again when he halted. A mother groundhog and her five youngsters were out for a new home near a fence. Out of curiosity Ben approached them, but they paid no attention to him. He could have stepps closer and then he turned away chuckling. The groundhogs had not only dug a new home for themselves but they had made it safe from human interference in future. They had laid a heavy barricade of poison ivy vines for several yards around their front door.

IAN MACK

This is the story of old Ian Mack,
Who lived up the creek in a tiny, wee shack.
Ian was canny, Ian was wise,
He never drank whiskey, he never told lies.
All there by himself lived old Ian Mack,
In the midst of the marsh, in a tiny wee shack.

All there by himself with the fish and the fowl,
Lived old Ian Mack, quite as wise as an owl;
He knew birds at first sight, he knew fish at a glance,
He could name every wiggler in the marsh's expanse.
A wise man was Ian, was old Ian Mack,
Who lived up the creek in a tiny wee shack.

Creative was Ian, an inventor in part,
He made several gadgets which gave him a start,
He built him a duck-boat with net high and dry
To catch every duck that dropped from the sky;
A good wing-shot was Ian, was old Ian Mack,
Who lived up the creek in a tiny wee shack.

He crossed duck and heron, produced a queer breed,
The funniest fowl that man ever read,
But their legs were so long, the poor things couldn't swim,

And for long their sad plight did sore trouble him,
So he shot the whole lot, did old Ian Mack,
Who lived up the creek in a tiny shack.

Oh the things that he tried, the things that he done
Would fill a whole book, and then there'd be some
To put in another, if one had the time
To elaborate more in this rambling rhyme.
Oh a funny old codger was old Ian Mack,

POVERTY THROUGH ABUNDANCE

Between 14 and 18 years ago everybody was being asked to save food. In Great Britain food was rationed and even in Canada there were restrictions on the use of sugar. Attempts were made to conserve the use of whale meat. Recipes were organized to prevent housewives from obtaining food. Nothing was wasted but human flesh and blood. Today we have precisely the opposite condition. Countries having food to support regard each other with jealousy and fear. Governments are signing importations of food as if they were an explosive or a poison. Producers of food and other materials in different countries are regarded as natural enemies. The New Brunswick Weekly, London, has an article on coffee, which may be taken as amusing or tragic. Brazil is now suffering from a plague of too much coffee. We have just been familiar with denunciations of coffee as harmful to the nerves, but the contrivances for retaining the flavor without the drug, producing ersatz substitutes for coffee and with chicory as an adulterant are the cradles of trouble with Brazil is too much good coffee, and so full of purification will remove the bitter bounty of nature.

Why Nature runs amok, however, in mistaken beneficence, she is not really skilled. Her cyclones sweep in the Atlantic and burning either on the plantations or in the warehouses at Rio, twelve million sacks have been destroyed. The sea is coffee-coloured, and the farmers see the coffee-tree floats like a pall over the land. The wind, how-ever . . . thousands of workers are occupied with the task of dealing with creosote, shovelling, loading and destroying the coffee. In their anxiety, as one of them has expressed it, is for the future.—London Advertiser.

A FORTUNE IN A PLAY

When Rudolf Besier secluded himself on his tiny island to write his drama about "Barrett of Wimpole Street" he entertained no notions of his eventual remuneration. The London producer to whom it was submitted doubted that it would ever return the production cost, but was sincere enough to give it a trial production in literary merits. The other day the Theatre World, a London publication, came out with figures showing that "The Barretts" has brought 112,000 pounds to the box office during its 16-month run at the Queen's Theatre.

If you will forget about the disappearance of the Lindbergh baby for the moment this sum will represent a total of $560,000 in American dollars. Now, my, swift Angelina Jones Chinchy, what financial statement declaring that during her 47-week run in Manhattan Mike Gazzo's play has netted her dollars' worth of treasurer's receipts in the Dodge-Jones safe deposit box?

When her tour with the Besier vehicle is completed in the States and a half million dollars more will be added to the till there'll have been rumors that there wasn't that much money left in circulation. Rumors are like that, roughly, the total gross of the play here and abroad will run to a couple of million dollars. No. Miss. Cornell and Guthrie McClintic will not go to the movies.—New York World-Telegram.

YOUTH AND THE DEPRESSION.

The child does not ordinarily analyze conditions. He is concerned more to prepare the present with the past; he is absorbed with building up than family budgets, bills and mortgages, and with discovering rather than the rate and economy legislation. The child of the depression years has not the problem of acquiring a mutt dog like Pud Simkins', and the present is not the time to build a hood are much more important things to him.—Detroit Saturday Night.

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

Every parent thinks about children's toys and often it is a problem to pick out what he should think will be best for the particular little fellow in question. Many parent have idea that a toy must be expensive in order to delight a child, while the reverse is often the truth.

Children surely need toys as much as they need food. Both clothes or expensive toys are not required for their well-being. They need, rather, toys that hold their interest and stir their imagination. Often a few oddly shaped stones or a curved stick will give children as much pleasure, if not more, than a complicated piece of toy mechanism, for the child wants to add something to the toy out of his own mind, and the mechanism refuses to enlarge it with imagination. Then it becomes a thing that he has created, and it is the joy that is what gives him the greatest thrill.

Parents often stint themselves in order to buy their children toys such as, let us say, a small automobile or other elaborate mechanical contrivance, and find after a few days that the child has set it by and is busy at some other task. He does like it out of a soap box or a few boards and a couple of wheels. That home-made auto has given the child mental exercise. It has called forth his creative feelings and satisfied his ego, because he has accomplished something with his own hands.

Wherever possible, therefore, we should select toys that the child can elaborate upon. Some of the very best are building blocks that have unusual value, because they can be assembled in a variety of ferent shapes. Real "air-castles" can be constructed with them. Another type of toy that overjoys a child is a miniature theatre like a "Punch and Judy" show, where the child can make and build the child can think up his own stories to fit the play.

The habit of giving boys toy guns, sabres, daggers and Indian uniforms, is not generally advisable. We do not want to encourage much the primitive savage inside. Cultural standards have changed and that inclination should be repressed rather than encouraged. In order to be happy.

Another type of toy to be avoided is the kind that may cause injury. Years ago it was customary to give a boy a bow and arrow for his birthday. The number of children killed and maimed because of these dangerous playthings will horrify you. Sometimes beautiful, but they should always be supervised by adults when the children use them.

We do not want to rob our children of confidence in their own fearful little stay types but under the guidance of wise parents toys develop the instinct of self-preservation and pugnacity, which is far afield in the latitude given to children in their play.

Toys are a wonderful and useful form of entertainment for children in their leisure hours. They are worse a room, with a curtain, we have as much fun with them as a regular playhouse. On such an improvised stage a whole club of children can have a lot of fun themselves but will actually become instructive if the latitude is given to children in their play. Especially true if costumes are made by the children themselves. If in addition stories like Red Riding Hood and Cinderella are dramatized and suggestions invited, there is no other toy that will be as full of joy and crying.

Remember that in reality, adults often buy toys, for children that please themselves rather than the child. In the selection of toys, however is a very important item in a child's life and upbringing. Not always of the child's age, tendencies and needs in selecting toys. Make the selection always an educational one, and you will find that the child will be helpful to him as well.

Canandoque—Arthur Lewert, 2619 Riopelle street, Detroit, was instantly killed when his automobile left the highway on a curve five and a half miles east of here and turned into a ditch, police said. John Plunkett, 1361 Park Ave., Detroit, passenger in the same car, suffered a fractured skull and was taken to the hospital at Kingston.

Oshawa—Mike Gyrk, Oshawa, appeared before Magistrate Ward in police court charged with fishing in the Harmony creek with a Fishery Act. The charge was laid by Game Warden M. Stevenson. The accused was fined $5 and costs, the fish for food, having been unfit for human consumption. He was suspended, but costs of $6 were levied, which were paid.

Grimsby—With the market for grapes in baskets reported to be the best in years, grape growers and shippers throughout the Niagara Peninsula are staging a waiting game for the ripening process to get further advanced. Wineries, so far, have given no indication of their tonnage requirements. Growers and sellers have lined up together and claim they will not be stampeded into selling before they get a fair minimum, as happened last year.

Oshawa—A deputation from the Oshawa Board of Education in connection with the provincial and federal governments and the planning unemployed workers on farms in Northern Ontario, was in Toronto to interview the Attorney-General's committee which is administering the scheme. Applications have been received by the committee from a large number of unemployed workers on farms, and the purpose of the deputation was to ascertain the scheme of procedure during all the information possible.

Peterboro—With a stiff wind blowing across the course, thirty-two of Ontario's leading motor car drivers were unable to start their second heat in the Canadian world records on Clear Lake Friday afternoon at the Canadian Power Boat Association home for the week, will die down sufficiently so that the heat can be run off.

Tweed—Arrangements are being completed to hold Tweed community picnic in Memorial Park on Labor Day, Sept. 5th.

Tweed—There is strong possibility that Tweed may shortly have a talking picture house. A well known proprietor of a chain of theatres interested in the town visited and recently interviewed Mr. Stanley Ivey, with the auditorium regarding the talking pictures here. He expressed himself as being satisfied with the acoustics of the local building.

LATE BROKER'S SON DROWNED

Timagami Ont., Aug. 13— Craig MacPhayden, small son of the late Kenneth MacPhayden, Toronto broker, was drowned in Lake Timagami today. The lad ran away from his nurse and fell off in front of the cottage where Mrs. MacPhayden and her children were staying.

The lad's death marks the second tragedy of the summer in the family. His father was taken dead June 1, asphyxiated by carbon monoxide from his motor car. The elder MacPhayden was sleeping in a room with the garage and when he was overcome and doctors at the time said it was miraculous that the gas had not affected the children, who were sleeping in the next room.

One of the children who had the remarkable escape from their father's fate was the little boy drowned yesterday.

WALKER HAS RIGHT TO RE-EXAMINE

Executive Chamber, Albany, Aug. 13—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt decided at the opening of today's executive session that Mayor Walker may summon for cross-examination any witness who testified against him before the Hofstadter committee which investigated the city administration.

Roosevelt's ruling that the Hofstadter committee has to be used by him in reaching his decision was immediately challenged by John J. Curtin, Walker's counsel.

ROYALS STILL ON THE CHUTES

Bears Find Them Easy Picking in Season to Date

(By The Associated Press)

If anyone should mention the word "tomahawk" in the presence of any of the Montreal ball players, he probably would conjure up an image of the Newark Bears Newark has been just that to the Royals all this season and has been one of the principal reasons why Montreal is not better than fifth in the International League standing.

If the Royals could count out games they have played against Newark so far, they would have an average of .574, which would put them right up into second place. But the league leaders have taken them over the handles 16 times in 19 games with the result that their .526 mark put them a half game below Rochester after the Red Birds beat Albany last night.

Victory for Newark, the Bears's fourth in a row over Montreal, was hardly more than a formality today. They took the lead with a four run rally in the third inning and Hubbell, Bears' ace, held the runs off Johnny Ponorski to win 10 to 8. Johnny Hubbell added a "trifle" in the seventh inning but Jim Weaver pulled Newark out of the hole.

Leads Split

The victory incidentally, increased Newark's lead to 10½ games as the second place Buffalo Pirates and Jersey City had a day off while Rochester, in third, failed to improve its position when the Orioles split a double header with Toronto.

The Leafs won the first clash, 10-6 on the strength of a six-run inning rally that produced four runs off Ken Ethridge, hard-luck Baltimore and B. Smith of Toronto left two batters aglow in the slugfest and Smith added a pair of singles. "Sugar" Cain stepped into the fracas in the fifth and shut blanked the Leafs with five hits as Baltimore won it 3-0.

Tony Kaufman, who had not done any particularly brilliant pitching for Rochester on previous occasions, turned in a Red Wings into the first division with a 3 to 0 shutout over Albany. He let the Senators down with four hits while the Wings nicked Al Shealy for nine

SPORTS

OLYMPIC... STARS BY JIMMY THOMPSON

Will maybe the C.O.R.L. play-off will end before the season's night as previously announced. As a matter of fact they can't very well end

The Peterboro club have announced that Kingston go there today for their postponed game of July 23rd. The Frats claim that if they win from the Penite they will have a chance for second place and that also claims that the Bellev-Cobourg game should be played and not defaulted, as stated, yesterday. We are hardly in accord with the sentiments voiced by the Peterboro club. But why not play the postponed games Wednesday, the double header between Belleville and Peterboro at the local Fair Grounds? If the Peter who is today's Waterloo can use the same arrangement for either Monday evening or Wednesday afternoon, in a game like this, second place would almost be at stake. If Belleville lost this game, then the league would almost have to step in and order the Belleville at Cobourg game played later. As long as the Peters have a chance for second place we feel that the game which was defaulted by Cobourg should be played. On the other hand perhaps Cobourg cannot be forced to play the game but it would look much better as far as the local leads, Peterboro and Belleville, are concerned.

One should take into consideration the fact that unlikely due to the untiring efforts of the Peterboro executive we have got through a four team loop in the C.O.R.L. In 1931, the Peters have always been gentlemen both on and off the field and we would not like to see them lose out in the final race by Cobourg defaulting to Belleville. Secretary of the Peters lose today it's all over.

We noticed "Sherry" Brown, Belleville's ever-green catcher, is the grandfather of baseball and football game. "Sherry" Brown will be remembered by the thousands some 30 years ago when he carried Ontario Agricultural College's colors on the calibre of "Son" Watkins, Vince Brennan, "Scoop" Morton, Morris LaVale, Sammy Symons, "Jake" Smith, Walt Grewe and other well known footballers in Belleville Those were the days when a fellow could get a "big set for a nickel," eh? At that "Sherry" Brown was a mighty fine player indeed and Belleville had a smart ball team in those days.

Most anything can happen in the Bay of Quinte League but the league now stands, Picton have a two game lead over the Bells, who stand 3 won and 1 lost, as does Point Anne. Belleville are playing Picton here today while Point Anne go to Picton on Monday. As the situation now stands there are no exactly four different results as to the whichness of who will be playoff series. As it stands Picton have to lose both games to Belleville to allow the other teams take in the tie. There are so many possible angles we'll leave this until Monday.

All arrangements have been completed for the girls' softball play-offs at the Armouries here. After last night's game the Belleville-Trenton girls meet the Kingston-Napanee girls and the single-game series starting Monday night. The teams will meet every night in the week until one team wins either two out of three games. There are to be tickets sold for each game, the gate receipts to be split with the 40 percent going to each club and 20 percent to the league executive.

The play-offs will see the three umpire system put into operation. By this we mean that no one will work at the plate, one at first and second and the third man looks after third base and also watches the plays in the outfield. All play-off games are to start before 6.30 p.m. so that the game will not be called on account of darkness. The team managers should be well advised to see that their players are on the diamond on time as President Deacon has issued instructions to his umpires to start the games precisely on time.

We understand that the "wanders" are moving into the Belleville Arena for their next card which may be premised on the result of Friday, Aug 19th, Jack Corcoran is at present in a huddle with his local promoters and announcements will most likely be made regarding the bouts, the first of which will be staged in September. However, Rod LaRogue, Bobby Pearce and Jack Kirr are all bearing down on their training quarters here.

The Continental Life softball line, in the Belleville Senior Men's softball loop, sure pulled a surprise in the last game played. Previous to the play-off series the Canada Crushed team had not won a single game. Now the "insurance men" have stepped in and won the first two games in the play-off series. They have to win but one game to win the championship and be aware themselves of the league championship. Charles Sager and Ken Redmerville are proud possessors of the fine large trophy-which is emblematic of the Amalgamated League championship. Redmerville nine, after losing the first game of the play-off to Victoria, have come back and won the next two games in succession.

GEO. LABRASH HAS REAL TEAM

Play Exhibition Tilt With Airmen And Win Handily

TRENTON, August 13—(Special)—George LaBrash, who already owns everything from a gas station to a coyote and an Austin car has added another string to his holdings having bought out the Bay Street auto racing crowds sum of money. The team is now known as the LaBrash's Stars. They rose the R.C.A.F. in an exhibition game here last night, winning by a score of 19 to 11. The game was a riot. Shouts of Wall Street Bunko, Beauty and Soapy replaced those of Algernon and Percy, George's team had the best of the game with Wilson in the box and plenty of support from behind, they piled up the runs. The R.C.A.F. seemed to have improved a great deal under the new management of Slim Burdes, who is now the brains of the team. Winder started on the box for the Airmen, but was replacing in the third by Gibb, who has returned recently from Vancouver where he must have spent his time practising pitching but they must be poor batters out west probably better with a rope as the LaBrash's hit him freely. It is not known as yet whether this new addition to the line-up of baseball in Trenton will be a permanent addition as to whether this new addition to the league next year. They have a wealth of exhibition games to play yet and they may decide, that football is more their style.

Line-ups:—

LaBrash Fins — Anderson, ss; Jackson, c; Vieau p; Kennedy 1st; Miller 2nd; Waldron 3rd; Wilson, rf; Mills 3rd; J. Anderson rf; McCrudden cf.

DODGERS NOW ARE THREAT

Have Won 16 of Their Last 20 Games And Still Gaining

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer).

Moving along now at a tremendous clip, Max Carey's Brooklyn Dodgers have become a distinct and formidable threat to the rest of National League pennant.

Triumphant in 16 of their last 20 games, the Dodgers today rested in third place, only three points behind the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates and only three and a half behind the Chicago Cubs.

Max Carey's Brooklyn Dodgers are all the more remarkable in that they won without a regular first baseman or pitching in their last 20 games only eight times has the starting pitcher remained in the game for the finish. Heimach, Clark and Mungo have been the two complete games apiece and Vance and Thurston one each. Heimach, especially by Letty O'Doul, and effective relief pitching have contributed to the spurt.

There was nothing wrong with Carey's first baseman, Kampouris, however, as the Dodgers blanked the New York Giants, 3 to 0, and gave up on four hits. His mates supported him with nine hits and run out of that total as the Giants dropped out of first place and equalled the major league record. Joe Stripp's double, O'Doul's single and a run batted in by Hudlin scored the only run of the game in the first inning.

New Far Kicks

Chuck Klein hit his home runs, his 34th and 35th of the season, and drove in four runs as the Boston Phillies trounced Boston Braves 8 to 1. Virgil Davis and Hal Elder let him down with a single each. Phil Collins held the Braves to six hits.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians moved into a tie with the Philadelphia Athletics for second place by beating Detroit 3 to 0, while Washington were dropping a 2 to 1 decision to the Boston Red Sox. Clint Brown held Detroit to six hits. Three of the runs came in the eighth frame and scored on Dick Porter's triple and A hit batsman, Bryan's double, a single by Porter and Averill and a fumble by Johnny Stone gave the Indians all their runs off Vic Sorrell in the first.

Ty Paul Andrews broke the Red Sox's 11 game losing streak as he held the A's to five hits and fanned eight men. Simmons fanned three times.

Bobby Pearce Easily Wins Final in Single Sculling and Forecasts His Retirement

Canada Has Chance to Win Two Rowing Titles

GWYNNE STILL IN

United States Takes Lacrosse Title in Third Game

(By Elmer Dolmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Los Angeles, Aug. 13—Canada takes her last shot at Olympic glory today on water and in the ring.

At Long Beach the Hamilton Leander crew will try to bring eight-oared supremacy of the Olympic Games to the Dominion. In the night from Hamilton dashes with the California Golden Bears, the Toronto Cambridge Varsity and the Italian boatloads in a race, that has attracted more interest than any other event during those 10th modern Olympic Games.

But Canada may have one Olympic rowing title in the bag when Hamilton eight goes to the starting line. Noel DeMille and Ned Frail of Vancouver, defending double sculls entrants, meet pairs from Great Britain and the United States, having gained direct entry to the final by victory in their preliminary last on Friday.

Gwynne Favorite

Horace (Lefty) Gwynne, Toronto, bantamweight, is a strong favorite to win the championship in his class. All other Canadian boxers were eliminated. The latter is to go being Cregge Maughan of Montreal, heavyweight, who lost by the narrow margin of a split decision to Lovell from the Argentine in last night's semi-final. Vasily Ivy by a technical knockout in the third round.

Bobby Pearce brings the Olympic single sculling championship to his home at Hamilton, but it is the only on exhibition there. Racing again for his native Australia, the lanky lad of single sculling fame today annexed his second Olympic title, becoming the first man in history to repeat at these Olympic tests.

Pearce travelled fairly slowly, took a few jabs at 1,000 metres and he had plenty of speed in reserve as he crossed the finish line ahead of Emil Miller of the United States, with Guillermo Douglas of Uruguay third and Joseph Wright, Great Britain, fourth and last.

Gwynne Still In

Along with the Australian, rowing classes of 22 countries from Great Britain, Germany and the United States. Clive and Edwards, famous Canadian pair, were eliminated cost, handily with their champion-ship over Pearce and Wright of New Holland. Germany's four-oared shell with cox came from behind to beat Poland by a foot in the closest race of the day. The fourth title was the pair oars with cox, captured by Charles Keiffer and Paul Costello of the U.S.A., who won decisively over Poland with Switzerland a fading third.

The last Canadians finished far down in the field in the swimming as the United States took two titles and the Japanese added another with Yoshiko Yamada winning for the pool. Walter Spence of Montreal, Canada's lone entry in the distance in 4.38 with the Canadian relay team finishing fourth in the wards of Toronto, Ruth Karr of Montreal and Dorothy Poynton of Hamilton, fourth.

Lacrosse Title to U.S.

Maaji Kyokawa won the men's 100 metre backstroke championship in the pool and Japan annexed the 400 metre relay in which Canada finished fourth. The other title was the women's 400 metre relay in which the U.S. quartette smashed the Olympic record in winning

Weddings

FLETCHER—BABCOCK

The marriage was solemnized quietly on Thursday evening, at the bride's home, Odessa, when Miss Ursula Babcock, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. George Babcock, became the bride of Mr. Donald Fletcher, of Vancouver. The ceremony was performed by the groom's father, Rev. T. L. Fletcher.

The bride, who was attired in a smart travelling costume was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Babcock, while Mr. L. Fletcher was his brother's groomsman. Immediately after the ceremony, the bride and groom left by motor for Vancouver, where they will reside.

MURPHY—BYRNE

TORONTO — A quiet wedding took place in Holy Name Church when Miss Cleide Byrne became the bride of Mr. Edward J. Murphy, of Toronto. The bride, who was given away by her cousin, Mr. J. W. Armstrong, looked charming in a dress of pale blue taffeta and tulle gray shoes and hat to match. Her bouquet was of pale pink roses and lily of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Genevieve Armstrong, cousin of the bride, wore a brown georgette dress with hat to match. Her bouquet was of tea roses and lily of the valley. The groom was attended by Mr. Michael Schwager. After the wedding breakfast the couple left for Belleville, the bride travelling in navy blue dress with hat and shoes to match. On their return they will live in Dominion Park.

Must Have That Crisp, Clean Look

This is the season when a girl is apt to become a fanatic. On every subject of cleanliness. Tub and tub and tub! Cream the complexion. Loe it. Cook up a deep emotion for the powder pad. Shampoo the glorious tresses. Starch, soap and water, will never hurt it.

Watch the lady spenders in the shopping buy-ways. Whited, most of them. And their brows slope a girl who looks as cool as a cucumber. How gets she like this? By the most fastidious attention to person and garments. Results are worth the time and trouble; no money is necessary. You don't have to have a charge account at a fashionable lingerie. Plenty of soap and water and a scouring old scrub brush. A pot of scented talcum. The usual bits of beauty props. And a will to persevere. Will is the main thing.

The pretty one allows plenty of time for the morning bath. No speedy jumping out for her. How does she complete the cold shower. She may shriek and shiver but she gets it, and the clubbing after with the heavy Turkish towel is an additional rib that puts the color in her cheek, forces her complexion to take on that finished porcelain look. She knows that the skin is an eliminating organ and that by keeping it functioning all over her body—frictioning away dead tissue—there is less strain on the more sensitive glands of the face. That, my beauties, is why her nose and forth beamlights are when the thermometer is on the up and up.

Finished with her bath, she pours a few drops of eau de cologne on a corner of a moistened, wash cloth and rubs it over her face and neck carefully to pick up any particles of soap or skin moisture that may be there. She doesn't use cream during the day, not in hot weather; cream has a detestable way of turning sweat glands to a state of activity. She lays on powder, starting at the chin working up to the forehead. She removes the surplus deposit with a camelia hair brush.

Elegant. She feels cool. Looks cool. Fresh undies, clean stockings. What a very day! Certainly. What's a little laundry work to any girl? She isn't worth much if she can't wash and iron. "Everybody do." And she extravagantly is dry cleaning. Her chief horror is the silk frock with shoulders stained with body oil. The next best reason that has darkened at the back where it has come in contact with irens curls not any too clean.

Next, after powder on a complexion that has picked up atmospheric dust. That's the way! Skin, hair, eyes. She uses a liquid cleanser, wipes away make-up, puts on her. She does this before luncheon and before dinner, whether ge has been anywhere to find array of wage-winners. It is the only way. Takes only a minute. And produces that look of freshness which is all necessary whether'hm is trying to raise blisters on the face of the earth and to put freckles upon the nose of its inhabitants.

All right, another bath. It is the only way.

LIBRARY CORNER

James H. Powers, foreign editor of the Boston Globe, in his volume "Years of Turmoil" has written a detailed resume of world affairs since 1918. He has divided his subject into three parts, the Versailles Treaty, the individual nations and the resultant world condition. The story of every major nation from 1918 till today is discussed in a clear non-partisan fashion; Soviet Russia—pragmatism; China—the awakening of the Asian giant; England—a study in decayed integration; France—the progress of a policy; Italy—the Fascist corollary; Germany—the history of a paradox and the Balkans—Europe's which cauldron. The book concludes with a summary of leading events from 1919 to 1932.

A picture of the occupations and customs of the men and women who from time immemorial have dwelt around the caves and harbors of the extreme west of England, is given by A. K. Hamilton Jenkin in his volume "Cornish Seafarers." The smuggling, wrecking, and fishing life of these hardy mariners is discussed. To many the exploits of the smugglers and wreckers who in the days of the Stuarts rowed home from Brittany in their open boats and whose doings once gave evil reputation to the Cornish shores, will be interesting. Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch, the noted Britain novelist and essayist, a native of Cornwall, in his introduction to the volume remarks: "But Cornwall today has somehow found a group that will not let its memories die."

Victoria, B.C., is favored by a climate in which the temperature averages 42 degrees in winter and 61 degrees in summer and the annual rainfall 34 inches.

Correct Manners

IN A RESTAURANT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—When dining with a gentleman should the lady give her order to her escort, or direct to the waiter? I have seen it done both ways.

2.—To whomever the lady gives her order, should she tell at once the time everything she wants for the full course dinner; that is, say, cocktail, meat, course, and dessert; or can she decided on dessert after the meat course?

3.—If there is a choice of vegetables and asked, should she specify which she prefers at the time of giving the order?

4.—Another thing regarding name cards: should a girl use Miss before her name Miss Jane May Smith; or just Jane May Smith?

Betty

1.—One does, as you say, see this done in both ways, but by women on who have an intuitive sense of the gracious regard that they should give their hosts. The man, on the occasion, is the host, and just as in the home we would indicate a desire to our hostess (or to a host, if there were no hostess), instead of directly to the waitress so in a restaurant, we would or should, give our order to the host, so that he may relay it with his own order, to the waiter or waitress. It is but courtesy that girls realize this, for a well-bred man considers it a delicate girl's disregard of this important necessity.

2.—This depends on the custom of the restaurant. Usually we are there to eat, not to dine, so give the order up to the dessert.....probably because our enjoyment of dessert may be affected by our enjoyment of the courses that have gone before.

3.—Usually [illegible] is the convenient way to do, both for diner and waitress.

4.—Always the girl should use the Miss on a name, even if she is still in her 'teens.

MOURNING ATTIRE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Just what is the period of mourning—for one's mother and what rules may be worn and when?

My beloved mother passed away on Thanksgiving Day and since then I have worn all-black but now I have started wearing all-white, which I shall continue to do practically all summer.

Just when in formal mourning may one wear black and white, and when lavender and grey?

You see, I teach, and I rather like to inflict all black on the poor youngsters next fall.

L.

Since you wanting to wear deep mourning for your mother, you did just right to wear it for the first few months and then to change to the all-white for the summer months. All-white as you know, is a "deep" mourning as is all-black, and a great relief for summer, both for wearer and beholder.

The wearing of lavender and gray, which used to indicate the lightening of mourning, is not now observed. Of late years, the mode of wearing so many shades and tones in colors and accessories, has taken the place of these.

When school opens in the fall, I suggest that you abandon the all-black costumes, lightening your black frocks with lovely soft, white jabots, collars and even belted, fingertip "coolies" and for the rest of these black frocks are to be discarded anyway, change to dark colors, so that the heavy heart of black will not prevail in your class room. As a matter of fact, at that time there will be no necessity, in taste or form, to wear mourning of any kind.

"JEWEL ROBBERY" AFFORDS GRAND ENTERTAINMENT WITH WM. POWELL, KAY FRANCIS

William Powell and Kay Francis, America's most popular screen team, have been re-united by Warner Bros. in their first co-starring picture in nearly 3 years, "Jewel Robbery."

Jewel Robbery which is the feature attraction at the Belle today and Monday, marks

KAY FRANCIS' since Daily, given both stars full scope for the talents which brought them to notice as leaders in the field of dramatic comedy. Powell appears as the suave, slyly humorous "robber," and Miss Francis stars even while husbands look on hopelessly. Miss Francis appears as the beautiful bored Baroness Teri, toast of Vienna society, sought after by a thousand men but loving only one, and not her husband.

The picture affords a variety of unusual situations, played to their utmost by the stars and supporting cast, which includes Alan Mowbray, Helen Vinson, Hardie Albright, Lee Kohlmar, Spencer Charters and many others.

"Jewel Robbery" was adapted for the screen by Erwin Gelsey from the successful New York stage play by Ladislaus Fodor and directed by William Dieterle, famous director of "The Last Flight."

Tragedy of Everest

William Sherwood, the distinguished New York motion picture critic speaks in the following glowing terms of "The Tragedy of Mount Everest," the added feature attraction now at the Belle.

This is very dramatic and beautifully photographed account of the tragic attempt to scale the highest mountain in the world—Mount Everest, in the forbidden Thibet country. The explorers, after climbing gradually to within striking distance of the 30,000 foot mark, attempt to telescopic lens two of the party are seen going on and on until they fade out of sight, never to return. The scenes of the peaks and ice glaciers are gorgeous, as well as the snow flurries and effects of the sun shadows on the snow. Lowell Thomas, Noel as narrator gives a very dramatic description of this historic adventure that will hold all spectators breathless.

Mickey Mouse Returns

Mickey Mouse, the only unpaid movie star on the screen, and the irrepressible little rodent, who has amused millions of adult and children all over the world every day, will appear on the same program in "The Musical Parade." The popular Pox News with its gist of important events will also be exhibited.

JOAN BENNETT HERE MONDAY

The novel vocation of a "wreck hunter" is the role adopted by Miss Joan Bedbett in her latest Fox Films vehicle, "Week Ends Only," which opens at the Capitol on Monday. Discovering that she is tied for her father's ruin in Wall Street and his subsequent death, Miss Bennett gets a job in a speakeasy managed by her former butler, and from this point achieves her new profession.

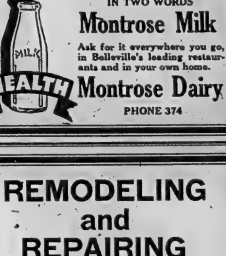
Miss Bennett, whose dramatic artistry has recently been enhanced with the discovery of her talents as a fine comedienne, is said to have ample opportunity in this production to display both qualities. Ben Lyon as a carefree art student and John Halliday as an amorous millionaire head the leading male roles and present an effective contrast in their rivalry.

Hallwell Hobbes as the ex-butler who befriends Miss Bennett; Allan Dinehart, Burton Churchill, John Wray and other fine character artists are in the cast of this production.

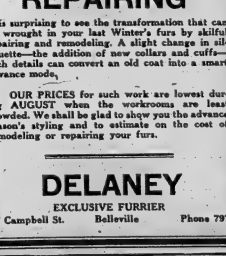
Interesting backgrounds abound throughout the picture. A luxurious Park Avenue penthouse, a Greenwich Village studio, a millionaire's yacht and a night club in a speakeasy that is a faithful reproduction of one of New York's most notorious resorts, are scenes to serve as the settings for much of the action. Sidney Lanfield, who has turned out many successes during the past few months, directed "Week Ends Only" as his first Fox offering. Wanda Tuchock wrote the screen play and dialogue from the successful novel by Warner Fabian.

Fliders

Ladies holding scrips for the Wedgewood Richelieu platter distributed by Belleville merchants during these at the Capitol on Monday for the first time. There will be another delightful dinnerware gift for ladies on Monday, who are advised to be early.



Twinkle



A double bill appears for the last time tonight at 7.00 and 9.30 when Tom Mix appears in "Rough Horse and "Dynamite Denny" are shown at the Capitol.

BOWLING AND TENNIS BRINGS FAME TO TWEED

Tweed—The funeral of the late Mrs. H. J. Clark was held on Thursday afternoon at St. George Anglican Church, Tweed. Rev. W. G. Swayze, rector, delivered an address of comfort and hope to the sorrowing relatives, assuring them of a glad reunion in the Future Life through the resurrection of our Lord Jesus. Mrs. Clark died suddenly and became the first fruits of them that slept.

Interment was made in Victoria Memory. The bearers were Messrs. C. H. Kerr, T. S. Rath, T. S. Potter, J. Lufman, A. Alexander and W. Hubble.

Tweed bowlers are vieing with the tennis devotees in placing the town on the map in the realm of sport. On Wednesday of this week a rink skipped by Fred Hindle and comprising C. D. Wilson, W. E. Spackman and I. D. Corcoran attended the bowling tournament in Deseronto and took the measure in no uncertain manner of the best rinks from Belleville, Stirling, Kingston, Madoc and other towns. They were awarded first prize, walnut Fenderson. Mrs. Ryan, Rev. M. J. McCutcheon, A. W. McGuire and Dr. P. T. Bowby, skip, also took part in the tournament.

Rev. I. C. Wickware of Cloyne will occupy the pulpit of Tweed United Church during August while Rev. W. G. Swayze is on vacation at Arden. There will be no evening service during this time.

Mr. F. C. Nafziger, former manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, and Mrs. Nafziger of Goderich, are visiting Miss A. M. Bayley and her colleagues on the staff.

Mr. Arthur Cotton, who is in charge of the experimental farm operated by Parke, Davis and Co., Walkerton, returned home after spending two weeks vacation at Stoney Lake.

Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Doyle and their two sons are holidaying at Wolfe Island.

Miss Bernice Arbuckle of Belleville, spent the week end with Miss Gertrude Brown.

Mrs. Fred Cotton, her daughter, Ines and two sons, Allan and Harold, returned to Guelph on Sunday after two weeks' holidays at E. S.

Joan Bennett and John Halliday in a scene from "Weekends Only", at the Capitol, Monday and Tuesday.

REMODELING
REPAIRING
It is surprising to see the transformation that can be wrought in your last Winter's furs by skilful repairing and remodeling. A slight change in silhouette—the addition of new collars and cuffs—such details can convert an old coat into a smart advance mode.
OUR PRICES for such work are lowest during AUGUST when the workrooms are least crowded. We shall be glad to show you the advance season's styling and to estimate on the cost of remodeling or repairing your furs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherry of Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sherry.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sparioti of Toronto, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sid McIver.

Miss I. C. Campbell of Aynemore, teacher of Tweed Consolidated School is enjoying a motor trip thru the Maritime Provinces with the Houston family of Belleville.

Mr. F. L. Trudeau of Stoco, a watch-maker by trade has invented what is known as an Observatory Clock, the first to be made in Canada. The article is chiefly a product of Mr. Trudeau's own skill and ingenuity. It stands seven and one-half feet high, two feet wide and ten inches deep. In addition to registering the time of day with remarkable accuracy the clock also indicates the day of the week and gives its inventor a high place among the members of his craft.

FINANCIAL NEWS

BIGGEST MART IN 25 YEARS

All Available Space Utilized to Show Wares

Increasing in size until vendors were forced to display their wares on Pinnacle Street, both above and below the present site of the market, Belleville's Saturday market was the largest seen in Belleville in over 25 years. Not only was all the available space on the local market in use but the farmers displaying their wares were forced to utilize every inch of space that was available in the nearby vicinity.

Prices of butter and eggs were a little drastic, eggs sold for 17c a dozen and butter brought 22c to 25c a pound, every loyal brider claims one could be purchased for 20c a pair while chickens sold for 75c each upward, according to their size. Quality of home cooking came in evidence at the inside market and was soon disposed of at the local prices. Fresh honey in the comb sold for 10c.

Outside Market Heavy

The outside market was very large. Fruit and vegetables holding vegetables added to the appeal of the scene. Beets, green onions, radishes and lettuce all sold for 5c a bunch. Cucumbers sold for 5c and 10c each while fine looking Chinese cabbage sold for 10c each. Green corn sold for 10c a dozen, shelled green peas 30c a quart. New potatoes brought 25c a peck and fresh tomatoes sold for 30c the same measure. Combined with cooking purposes were 10c a quart and larger ones sold for 5c for each.

Peaches Offered

Peaches were offered at 30c a small basket, while those sold at 50c a large basket. Plums selling at 10c a dozen and pears were disposed of. Long blackberries sold at 15c and 20c a box while red raspberries sold for two boxes for 25c, and white ones for two boxes for 30c. Plenty of green cooking apples were offered to the buyers at 30c a peck.

Hay sold for $8.00 per ton by the load and local wood brought $5 a load. Fine looking young porkers pigs sold for $3 a pair and numerous vendors of fresh fish were also doing quite a business. The market opened rather earlier than usual, when a brisk trading period was going on before 8 a.m. and continued until after noon.

Meat market quotations were as follows:

Beef (carcass 8½c to 10c for cows, 12½c for steers.

PAY DAY FOR CITY WORKERS

Saturday morning, around the front steps of the city hall, numbers of men sat as in small groups. Talk was desultory. A few smoked home made cigarettes. Others sat with pipes held in hand. Most sat farther apart. A few women stood nearby with empty market baskets. All eyes were on the front door of the city hall through which the man with the slips must pass. A city official arrives in sight. He enters the building. All eyes and ears were watching him. There is an air of expectancy. Then a voice "Come and get it". The ghost walks! Saturday is pay day for the city workers.

THREE FEET OF WATER AFTER GENERAL RAIN

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 13.—Putting a stop to harvesting operations, fields which were becoming general, torrential rains fell Friday over Central and Northern Saskatchewan, lodging grain in many places and delaying wheat cutting until next week.

For nearly two hours a deluge fell in Saskatoon. Subways filled with water and cars were plowing through two and three feet of water. Reports received here showed the rain was fairly general, extending west to Kindersley and Biggar and north to Prince Albert.

IN MEMORIAM

JOHN BOLDRICK

Just one year ago to-night dear Mate you left us all farewell
On the mornow and the anguish That we felt no tongue can tell.

But we hope to meet our dear one In the land beyond the veil
Where there is no cruel parting And no sorrow and no pain.
—Sadly missed by wife and family. adv. ad3-11

1932 OLYMPICS SURE SUCCESS

Over One Million Viewed Games in Stadium in 8 Days

Los Angeles, Aug. 13—The 1932 Olympics, which end their spectacular week of 16 days with the closing ceremonies tomorrow, have far outstripped all records for gate receipts as well as performances.

Unofficial estimates today were that paid admissions would total close to 1,000,000 and gate receipts around $2,000,000 for the most brilliant athletic show ever conducted.

The record-smashing track and field events occupied the first half of these figures. Estimates were that 475,000 track enthusiasts were accommodated in the big Olympic Stadium in eight exciting days. Altogether day and night, over the stretch of two weeks, more than 600,000 passed through the main stadium turnstiles.

Rowing, including an estimate for today's finals, attracted 100,000 to the Long Beach Marine Stadium, while the aggregate crowds at the swimming championships figure to reach 80,000 today.

WANTS CANADIAN FLAG

Toronto, Aug. 13.—A distinctive Canadian flag is the latest sought by the Toronto district council of the Native Sons of Canada. Meeting here last night, the council adopted a resolution urging the Federal Government to have the College of Heraldry in London submit a design for the flag.

So deadly a carbon monoxide gas that one-tenth of one per cent. is fatal if breathed for any length of time.

"NOW LET ME HELP YOU"

"PHONE 98 or 99

Courteous and efficient, The Ontario Intelligencer Ad-Taker awaits your call. As soon as she knows what you want, she delivers your message to more than 10,000 wide-awake readers of this paper. In a twinkling your want is satisfied! Again and again, day after day, this service to the public is repeated. Houses are bought and sold, apartments are rented, sundry articles are exchanged, investment opportunities are opened, jobs are filled, used cars are found, and lost articles are returned to their owners; and all takes place right in the want-ad columns of the Ontario Intelligencer. The keynote of the want-ad section is Action! From the time the ad-taker records your want until the time you meet the specific second half of your bargain, things move. They move fast and in a direct line. That is why results obtained the Ontario Intelligencer way are easier, speedier, cheaper. The want-ad section is maintained as a market place in which the private individual, as well as business itself, can always be assured of a businesslike transaction.

The DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER WANT ADS

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Instinctively she had turned toward the window, and, looking down on the way she passed, on Lexington Avenue, a shabby, signal-lighted dreary, almost every obscure activity known to the homeless world was housed, the bridal, lingering, peasant photographer a matter of dead animals, a dressmaker whose ambitious sign of "Modes" had been pressed to a hundred customers, Children's school uniforms at cost." A dancing teacher had the top floor; a number of broken chairs was somewhere upstairs. The second floor was given over to Mrs. O'Connor's Famous Employment Bureau.

And against her particular sign Mrs. O'Connor had tacked cards. "Four boys, strong, wanted. Girls, good money!" and "Child's nurse wanted, lovely family, light neighborhood."

CHAPTER 2

Sheila stood, studying these cards, her breast smoldering. They were all against her, but especially Mrs. Joe and Mrs. Everyone. Even Frank had smiled as he handed her cards to Peter—Frank, the last departed from Sheila's dreams forever, who was then the possessor of the magical clerk "I'm the office," who could be waiting for "Madame Frank" in the McCanns' hallway.

"It wouldn't be open on holiday," Sheila reflected, looking up the dank, untwisting hallway that herded toward "Mrs. O'Connor's Famous Employment Bureau."

"Here's what'll decide it," she said aloud. "If it's open, I'll try it! And if I don't want to do it, I'll come back. And anyway, I'd have to go home for my clothes, and probably Ma and Aloyd'd be home. And they'd not let me go. But if I get away this time, it's for good!"

She mounted the crazy stairway and laid her hand on the knob of the glass-paneled doorway that indicated O'Connor's. The knob turned, the door opened, and Sheila found herself alone in a shabby, spacious office, with a kindly-looking woman of fifty, whose face instantly told her that if this was not Mrs. O'Connor, at least it might be.

"I want a job!" Sheila said, going in.

Mrs. O'Connor proved to be an affectionate and encouraging person.

"Now, I'll tell you, dear," she said to Sheila. "What did you say your name was?"

"Mary Moore."

"I'll tell you, Mary. I don't often have calls on holidays, but I got a call order I couldn't do nothing with yesterday, and had to get him in this today. There's a federation of business clubs meeting at Atlantic City this week, and every place down there is full. You've got a ref., evenin', dearie, from someone that knows you, your teacher or the parish priest?"

"I don't, I'm afraid."

"Oh! Is, then," and take the four o'clock to Atlantic City—you'll get your fare and your lunch money back, but to be in Broadway Hall, it is not on the boardwalk, it's a block back, but it's finer than many of the waterfront places. Go there and ask for Mrs. Kearney; she's the housekeeper. She's a lovely woman. I've sent her help there twenty times.

"It's only fourteen dollars," Mrs. O'Connor continued hardily, "and a lot of it? It's something, these times, is it not, with everything so terrible? Everything found. Everything found think of it. Now you owe me six dollars—pay me when you like. Some of the girls pay half this week and half the next. There's another convention going down soon. She told me there was a month of it, surely. And then it'll be almost spring, and you know about that! May, what do you know about that? You could earn your fare right into the season. The season's getting earlier every year."

She was making entries with a fat pen as she spoke, in a big book, and said she would pay half.

"That's entirely satisfactory to me," Mrs. O'Connor told her, amicably. "They want nice, quiet-looking girls and they'll like you. I like you haven't a sister or a cousin who'd like to go with you? It's quite a lark, the girls say."

"No, I haven't," Sheila said. And to herself she added, when she was in the quiet, snowy street again, "I very likely won't go myself!"

She went home and found the three dreary rooms of the Bonns apartment empty and dark. Angela had gone away with Nesty and Lily-Bet. The stuff of the place reminding Sheila of the day's deadening afternoon of Ma's unkindness, of Joe's doubts, of the McCann family, who were so ready to believe that she would run away with their precious son and be supported by the banks of the peace!

Joe had an old imitation leather suitcase. Sheila dragged it out from under the big bed and began to pack it, crying hard as she did so. She prayed that they would come in and find her at her work, so that a long time persuading her not to go.

To be sure, she had given Mrs. O'Connor three dollars, but then what were three dollars in a crisis like this? The thought of the money reminded Sheila of the precious fifty dollars, and she took it out of the drawer of the kitchen table, to look at it lovingly. She put two bills back again crying harder than ever. Ma should have them. Ma hadn't had forty dollars very often in her life.

Less than an hour later, turning suddenly their street, and supporting his emotionally exhausted mother with a firm arm, Joe Carscadden said suddenly:

"Ma, you see that girl across the street, Ma?"

"I saw nobody."

"I guess I'm seeing Sheila everywhere!" Joe said, and, "It looked like her."

"Now I tell you," said his mother, "they have that child all wrong, them McCanns."

Joe sat, stopped short in his slow pacing, to give his mother an astounded glance.

"Why shud she marry 'im if she doesn't want to? Tell me, Carscadden pursued relentlessly. "There's as good fish in the say as that one ever wid bone."

Snowflakes were lightly powdering the shabby old widow's veil that Mrs. Carscadden had worn for almost eighteen years. She shivered a little, and Joe faced her son.

"I don't know what they think she done," he pursued the matter, "but there isn't a bad bone in her."

"But, Ma, she way you talked, Joe began.

"Joe, you'd never belave that of Sheila!"

"I don't know," Joe said unhappily.

"I sorter thought Sheila' d want to marry her. I'm all mixed up!"

"Ma heart't went out to her, the little bould-faced colleen," Mrs. Carscadden said fondly. "They were there isn't a bad bone in her."

"But, Ma, she way you talked," Joe began.

"Joe, you'd never belave that of Sheila!"

"I don't know," Joe said unhappily.

"I sorter thought Sheila' d want to marry her. I'm all mixed up!"

"Ma heart't went out to her, the little bould-faced colleen," Mrs. Carscadden said fondly. "They were there isn't a bad bone in her."

"But, Ma, she way you talked," Joe began.

"But Ma, you didn't take her part then!"

"I blame meself that I didn't then," Mrs. Carscadden said, walking on.

"You have to hand it to her for this!" Joe said. "His having money didn't matter two cents to her! She didn't want him, and that was all there was to it."

"It spakes well for her, it does at," said her mother.

"I thought it did!"

"There's few girls wouldn't jump at a lad that has all he has."

"I'll tell the world there are!"

"But you'd not get Sheila to intrigue for 'un, just because he was a rich man's son."

"I'll swear I felt sorry for her!" Joe said suddenly, as they entered the dark, odorous doorway of home.

"She seemed so down, poor kid, there in that big room with every one of us riding her."

"They had me so twisted about, Joe," Mrs. Carscadden said confidentially, as they began to climb long stairs, "I didn't know what they were after. Did they want her to marry 'un, or didn't they?"

"I think they thought Peter had got her into something and the only decent thing for him to do was stand by her."

"But you don't think so, Joe?" his mother asked anxiously.

"No." He hesitated. "Of course, at first, I thought so, and Peter was for everything us," Joe confessed, "and then all of a sudden while we were there it came over me that she was telling the truth."

"I hope she's not mad at Ma," Mrs. Carscadden murmured fearfully, at the door.

"Sheila? Oh, she never stays mad," he said comfortably.

"I'll make her a pot of muffins for supper; she likes them!" the woman decided. "It scalds me that she told me yesterday, Joe," she added, "that she'd been cooking pot-roast, an' I never said anything to her about it!"

"You certainly rode her!" Joe said, stopping to grope for the doorknob in the dark.

"Not anny more than the rest of your, the mother pursued reminiscently. "Look how Lizzie does!"

"Yes, but Sheila only minded it from you, Ma."

"Oh, Joe," Mrs. Carscadden said, pathetically, "don't say that dear?"

"Why you know dearest well how Sheila feels when she thinks you're off her, Ma. It's better she's not honest!" Joe said blankly, of the door.

"Joe, she must be home!"

"She's not. She couldn't look her self in could she?" Joe asked, producing the key from its usual hiding-place on the top of the door jamb.

"Oh, God forgive us, Joe, where would she be?"

"Maybe she went to Marg'ret's."

"She'd let me know that. She was droppin' with the fatigue that was on her!"

"She'll be back," Joe said, anxiously.

His mother made no answer. Joe heard her whispering prayers as they went into the dark, empty rooms together.

Sheila wore an alpaca uniform that had belonged to some girl who had already deserted the Pendergast Hotel the season before, and a white organdie apron and butterfly cap.

She stood in a long pantry room above the garage where there were six beds. At one end of the room was a washroom with a shower and two tin basins, and above the basins was hung a row of printed rules for all the chambermaids and waitresses at the hotel. They must wear fresh uniforms daily, bathe daily, wear hair-nets and manicure nails at once daily.

"Does anyone?" Sheila asked Nelly the girl who had showed her where things were and what she must do. Nelly merely laughed disagreeably. Never in the world had there ever been contempt more stinging, biting, complete than that Nelly felt for everything connected with the Pendergast Hotel. Nelly's favorite comment upon Sheila's ignorance and incorrect ways accordingly, and Sheila came to the point where she could anticipate the smile, and avoid it.

Sheila only asked questions the first day. After that she was too tired to be interested in anything. Her feet burned, her ankles ached, and she told Nelly that her spine was like a rope with red-hot knots in it.

CHAPTER 21

Days merged themselves into nights and nights into days. Sheila was not conscious of their beginnings or endings. These were lost in a haze of exhausted sleep. The glaring room opened at seven, and on alternate days she was supposed to be downstairs, filling an endless cutting butter squares, stacking plates, folding napkins, an hour earlier than that. On alternate days she could sleep until almost seven.

She set tables, reset tables, brushed crumbs, filled glasses. She served with pantomime orders, and trays, staggered in with loaded platters, and with trays for empty soup plates. The guests at the Pendergast were paying for everything anyway; they wanted everything. They wanted the fruit cocktail, the soup, the fish, the entree and the roast, the limp leaves of romaine lettuce with its thousand dressings shrinking away from them, the ices in the cake, the cheese and crackers, the coffee—and often they wanted a second helping of mince pie or chicken. They always wanted the melting lump of orange ice that came in the middle of the meal, and the raisins and pickles and celery and hard little olives that embellished it. They always wanted to talk a great deal about it.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR —No. 3

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

The Arabs carried Werper to their village where in the chief's own tent, slaves gave him food and drink until he recovered. Then came Achmet to his prisoner. "I am Achmet Zek," he announced. "Who are you, and what are you doing in my country?" Werper's grey eyes were wide and his heart sank. He knew he was in the clutches of a cutthroat-hater of all Europeans.

Werper knew also that for years the military forces of Belgian Congo had waged a fruitless war upon this man and his followers. Yet in the fellow's very hatred of Belgians Werper saw a faint ray of hope for himself. He too was an outcast and an outlaw now. This they possessed in common and Werper decided to use that fact for all it was worth. They were brothers under the skin.

"I have heard of you," said Werper, "and was searching for you. My people have turned against me. They are following and would kill me. I hate them. I know you would protect me, for you, too hate them. I am a trained soldier, I can fight and your enemies are now my enemies." Achmet Zek scowled and Werper gave up hope. But Achmet often scowled when another man would smile.

This time he was thinking what use he could make of his prisoner. After a moment he said: "If you have lied to me, I will kill you at any time. What return, other than your life, do you expect for your services?" "Only my keep as first. Later, you will find I am worth more." So the agreement was reached and Werper was initiated into the outlaw band.

MODIFICATION EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

State Control of Liquor Advocated By Hoover

SAFEGUARDS

Accepting Republican Nomination Hoover Warns of Radicalism

Washington, Aug. 13.—A startling presidential call for probity in reform and a promise to "do my best down the economic highroad ahead" heard Herbanna into the 1932 United States election campaign.

An astonished and keenly expectant audience of Republican leaders in Constitution hall heard Mr. Hoover last night in his speech of formal acceptance of renomination go far beyond his party platforms and declared a new order of liquor control.

"I submit to the consideration of this regime," said the President solemnly.

There was applause, but the Republican leader who had frequently interrupted Mr. Hoover's challenge to Democrats on their platform and House of Representatives records seemed stunned. It wasn't the same Hoover.

"Each State shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine. But subject to the absolute paramountcy of the constitution of the United States to protect each State from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United States shall there be a return to the saloon system with its inevitable political and economic corruption and its organized interference with other states."

He said the Democratic plan for outright repeal and return of the saloon He pointed to the "bootlegger and speakeasy of the present regime."

Intolerable Conditions.

"I refuse to accept either of these. Waterways the President mentioned the recent signing of the treaty with Canada—"That great nation to the north."

He said he had always favored the development of rivers and harbors and highways, but these improvements have greatly expediated. We shall continue that work to completion We shall undertake this great seaway, the greatest public improvement on our continent, with its consequent employment of many men, as quickly as the treaty is ratified," the President declared. "I refuse to accept either of these destines," he said.

Party Reference.

Only once did he mention the Republican party. He tillingly gave credit to Democratic members of Congress who helped in enactment of the emergency reconstruction measures. He attacked the Democratic House under Speaker John N. Garner, the Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, for ignoring economic proposals. Obviously pointing at Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt he demanded Democratic speechifications on tariff reform support and the protective tariff and "solemnly" opposed the Democratic proposal of a "competitive tariff for revenue."

Ask Reconsolation.

Mr. Hoover asked renomination on his record.

The thread of Republican days a governing ago was woven into the picture by the presence of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, widow of the former President.

Mrs. Roosevelt, dressed in black, received cheers when she was led on the arm of secretary of state Henry L. Stimson and again as she left.

Mr. Hoover discussed at length on the economic emergency and steps, past, present and future, to meet it. He blamed over-optimism and speculation for the primary as the first cause of trouble and the world-wide depression that resulting from that war evils as the subsequent and more devastating cause.

Favored Conference.

On foreign affairs, the President favored calling a general world economic conference even along lines suggested by Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho, but he emphatically warned against any deep entanglements. He did open the door for a trade on particular annual payments in the interests of peace.

He emphasized new administration determination to join in world consultative pacts against recognition of territory gained by aggression in violation of peace treaties.

His promise to the farmer was a drive for tax reduction. He said as "the most practicable relief to the farm today and also to the general economic recovery," something to lessen the whole burden of taxation which the current readjustment in values has brought about."

Whitby—The formal opening of the new $4,000 addition to Whitby Baptist Church will be held early in October in connection with the Sunday School anniversary according to the pastor, Rev. Capt. T. J. Deer. The new addition, which is now nearing completion will provide larger and more modern facilities for Sunday School and church organizations.

OBITUARY

MRS. HENRY CLARK

Tweed, Aug. 12 (Special). A highly respected resident of Tweed passed away on Tuesday after a protracted illness in the person of Mrs. Henry Clark, in the 77th year of her age. Mrs. Clark was born in Wellington county, years ago, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hiram McWilliams. After her marriage she lived in Manners for some years before coming to Tweed in 1914.

The deceased was a member of St. James Anglican Church, and took an active interest in its various organizations, particularly the Ladies' Guild. She is survived by her husband and one son, Merritt. An only daughter, Clema passed away twelve years ago. Two brothers, Wellington and Jacob Clark was born in Ameliasburgh, Ontario, and a brother, John lives in Vancouver, while a sister Mrs. C. A. Bleecker resides at Long Beach, California.

The funeral was held on Thursday from St. James' Anglican church, Rev. W. O. Hope Swayne, Rector, conducted the service. Interment was made in the St. James' cemetery.

MRS. ROBERT THOMPSON

Miss Ann Sample, widow of the late Henry Thompson, died at the home of her daughter, Sarah Thompson at Farnsworth Corners early on Tuesday morning, at the advanced age of eighty-three. The late Mrs. Thompson was born and spent her early years in Farnsworth Corners for the past thirty years, with their family, she was of the Methodist Church, later the United Church.

She was born at Flinton in 1839, the daughter of the late Robert and Maggie Sample, her mother being born in Ireland, and her father at Bay Bay, a descendant of United Empire Loyalists.

Four sons survive, John and Norman of Farnsworth Corners, Frank of Vancouver and George of Tweed, two daughters and two sisters and one daughter Maggie died in infancy. One brother, Jacob predeceased her twenty-five years ago. One sister, Mrs. Geo. Taylor, Trenton, survives.

The funeral was held on Friday, leaving her son's home at Farnsworth at one o'clock, and proceeding to the United church, Tweed, where the service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Johnston in the absence of the Pastor, Rev. R. B. Nicholson. Interment was made in the United Church cemetery at Plainfield, Mrs. Thompson's former home.

The deceased was an active worker in the Methodist Church and in the W.M.S. For many years she led the choir of the Plainfield Church.

MARLBANK IS HANDED LOSS

Tweed Surprises The Fans And Win by 18-6 Score

Tweed surprised Marlbank on Wednesday afternoon when they handed their opponents an 18 to 6 reverse at the local ball field. Fresh from a victory over Thomasburg a few days ago Marlbank anticipated, if not an easy, at least a sure win.

Callahan hurled excellent ball and was accorded splendid support except in the fourth inning when the local team threatened to blow. Two Tessa leaguers over the infield, an overthrown first and a sandwiched in with a couple of hits and a hit batsman filled the oak four runs. Two other runs scored in the fifth and the visitors added for the day.

Tweed lost no time in entering the score column. Two counters were scored in the first inning. They came, however, later than one in the following inning when a barrage of hits two base on balls by Defoe and several errors allied by his team mates accounted for five additional runs.

Marlbank struck back hard in the fourth and cut down the score but blew completely in Tweed's half, eight runs scoring before the side was retired in this inning. Defoe was replaced by Young who hurled excellent ball for the balance of the game retiring six via the strike out route. Grosse and Smith made several nice catches in the outfield, the latter ending the game with a nice running catch of a hard ball off Young's head. J. Orr and Pat Casey starred at short and second, though the former was somewhat shaken up by a throw to the crowd. Percel on first and Defoe on third turned in nice games in addition to Young. The pitcher, Grosse was the heavy hitter for Tweed, clearing the bases with a double in the third, missing a home run because of ground rules. His next bid for a hit was four. He batted, disappearing over the grand stand.

Police Dog Out of Place in Present Scheme Says Local V.S.

Psychological Analysis of Former and Present Habits

The gaunt, rangy, wolf-like police dog of ever which much controversy now rages in nearly every community in the country has few champions in Belleville. This month has learned from veterinarians and police, who have jogged their memory to recall many incidents in which the police or Alsatian canine has been concerned. Of all the things which can be laid to his kennel door, indiscriminate biting heads the list.

Police in the city can recall occasions when they have been called to various addresses around town where they had to curb, and sometimes destroy, beautiful animals completely inexcusable for the role of house dog and protector of children which they have been assigned. Many of them, under stress of excitement, fearing excitement, have lost their heads and turned upon those children which they have bitten severely, and from which viciousness, having degenerated into a yelking menace to the neighborhood.

Friend of all dogs, Mr. D. H. Ackerett, V.S., made many investigation on the subject. When questioned by a Daily Ontario reporter he was reluctant to place that particular term "on the spot" but did admit he was sadly out of place in the present scheme of affairs. "Years ago," declared Mr. Ackerell, "people thought it was smart to own one of the pedigreed, bright looking dogs. They were the only breed which no other dogs possessed. The fad caught on. Everybody had one and from there trouble commenced. Like all immigrants, the police dog could not be expected to adapt himself to a direct contradiction of purposes from that originally intended as a police dog. He was meant to bite and seize and hold on; his temper was uncertain and his ferocity a virtue. All these attributes were sought for by successful breeders. The more vicious the dog, the more highly he adapted for the work. Years ago, when a dog bit a man a bundle of nerves with a hair trigger temper, sharp teeth and strong body, he is more fitted to be a hunting dog or a fierce watch dog where needed. Mind you, I don't say that the police dogs, but he is sadly out of place in this city or any other one." I can't warn parents too strongly to be on the watch as the time when their children are playing with one of the dogs. It was a mistake and they have brought them to our country."

Ring Lost Two Weeks in Cuff

Further Adventures of The Trouser Cuffs Related

As remarked previously, there is no dull moment in the adventures in the new citywide pastime of trouser cuff hunting in the quest for money that each fortnight from the pockets of careless pants is ordinary wads of slightly used chewing gum have been salvaged from the low lindes of cuffed pant legs by citizens who unfortunately refuse to be on the watch for more money. Here the garmarks of truth and fiction are blended, for the city has heresofore been unquestioned. Possibly like fish stories, they gain in telling, but the cuffs thus are there. This is one sent in by a lady reader who keeps trouser cuff conscious and indulged in the hope that the secrecy of his bedroom last evening.

"Weeks ago I lost a ring. At the time I lost it I hadn't noticed that it was missing. I had a vague feeling that it merely slipped off while I was sitting reading. Search of the floor and furniture revealed less. Like others who had hunted for the ring, I finally concurred that the thing had taken wings and flown. Then, last night, when in the house could even hint at the whereabouts of the ring, or look that gem some place to look that had been gone over before. I wanted that ring and bemoaned the loss. The atmosphere around the house then got a bit strained. Still the ring didn't show up. Yesterday I was reading a book and sitting in a comfortable chair. Being thorough, I turned down the cuffs and started to work. Out from one cuff popped the missing ring. It was good as new. The ring, by the way has been lost at least two weeks before. If that can be beaten let's hear it."

Cobourg—Great interest has been aroused by what is believed to be the discovery of radium water on the farm of Mr. Ernest Wilson on the Smylie homestead, southeast of Cainborne village. The discovery was made when engineers were testing for water and at a depth of 1,000 feet struck a flow of water. Samples were sent to Toronto University for testing and reports show the content of radium to be high. A well known Toronto firm has offered to purchase large quantities of this radium water if found suitable for their purpose — Sentinel Star.

In one day recently 183 divorces were granted in London.

Stirling Feels Need of a P. M.

The village of Stirling is anxious to have a justice of the peace. This week's Stirling News-Argus has the matter to the fore as follows:

"Why is Belleville without a police magistrate? Is a question you hear quite frequently. Does the government consider the citizens of the village and district of sufficient importance that such an official is not needed? For some reason—and no one seems to know—the government has failed to appoint a local magistrate to succeed the late Mr. Morden Bird, when he left for Belleville to reside a few years ago. Under present conditions all the petty cases have to be taken to the city of Belleville. Madoc court, and this is most unfair to the parties who are hailed to court, as the costs of same are higher. Stirling has been without a magistrate. The News-Argus feels the government or party in power is responsible for the shameful delay of the appointment. has dilly-dallyed enough and the right time a local magistrate was appointed. Surely there is some resident in the village capable of filling the position. You hear many reasons why Stirling is without a P.M. One story is that the same political party and that is why Conservatives" has interfered. If such is the case, it is high time such a thing was stopped. Stirling needs a Police Magistrate, and at once."

Actinolite—No. 7 Highway, between Actinolite and Perth, will be officially opened on Wednesday, August 24th, by Premier Henry and the important occasion will be attended by Hon. Earl Rowe, minister of agriculture and federal members and members of the province's staff, engineers, and the public generally. —Havelock Standard.

Dominion Expedition Will View Sun's Eclipse

Ottawa, Aug. 12—An official announcement of the Dominion Government's expedition, which is being sent to Canada, but it has been learned that all plans had been completed for Dominion astronomers to take up a position in Quebec, where with scientists from many other countries, they will gather scientific data from the unusual phenomena.

The Dominion astronomers will be stationed near St. Alexis, a village, not far from Three Rivers, Que. Central piers will be erected as foundations for their instruments and buildings constructed to house the instruments and to provide photographic dark rooms. The staff will live in tents on the site.

MAY KILL STARLINGS ON OWN PROPERTY

Toronto, Aug. 13—Recent rumor that the Department of Game and Fisheries proposed placing the starling on the game-bird list and declaring the taking except under Departmental regulations was knocked on the head yesterday by Deputy Minister Donald McDonald.

As far as departmental correspondence is concerned none, stated Mr. McDonald, has as yet come to the defense of these birds, but many requests have been received from farmers for information as to where and when and how they may kill starlings. The minister said all cases has been that a man may shoot them on his own property, but to go running afield for them, that of course, he possessed of the regular county gun license.

It is understood that the Department of Agriculture may prepare data on the damage alleged to be done by the starling to crops, although J. B. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, in the report did move last night. Mr. Fairbairn who has been investigating the starling in Ontario, however, reports the birds to be in larger flocks than ever before, and that the damage done to be congregating around grain fields is not as great as was thought, do he cannot say.

The starling controversy — and there are numerous supporters of this bird as well as opponents — broke shortly to develop into a fair-sized imitation of the crow controversy which flared up two years ago this fall and had practically the whole country discussing it before it died down.

ANGLO-CANADIAN PACT IS BEING DRAFTED

Youth Caught in Undertow at Crowe Lake is Rescued by 'Mac' Bonter

Frank Sayd Rescued Unconscious is Revived by Artificial Respiration Applied by J. W. McCrodan of Deloro

GOOD SWIMMER CAUGHT IN TOW

Partly Clad "Mac" Bonter Rushes to Rescue as Sayd is Sinking For Last Time Under Waters of Crowe Lake

But for the presence of mind and heroism displayed by Mr. "Mac" Bonter of Marmora, who plunged into the waters of Crowe Lake, Tuesday afternoon, partly clothed, to rescue the youth who had disappeared in the undertow for the second time, Mr. Frank Sayd, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sayd, of Havelock, would have been drowned in plain sight of dozens of picnickers on the shores of the lake who heard the boy's cries and watched the tragedy being enacted before their eyes. Of the dozens who were present and witnessed the near drowning Mr. Bonter was the only one who could swim, although several attempts to wade out in the deep water towards the boy were made when the attention of Mr. Bonter could be secured.

Plunging into the water, with parts of his clothing and shoes on, Mr. Bonter managed to reach the boy just before he disappeared for the last time. Despite heroic efforts effected the rescue and managed to regain shore with him. When recovered Mr. Sayd appeared to have been drowned; but artificial respiration and other methods of resuscitation were successfully applied by Mr. J. W. McCrodan of Deloro. Although Mr. Sayd is reported to have been a fair swimmer it is believed that he was gone from shore too far and had been caught up in a strong undertow which had almost accomplished for him what the angry waters and unfavorable conditions, "those who witnessed the dramatic rescue of Master Frank Sayd, Sunday afternoon, have been unanimous in their praise at the manner in which it was performed.

Cotton Trade Faces Crisis Strike Looms

Blackburn, Eng., Aug. 15—A grave crisis threatened the British cotton industry in Lancashire today with decision of the Central Board of the Northern Counties Textile Trades Federation to withdraw several workers on Aug. 27 unless the present dispute over a new wage agreement is settled.

A general stoppage in the weaving and spinning sections of the trades would affect nearly 500,000 operatives.

CHURCHILL IS OPEN PORT

Grain Pours Into Hold of Steamship in Harbor

Churchill, Man., Aug. 16—Canada's most northerly seaport today displayed an "open for business" sign. Grain from the west's wheat fields poured into the holds of the steamship Sicentis which arrived Sunday. With cessation of fear and other products were speeding over the Hudson Bay railway to supply further cargoes for five other vessels that are Churchill-bound for cargo.

Two huge elevators, grain galleries and buildings grouped along the deep dock were hives of activity early today as loading of the Sicentis progressed. The ship will carry 280,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern Wheat to a destination as yet unannounced.

RUSS MINERS WALK OUT IN WAGE PROTEST

Living Conditions so Low 25,000 Men Throw Down Picks

PRODUCTION LOW

Men go Back to Villages —Replaced by Unskilled

Moscow, Aug. 15—Dissatisfied with low wages and inferior living conditions, between 20,000 and 25,000 miners in the Don Basin coalfields have walked out on their jobs in the past two months.

This is Russia's chief coal producing area and if the output continued to decline there might be a serious shortage of fuel this winter, throwing the whole industry in a precarious position.

Production Too Low

During the first few days of August the daily production of the mines was 85,000 to 100,000 tons. This is below the average of August, 1931, and considerably below the March average of 180,000 tons despite the increased mechanization of the mines.

The newspaper Industrialization, publishing results of a recent interview with Mr. Kaganovitch, said the region had lost 30,000 to 35,000 workers between April 15 and August 1. This is about 8 per cent. of all the workers employed there. The replacements being brought in are inexperienced and will mean a further loss in production.

Back to Villages

The newspaper added that low wages and a desire for better living conditions were chiefly responsible for the desertions. Some of the men, it said, are going back to their villages and others to industrial areas hoping for better conditions.

"We can't say they are going back to help with the harvest and will remain in the fall," said the newspaper, "many left last year at this time and never came back. The situation is more complicated than that." The paper demanded increased wages and improvement of working conditions.

Unskilled workers are now paid 75 to 100 rubles a month. Their food costs a minimum of 70 to 120 rubles monthly. The ruble is now officially worth 20 cents.

STOP ILLEGAL SALES AT DRUG STORES

Hamilto, Ont., Aug. 15— Illegal purchases of drugs alone, or mixed with one to stop, and police today are ready to issue summonses for a number of shoppers. Many of the purchasers were stopped by plainclothesmen at the city's 20 drug stores yesterday, and asked to show the articles they had purchased.

Druggists are planning a conference to discuss the situation.

While medical supplies can be purchased legally and openly, it is illegal to sell cigarettes, candy and similar goods.

Wreaths Placed Upon Graves and Cenotaph By Members of I. O. O. F.

Visiting Cantons and Rebekahs Join Local Oddfellows in Ceremony of Remembrance of Dead Members of Order and Those Who Fell in The Great War.

Oddfellowship was beautifully exemplified on Sunday afternoon when members of various lodges throughout the district, visiting Canton and Rebekahs joined in honoring those members who have passed away and also those who were members of the order and gave their lives in the Great War.

A procession was formed at the Oddfellows' Temple, Front Street, under the direction of Col. R. R. Ketchabaw as marshal and led by the Belleville Citizens' Band under the direction of Bandmaster R. Hinchey and proceeded to the cenotaph in Memorial Park, where a ceremony was held and a wreath placed. Later, the same body moved to the Belleville cemetery, where four members of the Rebekahs placed a wreath on the plot owned by the Oddfellows and later the various members deposited flowers on the graves of their former members.

Visiting Members

The decoration service was honored by representatives from lodges in the district including Havelock, Thomasburg, Tweed, Frankford, Trenton, Madoc, also members from the local lodges, Rebekahs and the Ladies' Auxiliary. Canton 10 of Trenton and Canton No. 4 of Belleville were represented with large delegations and all marched under the command of Captain George S. Kerr of Canton 8 of this city. Distinguished visitors who were present were Major Prudham of No. 1, Canton, Toronto; Grand Patriarch Huddlestone of Brandon, Manitoba, Lieut. Wm. Murray of Kingston, Captain A. F. Johnston of Toronto in command of Canton 10 and Lady Brandon, president of Ladies' Auxiliary 16 of Toronto. The parade was augmented by a large number of the citizens, who attended both at the cenotaph and cemetery.

At the Cenotaph

At the cenotaph the programme included a hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers," "O God Our Help in Ages Past," a short address by the Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne and benediction by A. L. Geen. Rev. Mr. H. D. Ranson, P.G., placed the wreath on the cenotaph and while this ceremony was being performed the band played the Dead March written by Bandmaster Reg. Hinchey and published in the Daily Ontario Post. At the cemetery two more hymns were sung, "Blest be the Tie that Binds" and "Nearer to God, Nearer to Thee," while short addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Beauchamp, Rev. Bro. J. O. Herity, P.G., and W. T. Ireland, M.P.P. The decoration ceremony was performed by Rev. H. W. Rose, D.D.M., of Frankford and Rev. A. L. Geen as chaplain.

Seeking Cool Recess Bat Creates Mild Confusion in Midtown Barber Shop

Bats and beards jangled in close proximity this morning in a midtown barber shop when a large bat, sunstruck and blind flew into the recesses of the shop and commenced to wheel narrow circles over patrons, barbers and clerks, who had been attracted to the scene by the alarm and confusion which, followed its arrival. Aprons, lathers and hair brooms and other weapons to remove the creature almost resulted in demolishing the interior fixtures. Those who were in the process of being shaved took refuge in the lathers, while operations of all sorts with clippers and razors were suspended in confusion. Several minutes of excitement prevailed until the flying monster finally captured by one of the barber customers of the shop who later liberated it in a nearby lodge, slightly scared and ruffled but still able to squeak defiance.

WIRE BREVITIES

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 15—J. A. Mollison, Australian aviator who holds the record for flights from England, South Africa and Australia to England, expects to take off from Baldonnel aerodrome on the Irish Sea Strand on a return trans-Atlantic flight.

A United flight to "world" make his start if weather conditions were favorable, and latest reports showed chances were fairly good.

Granite, Okla., Aug. 15—Xcenading their guards with a smuggled pistol, a band of convicts escaped from the penitentiary here last night in the absence of the woman warden, Mrs. George Waters.

Three were recaptured, two at Sayre, Okla., and one at Quanah, Tex. A score of guards were searching for the others in the Wichita mountains.

The men forced their way from the west cell block by overpowering night sergeant Tom Owens. Then they disarmed W. H. Dean, on guard at the door, and running outside the walls, leaped into the automobiles of two officers which were parked there and fled.

The plane took off at 10.15 o'clock last night in an answer to a plea from the schooner Natalie Hammond that a member of her crew was seriously ill. Immediately the plane was in communication with the boat and at 2.30 a.m. Wing McKenzie reported that the gasoline was low, the Natalie Hammond could not be found and the plane was returning to Gloucester. That was the last message received.

COAST GUARD PLANE LOST

Went to Aid of Sick Man And so Far Has Not Returned

Gloucester Mass., Aug. 15.—A coastguard aeroplane which left Beane 7, last night to go to the aid of a sick fisherman aboard a schooner 100 miles off shore was missing today. All available 73-footers and picketboats were ordered out to search the waters between here and George Shoals.

In the plane, an amphibian twin motored craft, were Lieutenant Richard L. Burke, Pilot; Electrical Commander Frederick W. Brown, commander of the Coast Guard Base at Rockaway Neisley L. Saunders and Thomas S. McKenzie, radio operator.

DISCORDANT NOTE AMONG MUSICIANS

Toronto, Aug. 15—A musical battle is looming here. The Canadian National Exhibition has been compelled to refuse employment to 100 members of the National Musicians Union of Toronto because they would be faced by the withdrawal of approximately 25 bands whose members are members of the International Federation of Musicians.

The matter will be taken up at a meeting of the National Labor Council here today.

TRADE PACT WITH BRITAIN IS DRAWN UP

Official Intimation Comes at Luncheon Hour on Monday

SEVERAL TALK

Bennett and Baldwin in Conference in Morning

Ottawa, Aug. 15 (By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—An Anglo-Canadian treaty of trade pact is being drafted. Official intimation came shortly before the luncheon hour. It came after meetings of delegates. A long list of the Canadian cabinet and a session of the sub-committee of the Dominion Cabinet.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin had conversations. Both heads had received details from their colleagues. The sub-committee met during the week and several items in the agreements were threshed out with a few remaining details to be worked out. Decision was made to start the drafting of the treaty.

In the east block, cabinet ministers gathered in council at ten o'clock. Then the delegates met Rt. Hon. Baldwin, Minister of Finance, Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Sir Henry Mond, Minister of Mines and Resources, Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Hamar Greenwood, Secretary of State, Hon. Sir Philip Sassoon, Minister of Public Works, Hon. Stanley Baldwin, head of the British delegation, Sir Bridgeman, Minister of Agriculture, Sir Herbert Samuel, Minister of Health, Sir Edward Harding, Permanent Secretary to the Treasury, Sir Horace Wilson, Chief Industrial Adviser to the British Government.

Also present were Sir Basil Blackett, Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Sir Percy Loraine, Sir Robert Vansittart, Sir Warren Fisher, Sir Richard Hopkins, Sir Frederick Phillips, Sir Edward Peacock, Sir Arthur Salter, Sir Walter Layton, Sir Ernest Bennett, Sir Geoffrey Clay, Sir Frederick Lindemann, Sir Arthur Willert, Sir Robert Kindersley, Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Sir Percy Loraine, Sir Robert Vansittart, Sir Warren Fisher, Sir Richard Hopkins, Sir Frederick Phillips, Sir Edward Peacock, Sir Arthur Salter, Sir Walter Layton, Sir Ernest Bennett, Sir Geoffrey Clay, Sir Frederick Lindemann, Sir Arthur Willert, Sir Robert Kindersley.

The sub-committee felt that in order to facilitate the preferential arrangements should be made for the automatic amending or amending in detail the grades and standards in existence in the various countries with which agreements are made.

A subsequent conference of experts from the countries affected is proposed with the further suggestion that they should be made to standardize containers.

Cattle Eat Spray Powder Five Succumb

Cattle belonging to James Hill, who lives at Madoc village, approaching through the driveway entered the garage and there ate some arsenate of lime which had been prepared for use for spraying on the Hill farm.

The animals were taken ill and five died at once, two cows and three calves. Two or three others were taken sick but survived and are making rapid recovery.

CAUTIOUSLY MOVES UPWARD

New York Buyers Careful After Week End Fall-Away

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The stock market rather cautiously resumed its upward trend.

Trading dwindled to less than half the volume of last Saturday, and the recovery was distinctly lack. Its advance was not broad, leaders inclined to steer close to shore pending further testing of the market. A firmer tone in wheat, steadiness of cotton, were mildly encouraging.

The list had a slight setback when Dupont cut its dividend. Steel rose, pushed up again to the best levels of the day, then reacted from fractional gains to small losses. Motors were the best. Rails were again in the lead. Extreme gains of 1 point in New York Central Union Pacific and Santa Fe were reduced by about a point. Northern Pacific rose 3 points on word that Allied Chemical picked up more than 6 but receded somewhat from the best.

Many orders apparently awaited more convincing evidence that the business situation is showing the great force of the storm apparently subsided. Word also came inland from the tumbling waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Coal Miners Threaten to March Upon County

ARMED CAMP

Talk of Repudiation of John L. Lewis, Miners' President

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 15— Christian County resembled an armed camp today as 1,500 men, deputized by Sheriff Charles Wienecke, barricaded every road leading into the county to prevent a threatened "march on Taylorville" by striking Illinois coal miners.

A faction of the Union Coal Digest, dissatisfied with the $3.00 daily scale recently declared in effect by state union officials, has threatened to invade Christian county to stop 3,800 miners who returned to work at the new scale.

Call Strike

The dissatisfied miners, meeting at Benld last night called for a state-wide strike against the new scale. They also voted to hold a mass meeting at which they will seek to repudiate the leadership of John L. Lewis, International President of the United Mine Workers of America, and John H. Walker, president of the Illinois District.

This Little Pig Comes to City Market Then Takes Big Jump Into River

Rivalling in agility Coulter's famous 300-pound jumping hog of Prince Edward Co., which can clear a five foot fence with ease, a young porker owned by Mr. Carl Thurlow, Toronto, startled citizens and farmers a merry chase through the market square and downtown streets of the city late Saturday morning, when it leaped from its stalling crate on the market and set out on a wild run which ended only when the Moira River was reached and the animal took a plunge after running through the gasoline station yard of the Cities Service Company. The squeals of pig and shouts of boys and young men who followed closely in the rear marked the progress of the frightened animal through the busy traffic. Narrowly missing the wheels of cars and trucks as it dodged in and around them, the pig was in momentary danger of being crushed under some motor. The river, however, offered refuge and heading straight for the bank the animal plunged off the stone wall into the water. It was a big hog; finally reaching the floundering porker and returned him to shore.

TWO PASSENGERS LISTED AS SUICIDES

New York, Aug. 15.—The disappearance of two passengers, both of whom committed suicides, was reported today by the liner President Harding, arriving here from San Francisco.

The first to disappear was Ernest Boulter, a landscape gardener of Pasadena, Calif., who jumped overboard August 8, the second was William Kerr Scott, formerly a representative of the Royal Indemnity Company at Portland, Oregon, who jumped overboard August 9.

Boulter was accompanied by his wife and 13-year-old daughter, Isabel. According to ship's reports, he was suffering from delusions. They were enroute to England to visit his father in Ely. The widow and daughter will sail later in the week on the Majestic.

Scott's disappearance was noticed Aug. 9, and a search of the ship was made, but no trace of him was found.

DEAD OF 1812 ARE HONORED

Bloody Battle Along Niagara Frontier is Recalled

Fort Erie, Aug. 14.—Back in the War of 1812, British and American soldiers fought to the death in a bloody battle for supremacy along the Niagara frontier. Sunday, one hundred and eighteen years later, American and Canadian soldiers joined hands in a tribute to two unknown heroes, one an American, the other a Britisher, who perished in that last conflict between the two peoples.

Under a blazing sun, a large crowd from both sides of the river in Greenwood Cemetery, where the bones of a British officer of the 8th King's Liverpool Regiment and those of an American private are interred at the base of a flagpole dedicated to the Fort Erie men who lost their lives in the Great War.

The bones were recently disinterred while excavation work was proceeding along the river front, and were partially identified from buttons and portions of uniform remain found in the graves. Today's ceremonies, sponsored by Provincial Post of the Canadian Legion, also featured the unveiling of a tablet at the base of the flagpole containing the names of the local Great War heroes.

Prior to the ceremonies a parade was held over three-mile route, which was headed by the Toronto Regiment, 3rd Canadian Battalion, under Colonel F. Marani, and in the line of march were members of the American Legion in County Erie, Veterans of the Fenian Raid, 2nd Dragoons, Royal Scots, Girl Guides, Toronto Regiment, Boland Post and Fort Erie Band.

Colonel Marani conducted the ceremonies over the grave of the British officer, while the regiment fired a last volley. Ceremonies over the American grave were in the charge of Willard J. Magavern, the Commander of the Erie County American Legion, with a firing squad from Boland Post firing the last volley.

In dedicating the memorial plaque which was unveiled by Mrs. George B. Disney, Colonel F. C. Picking, Provincial President of the Canadian Legion, emphasized the duty of keeping green the memory of those making the supreme sacrifice in the last great conflict, and urging that Canadians set their faces towards the standards for which they fought.

The oldest veteran present was Colonel George Alexander Shaw of Toronto, who fought in the Battle at Fort Erie in 1866, and who lays claim to a line of ancestors who fought in the Peninsular War, the Battle of Waterloo, the War of 1812, and the Mackenzie Rebellion.

FAMILY HURT IN COLLISION

W. M. Scrimshaw, Wife, Son and Daughter Injured Near Odessa

Painful injuries were suffered by Mr. W. M. Scrimshaw and family of 62 South George Street as the result of a motor accident in collision with another car on the Kingston Road east of Odessa, early Sunday afternoon. The car belonging to Mr. Scrimshaw is a complete wreck, at present in Odessa.

Several severest injuries are believed to have been sustained by Mrs. Scrimshaw, whose left arm was wrenched or cracked ribs. Her husband, Mr. W. M. Scrimshaw suffered a bodily wrenched left leg and foot; their son, a daughter received head injuries which have not yet been determined, while Miss Miles, who was driving in the limousine, escaped with a severe shaking up.

It is claimed by the family that the car which struck them had not been in his own lane of the road at the time it turned the corner and there was no chance to avoid the accident. Both cars were badly damaged.

CAR HITS POLE DITCH LATER

Driver Fails to Make Turn at Devil's Elbow

Failing to make the turn at what is commonly known as the Devil's Elbow, George W. Vanner, 83 East Moira Street, crashed his car into a telephone pole, breaking off the pole a few inches from the butt and turned his car over in the south ditch.

Mr. Vanner was returning from Newmarket, where he had spent the week-end, about 5.30 a.m. Monday. As he approached from the west, he failed to make the turn.

Fortunately Mr. Vanner and the occupants of the car were not seriously injured as the car turned completely over coming to rest on its right side in the south ditch.

Considerable damage was reported to the Vanner car, to the extent of a badly bent right front wheel, right rear fender, running board broken, the right rear wheel was broken off and the body was scratched and bent to some considerable extent.

After reporting the accident to the City Police, Vanner had the car removed to a local garage.

MANY GARDENS ARE SPOILED BY BOYS

Reports of boys and girls stealing and destroying fruit and vegetables in the vicinity of Grier St. were received at the police station on Saturday. Upon investigation the police found that it has been the practice of both the young boys and girls of the district known as the College Hill to invade the nearby orchards and gardens, not only helping themselves to the fruit and vegetables but destroying them.

The police ascertained the names of a few of the mischievous children and some action in the matter may follow. The police also issued warning that severe measures would be resorted to if any such actions are reported in the future. The children are also reported to have broken a number of panes of glass in a vacant house in the vicinity also.

Children Hear Works of Masters

Mr. Alec. Gordon, organist of Molloway St. United Church, one evening lately entertained the children there to an interesting piano recital with vivid description of the works of the great masters. Another instructive talk on health was recently given by Miss Fitzgerald, Reg. N. to Daily Vacation Bible Students.

The teachers and pupils have been deeply touched by the sudden illness and death of Miss Catherine Cunningham, a faithful member of the school staff. Sincere heartfelt sympathy is extended to the members of the family.

After last Friday's exercises a noon-day lunch and picnic was held on Victoria Park. Upon return from vacation Rev. H. B. Neal has entered heartily in the sessions of the school and assisted in the interesting the children to and from.

Public has attained to over the 50 mark.

College Hill group and Dundas Street Mission daily vacation Bible students mingled last Saturday afternoon in a soft ball match at the old Albert Athletic Field. Notwithstanding the late rain a few innings seven innings were played according to modern regulations, the various positions were well manned and substituted several players. The score fluctuated much around the tie count in the early stages but soon the runs accumulated rapidly at the last. In one time up to bat those representing the College Hill School scored eleven runs before a single man of the opposing team made. No track was kept of errors. The final tally was 24-13 in favor of the Dundas segregation. Miss Edith Looker was a very efficient umpire. Refreshments and impartial coach for both teams.

TRUCK RAISED OFF BAY FLOOR

After Week's Submersion is Hauled to Land

After lying at the bottom of the bay for over a week the truck belonging to Mr. Everett Black of this city that crashed through the safety rail on the bay bridge and plunged to the bottom of the bay a week ago Saturday was raised on Saturday evening last, after many unsuccessful attempts to drag it ashore.

Mr. Black had been working all week trying to devise the best plan by which to raise or salvage his truck. On Friday afternoon Harry Semark of this city, donned a bathing suit and by constant diving managed to get both a cable and a chain around the sunken truck. Mr. Black then procured the services of a crane, mounted on a truck, the property of Mr. Bowerman residing in this district. The crane was placed south of the south portion of the bay bridge and later Mr. Thompson, supervisor of the bridge, came to the scene with his truck. While the span was opened the crane was lowered, hooked on the truck and it was hoisted clear of the swing span. Later the swing span was swung into place and the truck, which had been suspended by the arm of the crane, was lowered on to the swing span.

Later Mr. Black had the truck taken to Highland Ave., where it will be completely overhauled before being put back into service.

Announcements will, it is expected, be concluded by Tuesday night.

"Wednesday, according to present plans, will be devoted to final technical preparations and revision. Thursday has been fixed for the final signature.

"A great broad agreement," is the way a Canadian authority describes the proposed Anglo-Canadian accord. It will give us everything we should like but we consider it represents a fair give-and-take on both sides. And that is Britain's attitude throughout."

Under the proposed agreements with Canada, and the other Dominions, Great Britain recognizes Empire preference as a definite part of her fiscal policy. Food tariffs now on the free list will be brought within the preferential field. How, or to what extent, remains for final determination. Little authoritative information leaks from the lighty confidential discussions now entering their final phase. Proposed counter-proposal are made, modified, changing the figures.

But, subject to these qualifications (Canadians are understood to be following these lines:

Wheat: Duty of four cents a bushel on foreign wheat, with preference of 2½ cents in favor of Empire wheat.

Meats: One and one-half cents per pound on foreign lamb, mutton, beef and veal.

Butter: Four cents per pound on foreign; a raise from the present advalorem duty of 10 per cent. which is equivalent to about two cents per pound.

New or increased preference on fish including canned salmon.

Restrict Dumping

Russian dumping: Restriction by special order directed against products such as wheat and lumber as the necessity arises rather than by against particular countries.

During the financial crisis of last Winter, the United Kingdom took similar action against abnormal importations of certain foreign products. The idea then was born to prevent dumping before the tariff could be brought down and to strengthen exchanges. The duty imposed by order was 50 per cent. The act gave authority to impose duties up to 100 per cent.

On the Canadian side, chief concessions are likely to be on coal and iron and steel. The United Kingdom would like reductions in the rates now imposed by Canada on British textiles. This seems likely in regard to certain high-grade lines. But in regard to textiles generally it is doubted if the British request can be fully met, although complete inquiry by the tariff board is under review. The plan would be to have the tariff board recommend rates based on the difference in cost of production as between the United Kingdom and Canada.

Similarly, the British Tariff Board would review the British tariff to see how far Canadian products can be assisted.

Free trade between the United Kingdom and Canada on motor-bodies, side cars and motor trucks seems probable.

By implication, the report of the Conference sub-committee on standardization recognize development of secondary industries in the Dominions. The sub-committee's report recommends approval of a report by the Imperial economic committee. This report recommends that the more highly industrialized countries should devote themselves to specialized lines of production, the lesser industrial, to general lines.

FIRST FLOUR CARGO

Moose Jaw, Sask., Aug. 15—When the S. S. Pennyworth leaves Churchill on August 24, she will carry in her holds the first cargo of flour, rolled oats, and other products to be shipped from Western Canada to the British Isles by the new route, Mills at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon are shipping via the new route a total of thirty-one carloads of flour and rolled oats. The Pennyworth left Saskatoon on Aug. 14, and will be loaded on Aug. 22. It will be approximate 1,000 tons.

Roseate Tinge Turns to Indigo on Baldwin Stand

NO FOOD TAX

Disappointment Shown in Ottawa After Discussion

Ottawa, Aug. 15—The roseate atmosphere that surrounded the Imperial Conference Thursday and Friday took a decidedly indigo tinge Saturday when the United Kingdom delegation, speaking through Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, declined to make good the concessions promised by individual members of the delegation if Canada would extend the list of textile preferences and the duty on coal. This was learned following a visit to the town of Hudson Lynn last week.

Held Picnic.

The Choir of St. Georges Church held their annual picnic and summer outing at Old Orchard Beach on Friday evening. The party motored to the cottage of Mrs. Violet Little, Sports were enjoyed by all and a delightful swim in the lake was enjoyed after which a hearty and delicious meal was served. An address was given Miss Viola Bird, who is leaving Trenton shortly. The address read as follows: We are gathered here this evening to do honor to our associate member of the church, Miss Viola Bird, who is leaving us in the near future. Miss Bird has been a sterling example of both a faithful pupil and teacher in the Sunday School. Whatever congregation she associates herself with in her new home will find her a great help in their activities as she has been in our parish. Therefore, with our heartfelt good wishes and thankful appreciation of her services we ask her to accept this gift from St. Georges Choir and this gift from St. Georges S. S. with the assurance that they are a visible sign of our affection.

Games were played around a huge bon fire afterwards and a good time was had by all.

JOHN W. CARR, TRENTON, DIES

Has Lived Retired Since Ceasing Farming in Sidney Twp.

Trenton, Aug. 15 (Special) —One of the oldest and most respected citizens of Trenton has died in the person of John Wesley Carr, aged 72, at his home on East Dundas Street Saturday morning. Mr. Carr was born in Sidney township and had lived in this locality all his life. He was engaged in farming until the last two years when his farm was purchased by the Canadian Government to be used for part of the flying field. Since that time he has retired and lived in Trenton. Mr. and Mrs. Carr celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on last New Year's eve. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emilia Carr, two brothers, Dennis of the Front of Sidney, and Samuel of Frankford, and two sisters, Mrs. A. Patrick of Glen Miller and Mrs. A. Hennessey of Niagara Falls. Mr. Carr was a member of Grace United Church and the funeral service were held this afternoon at 2 p.m., interment taking place in the Front of Sidney cemetery. The pall bearers were his nephews, Mr. Roy Carr, Mr. Fred Carr, Mr. Carman Carr, Mr. Ralph Carr and Messrs. Orville and Harold Patrick.

CARRYING PLACE ROAD REPAIRED

County Road Master Has Grader And Scarifier Now Working

Trenton, Aug. 15 (Special)—The Carrying Place, which has been in such a bad state for the past summer is at last to receive some attention. Last week the County of Northumberland commenced working on grading the road under the supervision of Mr. John Buchanan, road master. The entire road from Trenton to Carrying Place is being torn up by a huge scarifier then to be graded and rolled. The road had caused a good deal of traffic, that would ordinarily pass over it, to be diverted. Since the Provincial government had surveyed the road early this summer with the idea of making it a highway. Consequently there has been no work done on the road, partly due to the heavy traffic on it, it has fallen into disrepair. The holdup seemed to be that of granting that a new bridge should be built over the Murray canal to replace the obsolete one that is now in use. According to an Ottawa dispatch, it has been recommended by engineers of the railways and canals that a new bridge should bridge be built. The delayed action on the bridge has been due to the fact that the Hon. Hon. Minister of Railways and Canals has had to defer action on account of the wedding of the Imperial Conference. There are three old bridges over the canal, the middle or Smithfield Bridge has not been used for some time and petitions for the reconstruction of the bridge was sent to Ottawa some time ago. Col. Dubor other engineer said "we are delighted to replace the bridge with others of the same type. Such bridges, Mayor Smith is said, handle traffic under two tons would be useless in this day of 15 ton trucks. It would seem that now we are finally going to get some action in the matter very shortly.

K. CHAMBERS HURLS GAME

Trenton Defeated by Brighton by Close Score of 6-5

Trenton, Aug. 15 (Special)—The Trenton hard ball team made a journey to Brighton on Saturday and were beaten out in a close game. The score being 6 to 5. New faces appeared in the local line-up and it proved to be a big improvement over the old team. Kenny Chambers was right today who is none other than Kay Chambers, who seems to play any position well. He plays second base for the Belleville Nationals and caught a game for them in the absence of Mills. Now he says he is through with that and will stick to Trenton. REMEMBERING THE DEPARTED

To remember the dead is one of the noblest of human acts. It sets man apart from the rest of creation. It pays recognition of the worth of the departed and thereby honors the living and enriches life. In this age it means something to stop from the rush of pleasure and business to take time to pause at the grave of an associate of years before or of one who has sat in the same lodge or the same church or the same tie though they never met.

The I.O.O.F. do not forget. The I.O.O.F. is richer for this remembrance. Sunday's ceremony shows this.

LEARN TO KNOW LOCAL DISTRICT

More gasoline is being sold for local use than in years. This is the verdict of Belleville filling station proprietors.

On the face of it, this statement looks hardly possible but a closer examination reveals its truth as one realizes that the average motorist is staying more within his district than he ever did. One motorist who usually does a large amount of traveling states that this year he has not been far west for east and that he always had his gasoline tank full when he left the city so that he did not have to have it filled on the journey.

So local gasoline sales are larger than usual and much larger than expected, though the tourist sale is less.

This condition means that the people of this section are driving more about their home district and finding out more and more about the villages, resorts, the countryside and places of attraction, than they ever thought they would learn.

"Know your own county" is a motto and in the case of Belleville, it may be said "Know the City and Prince Edward County." That is what is worth more to the district than a lot of aimless rambling all over the country.

The appeals of the countryside hereabouts will stand the test with rural appeals anywhere.

RADIO-SOUND-PROOF

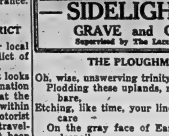
Radio proof rooms for homes as well as for hotels and public buildings are predicted by The American Architect. It believes that certain rooms will be built with a view to their acoustic properties in order to achieve the best results from radio reception.

These summer evenings every home of which the residents are not settled down in cottages at lakes and streams is forth a silent night and certain proof that there are no sound-proof rooms in Belleville homes. For that matter there are none in the whole city and none in the casting rooms of the broadcasting companies.

But the certainty that radio is here to stay leads to the confident belief that better rooms for reception will be built in the modern homes some day and that boarding houses, hotels and other buildings where people congregate will have sound proof rooms, to save the ears and tempers of those who do not wish to hear.

There was a day when the owner of a talking machine invited his friends in, then he threw open his doors so that the whole world might hear, that came the time when it was felt to be un-gentile and ill-mannered to have roaring sounds issuing from houses at all hours. Now that radio has come, linked up with phonographs, the same trend has been experienced. It is no longer in good taste to "make everyone hear a radio reception." It is felt to be proper to keep these sounds within the house and even within the one room.

Here is the hope for architects and builders.



HIGHWAY RESTAURANTS

Restaurants which sprang up like mushrooms during the days of 1928 and 1929, most of them out of all symmetry and sympathy or conformity with the landscape have been the scene of a difficult time of it. But that is not the main point. These restaurants have been condemned by artists and aesthetic folk because of their neglect of the primal instincts of beauty and art.

La Presse, Montreal, feels this situation very keenly, doubtless as in the proximity of larger cities the situation is even more accentuated. It says, "For some years past in the country, individuals have built 'restaurants' alongside the roads to sell refreshments, farm products, or souvenirs to motorists and above all to tourists. A great many of these stands consist of rough planks, rudely put together and frequently plastered with advertisements and posters in howling colors. Some are coarsely picked out in paint or Indian ink. The appearance of these buildings clashes with the natural beauty of their surroundings. The traveller who has an eye for the beautiful cannot but be shocked when he comes across them on the road. To strange eyes they must create a sinister impression of the province. In every way they are an eyesore."

This was true hereabouts of a number of these shelters built several years ago, a new trend is noted even in this district where new buildings of this kind are going up. A number of fairly good looking restaurants have been put up along the highways hereabouts (and they are not mere 'stands.'

The note that La Presse makes—that the eyesore jars—points out the direction of the cure. If they jar, they hurt business and if they do that, then business goes out. So in the long run the victory and the profits are to the artistic looking 'restaurants' along the highway.

THE PLOUGHMAN

Oh, wise, unswerving trinity of toil,
Plodding these uplands, now so bleakly bare,
Etching, like time, your lines of wrinkled care —
On the gray face of Earth, when you despoil
Thy ruggedness which is so proud a foil
For the rich beauty that the hills will wear:
Calm husbandman, do you not breathe a prayer—
That human hearts might yield so rich a soil?

Stay, ploughman, while I speak my thought aloud,
Here where the plover wheel above the gate;
On this grim afternoon when I have plowed
The last dim upland corner of my Fate,
And at the Angelus my task is bowed,
May all my furrows stretch as clean and straight.

GROWING-PAINS IN ABYSSINIA

An Ethiopian Station-Master gets into a fracas with a high-hatted French diplomat.

An ex-Emperor escapes from durance vile at Addis Abeba, dashes to Gojjam, but is recaptured by the troops of the reigning Emperor Haile Selassie.

A sub-king is arrested for obstructing the march of twentieth-century progress.

Such are the symptoms of the growth of the world's last remaining absolute monarchy, diagnosed learnedly in a Liberal weekly, The Economist, from "a loosely knit medieval monarchy into a standardized state member of our modern great society." The English weekly interprets Abyssinia's "growing-pains":

"The conflict underlying these various disturbances of the peace is the clash of strength between traditionalism and parochialism—represented by the arrested subking and the recaptured ex-Emperor—and nationalism and centralization, which are represented by the present incumbent of the imperial throne of Ethiopia: while the station-master's fracas with the French Minister is the typical gesture of a reawakening Oriental nation up in arms to assert its equality of status with the Great Western Powers.

"In Abyssinia, as in most other Oriental countries that have been through the same metamorphosis, modernization and centralization go together; for the old traditions cling to the soil by local roots.

"In Abyssinia, however, the task of shaking the authority of the Central Government effective over the local principalities is particularly difficult, since the nature of the physical terrain — a plateau intersected by river gorges and diversified by mountain ranges — gives a formidable advantage to local chiefs who are striving to retain their hereditary power.

"The present Ethiopian Emperor has been seeking to atrophy the local magnates' de facto powers by compelling them to reside, far off from their tribesmen and retainers, in the Imperial capital, while he has sent his own officials to govern their principalities in their stead."

"That's a nice umbrella you have!" "Isn't it?" "A present?" "No—it was like that when I got it. It started to rain the other day, and I stepped into a doorway to wait till it stopped. Then I saw a young fellow coming along with a large umbrella, and I thought if he was going as far as my house I would beg to be allowed to share it. So I stepped out and asked, 'Where are you going with that umbrella, young fellow?' and he dropped it and ran!"

MUST RESPECT SENTIMENT IN DAILY LIVING

Stiffling of Sentiment is Gross Error With Evil Results

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., PH.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

There can be no question but that the sentiment in general is becoming more and more materialistic, and one of the results of this is a stiffling of sentiment. Sentiment is one of the finest emotions that man being possesses, and to hold it back makes our relationship with each other even harder than it naturally is.

Americans probably respect sentiment more than they are given credit for. Europeans often accuse us of being without it, but this charge usually is made by uninformed persons who do not realize the willingness with which they dip into their pockets to help their fellow man in distress. Not only do Americans help their own; they help the people of other countries.

What the Europeans have in mind, of course, is the fact that we have amassed so many billion dollars of wealth as a nation, and are such good business men that we seem to succeed readily without putting forth the effort which most exert on the other side. They conclude that we are not developing the dollar that we have little or no time left for anything else, and in corroboration of this point to the fact that we have no really great literature, no art of any kind. Which, as we all know, must embody sentiment in a high degree, while.

Perhaps it is true that we have not yet developed in the arts as we should, but surely there are unmistakable signs that such an art development is fairly rapidly in the making. We already have records of our novels are certainly pushing to be classed with the drama there are Eugene O'Neill and other playwrights who certainly could never be charged with having sentimentality to excess. Our architects, too, have developed a new style and many of our cities like New York or Kensington a real claim to magnificence and beauty of their own. In painting and sculpture we probably are not yet so outstanding but surely there is hope.

For real art does not come into being quickly. It is something that develops within the people over many years, and often it is bred of actual suffering. Many of the arts have been very lucky as to the flexibility of our wealth of natural resources and the ingenuity of our inhabitants, while to our shores have come many people with real ambition and incentive. We have been forging ahead very rapidly, too rapidly,for our own good.

Nevertheless, the thing to date is something we may justly be proud of, and there has been plenty of sentiment, feeling and feeling throughout. Yet as individuals we do not feel that we have as much as would be good for us. Too many have the habit to give way to sentiment openly and frankly shows weakness of character. In fact, there are those who think that any display of emotion, such as tears or feeling indicates that the individual is not mature and has not yet grown up.

Yet it is an undeniable truth that the strongest individual is he who possesses all the finer emotions sparingly and is not afraid to reveal them. Such a man in the theatre, for example, or to a motion picture actress or emotional drama is predominant in the story, we do not hesitate to succumb to it while still aware that it is real, but too closely scrutinized by our neighbors. So we are afraid and afraid to reveal, such emotions. It is very foolish to feel this way, yet it is undeniable that many of us do.

We must respect sentiment if we would live a full well-rounded life —sentiment toward home and mothers, for literature, art, traditions, patriotism, religion, and for each other. These are all values that the world has revered for the—the real value of which in the end we profit by the most.

100 DROWNED WHEN SNAKE JUMPS ON BOAT

Bombay, India, Aug. 15—A snake leaped from a tree to a ferry boat near Kolhapur yesterday, causing the passengers to rush to one side of the boat, which turned over and drowned approximately 100. The snake disappeared in the flooded river which raised the water level to a point near the tree.

Other Papers' Opinions

TOO POOR TO MARRY

The depression has affected the population statistics in the United States as well as in other countries. Marriages dropped by 68,000 last year. Even divorces fell off by nearly the number in 1930. The total of marriages last year in the States was 1,060,000 as compared with 1,128,373 in the year before. Divorces fell from 196,357 to 182,656 and the previous year 191,591. Not only are people in any nation apt too poor to marry, or too prudent to do so, which comes to the same thing, the morals of the nation are impaired. This affects the young more than the old, and anything that is bad for the morals in the long run is bad for the nation, for it is in the youth of the nation that its chief source of power and extension inheres.—Hamilton Herald.

THE CHANGE IN FRANCE

Dedicating the ossuary at Douaumont, which holds the bones of 130,000 Frenchmen killed in the war, principally in the fighting around Verdun, President Albert Lebrun said: "This monument will remain as testimony to a great love and a great sorrow." In these words the indication of great change in French mentality: a change not sudden, but nevertheless was recognized by the victory of the Left in the elections to the Chamber a few months ago. The representatives of France would have dared include his own country in the "great love" for which they had he so dared, would have rejected him by the votes of the Left and from most of the press. For until the votes are counted he is supposed to be still under the spell of the Clemenceau and Poincare hatred of Germany as the agrrieved, attacking victim, who was responsible for the "sacred claims" and then take huge offensive and defensive steps to safeguard France against further invasion and rapine.

Then came the quadrennial election, which showed that the French people had turned a new leaf in their mindset. And what a leaf! Left made enormous gains. A man of the Left became prime minister. At Lausanne to the surprise of a good many he threw a sponge over the French claim to enormous, unpayable German indemnities, did away with the Ruhr occupation, got endorsement of his act not only by the Socialist party but practically by a large number of newspapers that only a few months before had refused to give up the "sacred claims of France." Then came the Left's full penalties exacted by the Treaty of Versailles.—Detroit News.

READ THE PAPERS

When Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, M.P., was in Montreal attending to the Imperial Economic Conference, he was, as a matter of fact, granted an interview to the gentlemen of the press, addressing them as "purveyors of the truth," a term was used in all sincerity, and in no way sarcastic. That so many other public men occasionally hide behind the skirts of the press, and are "misquoted" in the press, this should not be. To them you can proclaim is appreciated at its full value.

Judge Wearing, of London, has discovered in his experience that newspapers are the only purveyors of the truth, but they are educational institutions as well. Undressing a number of new citizens in his court the London judge advised them to read the newspapers every day, and thereby perfect themselves for citizenship. He said: "People who read the newspapers are not ignorant people. To them you can catch the spirit of this country."

Newspapers as these are not despised. They indicate not only the great power which is wielded by the press, but also indicate to us the benefits of their influence in the communities in which they are published.—Chatham Daily News.

Eight Pound Son Born to Princess Ileana of Austria

Moedling, Austria, Aug. 15— The birth yesterday of the 900-year-old Hapsburg family, an 8-pound baby boy, was born today to Princess Ileana of Rumania and her husband, Archduke Anton.

It was a bitter belitting the tiny descendant of a line of powerful kings. Princess Ileana's grandfather by two queens, her mother, Dowager Queen Marie, and her sister, Queen Marie of Jugo Slavia. His father also is a descendant of royalty.

The baby was born at 4 a.m., just before dawn broke over the ancient Castle Liechtenstein, which was closely guarded. For several days Austrian police have taken every precaution against troublemakers, who, it was thought, might seize upon the presence of so much royalty and make a demonstration.

The Princess and the baby are both doing well, it was announced. Dr. Eduard Ritter von Rosthorn, He has the traditional Hapsburg blonde hair.

Hurricane in South Texas Kills 17 and 50 are Injured

Damage Reported to be Heavy But Seawall Protects

Houston, Texas, Aug. 15—(AP)— Seventeen persons were dead, at least 80 were injured and property damage was estimated at $5,000,000 in the wake of a tropical storm which swirled South Texas Saturday night.

The list of dead and injured slowly mounted as crippled communications were repaired and rescue workers moved into the stricken area, which centered roughly about this city with a radius of 75 or 100 miles.

The storm moved slowly through South Texas in a westerly direction tonight with rapidly, diminishing force, after sweeping a fifteen foot wall of water over Galveston and Texas City, about 300 miles northwest of Houston.

Skirting the Texas coast between Galveston and Freeport, 24 miles from Galveston, late Saturday the storm raged for many hours, the wind attaining a velocity of 120 miles an hour at Houston.

"It is following the usual course of such disturbances," the weather bureau at Dallas reported. "It probably will blow itself out without further violence."

Protected by the great seawall, constructed many years ago after a storm in 1900 had devastated the city, Galveston reported no great amount of damage although a number of cottages and one or two beaches were swept away, houses were uncovered windows were broken and trees were uprooted.

Galveston passed the night in darkness after having been shut off to lessen the danger of fire. About 10,000 damage was done to buildings at Fort Crockett, army post.

Early reports that the city was isolated were denied although telegraph and telephone wire were out of commission at intervals and the causeway connecting Galveston with the mainland was clogged by motor vehicles. Many of the occupants were drowned out by rain.

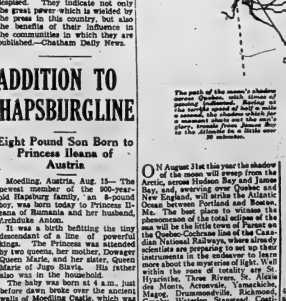
BODY OF DR. ROYAL LEE IS FOUND IN RIVER



Gananoque, Ont., Aug. 15 — The body of Dr. Royal Lee, New York, drowned Friday in the St. Lawrence River when his motor launch took fire and sank, has been recovered near the scene of the accident. After viewing the body, Coroner Dr. Lee decided no inquest was necessary.

Dr. Lee formerly of Gananoque, was holidaying here with his family. He was one of the speed boat near Hay Island when an explosion occurred in the engine. Dr. Lee sank before would-be rescuers arrived at the spot.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT TO CONVENE IN OCTOBER

Ottawa, Aug. 15—The Canadian parliament may be called during the middle of October to give effect to the agreements made at the present Imperial Conference. It is explained that the government had pretty well decided on November 1st or thereabouts for the opening of the session, but this is based on the expectation that the conference would last a couple of weeks longer than seems probable at present. Accordingly, the question will be considered as soon as the conference is over.

WHEN THE SUN IS DARK OVER QUEBEC

The path of the moon's shadow across Quebec, with about 42 seconds of darkness at the centre of the path, is shown in the above diagram. The shadow will first touch the earth's surface at James Bay, and will leave it at the Atlantic coast in a little over 30 minutes.

ON August 31st this year the shadow of the moon will sweep from the Arctic, across Hudson Bay and James Bay, southward over Quebec and New England, will strike the Atlantic Ocean between Portland and Bar Harbor. The best place to witness the phenomenon of the total eclipse of the sun will be the little town of Parent on the Quebec-Ontario section of the Canadian National Railways, where already scientists are preparing to set up their instruments in order to learn more about the mysteries of light. Whether the sun is made up of gas, Hyacinthe, Three Rivers, St. Alban, Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, Matane, Magog, Drummondville, Richmond, Granby, Waterloo, Stanstead, Coaticook and Compton, some of them experiencing a duration of 98 to 100 seconds but none so favored as Parent, where the totality will be 102 seconds.

Because an extra second means much to scientists in their work, some of them have travelled thousands of miles to reach Parent and set up their instruments in the few minutes' observations. There, for one minute and 42 seconds the sun will be black, then slowly, relentlessly, the shadow will drift away. The phenomenon will last, from beginning to end, something like two hours and fifteen minutes and the observers have staked everything on the hope of fine weather for the occasion. If the day is clear, the eclipse will be supremely beautiful as well as an unforgettable memory. For as the moon's darkness creeps over the land, the sun darkness until it is but a thin crescent, and then until it is merely a curved line of twinkling light. The last eclipse to be visible in Canada, in 1915, swept across Western Quebec; there will not be another until 1934.

This year, as Quebec is in the shadow, she is very much in the news, so far as the eclipse and their studies are concerned, and Parent, which is spot on the Canadian National Railways in the northern section of the province, soon into the limelight through darkness.

B.A.A.A. KIDS LOSE TO PETES

Inability to Hit in Pinches And Miscues Cause Downfall

Inability to hit, when the opportunity afforded itself was the ultimate reason for the local B.A.A.A. juniors to loose the first game of the Eastern Ontario Junior O.B.A.A. play-downs to the Peterboro Pirates on the local ball park on Saturday afternoon.

Errors at critical moments, when the Peterboro Pirates had men on the paths was also helped considerably towards the downfall of the local kids. Ernie Smith, crippled right hander of the Association kids, was the pitching choice of Manager Morris. Although Smith did not have the usual hop on the ball that he has displayed in past games, he did hurl a fair game and had his team mates made use of hit in the pinches perhaps there would have been a different tale to tell.

"Chuck" McIlwain, stocky left handed curve ball artist of the Pirates, was Coach Jack Dalnard's choice for hurling duties and the mite left hander did not disappoint his coach. After a rather "rattly star" when the locals filled the bases, failing to score in the first innings, McIlwain settled down and held the Association kids practically helpless the remainder of the contest. McIlwain whiffed no less than 10 local batters and allowed but six hits. As a matter of fact the pitchers allowed but six hits but McIlwain was afforded much better support in the field than was his opponent; Smith.

Petes Well Balanced

The Pirates presented a well balanced team of fielders and showed the result of good coaching during the season. The locals, on the other hand, have played much better ball during their league game and, if they return to form, should take the measure of the Petes right in their own back yard at the second game which is scheduled to be played in Peterboro on Saturday.

The Peterboro Pirates opened the game by scoring a run in the initial frame. McCullough, batting first for the first batter, was safe on Burlage's error. He later stole second and third and came on an error by the field out. In the second frame the Petes again scored. Bailey walked, Marrocco walked, went to second, Bailey to third and Marrocco scored when they downed the Lift Lock crew by the score of 4 to 1. Pandemonium reigned.

With the first game of the play-offs scheduled for this afternoon in Kingston the teams return to Belleville and meet in the second game of the series on Wednesday afternoon, the third game will be played at Belleville, as a twilight fixture, on Monday evening next. In case both teams win two games they will toss to see where the fifth and deciding game is to be played.

Manager Gerow announced that Coach Dalnard undoubtedly start Carl Casey on the mound against the Petes this evening. Opposing him will be the Pontes leading hurler, Tommy Jamieson. The rest of the Belleville lineup will be the same as shown, Mills c, Cretney 1st, Chambers 2nd, Burlage ss, Scarlett 3rd, Watt lf, while the right field duties will be taken care of by either Harry Morgan, Herbie Vance or Reed Bailey.

Even though the B.A.A.A. kids dropped the first game of the junior O.B.A.A. play downs to the Peterboro Pirates by the score of 4 to 1 they are not counted out of the local kids can play much better ball than they did on Saturday. As a matter of fact if they should take the Petes' measure on right in the Left Lock City.

Manager Gerow's hopes of victories turned the trick on Saturday afternoon when they turned back the leading Picton intermediates 9 to 8. Victories are now required on a play-off berth in the Bay of Quinte loop regardless of what may happen. Lionel Blaker was Saturday's hero when he cracked the apple for a double single with the winning run perched on second base. It was a timely hit as the locals had swung at the previous two pitches and were in the unenviable position of "fifty-out" later this week.

Jack Corcoran announced Saturday evening that he would present another high class wrestling card, under the auspices of the Belleville Hockey Club, on Friday night. The bouts will be held in the Belleville arena and the patrons will be privileged in seeing some of the most outstanding "grapplers" in Amateur circles. Cauchi, Franklin Hart and Rod LaRocque will only be preliminary artists on the card. Suitable opponents will be procured for these two men. Ethel Saunsy Stein, the Jewish wrestling champion, Howard Cunningham the Whitby Hercules and Shikat will be brought to Belleville to wrestle another outstanding "mat artist" in the final bout of the evening. The local fans have been asking for outstanding wrestlers and Mr. Corcoran has granted this request by sending "masters" the calibre of the above named to Belleville. Definite details will announce the names of the participants in the final bout tomorrow. These wrestlers are "big timers" and the fans of Belleville are to be assured of a treat.

Tonight sees the opening game of the play-off series in the local Belleville Twilight league when the Belleville Fruit Jassies tie into the lofty tune of National Meats. The game will be played every night until one team has won three games. The league executive have decided to adopt the three umpire system. Police patrolling, if necessary, is needed badly at these games as the children crowd around the infield and behind the catcher and the girls are keen on the playing field. This practice should be discontinued.

Manager Frank Domenico and Coach Leo "Slob" Barrett were sure a tickled pair when their Belleville League got a break in the day night and became eligible for the league finals following the game Manager Domenico promised the girls a treat, regardless as to whether or not they win the league title. Of course he expects the girls to come across with a win but be sure is tickled over being in the league finals. The girls of both teams claim victory and in a few days we are now inclined to happen. May the best team win. Manager Meagher will undoubtedly start his veteran hurler, Molly Grey, on the mound in the first game of the series.

For the third consecutive year the Gibbard Athletics were crowned champions of the Lennox County League when they defeated the Kingston Athletics in two straight games. The Gibbard district of Napanee now meet Gananoque, winners of the Kingston and District loop in the O.B.A.A. play downs. The victory in the game Saturday over the Yarker line, was quite costly, however, as the Athletics lost the services of Binkley, their star third baseman. Binkley broke his little finger on the right hand.

WIN CONTEST PRIZES

Two World Records Broken One Equalled in Title Meet Between U. S. and Br. Empire

WIN MILE RELAY

Four Mile Relay Also Goes to The British Empire

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 15 — Honors in the quadrennial athletic competition between the British Empire and the United States went to the latter Sunday but most of the glory went to the Empire.

Two world records were broken, one was equaled and two meet records shattered when the Olympic athletes of this country met Empire competitors in 10 events.

J. V. Powell, Britain, Phil Edwards, Canada, and Alex Wilson, Montreal, and Tom Hampson, Britain's 800 metre Olympic champion made a walkaway of the two mile relay which they won in the world record time of seven minutes, 40.2 seconds, compared to the old mark of 7.41.2.

Powell started the Empire four off by opening up a hundred yard lead and each man increased it until the finish when Hampson finished 20 yards in the van of his opponent.

Record Time

Alder Wilson, Toronto, figured largely in the lowering of the other universal mark, when she pressed Simone Schaller, United States entry to start from scratch in the 80 metre hurdles. The American girl's time was 11.8 seconds.

An Olympic champion, Percy Bears, equalled his world record in the 120 yard hurdles when he raced to victory in his specialty over five team mates. He covered the obstacles in 14.3.

The four mile relay proved another easy conquest for the British heroes. Another man J. F. Cornes, England's crack champion hooked up with Gens Venzke, American whiz, in the last lap. The former had a 15 yard lead to start with but he easily increased the margin to such an extent he finished almost in a walk. Eddie King, Hamilton, R. W. Barrett, Australia and J. K. Lovelock, New Zealand, were the other members of the winning team. The time was 17.36.6.

Win One Mile Relay

With Edward running another half and Wilson, W. J. Walker, South Africa, Wright and Joubert easily won the one mile medley relay in 3.24.9.

Philip Clarke, Montreal, played a leading role when the Empire's 400 yard women's relay team raced to victory in 47.3.

The fourth event won by the Empire was the 400 yard run relay. Bert Pearson, Hamilton, led off and kept his man in the baton end. A. J. Elliot, New Zealand, Harold Wright, Edmonton, and D. Joubert, South Africa, maintained the lead to the finish. The time was 41.6.

Other events won by United States were the 400 metre relay. The yes mile sleeplechase, 400 yard relay, despite a brilliant performance by Pearson, the three mile team race, and the four lap steeplechase.

Cards in Fifth Place Only Six Games From Top

CUBS STILL LEAD

Yankees Have American League Race at Their Mercy

BY HERBERT W. BARRER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Whatever the scientific impossibility of two or more objects occupying the same space at the same time, the eight clubs of the National League got a break Sunday to demonstrate that it can be done. With the end of the season only six weeks away, the clubs are so closely bunched that an attempt to pick the winner can be classed as pure suicide. Chicago's Cubs still lead the parade but their margin over the Pittsburgh Pirates is only half a game with the Brooklyn Dodgers another game and a half back. The New York Giants, Boston Braves and St. Louis Cardinals follow at such brief intervals that the Cardinals are only six games out of first place.

Last Second

The Cubs lost valuable ground yesterday as they dropped a pair of games to the Cardinals 2-0 and 3-1 in 10 innings. Ray Carlson spaced seven Cubs hits in the opener and Dizzy Dean gave up only six in the nightcap and struck out eight men, six in a row. Brooklyn driving ahead toward the lead, marked time for the day by splitting two games with the New York Giants, winning 8-7, in 11 innings and dropping the second 8-4, Johnny Frederick set up a new Major League record when he hit a home run in a pinch-hitter's role for the fourth time this season.

The Cincinnati Reds, in last place but only 15 games out of the lead, mowed over the Boston Braves twice, 5-3 and 9-3, getting excellent pitching from Red Lucas and Si Johnson.

American League

The New York Yankees stretched their American League lead to nine games by whipping Washington 7-5 in the first game as Jimmie Foxx hit his 43rd home run with a mate on base and then bounced back to a 2-0 victory in the nightcap. Allowing eight scattered hits.

The St. Louis Browns won two games from the Chicago White Sox 5-4 and 5-3. Lefty Gomez only allowed only five hits in the opener but was wildly pitched as well as he had to in the second game while his teammates had given him an early lead. Oscar Melillo collected five hits during the day, including a triple and a double.

BLAKER HITS IN THE PINCH

Scores Palmer With Winning Run to Defeat Picton 9-8

Lionel Blaker's single, which scored Palmer with the run in the ninth inning pushed across the winning run that put the Belleville Victorias into a play-off position in the Bay of Quinte League when the Victorias nosed out the Picton intermediates by the score of 9 to 8 in a fast game on the Picton diamond Saturday afternoon.

Although the game was very loosely played the local Victorias were forced to stand off a last minute play-off position in Bay of Quinte loop regardless of the outcome of the twilight battle between the Picton and Point Anne clubs. If Point Anne edged Picton they would tie-up three teams are tied and a play-off series is necessary. If on the other hand Picton wins then they and Belleville will meet in the first and deciding best play-off game.

Saturday's game saw much loose ball played on the part of both clubs when errors of omission and commission, plus a combination of outfielders and infielders alike, "Warpy" Pullen, late of Welling-ton juniors, started on the mound for the visitors, while Archie Wallbridge was coach trainer and for pitching duties. Campbell, Picton leading hurler, conceded one score arm in the sixth frame and another in the seventh when the Vics other "port sider". The game developed into a slugging match, Picton and Vics both clubs were runs scored, by both clubs in the first four innings. Many extra base hits being registered.

Home Runs Scored

The visitors scored two runs in the initial frame, when Leavens and Flagler crossed the plate. Frederick scoring on a nice squeeze play. Picton came back with two runs in the fourth, when Rorke and Campbell scored on a pair of doubles and later scored on infield out. Again in the sixth Picton pulled even with the Vics by scoring two more, when Cole and Church crossed the plate. Picton and The Picton team ended their scoring in the seventh, when Hughes and Rorke scored after the Vics kicked and booted the ball all over the infield.

The Victorias bagged three in the first frame, when Parr, Flagler and Palmer scored. In the second they added another, when Campbell crossed the plate. In the fifth Parr and Leitchford each counted a run, while Seeney scored in the sixth and Flagler crossed the plate in the seventh inning. The winning run was scored, after two were out, by Palmer who received a "life" on Frederick's error later to score on Blaker's clashing hit to centre.

Line-ups—

Picton—Leavens, Frederick, Hudgins, Rorke, Cole, Church, Yanover, Hewitt, Phillips and Mahon, Belleville Vics.—Kerr, Ross, Flagler, Palmer, Blaker, Leitchford, Campbell, Seeney, Latchford and Vics.

REVERTING SCORE MAPLE LEAFS LOSE

When the umpires were forced to call the game in the seventh innings and the score reverted back to the sixth, the Wallbridge girls defeated the local Maple Leafs by the score of 6 to 5, although the Maple Leafs had two runs in the seventh, before the game was called. Although the game was of the exhibition type plenty of action and hitting was in evidence.

The line-ups:

Wallbridge—Walt. P. Ketcheson, Campbell, Bonisteel, Hove, Bonner, Mallory, Minchcliffe and F. Bonner.

Maple Leafs—Carter, N. McMichael, Rushlow, Asseltine, Kibler, Hill, Means, H. McMichael and Cousins.

Weddings

HOLMES—STILLMAN

A very, quiet, but pretty wedding took place at St. David's Anglican Church, Donlands Avenue, Toronto, on Sunday afternoon, when Miss Beatrice Faith Stillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Stillman, Belleville, became the bride of Mr. Chris. G. Holmes, son of Robert and Margaret Holmes of Georgetown, Ontario, Rev. R. J. Jackson of Cobourg, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a simple white crepe dress, and a soft white picture hat, carrying a bouquet of American Beauty roses and baby breath.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Frank Barker of the R.C.A.F., Camp Borden.

The reception was held at the home of Mrs. H. Lovegrove, Danforth Avenue, Toronto, for immediate friends and relatives.

After an extremely dainty repast and congratulations, the happy couple returned to Belleville where they will reside.

LOVE AND SPORTSMANSHIP

(By Beatrice Fairfax)

An authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

American marriages are supposed to be the most romantic in the world. We are told that an American girl is all gilded in romance by love only, that no material or practical consideration ever sinks her mind.

To a certain degree, this is of course true. That is, in Europe marriages are arranged by the parents; in our own country young people usually settle their own romantic destinies.

But if love ever was the whole story in American marriages, the question whether this is ever always the case. A new element seems to be entering into the practically all marriages, and it's a pretty desirable one, I'm sure, sportsmanship.

Only a few days ago, I found the engaged couple in the mail of many a friend an unchecked fountain of tears.

"It's so tragic for Joan," murmured the sympathetic mother, "that Jerry and she are to have been married on has been recalled by business. Now she will have to do without all the nice things she has been used to."

"But that's not like Billy, is she not?"

Unquestionably! But the poor dear did go wang a pretty home and all that!"

"Not my own part. I couldn't squeeze out a tear for Joan. I'm glad really in love. I thought here's a chance to prove it. Here's a chance to be a good sport, and to confirm all the fine things that have been said about love.

I'm even convinced that their marriage will be more than happy for Joan and Billy begin by living in two rooms, and if Billy helps with the dishes, and if they very often have hash for dinner.

What if Joan does miss the use of her parents' car? What if she does lament the lost comforts of home? Somebody should whisper to her that in an age of hardship, it's soft and selfish to bewail the vanishing of one's personal luxuries.

FRIENCE OF WALES DECLARES "LILY CHRISTINE" IS GREAT

When "Lily Christine," the screen version of Frank Harris' starring picture, was shown for the first time in London recently, the Prince of Wales sent a telegram to the first to congratulate her on the stage of the Palace Theatre.—From the stage of the Palace Theatre.

The showing of "Lily Christine" was a gala social function, attended by royalty in great numbers.

Arranged as a charity function, the seats were all sold in advance, and the streets were blocked off for squares around to permit those holding tickets to arrive without being mobbed by the great crowds that gathered to see the "premiere" celebrities.

Those which heretofore have been identified only with Hollywood opening nights were in attendance, crowded and the milling thousands sent up cheer after cheer.

When the picture was concluded, the prince appeared on the stage of the Palace Theatre.

"I am sure we all congratulate Miss Gertrude Lawrence and those who have helped to make the film the great success that it is."

Those who share the glory of this high praise with Miss Griffith are Michael Arlen, author of the film; Paul Stein, the director; Margaret Bannerman and Colin Clive, her supporting leads—and others in the cast which includes Miss Maureen O'Sullivan, Jack Trevor and Anne Grey.

"Lily Christine" is the story of a lovely and lovable society woman who experiences a series of sensational, dramatic-romantic escapades in order to save herself from social disgrace. "Lily Christine" is the feature offering at the Belle Tuesday-Wednesday-Thursday matinee daily.

Four Variety Units

The enjoyment of "Lily Christine" is enhanced by the introduction of a variety unit each day, including Glen Tryon in "Ship a Hooey," Ruth Hall and Ann Greene Terry in "Knowmore College," Screen Snapshots revealing favorite motion picture stars at work and play, and the popular Movietone News Reel, while the latest events gathered the world over. Each day attending the Belle Wednesday evening will receive a beautiful dresserware gift.

Powell-Francis Twilight

"Jewel Robbery," which has amused two continents as a stage play with its daring, racy situations, and which co-stars William Powell and Kay Francis, comes to the Belle tonight. The Tragedy of Romance, a thrilling amazing adventure, a Mickey Mouse Cartoon and Fox Sound News completes the program.

At The Capitol

JOAN BENNETT IN
"THE WEEK-ENDS ONLY"

Modern themes and modern treatments are distinguishing the current flock of motion pictures. Romance of a sprightly, 1932 model type is replacing the old-fashioned stuff. Indeed the new films gain in attractiveness and entertainment value.

A case in point is "Week Ends Only," with Joan Bennett as the star, while which opened a two day showing at the Capitol Theatre.

It is nothing old-fashioned about this offering, which treats with whimsicality and frankness the situations confronting the penniless miss or broke young beauty who chooses a Broadway job for herself as a profession—a livelihood.

The job in turn makes her one of the many girls employed in night life, with the other angles occupied by an impeccable art student, and a playboy. The student wants to marry her but can't afford it; the millionaire wants her, but not as a wife. And matters develop from this difficult part of the harassed heroine is genuinely delightful, and is enhanced by the performance of Zen Igon as the happy-go-lucky artist and John Halliday as the amorous millionaire.

Walter Byron, Hallwell Hobbes, Allan Dinehart, John Arledge and Bernice Claire are among the other actors who score in the film, and Alan Crosland deserves great credit for his clever direction. William Conselman wrote the screen play and adapted from the novel by Warner Fabian.

Dinnerware Gift

Tonight's attending patrons will receive a delightful gift of Wedgewood dinnerware.

Flatters will also be exchanged for the scripts distributed last Monday night.

Cash Alone is Greater Than Current Liabilities of $652,835

Features of the 1931 report of International Proprietaries Limited are the maintenance of earnings at practically the same level attained in 1930 and 1929, and the cash balance at the end of 1930 of $734,506. Current liabilities were only $652,835.

In spite of lessened buying power of the public, increased tariffs in foreign countries and fluctuations in exchange, consolidated net profit from operations, after providing for depreciation and losses in exchange on all funds transferred, but before taxes, staff bonus and pension funds, and the usual write-off of organization expenses, amounted to $1,233,347 for the year 1931, compared with $1,234,213 for 1930.

Regular Dividends Paid

The regular dividend of $2.60 per share was paid to Class "A" shareholders during the year, together with participating dividends totaling 10 cents per share, making a total disbursement of Class "A" shareholders of $170 per share. Dividends totalling 80 cents per share were paid to Class "B" shareholders, and after provision for income taxes there remained a balance of profit for 1931 $238,350, which was added to consolidated surplus account, which amount now stands at $832,467, as at Dec. 31, 1931. This represents that part of the consolidated surplus of the company and its subsidiaries which has been built up since the formation of International Proprietaries Limited in May, 1928.

Financial Position is Strong

The consolidated financial position shown as at December 30, 1931, was strong. Current assets were $2,356,372, as against current liabilities of $652,835, a ratio of 3.9 to 1. Cash alone amounted to $736,506. It is stated in the President's remarks that if all the net current assets of the company had been transferred to Canada at the end of 1931 there would have been a distribution of $163,700 in net current assets, but this would mean the abandonment of business in all parts of the world where the company does business.

During the year investments in and advances to subsidiaries and other companies increased $304,992, principally accounted for by the fact that the company is establishing additional branches in foreign countries to cut down production costs. This expenditure was met out of current funds, and net, as at December 31, 1931, net working capital at $1,703,537 was $90,806, compared to that at the close of 1930.

In November, 1931, the Australian plant, Amalgamated Pharmaceuticals, The Argentine plant did not begin to produce during 1931, whereas the Brasilian plant in March, 1923, and the Colombian plant in May, 1932. Plants in Cuba, Mexico and Venezuela and South Africa in September, 1932, and it is expected these new plants will greatly reduce the cost of doing business in the countries where they are situated.

Economics Effected

With reference to the general conduct of the business, the President states: "Throughout the year substantial economies have been brought about through the use of improved equipment. Foreign factories have been visited by directors and managers from abroad have visited us, and these and your operations have visited the London, England, office of J. C. Eno Limited in March this year. The President and Secretary visited Colombia and Venezuela branches and returned to visit Brazil and Argentina in September. Management is in constant touch with the managers of these branches and is fully aware that operations are carried on on the most economical basis possible and your directors desire to state that the efficiency production is being handled better than ever before in the history of the company."

Comparative Earnings

Following is a comparative table of earnings over the past three years, which indicates the highly satisfactory results obtained:

Earnings after depreciation, but before taxes, staff bonus and pension funds, and write-offs for organization expenses: 1931, $1,233,347; 1930, $1,234,214; 1929, $1,-370,483.

Available for dividends: 1931, $944,500; 1930, $943,000; 1929, $1,-007,134.

Paid A dividends (regular): 1931, $583,089; 1930, $583,184; 1929, $584,-300.

Paid A dividends (extra): 1931, $238,350; 1930, $238,350; 1929, $292,-950.

Paid B dividends: 1931, $120,000; 1930, $120,000; 1929, $120,000.

Balance, surplus: 1931, $238,350; 1930, $238,350; 1929, $292,950.

Earnings per A share: 1931, $3.32; 1930, $3.32; 1929, $3.45.

Earnings per B share: 1931, $1.99; 1930, $2.00; 1929, $2.42.

METAL SHARES ARE ACTIVE

Prices Moved Irregularly Higher on Mine Board

Toronto, Aug. 15—With base metal shares in renewed demand prices moved irregularly higher on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange today in the opening session of the week. Volume was comparatively light, a total of 36,270 shares changing hands in the first two hours of trading.

Noranda strengthened from the opening, standing up 60 at 19.25 when last sold. Canada Malting was 2c to 2.25 and International Nickel was up 30 at 8.25. Silver shares were steady, with Dominion Explorers fractionally higher on reports of a new Great Bear Lake find in which the company had a 37½ percent interest. Among the golds was mixed, higher priced issues showing little change. Premier lost Saturday's close. Wright Hargreaves fell 5 to 2.85 under light selling but Pioneer of B.C. recovered 5 to 3.75 and Granada was up a couple at 1.20. Profit taking was seen in Howey, with price off another 4 to 54. Macassa advanced 3 cent to 77 and Arno, Algoma Mining and Brownles were fractionally higher.

California Bears Win Eight Oared Race by Bare 1-5 Second from Italians

Canada Eke Out a Third Place by Nosing England

BOW TO BOW

Gilmore And Myers of U. S. Also Wins Double Sculls

Marine Stadium, Long Beach, Cal., Aug. 15.—In a nerve-tingling finish that left a crowd of 40,000 spectators gasping with excitement, the University of California's unbeaten crew came from behind with a closing surge to whip Italy's powerful boat-load Sunday by just 1-5 inches, one-fifth of a second, and win the crowning event of the Olympic regatta for the United States.

Facing defeat with nearly 100 metres to go as the blue-shirted Italians drove their shell ahead in a sensational bid for victory, the American collegians responded with a remarkable closing sprint that was just enough to send the prow of their boat first across the finish line.

It was a battle every aweep of the way down the 2,000 metre Olympic straightaway, packed with roaring crowds.

Never separated by more than a dozen feet, the Americans and Italians waged a dazzling duel of speed, carsmanship and stamina.

Result in Doubt.

Bow to bow in the last few strokes, it was so close at both ends and all across the line that it was not until the announcer's voice came over the loud speakers that the crowd let loose its ovation for the triumphant Californians.

The official times were 6 minutes 37 3-5 seconds for the United States; 6:37 4-5 for Italy.

All was unsubdued in the terrific din of excitement, even though they were close enough to witness it a whole minute. Canada's Hamilton Leanders and the Cambridge University crew of Great Britain fought third and fourth in a battle that was almost as sensational as that between the first two boats.

The Canadians, on a re-check by the judges, got the third position by two-fifths of a second. Their time was 6:40 4-5 and the British boat 6:40 4-5.

It was the third victory in two days and seven finals for the Americans. It followed the double triumph of Garrett Gillmore and Kenneth Myers of Philadelphia in the double-sculls and gave the United States the winning total of 39 points for the regatta.

England Double Winner.

Great Britain, with two triumphs, ships won, finished second with 26 points, Germany third with 20 and Italy fourth with 17. Other points were distributed as follows: Poland, 12; Australia, 10; Canada, 8; New Zealand, 8; France and Uruguay, 4 each; Holland and Japan, 3 each.

The biggest crowd of the regatta, packing the grand stands, filling the shores of the lagoon and even perching in the skeleton work of nearby oil derricks, came for the last races.

From the start the eight-oared was a two-boat race, even though Canada and British Honduras were ashore. Italy got the jump, but California took the lead at 500 metres. Then they see-sawed, the Italians rowing a higher, choppier stroke that speared the boat but somewhat slower catch of the Americans.

Gillmore and Myers, in the double sculls, pulled away from Germany's crack pair, Mostellen and Bahbe, in the last half of their race to win by nearly two lengths in 7:17 2-5. Canada was third and Italy fourth.

The British veteran four, without coxswain, pulled to victory over another German entry in the day's other event, covering the course in the good time of 6:58 1-5 and winning by two lengths. Italy was third and the United States entry fourth.

LEFTY GWYNNE TORONTO WINS

Bantamweight Easily Earns Decision Over German

(By Elmer Dalmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 15.—A stubby, short-armed boxer from Toronto, Lefty Gwynne, won the world's amateur bantamweights as Olympic boxing began in his own right. Horace "Lefty" Gwynne climbed to the top of his division here Monday night, savagely battering out a decision over Leo Rwalewski Hans Ziglarski of Germany in their three-round title bout on the final Olympic ring tournament programme.

Victory of Gwynne brought Canada her first Olympic boxing championship since 1920 when Bert Schneider of Montreal won the welterweight class at Antwerp. Along with triumphs by Lorne Scarrett, lightweight, and David Carstens, light-heavy, both of South Africa, it gave the British Empire three of the eight boxing crowns distributed.

With the title in sight, Gwynne fought Ziglarski carefully, seldom attacking until the German was cornered. But when "Lefty" did go in he was with a slashing left hook that landed with regularity on Ziglarski's head and a cross-firing right, demoralized on the German's body. Ziglarski had all he could do to finish the bout and the Canadian was a winner on points by a wide margin.

VALERA PLANS DRASTIC MOVE

Proposes Bill to Abolish Senate Forecast

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Steps to curb the power of the Free State Senate, and possibly to do away with the Upper Chamber altogether, are being contemplated by the de Valera Government it was revealed Sunday.

The Senate has lost standing with the administration because it had forced delay in the Government's attempt to eliminate the oath of allegiance to the Crown and has opposed other de Valera measures.

Defence Minister Frank Aiken, speaking today at Castle-Pollard, referred to the holding up of the oath bill and said the Government party soon would ask the people to deal with the Senate in a way to prevent it from barring the road to national independence.

Gerald Boland, President de Valera's parliamentary secretary, declared in a speech at Castlereagh that no one had any use for the Senate and if it continued holding up bills, a measure to abolish it would be introduced.

ONE DROWNED FIVE INJURED

Cobourg Scene of Three Accidents Over The Weekend

Cobourg, Aug. 15—One life was lost and five persons were seriously injured in accidents at Cobourg during the week end.

Bernice Curtis, 24 years old, of Peterboro, was drowned while bathing in Pratt's Pond on Saturday evening. Although her body was recovered 15 minutes after her disappearance, three hours of artificial respiration failed to revive her.

The girl had gone swimming with Stuart Gordon, 18, Peterboro, and Clarence Keenan, and had been diving in 11 feet of water when she failed to reappear to the surface. After diving for 15 minutes Ben Hircock succeeded in locating the body and bringing it to the surface. Chief of Police J. C. Ruse was summoned and artificial respiration applied. The girl was pronounced dead three hours later. No inquest will be held. The drowning victim was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Curtis of Percila.

Four persons were seriously injured early Sunday morning when the car in which they were riding on the highway crashed into a parked moving van. They were Clarence or Naylor of Hornsby, driver of the car; Roy MacGregor of Brampton, William Naylor of Milton and Clarence Pringle of Hornsby.

Taken to Hospital

All were taken to Cobourg Hospital. Roy MacGregor was found to have suffered a concussion from which he was still unconscious on Sunday night. William Naylor received a broken back and Clarence or Naylor of Hornsby, driver of the car; Roy MacGregor of Brampton, William Naylor of Milton and Clarence Pringle of Hornsby.

Taken to Hospital

All were taken to Cobourg Hospital. Roy MacGregor was found to have suffered a concussion from which he was still unconscious on Sunday night. William Naylor received a broken back and Clarence Pringle also was badly injured.

John Courte, driver of the moving van, told police his truck had broken an axle and he had been forced to park upon the highway to await the arrival of mechanics from a garage. He said the lights were burning upon the truck and he had been flagging approaching motors to warn them.

Provincial Constable A. Reilly of Port Hope, is investigating the case.

Councillor William Corbett, locomotive engineer, also was injured Sunday when he fell from his locomotive while making repairs. Engineer Corbett was standing upon the platform of the engine when it was shunting in the railroad yard. A wrench which he was using, slipped, and he lost his balance. He fell to the ground, and was taken to Cobourg Hospital where he was unconscious for some time. His condition is serious.

Mr. Corbett is well known in this city, where he was born and educated and started his railroad career.

DR. ROYAL LEE IS MISSING

Believed He Jumped From Boat, When it Took Fire

Gananoque, Ont., Aug. 13 (CP) — Search parties today are looking for Dr. Royal Lee of New York, whose speed launch, Royal Jack, burned and sank in the St. Lawrence River, off the foot of Hay Island, half a mile from this town.

Dr. Lee, a former Gananoque boy here with his wife and two sons.

When the launch caught fire yesterday, people on shore put out in boats to render assistance. When they arrived on the scene, they found the boat still burning, but unoccupied.

Parties on shore, watching the launch, report seeing a man leap from it into the river.

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL IS HELD AT W.

West Huntingdon, Aug. 13—A most successful pic nic social was held by the West Huntingdon United Church on Wednesday evening, August 10th, on the church grounds, and within the church, where a programme was given. A large crowd assembled, much beyond the expectations of the promoters, in view of the cool weather and threatening rain. The programme was varied and interesting and the contributors were both local and from adjacent districts.

The proceedings opened with one verse and chorus of "The Maple Leaf for Ever" sung by all present. Instrumental music was given by the Misses Irene and Marguerite Elliott, Mrs. Russell Stapley and Mr. Kenneth Stapley. Readings were given by Miss Olive McConnell, the Misses Stapley, Mr. Alfred Taylor, Mr. Clarence Tammon and Mr. King, the last named being accompanied by Mr. Palmer with his guitar. A reading was contributed by Mr. Phillip Carr, all of these numbers were received most heartily by the audience and at the close a cordial vote of thanks accorded them. Rev. C. Armstrong Hale, president. The National Anthem was sung and then all present did justice to the ample supply of cake, ice cream, lemonade, tea, etc, in the adjoining shed. The proceeds realized after the recent Campbellford Fair Committee in Lodge Hall were $40.00 was realized.

70 CENTS A BUSHEL IS AGREED PEGGED PRICE

REGINA, August 13.—The Saskatchewan farmer will square accounts with his chief creditor this year with grain from his 1932 crop. Premier J. T. M. Anderson announced yesterday his government had decided to peg the price of all grains that accept that commodity as payment for all forms of relief grants.

Under the official plan wheat would be pegged at 70 cents a bushel on a basis of No. 1 Northern, Port William.

POST-OLYMPIC MEET HELD AT LOS ANGLES

LEAFS FROM BRIDGE.

Hamilton, Aug. 13.—As Mrs. Elisabeth Prouse of 256 York Street was crossing the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge over the Desjardins Canal Saturday afternoon a train approached, and she was forced to leap to save her life. She jumped from a height of forty feet and landed on the canal bank. She suffered injuries to her back and was removed to the General Hospital, where her condition yesterday was reported to be improved. The bridge lies diagonally across the canal, and the engineer would not see her until the train was close to bridge.

SOCIALISTS ARE BLAMED

Seville, Spain, Aug. 13 (AP) — Yesterday's outstanding echo of last week's Monarchist revolt, a revolutionary party demonstration against the Socialist majority of Congress, which was accused of "offering cover to many Monarchists."

The police dispersed the manifestation without casualties.

Communist pamphlets urging soldiers who participated in the revolt to resist any attempt to incorporate them in the Foreign Legion for African service, were seized by the police.

Meanwhile the investigation into the Monarchist revolt, which was led by General José San Jurgo was pressed by the authorities.

Thousands gathered on a wide promenade in Retiro Park to witness elaborate ceremonies at which President Alcala Zamora conferred honors and cash awards on officials and employes of the Republic who distinguished themselves during Wednesday's attempted revolt.

WEDNESDAY

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Tell me, is the corned beef really good?" they asked Sheila; and, "What was it, you told your mother, day you thought I might like?"

And if ever anything was overheard, they decided all, it was Sheila.

"You didn't bring bit flat. You'd better take all this back, and here's hot, and bring his fish. No dar-ling, you wash your fish. Well, well; we have nothing to do" they said.

Sheila learned not to overlook anything. There was a dangerous table, piled young maid, clustered in the pantry, who checked the trays and made all the trouble he could about doubled orders. His had authority and anyone who wanted to went in the Wonderbeam dining-room had to take orders from Mr. Benny.

"Tear it up, and go' out and get their order straight," Mr. Benny had said sonorously to Sheila on the first terrible day.

"I only have to add the two extra to 16" Sheila said. "They came in late, and they're on the list, they'd have what the rest have."

"Tear it up and go and get some the entire order over," said Mr. Benny, inexorably.

"I've got their order! All I have to do is add two more to it."

Mr. Benny tore up the order him self and smiled at Sheila.

"Now you go back and get the whole order," he said. "and next time don't bring me anything but it."

"I didn't lose my head. The two boys came in late."

"That's be about enough," said Mr. Benny, lighting a cigarette and standing up over the table. "Now, Sheila. "I tell you to go get the order again and keep your head about it!"

The dining-room hours were pretty similar from seven to ten, from twelve-thirty to two, and from six to nine. This was the official statement. But in fact they were from almost any hour until after ten o'clock at night. At half-past six in the morning at all events, fashionable people began the dining-room doors, and nurses with fretful and wakeful babies were clamoring for admittance, and at half-past nine at night tremendously good-looking and apologetic persons were arriving for dinner. This was all very well for Miss Watts, the gracious well for Miss Watts, the gracious and capable and specially trained waitress, who got the big tips, but it told heavily on Sheila and the other girls. They had to take on extra tables to hunt about for tablecloths and napkins not yet discarded, and to apologize for food that had been used up, and to make additional trips for substitutes.

They worked in an enormous pantry served from the kitchen below by dumb-waiters. The order slips, with Mr. Benny's O. K., on them, went down on the empty elevators; each tray had a slip at it when it came up. Sometimes when a big party required more than one tray a bus boy was summoned to assist. But the girls were not allowed to ask for help; Mr. Benny decided that, and if he did not like the girl he would make a note that she could and observe that she could make two trips for it just as well. The girls, except perhaps for the favorite of the moment detested him; when they were especially tired or nervous he could make things hard for them, and they waited, seeded energy in despising him.

They ran to and fro breathlessly; their collars wilted, their little hats tiertly aprons wilted; the girls themselves wilted. Sheila never had too much color, but she developed a pallor that was new. Her film of fine copper hair stuck to her wet forehead, her clothes adhered to her sweated body. Piles and piles of soiled tablecloths and napkins, piled dirty plates, packed pencils orders feverishly, She talked so little and worked so hard that Miss Watts soon stopped singing her out for special impositions.

"Mary, there's a party just down from New York; I'm sorry. You'll have to start the order anyway and took it."

At twenty-two minutes of ten, minutes, Nelly might say plaintively, Sheila would eye the clock.

"Four mock turtle, three supreme of grapefruit, seven oyster cocktail, four omelettes, two cream of lettuce."

The salads and desserts did not come from downstairs. They were made in a special section off the pantry, and the girls went in and selected them themselves. It was very icy cold in this room; it was very hot in the big dining-room; the pantry was drafty. Everyone was chilled, and the girls' noses were always wet and pink.

When Nelly, in the beginning, had told her that in the quiet hours, say between ten and twelve each morning, and three and five each afternoon, she would be free to come up to the dormitory loft and lie down, Sheila had secretly laughed at. Lie down—with Atlantic City's winter boardwalk, and the glorious ocean at her very doorstep!

Bit by the third day she had discovered that these intervals of rest were all too short. She was not rested by an hour or two; flat and exhausted on her back; she could not even begin reading in so short a time. She ached all over, her nerves throbbed and quivered, her head was dizzy with confused thoughts, her breath was short and her mouth dry.

"It's a great life!" she said to Nelly.

"It's a great life if you have an infected corn, let me tell you," Nelly said. "Sheeeiiing! I wonder why I ever left home. My mother run a boarding house; lots of the railroad fellers come over for meals. But sleeping and eating, really, and was ten years older than Mamma, and what he put over on her she wouldn't believe. He knew I was onto him!"

Much of the talk Sheila heard nowadays was coarse. But most of the girls were good girls.

Once she heard her own name. Four of the six girls in the smaller small room were lying on their cots beds one winter afternoon when one of them said suddenly:

"That Carradoken girl we were talking about is supposed to be staying with friends. They were married all right, Mrs. McCann's have scads of money and they hush-hush the whole thing up."

Sheila lay perfectly still, her very heart stopped. But when a girl sighed and said, "Oh, dear!" it was a different topic.

She had left a note for her mother on that dreadful last afternoon at home, and had never seen or heard from her since. Mrs. Carradoken was and no matter how busy she was during her free hours, she would not give in.

The loneliness of life—Sheila had never known it,— never suspected it before. How large they were, the Irish-born and Russian-born girls, who were herded like sheep in the top rooms of great hotels; these maids and nurse-girls and chauffeurs and valets who stayed at the hotel.

They gave their lives to others, for sixty and seventy and eighty dollars a month.

All very well to argue, "They have a day a week, haven't they?" What girl could be satisfied at eighteen, or twenty-two, or thirty, with a part of one day each week in which to live her own life? Less than one seventh of her life hers—for she had to serve breakfast on her "day out," and she must be back in her cell of a room by midnight.

Sheila grew quiet, her manner grew more sedate, her forehead had a look of gravity her eyes were wiser. Physically there was a change also; she was thinner, the contours of her face were chiseled to finer lines.

She had been ten days on the job when one morning, in the very heat of the afternoon rush-and-breathless flurry, Frank McCabe found her.

At the moment Mr. Benny was making himself particularly disagreeable to an unfortunately argumentative lady named Mabel, and Sheila, listening to Mabel's feeble self-defense, was again aware of sympathy was inwardly saying to Mabel "Oh shut up, you're just giving him chance after chance—shut up, you poor fool—you're just leading you on on!" when Mrs. Kearney, who was assistant manager, suddenly appeared on the scene.

This caused a lull, for Mrs. Kearney, silk-clad, eye-glassed, sullen-privileged, was a power at the Pendergast.

"Which girl is Mary Moore? Mary, there's a gentleman waiting to see you," Mrs. Kearney said. She sensed mutiny. "What's going on here?" she asked sharply.

It was so delightful to see Mr. Benny suddenly humbled and conciliatory to Mabel, so gratifying to hear Mabel's demure reply, that Sheila quite forgot to worry about any significance her own message might have. Unquestioningly she followed Mrs. Kearney to one of the little consultation rooms near the main office. One of the guests of the place had asked that that girl who had ever posed for trade photographs, and had suggested that she let him have them photographed working a vacuum cleaner, and if Sheila had thought of anything at all except Mabel's triumph and Mr. Benny's discomfiture, she would have found some such explanation of the summons.

But it was Frank McCabe who was waiting for her.

Instantly she was frightened. of what she did not know. She tried to back out of the door.

"Sheila,—it's all right, nobody knows but me!" Frank said quickly. What Mrs. Kearney, outside the door, thought Sheila had only a wild minute to speculate. Then the older woman closed the door and she and Frank were alone.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Grandfather Frog Becomes Careless

You'll find that always in some way

For foolishness we have to pay.

—Grandfather Frog.

Grandfather Frog was very well satisfied with himself and with the world in general. He had just successfully swallowed the last of a fish so big that he couldn't swallow it all at one time but had had to swallow it little by little. Naturally after such a meal he was no longer hungry. Jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun was shining, the air was warm, he was now exceedingly comfortable and he was sleepy. Yes, sir, he was sleepy. You know, warmth and a full stomach are likely to make any one sleepy. So Grandfather Frog, sitting on his favorite big green lily pad where he was quite sure no one could see him because the water was much too deep for Longlegs to wade within striking distance, became drowsy.

He didn't intend to take a nap out there in plain sight. No, indeed, he didn't intend to take a nap at all. He had a foolish idea that would be. Yes, sir, he knew how foolish it would be. But Mr. Marsh Hawk might come along and see him, or something along the water plants was not easily seen. Moreover, he was quite as much at home in the water as Grandfather Frog himself and could follow his deep water. And Mr. Watersnake had a liking for Frogs. So when he suspected that Mr. Watersnake was in the neighborhood Grandfather Frog felt very much as did Striped Chipmunk or Peter Rabbit when they suspected that Shadow the Weasel was about.

Many times Mr. Watersnake had just missed catching Grandfather Frog and each time he resolved that the next time he would succeed. So now he never visited the Smiling Pool without thinking of Grandfather Frog and watching out for him. It happened that this very morning when Grandfather Frog had so carelessly gone to sleep, Mr. Watersnake had decided to visit the Smiling Pool.

Just about time I had Grandfather Frog a visit," thought he. "He was last in coming out from winter quarters this year, but he is one by this time, I am certain. So far he hasn't seen me this year so he isn't likely to be watching for me. He doesn't dream that I know I am about. Ha!I make a good dinner, Grandfather Frog will He is the biggest Frog I ever have seen and I cannot think of anything that would suit me better than to catch that old creature."

So Mr. Watersnake made his way down the Laughing Brook to the Smiling Pool and all the way he took care that no one should see him. He swam under water part of the way and when he did come to the surface he put no more than his head out. So at last he reached the lily pads in the Smiling Pool. All this time Grandfather Frog was dozing. He wasn't even dreaming of Mr. Watersnake. (Copyright, 1932 by T. W. Burgess)

AUGUSTUS MR. AND MRS. JUST A SIMPLE SANDWICH

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR —No. 4

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

For months the renegade Belgian rode with the savage raiders. He fought with a cruelty equal to that of his fellow desperadoes. Achmet Zek watched him with a growing satisfaction. Little by little he took Werper into his confidence. At last he unfolded to Werper a pet scheme which he had never found a chance to carry out. He had found, in Belgian trustworthy.

Achmet needed the aid of an European before he could easily accomplish his evil design. Fate had been good in sending him this white man. He sounded Werper. "You have heard of the man men call Tarzan?" he inquired casually one day, Werper nodded. "But for him we might carry on our trading in safety and with great profit," continued the Arab bitterly.

"For years he has fought us, driving us from the richest part of the country, harassing us, and arming the natives that they may repeat us when we come to 'trade.' He is very rich. If we could find some way to make him pay us much gold we would have enough and need fear no more. For much that he has prevented us from winning from the natives under his protection." Werper listened eagerly.

There was a short silence between the two men, Werper lit a cigarette and then asked with studied indifference: "Have you any plan to make him pay?" "Yes," replied Achmet Zek. "He has a wife who men say is very beautiful. She would bring a great price father nothing, if we found it too difficult to collect ransom from Tarzan. She is worth her weight in gold."

'CABINETS' MEET TO REACH CONFERENCE PACT

Russian Dumping, Food Taxes in Great Britain Worry Empire Delegates

Plenary Meeting of Conference May Even be Laid Over Until Friday Says Word From Ottawa After Many Smaller Conferences

MANY "CABINET" MEETINGS TUESDAY

Prevention of Russian Dumping Studied—Ways and Means to Forestall Resumptions Cause Difficulty in Anglo-Canadian Discussions

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—Shadows of Russian dumping and food taxes in Great Britain have brought two huge difficulties for the Empire Conference. After a morning of calmness and conferences, it loomed doubtful early this afternoon whether the work would be finished in time for the final plenary on Thursday. It may run over to Friday. But the United Kingdom delegation have not changed their steamer bookings. The bulk of them plan to sail from Quebec by the Empress of Britain on Saturday.

Russian Shadow

The Russian difficulty affects both Australia and Canada the trouble over food taxes Australia more particularly.

Effective means to forestall a resumption of Russian dumping on the wheat market are a central point in the Anglo-Canadian discussions. It was thought a few days ago that the question had been settled, at any rate in principle, but difficulties arose over ways and means. It is accepted that effective tariffs alone would not be adequate. The United Kingdom delegation had in mind regulation of Russian imports under the Ottawa Council much as the dumping which preceded introduction of the British General Tariff was checked last spring. The Canadian delegation, it is understood, considers that this method would meet the situation and prefers one more effective method such as quotas.

After three meetings yesterday, the Canadian Cabinet met again this morning and will probably be sitting most of the day. The United Kingdom "Cabinet" was in session until late last night and by ten this morning was in negotiations with the Australian. Other delegations were no less active.

Supplies of Argentine beef to the British market limited by quota, British investment in the Argentine and fear of retaliative reaction against, "Food Taxes" in the big industrial districts of the United Kingdom, stand in the way.

Every effort is being made to bridge the gap.

And so far there has been no setback of the Anglo-Australian difference over chilled beef from the Argentine, The Australian wants

In Conference.

Ottawa, Aug. 16—(By Thomas Green, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin are again in conversation this afternoon. Most of the 19 delegations are endeavoring to find solutions for difficulties which have arisen over the proposed Canada-United Kingdom trade pact.

The Canadian Cabinet sat for nearly two and one-half hours this morning. Members of the United Kingdom delegation likewise held a lengthy sitting. The luncheon hour for both groups of delegates was late and brief.

Lesser Problem

The trade agreement between the United Kingdom and Soviet Russia giving most favored nation treatment to the Soviet Union requires six months' notice for abrogation. The British industry of great importance to this country requires early and adequate action to control the "dumped" product of the Soviets into the United Kingdom and there is several legal means available to produce the desired effect.

It is understood this is being discussed this afternoon.

BULL DROWNS IN A BUCKET OF WATER

Grover, Utah, Aug. 16—A bull owned by Joseph Winch of this village, drowned in a bucket of water. The bull pushed its head into the grain bucket, the handle catching on the animal's horns. Unable to pull the bucket over its head, the animal ran across a field and plunged into a river, the bucket filling with water. The bull drowned, standing in water up to its knees.

HOT WEATHER HASTENS CROP TO RAPIDLY

Yields Reduced in Many Parts of District at Regina

RAIN AND GRAIN

Wheat Prospects Good in Northern Part of Saskatchewan

Regina, Aug. 16—Dry hot weather has been unfavorable for growth and ripening of the crop has been unduly hastened, the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture reports. In many districts they have been retarded and yields reduced.

Rains of last week will help late grains and the feed situation to some extent but more moisture is required to be of material benefit to fall wheat. On the whole, however, wheat prospects are fairly good in northern Saskatchewan, but poor in the central and south central areas, and fair in the east.

Wheat cutting has started in all parts of the province, the crop to cut about 50 per cent. of the wheat is cut.

Pastures are somewhat bare in some of the south central and central districts, but otherwise are reported fairly good.

East is Eclipse-Minded Largest Audience Will Witness Eclipse of Sun

(BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, A.P. SCIENCE EDITOR)

Conway, N. H., Aug. 16—They are selling the August 31 eclipse of the sun up in cracklnuts in the New England summer resorts.

Selling an eclipse proves to be about like selling apples, those who started early and worked hardest have the most profits. Those profits already in prospect are sufficient to qualify the rare celestial spectacle as one of the 1932 comebacks from the depression.

The source of revenue is mostly thousands of spectators planning to visit the summer resort section over which the path of totality will sweep at 2.30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. Sufficient reservations already are in sight to make up partly for a "season" thus far showing the characteristic 1932 installment.

So great is the interest, that an astronomer, writing in popular astronomy, predicts that with fair weather this eclipse is likely to be witnessed by the largest audience in the world's history.

Railroads have been advertising the eclipse for months. Special trains will be run. Hotels have drawn the general layouts of the eclipse, which in scientific accuracy are well nigh perfect.

Here at Conway, a hotel has been built and rolling two years ago with lectures "to get people eclipse-minded." His object was to have astronomers welcomed and given observing space without rent and preparations by the natives to care for overflow crowds.

WIRE BREVITIES

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 16—Supplies of oil and gasoline are awaiting J. A. Mollison who proposed a round-trip from Ireland to North America, it was reported here today. The airman is expected to arrive at the airport for daylight nc no lighting system for night flying exists there.

BODY FLOATS ACROSS LAKE

Victim of Canoe Drowning Found Thirty Miles From Scene

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 16.—The body of a young girl clad in a bathing suit found in Lake Ontario near here last Sunday, was identified today by her brother as that of Jean Tarson, 26, of Toronto, Ont.

Miss Davison was drowned with two other women when a canoe upset over near Toronto, last June 22. Only one body has been recovered. It took near two months for the body to float the thirty miles across the lake.

The brother read a description of the body in a Toronto newspaper and made the identification at the morgue today.

"UNKNOWN" IS A WOMAN

Mayor Walker Reveals She Was Recipient of Money

Executive Chamber, Albany, N.Y., Aug. 16—Gov. Roosevelt's investigation of Mayor James J. Walker, of New York City, today probed closer to the identity of the "unknown person" who figures in the inquiry, when the Mayor revealed that the mysterious recipient of money was a woman.

When Gov. Roosevelt observed that the evidence showed that a letter of credit for $10,000 was exchanged for the same "unknown person" to whom Russell T. Sherwood, missing accountant, paid $7,500, Walker said:

"I know nothing about the letter of credit. I know that Sherwood handled income matters for the 'unknown person' and as executor, administrator, I would show the had several bank accounts in the city."

The identity of the "unknown person" is to be closely guarded by Samuel Seabury, investigator for the Hofstadter legislative Committee.

Walker's remark was the first reference to the sex of the mysterious figure that has repeatedly bobbed up in the investigation and the executive hearing here.

When one grows old one is lucky if one can understand and sympathize with the young. — Clarence Darrow.

MOTORIST LEFT WRONG MAN IN DITCH AND PAID

Simcoe, Ont., Aug. 16 —Sam Weinfeld, Detroit motorist left the wrong man when he drove away leaving one car in the ditch after trying to pass three abreast on No. 3 highway west of here.

The man in the ditch happened to be Highway Traffic Officer A. E. Martin, who was bringing a prisoner to Simcoe from Delhi. The tale was concluded before Magistrate Counston in Simcoe police court when Weinfeld pleaded guilty to reckless driving and paid a fine of $15 and $5 costs.

HIGHER PRICE AIM IN STRIKE IOWA FARMERS

Would Withhold All Produce From Market For Present

ROAD KEPT OPEN

75 Special Officers and Score of Policemen Keep Order

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 16—Armed officers, abetted by many citizens, today kept roads open despite pole and boulder barricades by striking farmers who seek to have all agricultural products withheld from market until higher prices can be obtained.

There was no great activity by farm strikers in other parts of the state and no reports had been received that the embargo had spread to other states as planned by the Farmers' Holiday Association.

Comparative quiet prevailed on all fronts in the farmers' holiday strike as 75 special officers and scores of police of city police often patrolled highways near Sioux City to safeguard truckers from the violence of strikers.

Few truckers attempted to enter the territory of Woodbury, or other farm products.

Farmers, who previously attempted to run the blockade appeared to have been converted to the strikers' cause or have been frightened by the demonstration of Sunday and Monday.

SECURITIES AGAIN STRONG ON N. Y. MART

New York, Aug. 16—Securities again moved forward in fresh waves of buying today.

The stock market met occasional flurries of profit taking, which generated the extreme gains, but a number of the rallii and a few industrials pushed up to new high levels for the summer recovery, during more than erased the losses of the setback late last week. Trading was active and orderly ahead. While larger advances appeared in the more speculative issues particularly among the rails the general list moved higher. In the over-the-counter market, bank and insurance company stocks made substantial advances.

Penniless Prince Edgard de Bourbon Found Slain Woman Gives up to Police

Spanish Woman Says She Used Razor in Self Defence After Quarrel in Which He Threatened Her With Razor

YOUNGER SCION OF BOURBON LINE

Police Say Quarrel Arose Over Discovery by Woman of His Marriage to United States Girl Whose Name is Unknown

Paris, Aug. 16—A man whose papers identified him as Prince Edgard de Bourbon was found dead in a hotel room today, his throat slashed by a razor.

At about the same time a Spanish woman who gave her name as Candelaria Brau-Bolor appeared at police headquarters and said she had killed the Prince after a quarrel during which he threatened her with a razor. She killed in self-defence, she said.

Police said the quarrel grew out of an alleged discovery by the woman that the Prince had married an United States girl whose identity was not immediately determined.

Prince Wilhelm, Prussia

The identification papers found on the man's body said he was born at Ratschitzin, Austria, the son of Alice de Bourbon.

The Prince who was without funds, was descended from the Bourbon Parma line through his mother, who belonged to the younger branch of the Royal House of Bourbon. It was said he had married a United States woman who left him soon after the marriage.

Madame Brau-Bolor is about 44. She lived in a modest hotel near the busy Central Market in Paris. Until recently preparations which she made herself.

Feet Scalded as Mrs. Woods Poaches Egg

Stirling, Aug. 16 (Special)—Mrs. Wood had the misfortune to scald her feet quite badly when she had poached an egg for dinner and in lifting it out of the water, poached egg and spring pan tipped over with the above mentioned result. Dr. Ashley was called and dressed the burns and sore. Wood is doing as well as can be expected.

17 AT LARGE 6 CAPTURED

Woman Warden Convinced Fugitives Are Far Away

Granite, Okla., Aug. 16—Six of the 36 convicts who escaped from the State Reformatory here Sunday night were locked in solitary confinement today while authorities kept a sharp lookout for the 17 men still at large.

Two more were recaptured as fugitives, they had attempted to steal a motor car near Altus, one of them a former Oklahoma City bank robber, and regarded as one of the leaders of the break.

Mrs. Geo.ge Water, the warden's wife, convinced a number of the convicts has reached fairly distant points after leaving scattered trails of terror in the vicinity of Granite. The intensive search in the rugged surrounding hills was withdrawn.

FIRE APPARATUS IS CALLED INADEQUATE

Montreal, Aug. 16—Inadequacy of the Montreal Harbor Commission's firefighting apparatus was revealed today at the resumption of the Dominion Government's inquiry into the fire and explosion at Canadian Vickers' drydock here June 17 to 21 last, their boss while the British oil tanker Cymbeline was undergoing repairs.

H. J. Cowan, general manager of the drydock firm, testified before Commissioner S. A. Beaubien that the Harbor Commission's fire boat arrived after the fire was under control and projected a stream of water just 61 feet into the air which Mr. Carswell thought would be of useless performance against fire on an ocean liner.

Dozen Farm Credit Corporations Being Established in United States

Washington, Aug. 16—The reconstruction corporation is expediting plans for 12 regional agricultural credit corporations to make loans to farmers and stockmen.

Indications are that the corporations will announce their initial programme for creating the agencies for extending the $300,000,000 relief bill.

Under the act, each institution is to have a paid up capital of not less than $1,000,000, to be subscribed by the reconstruction corporation.

The corporations may make loans for crop production and for the raising, breeding, fattening and marketing of livestock. Paper they accept will be eligible for discount or rediscount at any Federal Reserve or International Bank, it said. The rates of interest on loans are not fixed, being left to the credit organizations.

LONE BANDIT GETS 10 YEARS

Ten Lashes Will Also be Applied Before Release

Winnipeg, Aug. 16—Ronald L. Rideout, lone bandit who raided the Corydon and Osbourne branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here last June and decamped with $8,000 in cash and securities, was sentenced to ten years and ten lashes by Judge R. M. Noble in police court today.

Brought by police in three Canadian provinces, Rideout was removed here from Buffalo, N.Y., where he was identified by police circulars. In addition to the robbery charge laid here the young university graduate was sought in connection with the hold-up of the Bank of Montreal, Ste. Anne De Bellevue, Que., and the robbery of another bank at North London, Ont. The two latter raids netted $2,000 more $10,000.

Rideout was sentenced two months in a jail since the daring raid was staged here. Posing as a loan investigator Rideout entered the bank just before closing time, trussed up the employees and made his getaway in a taxi with the loot.

COMMITS SUICIDE

Bethlehem, Common., Aug. 16—J. Howard Rapeer, former New Haven broker, committed suicide here today, a few hours before he was to have surrendered for sentence for an alleged security fraud.

A sentence of from six to 10 years in the prison on a count involving theft of securities valued at $80,000 was imposed by the Supreme Court of errors last week.

SPECTACULAR NOT EXPECTED

LONDON, Aug. 16.—(By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—Reviewing the outcome of the Imperial Conference, the Times today says in an editorial today that the results could never have been spectacular.

"In the belated and most practical way," the Times declares, "they will consist of a series of international agreements, bilateral and some multi-lateral, for the extension of trade between the countries of the empire, with a prevailing tendency to do this by preference, where it is possible so far as Great Britain is concerned, and by the Dominions' natural products being given fairly adequate Great Britain so far as the Dominions are concerned.

"There is nothing to regret," declares the times, "that this involves an effort to reach reciprocal compensation to the advantages. It is in its supreme result that the conference steadily refused to be diverted by phrases from grappling with facts."

The British delegation at Ottawa, the Times says, "has come here in an extraordinarily strong mood, maintaining the resistant marking all the people of the country who realize that they are not merely comprised the interest of the United Kingdom but became welded more and more each year to those beyond the seas. The simple truth is that no more competent delegation ever represented Great Britain across the sea. We owe far more than could have been foreseen a year ago to the creation of the National Government."

50 CATTLE IS TOO BIG FINE GOES TO WAR

WINDHOEK, Southwest Africa—Aug. 16.—A swarm of bees won a battle against bombing airplanes and armored cars near here yesterday. The bees, owned by Chief Itumbu, a rebellious native chief in the Ovambo tribe was bombed by aeroplanes and the armored cars moved up to the attack.

Itumbu escaped by removing his fancy straw hat, a conspicuous leg ornament, but the bees attacked their enemy and battled with the soldiers.

The chief was fined 10 head of cattle yesterday by a magistrate on a mission station. When it was ascertained he had no head he said it was too much and prepared for war.

JAIL TERMS NOT SERVED

Find Women Convicted Do Not go to Jail

Montreal, Aug. 16—Evidence that certain women convicted and sentenced to short terms at magistrates' courts had not served their sentences at all—apparently not even a day—is reported to have been uncovered by Provincial Detective Montreal police officer, who is probing the machinery of Recorder's Court.

Detective Dufresne is extending his investigation to all phases of the Recorder's Court procedure. Police officials have been suspended following the discovery that seven women convicted to keeping disorderly houses had paid penalties to serve jail terms and while officially registered on court dockets as having "in prison" actually been at liberty.

The police director is conferring with officials of Bordeaux jail, checking up on the possibility of the evasion game having been played also by certain men convicted in Recorder's Court and sentenced to jail for keeping gambling and betting houses.

ORTHODOX RABBIS CONVENE IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 16—About 50 Rabbis from various parts of Canada and the United States met today at the 36th annual convention of Hebrew Orthodox Rabbis of America. Rabbi Jacob Mendelson of Newark, N.J., first vice president of the assembly, presided.

The agenda of the two-day session included discussions of the spread of "Hitlerism" in Germany; persecution of Jews in some European countries; stricter enforcement of dietary laws, repeal of the prohibition amendment in the United States and problems relating to Jewish religious matters.

22 DROWNED IN WRECK

Marseilles, France, Aug. 16 — 22 men are feared to have drowned in the reported sinking of a fast dispatch boat in the air mail service to South Africa on Saturday.

NO QUEBEC SCHOOLS CLOSED FOR ECONOMY

Montreal, Aug. 16 (CP)— Premier L. A. Taschereau gave formal assurance here today that no schools in the Province of Quebec will be closed this winter for lack of funds.

"No doubt some municipalities are in a sorry plight just now in their finances," the Premier declared later said, "because they cannot collect their taxes, particularly in the colonization regions. This is not the first time that it happens, but today as in the past, the government is in a position to assure the opening of the schools in every section of the province and will see to it that it is done."

Has Taken Swim Every Day for 49 Yrs Natator Learned to Swim 70 Yrs Ago

Toronto, Aug. 16—A powerful swimmer years before any present day marathoners were born, Charles Hudson, a veteran Englishman who has resided in Toronto for 50 years, is a holder of a water record.

The aged natator who learned to swim 70 years ago when 10 years of age has had a swim every day for 49 years and at least once a week during the past year. A mile jaunt in the frigid waters of Lake Ontario is a plunge to cool back in a hardly enough exercise for the bear octogenarian who has been duckings pedals for miles on a Bigcle.

Mounties Swoop Down Upon Still

Hamilton, Aug. 16—Constables Bird Stuart and Ivan Gore of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police swooped down on the Hamilton suburb of Ancaster, a complete still and a quantity of alcohol. Today in police court Frederick Foden, owner of the premises, faced a charge of possession of the still and one of brewing beer without a license and Geo Filip, a customer, is also charged with possession of the still. Both were remanded until Thursday.

MOTHER AND BABY GETS 10 YEARS

Woman Convicted of Manslaughter in Death of Child Born Out of Wedlock

Toronto, Aug. 16—Mrs. Ethel Mary Dick, 28, was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary by Mr. Justice Wright in the Supreme Court today after she had been convicted of manslaughter in the death of her baby born out of wedlock.

Mrs. Dick was found guilty by the jury of killing the baby by throwing it into the Don River on the night of March 31 last.

Mrs. Dick's counsel, Hartley Dewart, K.C., asked for leniency on the ground that the woman had been driven to the act by the fear of disgrace.

Mr. Justice Wright said that he could not overlook the fact that the woman had killed her baby in cold blood.

Coal Corporations Being Established in United States

Washington, Aug. 16—The reconstruction corporation is expediting plans for 12 regional agricultural credit corporations to make loans to farmers and stockmen.

Indications are that the corporations will announce their initial programme for creating the agencies for extending the $300,000,000 relief bill.

Under the act, each institution is to have a paid up capital of

ROADS ARE BEING REPAIRED IN CITY

Cold-mix patching of semi-permanent roads throughout the city is being carried out by employees of the department of public works. This mixture, composed of fine gravel and asphalt, thoroughly mixed, is declared to be far superior for permanent repairs to roads and concrete work throughout the city than any other mixture yet used. Considerable quantities of the material is being used this week in the downtown sections.

SIAMESE SCABIOUS SEEN IN GARDEN

Nature lovers and horticulturists in the city still fine odd specimens of plant life in odd corners of their gardens. Freak dahlias, two-headed blooms of other sorts, and the Siamese twins have been clipped and treasured. Today's specimen which has been reported comes from the garden of Mrs. Cathcart, 50 Dundas Street, who found a Siamese Scabious, with two complete blooms on a double stem which had grown together. The two heads of the flower although merged are plainly discernible. Unusual and beautiful coloring of the plant is also visible in the tiny petals.

CITY HYDRANTS ARE INSPECTED

Waterworks department employees after being occupied on the work for some time, have completed semi-annual inspection of all hydrants in the city. Only a few minor repairs have had to be effected to two or three of the hydrants, while the majority of them have needed only minor adjustments. A few of the hydrants have been moved to new locations to escape increasing city traffic.

WILLIAM MAHON ESCAPES AGAIN

The local police were informed of the escape of two inmates of the Victoria Industrial School at Olinico early Tuesday morning. One of the boys, William Mahon, was reported to have escaped some two weeks ago from the same institution but was later captured. Mahon is an ex-Belleville resident and is described as being a Malistic. His parents are now living in Sarnia. The other escaped youth was Steve Savitch of Oshawa. Both lads were reported to have been wearing grey trousers and blue shirts.

CORN-BORERS ON INCREASE HERE

Decided decrease in the numbers of corn borers in that section has been noted by workers of the Dominion Parasitic Laboratory who have been combatting the pest with this aid of imported parasites which have been combatting the pest with this central section and Prince Edward Co. Now corn, state officials of the local laboratory, is practically free from the corn borer so far in the sections which have been visited by them. No letup in the work of exterminating the borer will be made.

Mr. A. P. Baird, chief of the parasitic laboratory, is at present in the Maritime Provinces, engaged in research work dealing with forest insects. He is expected to return to Belleville during the coming week.

NUDE LADS WARNED MUST WEAR SUITS

Nude bathing has invaded Belleville. But the offenders are lads. Some say it is now over.

Press notices have been sent out and read regarding bathers in the nude quite frequently of late from many different centres throughout the world but little heed was ever paid to such in Belleville until Monday afternoon except by the police.

Although Monday afternoon was quiet and serene the local police were informed, about 2 p.m., of the fact that a new and unlawful misdemeanour had invaded Belleville. The local long arm of the law at once swung into action and those responsible for the nudists who were enjoying their fun in the waters of the Moira River at a point west of the bridge on Cooper's dam.

When the police swept down on the nude bathers they pulled a "Houdini" and were conspicuous by their absence. But the police were on their job and confiscated the number of clothes which were lying adjacent under a large elm tree. The unclad were in a predicament and it is reported that when they soon surrendered, one exclaiming "Well you've got us on now."

Upon surrendering to the law the police found a number of boys ranging in age from 12 years old were the offenders. The officers severely reprimanded the boys warning them that any actions would not be tolerated in Belleville and that in future arrests would be made in the courts of bathers in the nude.

NEW RADIO BOARD BEGINS ITS DUTIES

(By The Canadian Press)

CANBERRA, Australia—Australia has entrusted her radio programme to a newly-appointed commission which is to control broadcasting throughout the Commonwealth in much the same manner as the British Broadcasting Corporation functions in Great Britain.

The chairman is to be C. Lloyd Jones, well known Sydney business man and patron of the arts. Other members are R. R. Wettenhall, chancellor of Sydney University, R. B. Orchard, radio entertainment organizer, and Mrs. Claude Couchman, president of the Australian Women's National League.

ON THEIR WAY

Lake Cormorant, Miss., Aug. 16—After three days' delay in Northern Manitoba, Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau and three companions took off from here this morning for Lac du Bonnet, Man., next stop on their flight to Prince Rupert, B.C., on a round-the-world trip that will take them back to Berlin by the end of next month, via Tokyo and Soviet Russia.

You're not to offer something different now, in pictures and books as well as the theatre. —George M. Cohan.

LATE JOHN ROSEBUSH

STIRLING, Aug. 16.—(Special)—The funeral of the late Mr. John Rosebush, Percian Raid, veteran of 1866 was held at his last residence Mill street on Sunday afternoon, August 14th, the service being conducted by Rev. D. A. McKenzie of St. Andrew's Church. Burial was in the absence of his pastor, Rev. A. N. Reid, B.A., Mr. Charles Alley was the pianist and the service of song was led by Meadames R. W. Merkijohl and E. Rollins. Hymns "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide with Me" favorites of deceased were sung. After reading of Scripture, Rev. McKenzie took as his text Deut. 33-27 "The Eternal God is Thy Refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms" and spoke most comfortingly to the bereaved ones.

On the casket which was draped with the Union Jack were placed the deceased's bayonet, three bands his military cap and a sheaf of gladioli. On his breast was pinned his long-service medal for forty-eight years in succession, he had attended Barrisfield Camp, twenty-years of that time spent as camp cook.

The only surviving Fenian Raid veteran in this District or perhaps in the province Mr. Samuel Good of Hungerford was present as a mourner. Members of his old 6th Regiment with the exception of Mr. Samuel Bowl (a close neighbour), acted as pall-bearers, viz:—Messrs. Mitchell, Sam Thurlow, Fred McKee, Sergt. Coutts, Ed. Morrow, James Stout, all five served in camp with him.

The floral bearers were as follows:—

Girl Guides:

Lenora Ward, Joan Monroe, Olive Munroe, Pearl Stapley, Ruby Stapley, Phyllis Mitchell.

Boy Scouts:

Don Ward, Fred Joblin, Arthur Gould, Kenneth Holmes, Wallace Cooke.

The floral tributes which bore silent testimony to the highest respect and love in which deceased was held, were as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Rosebush, Foshoro; Mrs. David Martin, Walkerville; Mrs. John Rosebush, Mr. and Mrs. Rose Rosebush, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lusey, Madeline, Marie, Bob and Douglas Lusey (great-grand children); Mr. and Mrs. Morley Ayrtart, Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foster and family; Stirling Branch of Canadian Legion, Miss Camilla Pipher, Ringwood; Mrs. R. Beacock.

At the cemetery after Rev. D. A. McKenzie had committed the remains to the grave by prayer, a firing squad composed of the following men—Sergt.-Major Dalnard, Gunner J. Wrathall and Privates A. Gordonier, W. Simpson, W. Mosher, W. Crawford, members of the Canadian Legion fired three volleys and Buglers Ward, Bugler, sounded the "Last Post" and the "Reveille" and the procession retired from the cemetery. The firing squad, Canadian Legion, Girl Guides, Boy Scouts, the local L.O.L. No. 110 (who had just held their Decoration Service at the graves), the latter having Spencer's Kittle Band in attendance led the procession to the Cemetery gate. The Last Post and Reveille was sounded by Bugler Ward and the procession then proceeded to the L.O.L. rooms.

Among the ex-service men in attendance were noticed Col. D. Green, Bayside, Col. Adger, Stirling, Major D. C. Donnan, Belleville, James Mitchell C. R. Basteds and

HITLER SPEAKS FOR 1ST TIME

Believe Followers Would Not Have Understood Action

Munich, Germany, Aug. 16—The first statement by a German Government under Chancellor Franz Von Papen is useless, Adolf Hitler National Socialist Chief, said here today.

The statement was Hitler's first personal utterance since his refusal last Saturday to enter the cabinet in a secondary role. "My followers would never have understood it if I had accepted the vice-chancellorship suggested by President Von Hindenburg," he said.

He declined to indicate what his further course would be, beyond asserting that the Nazis would oppose the Government. "As to the fate of the Von Papen Cabinet," he said, "that is something about which the Chancellor himself must bother his head. We know how we are going to continue our fight. We will allow no support any government as long as the National Movement is helped and the Marxist (Communist) Movement is weakened.

"When the Government seeks to help the National cause we oppose it sharply. Even a dictatorship can be erected only if it is rooted in the will of the masses of the people. The recent elections showed clearly in what direction Germany's will tends."

NO BLAME ATTACHED

LEARNS TO RIDE BY COASTING

Stunt Causes Minor Injuries to 11 Year Old Boy

Learning to ride a bicycle by coasting down the hill on North Front Street, early Monday evening through the traffic, resulted in minor injuries to 11 year old Frederick Searles, of North Front Street, and the loss of a rear wheel of the bike, when he was struck by a motor car just as he attempted to turn off the street into a connecting road. The boy was said to have temporarily lost control of the bicycle when it headed directly into the path of the approaching motor car which had been travelling north. Fortunately the driver of the car had foreseen the accident and had braked his machine almost to a stop, when the front fender of the car struck the bicycle, knocked the boy to the ground and stopped with one front wheel resting on the rear wheel of the bicycle. The boy retrieved the somewhat decrepit and knocked-out of shape bicycle and after asserting to the driver of the car and companions with him that he was not hurt. Boyish companions helped that the bicycle had no brakes.

NORTH HASTINGS

CARMEL LADIES' AID ENTERTAINS

Rawdon, Aug. 16—On Thursday evening, August 11th, nearly seventy Mount Pleasant folk journeyed to Carmel to spend a social evening. The programme was put on by Mount Pleasant W.M.S. and the Sunbeam Mission Band and was a most enjoyable one.

At 8.30 p.m. Mrs. Ashley Brooks, President of Carmel Ladies' Aid, called the gathering to order and all sang "Far and Near." Rev. F. Tomlin offered prayer and the 23rd psalm was repeated in unison. Mrs. Arthur Pryer read the minutes and called the Roll. Mrs. O. Hoard gave the financial report. Mrs. Brooks welcomed the visitors in a gracious manner and then Mrs. Ross Hoard, 1st vice president of M. P. W.M.S., presided over very capably. After singing "Whosoever Will" a prayer hymn offered for the Master and its needs, I do not Pray," was read in unison.

Mrs. Allen Bailey gave a short talk on the subject "What has the Missionary Society done for me?" Miss Edna Thrasher sang a pretty solo, "The Story the Dear Mother Sang to Me." Mrs. Arthur Phillips read a helpful, Mrs. Thirlenith Pluce.

The junior male quartette composed of Messrs John Coggins, Herbert Hagar, Stanley Melville and David Bell sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and later in the programme "The Church in the Wildwood," a dialogue "Why are we absent from a Missionary Magazine?" was impersonated by Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Misses E. MacMullen and Marguerite White. Miss Bessie MacMullen introduced the characters.

Miss B. Locke sang a very appropriate solo "Teach Me to Pray." Mrs. Roy Thrasher gave a splendid talk on the Study Book, "Korea the Land of Dawn."

After singing one verse of "Oh the World Needs Missionaries for Christ," the Pastor Rev. Fred Johnson gave a short address, eulogizing the work accomplished by the women through the Ladies' Aid and the Missionary Society and also spoke of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the "women's Suffrage movement."

Mrs. Fredk Bell gave a reading "The Daily Interview," Miss Francis McKeown rendered a pleasing piano solo entitled "Where We are Men", was given by four of the M. Band boys, Percy and Ray White, M. Sharp and Douglas McAdam.

A duet "Open the Door for the Children," was rendered by Misses Mildred and Gladys Sharp.

Mrs. Thomas McKeown gave a reading "Aunt Charlotte's Street."

Mrs. George Weaver read a leaflet "Our Stewardship of Personality." Mrs. L. C. Loche sang "His Grace is Sufficient for Thee." The accompanists were Misses D. McConnell, Betty Loche, Francis McKeown and Edna Thrasher.

This closed the visitors' performance and Rev. Fred Johnson in hearty vote of thanks was tendered by Mrs. Pryer and Mrs. H. Hobbis. Mrs. Brooks closed the meeting with one verse of "Blest Be the Tie," and then all repaired to the spacious dining hall where a sumptuous lunch of sandwiches, cookies cakes and tarts was served by the hostesses. After all had done justice to the good things provided the pastor tendered to the Ladies' Aid the thanks of the visitors for the very kind invitation, and Mr. A. Bailey seconded the motion, followed by hearty applause.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sharp, Misses Olive McConnell, Francis McKeown and Mr. Carleton Potts attended the West Huntingdon lawn social on Wednesday evening with Miss Mc Connell assisted with the program.

Mr. and Mrs Allan Sharp visited Mr. and Mrs. Eastwood on Sunday.

Imperial Conference Car Held by Police, Delegate Hires a Ta

Montreal, Aug. 16—Automobile No. 4 of the official Imperial Conference fleet was seized near Victoria Bridge, its driver held and three passengers—a man and two young women—released after questioning. Their names are withheld by the police.

And while police were looking for the car, a distinguished delegate to the conference was riding home from a week-end trip in a hired taxicab.

Private Donner is the regular driver of car No. 4. Police refused to name the driver held here.

The car with its special license marker, "Imperial Economic Conference, Ottawa," disappeared from Lucerne Saturday. Its disappearance was not noticed immediately by its distinguished passengers.

Police had been providing all possible traffic concessions for the luxuriant car with the special plates until the order came today to seize it.

OBITUARY

EMERY S. PINKLE

Mrs. C. H. Garrison, of Bayside, received the following clipping from a Santa Barbara, Cal., newspaper: "Emery S. Pinkle died this morning in a local hospital. He was born in Ontario, Canada, 74 years ago and had been a resident of California for the past forty-six years, thirty-two of which had been spent in Santa Barabar. His wife died in Los Angeles, seventeen years ago. Mr. Pinkle made his home here with a daughter, Mrs. Paul H. Shubert, of 1232 North Nogal Street. He leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Leslie Sears, of Oakland, and Mrs. B. S. Chase, of Los Angeles; three sons, Harry and Stanley Pinkle of Oakland and Fred Pinkle of this city. Mr. Pinkle was a member of the First Methodist Church and of the Independent Order of Foresters. Funeral services will be announced later. "And now God has him back again, This gentle soul who dared To sense the sufferings of men And lived as though he cared. And he will find where all is known The abyss and heartaches not his own."

Note:—Emery Pinkle was born in Hungerford and was the son of Henry Pinkle. Before going to California he lived for some time on the Front of Sidney and was well known by many residents of Belleville and vicinity. Besides the family in California he leaves in Canada, two sisters and two brothers who mourn his passing. The sisters are Mrs. Pearsall, of Barrie and Mrs. C. H. Garrison of Bayside and two brothers, Abel Pinkle of Sidney and Pinkle of Belleville. Mr. Pinkle's wife was Miss Mary Ryder, sister of Mr. Dan Ryde of Belleville.

LATE MRS. JOSEPH E. BARKER

The funeral of the late Mrs. Joseph E. Barker was held Monday afternoon from her late residence in Latta. The Rev. D. Hill of Roslin conducted the services at the home and also at the graveside in Victoria cemetery. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbours present from throughout the comiyside, to pay their last tribute of respect to an esteemed neighbor, and evince their sympathy for the large family bereaved in Mrs. Barker's passing. The numerous beautiful floral offerings further bore out these sentiments.

The bearers were Messrs T. Latta A. Parks, W. VanAlian, F. Hall, A Hall and W. Hall.

BRITAIN FACES COTTON STRIKE

Blackburn, Eng., Aug. 16—Britain's vast cotton industry was threatened with a strike which would involve almost 500,000 operatives.

The central board of the Northern Counties Textile Trade Federation decided to close on August 27 unless the existing dispute over a new wage agreement is settled.

The walk-out was scheduled for 12 days hence in order that the employers might have an opportunity to make new proposals. Thus the door to peace was left open.

Negotiations have been going on since December when the mill owners announced they intended to terminate the agreement on wages and hours under which the industry has been operating for a decade.

Luke Bates, secretary of the Federation, said there was no alternative except to strike unless more reasonable proposals were forthcoming.

The Ministry of Labor announced in London that forecasts asserting the government intended to change its unemployment insurance were unauthorized and inaccurate. The Royal Commission investigating this problem has come to no final decision, it was said, and no steps have been taken by the government toward new legislation.

McNAUGHTON BEAT FRIEND

Vancouver, Aug. 15—The Vancouver boy who won Canada's only victory in the track and field sports at the Olympic Games, Duncan McNaughton, is home relaxing after accomplishing one of the greatest upsets of the Los Angeles meet—his triumph in the high jump.

Duncan, a member of the Olympic final pitted McNaughton against one of his best friends, a fellow-University of California student, Van Cedel. McNaughton did all his training with Van and it was with his help he made the university team and finally won the California championship with a new Intercollegiate record. The state

"It was hard to beat your own pal for a championship like that," Dunc said today.

McNaughton will remain in the city until early in September when he will leave again for California to resume his studies.

Walker May Resign Then be Candidate

Philadelphia, Aug. 16—The Philadelphia Record says it learned yesterday from responsible sources that James J. Walker will resign as Mayor of New York within the next few days—before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt can accept the nomination.

The Record intimated that, after resigning, Walker may be a candidate to succeed himself.

If the Mayor resigns, the paper says, he will give as his reason that "under the laws it is not possible for him to get the fair hearing which he deserves."

Regular armies will not fight the wars of the future; whole nations will fight them. — General James G. Harbord.

ECLIPSING TRAFFIC

1932 eclipse of the sun is to have an angle that was never experienced in any other eclipse. When the sun darkened as it would with the full moon, in ancient days the masses of the people became alarmed and terror-stricken as fowl went to roost and the blackness of life seemed to halt for nighttime.

But this is all gone except in the savage parts of the world! The eclipse is not visible in savage lands and so there will not be the terror of an unscientific age but the birds and fowls in Quebec will go to roost.

The trouble in Quebec cities is to be a very modern problem, street traffic. With night of eclipse upon the province the streets will become congested and there is danger of injury, according to McGill University professors who have urged shifting of the eclipse a half holiday for the thirty first day of August so as to prevent accident. Lighting will destroy much of the effect of the eclipse but it will prevent accidents.

SLEEP

In this summertime when being awake is so fine an experience the question of the length of time required for sleep may seem out of place but really it is in place. There is a tendency to cut down on the hours of rest during this period.

The Galt Reporter devotes an editorial to the question of the amount of time required for repair of the body and nerves. It says:

"Today the percentage of people who retire to bed at nine in the evening is small, except perhaps in remote rural districts where tedious toil makes it necessary to utilize all available hours for sleep. Medical men, however, still lay importance upon the advantage of adequate rest. How many hours of the twenty-four should it be?

"Actual experiments convinced scientists that the first few hours of the day are not productive in mental work and that muscular efforts are apt to be more clumsy in the early morning than later in the day. They found men and women who can work and think faster and better late at night than early in the morning.

"Like most adages, this old saying reflects the conditions and opinions of the time of its creation. Its author lived in the day when man lighted his nocturnal way with candles and, because of this scarcity and high cost, found it necessary to teach and practice economy in their use. Then, more than now, frugality was synonymous with wisdom.

"We doubt the old adage was designed to promote the other virtues. Early to bed precluded all patronage of what passed for the night of that day and meant no buggy riding with the reins wrapped around the whip. Virtue is admirable and desirable, but practicing it for its own reward was never widespread and is more so then than today. Therefore the hope of health, wealth and wisdom had to be used as a decoy to win adherence to the virtuous habit of retiring and rising early.

"The average person who habitually neglects the function of sleep by keeping late hours is rewarded with a premium of the shortcoming by physical exhaustion, nervousness and other symptoms that give unmistakable warning to the individual to fairly start in trusting to nature in this regard. If he is so constructed mentally and physically that he can get along with phenomenally little sleep he is an exception. There have been famous cases of such capacity, but eight or nine hours of sleep are generally needed to fit the average man in which nature can restore the wear and tear of the working day and it is risky to disregard such a schedule for long."

COMMENT

A British dentist at the Empire Dental meeting in Toronto declared that sugar and candy do not cause so much harm to teeth as cookies. But most Belleville children have been so grounded in the belief that sugar and candy have been the cause of those terrible aches they used to have that they are content to give candy the credit for the nerve-wracking experience.

Canadian banks are growing old. In banks this means strength and stability of the country. The bank of Nova Scotia is celebrating its centenary and ten years ago the Bank of Montreal marked its hundredth anniversary.

Sir Henry F. Dickens, retiring from the judgeship at Old Bailey, London, advised young people once having chosen a profession to follow it with all one's might. Sir Henry doubtless saw the truth of this is many court experiences with persons who did not follow their jobs with all their might, many of them loafing on their choice or thinking they had made a mistake with the result that they achieve nothing but failure.

NOT SO LONG AGO a large houseboat shaped craft used to move up and down the St. Lawrence river, stopping at various ports on the U.S. side, known as "The Auction Boat." The craft carried a varied assortment of goods which were auctioned off at each port visited, and the floating merchandise did a brisk business. The Auction Boat was owned by Capt. Andrew A. Leyare, of Alexandria Bay, Clayton and Ogdensburg, one of those business adventurers who refuse to be confined by conventional lines. Now word has come from New York City that Captain Leyare has purchased "The Joy Boat" which he will operate as a theatre along the Atlantic coast. "The Joy Boat" is the former United States naval transport Mahanna which he hopes to convert into "the greatest show boat on earth." It will have a theatre seating fifteen hundred persons, a ballroom, a ferris wheel, and a glass-enclosed dance hall, and will be towed by a tug. "Show Boats" have long been familiar on the Mississippi river, and a few have operated along the Atlantic Coast line giving fishing communities mellowdramer of the robust type, but never anything as ambitious as "The Joy Boat" with which Capt. Leyare hopes to carry high class entertainment into many lonely coves and winding rivers running down to the sea.

HOMEMADE CAKE lifted a man from a park bench and put him on easy street in a human interest story told by O. O. McIntyre, whose interesting stories of daily life in the great city of New York make interesting reading. The man in question having been out of work for some time spent most of his time on a park bench gazing at the fleecy clouds and wondering if it weren't better to end it all than to continue to suffer the slings and arrows of misfortune. His wife could see that while she would make an epicure yell with delight and she wondered if something could not be done about it. As a result she bought a cook book, picked a batch of cakes and started her husband out selling them to the employees of department stores for lunches. Novel idea? Not in the past, but he is paid and money worries have been smoothed away—their bakery employs sixteen and they have two motor delivery wagons.

A lover of music, who had been to hear one of the great operas, was expatiating upon its beauties to an unresponsive friend, who did not appear to be interested. The music-lover was hurt. "Look here," he protested, "don't you think music is of some practical benefit in life?" "Oh, yes!" said the unresponsive one. "Judging from the portraits I have seen of eminent musicians, especially pianists, I should say that music is a splendid thing to keep the hair from falling out!"

MODESTY OF FEMININES RETURNING?

Women Says Experts Tend to go too Much to Extremes

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

Modesty always has been considered one of the romantic assets. To be sure, wisely constituted modesty differed, and still does, in different countries. Comparatively recently Turkish women wore the veil. The idea was that the face betrays the emotions more than any other part of the body and hence is a most intimate part. Savages never cover the breasts. Practically nude bathing suits between opposite sexes is not considered immodest in some countries. And so it goes!

So far as dress is concerned it seemed for a time that many American and European women had thrown modesty to the winds. Especially was this true among the younger set.

Short skirts make a woman look more youthful, even more active and beautiful, but—there were many women who did not think that the limit of shortness could ever be reached.

The trouble is that women tend too much to go to extremes. Slavish followers of fashion, the average woman must look like all other women to be popular. However, if she can make herself conspicuously different, because of modification of the prevailing styles, then she becomes specially happy. Thus the woman who wears her skirt just above the knees in some particular manner is prone to the type of woman who will drag the skirt on the ground in the dance degrees that only the ankle should be seen.

Not only that, but there are many women who would adopt extremes if only her self-respect, also, the mere fact that extremes do not happen to be modest is the only reason for not indulging in them.

Modesty has always acted as a counterbalance to the feminine erotic tendencies. Women is to be do not happen to be becoming is in codes and conduct. Any dedicated modesty entirely from their feminine make-up.

An immodest woman at once loses all her charm, and arouses that indefinable aura of mystery and allurement at one disappears when the body is fully and freely played.

The fewer the facts upon which imagination can build, the more hoped that virtuously many extremely colorful does imagination become—quite as beautiful as the nude eye pictures it as being. Thus, psychologically speaking, immodest dressing defeats its purpose. It sets out to make itself more alluring. It ends in making itself merely cheap and ordinary.

Since modesty no longer is the outstanding female characteristic, many woman are wondering whether personality through the simple expedient of being modest. Modesty will attract more than it did in days than immodestly. It places a woman in the unconscious class. And to be exceptional in the right way is always an asset.

The SIGNAL effect of extremely immodest fashion upon the wearer is also pernicious. She is constantly gaped at with vulgar eyes cannot help influencing her character. It tends to undermine self-respect even. It stresses the physical until it overshadows the finer and more intimate qualities which have always been synonymous with our ideals of womanhood.

Many women who have stuck to her modesty had ever regretted it. Even women should be glad that it is her duty to preserve feminine modesty for every normal woman.

Other Papers' Opinions

MEN DESIRE TO BE SLIM

It might be imagined that women exclusively are concerned with the mania to reduce, writes the London, Eng. is said to be the centre of a campaign against obesity and a slim figure and diet is again the central subject of attention. Clubs in the British metropolis are reported to have inaugurated menus catering to the new craze.

The assumption seems to be general that a large percentage of prosperous men in England would be healthier and feel better if they became more parsimonious in regard to their intake of food. The British father is usually inclined to want good food and plenty of it. Roast beef, heavy puddings, beer and cheese are excellent in their way, but, moderation as to quantity is desirable. In fact there seems to be a worldwide misconception as to the quantity of food that is compatible with good health and the error is largely on the side of overeating. It is mainly because women have succeeded so extraordinarily in the art of preparing food that our cooking provides an irresistible temptation. When people do begin to think seriously of their health, in addition to what they eat, they are likely to become too radical and starve themselves. That is a mistake. Next to being in bad exercise, it must be handled judiciously, and each individual is accustomed to confirmed habits of over-eating. Drastic, sensational changes have occurred that cannot be corrected instantly by a resort to starvation. The change must be accomplished gradually and under competent medical advice.

Even in the matter of exercise there is atrocious judgment by people in middle life. They think they can still maintain the pace that they could at twenty-five and thus we counter those who break down their health or wreck their nervous system by too much exercise, which is just as faulty as too little.

Moderation in everything, eating, exercise, work, is the foundation of comfortable, health and successful living. Too few people are aware of that.—Gait Reporter.

Hydro Pulp Mill Afire Third Time

For the third time this year fire broke out in the Hydro Electric Pulp Mill, Campbellford, causing a quick turnout of the Campbellford Fire Department under Chief C. H. Cunningham. The blaze, which was in the raceway, where logs drop into the crusher, was quickly extinguished however, although a stream of water was kept playing on the wood for some time after as a precautionary measure. Little damage was done and the origin of the fire was thought to be from a spark from the smoke stack.

40 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 16, 1883

Two midnight prowlers have been causing a great deal of annoyance to the residents of Murney Ward recently. Last night they stole a quantity of vegetables from Mr. H. B. Fairbairn's garden. Two parties are suspected and they will be watched by the police.

Miss Maggie Meredith, who has been officiating as organist of Bridge Street Church during the temporary absence of Miss Jones, has been appointed organist of Murney Street Methodist Church, in the place of Mr. McMurray, who has joined a concert company in the United States.

Mr. Charles Lavis, who accompanied Mr. James Gordon to England three weeks ago, has returned to the city.

Mr. H. Bleecker has returned home today from Old Orchard Beach.

Relax for a moment and turn the pages of your newspaper at the advertisements of how you'll make your shopping plans. Do you need a dress, or a coat, or a hat? Perhaps a new blanket for a guest-room, some curtain material, or even a few new pots and pans for the kitchen? Of course, there are many things you want and need . . . but you may be letting some of them wait until you see in a store or a window exactly what you have in mind in an especially alluring price.

Those are the very things you will find in advertisements. Attractive articles, new and improved ones, prices that make quick action an economy. Think how many steps it can save you to hunt out these things, and find them, in comfort at home! If a special opportunity is offered you'll know about it in time. When new articles are announced, you can have them before they are the least bit out of date. And you can save hours of waiting and asking, miles of steps—and money, too!

These are but a few of the ways the advertisements in your newspapers can serve you. If you read them every day, you are sure to grow wise in the ways of purchasing . . . and saving.

ECLIPSE TO BRING TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Montreal, Aug. 16—Steps to ensure the safety of the citizens of Montreal and the Province of Quebec during the period of the total eclipse of the sun on August 31, those now living to watch total eclipse of the sun, at least in the matter of traffic, are being taken by McGill University here. In the area affected by the total eclipse there will be pale light, equivalent to that of a night during full moon.

A man cannot administer great responsibilities which employ armies of clerks and roads hence will be necessary at traffic is to be carried out in safety. On the other hand, it is distracted by huge speculative was explained, much of the effect transactions.—Walter Lippmann.

Belleville's Electric Pulp Mill, Campbellford, causing a quick turnout of the Campbellford Fire Department under Chief C. H. Cunningham. The blaze, which was in the raceway, where logs drop into the crusher, was quickly extinguished however, although a stream of water was kept playing on the wood for some time after as a precautionary measure. Little damage was done and the origin of the fire was thought to be from a spark from the smoke stack.

ADVERTISING
to Save . . . through Spending

Not many of us, these days, are troubled with so much money that we cannot spend it. But we ARE interested in spending the money we have, to get the most out of it.

One way—and not a new way, either—is to make a budget. Put down, week by week, the money that comes in. Put down beside it, week by week, the money that goes out. So much for food, so much for clothing, so much for rent. So much for giving, and for luxuries.

It won't always be easy, of course, to stay within the budget. That's where advertising helps you. Advertisements in this newspaper tell you how much rugs, butter, breakfast foods, dishes, homes, automobiles will cost, BEFORE you go shopping! They point out ways to save money. They show you how to cut a little here, a little there. And each day, they tell about new inventions, new products, new ways of doing things, that help make this life of ours very much worth living.

Kingston Ponies Auspiciously Open New Grounds With 16-1 Victory Over Nats in Play Off

Jamieson Still Holds Indian Sign Over Locals

BARRAGE OF HITS

Four Homers And Four Doubles Propelled by Ponies

Befitting the occasion, the Kingston Ponies opened their new baseball park on Monday evening when they liberally trod over the Belleville Nationals in the first game of the C.O.A.B.L. final series by the score of 16 to 1.

The league leading Ponies merely had an "on day" and at the expense of the Nationals, especially Carl Casey and Alex Weir, they took advantage of their prowess by clouting the ball high up and far away to nearly every corner of the new ball park.

Although the Nationals fell badly by the wayside in the first game of the league play-offs, they are not discouraged, but as was agreed on the National bench after the game—"we'll knock those birds off the pedestal the unanimous feelings expressed by all the Nat. players.

Carl Casey was Manager Gerow's choice for mound duty and although he was not up to form on every pitch it was just not his day and he was relieved in the ninth by relief from Alex Weir in the service. Manager Gerow should be well chose his ace hurler "Yammy" Jamieson to pitch the important league leaders and he once again baffled the Belleville National batters although he was touched for nine hits his offerings for nine hits. Although the Nationals got two held the Nationals at bay he struckout but three times in a row. Jamieson's record shows that the power of the Kingston club is not to be denied but we feel sure so exemplified in their defensive inner works. After the game had been completed we could say Morrow, the Ponies new hurler, relieved Jamieson, the former management squeezing him in in the ofing when Jamieson failed to qualify him for the O.B.A.A. playdowns, that is if they get into them.

Ponies Played Well.

The Ponies played good ball both defensively and offensively while the Nationals committed errors of omission and commission in the field and at bat continuously throughout the entire nine innings. Try as they might the Nationals could not seem to strike their batting eye and when the second game is played at the Fair Grounds on Wednesday an entirely different story will be told. Manager Gerow announced after the game the Kingston ball club would send his elongated left hand hurler, Irving Pulmer, in against the leaguelesding Ponies. Providing that Pulmer is in the right box the Nationals should even up the series, when the two teams meet in the second game of the C.O.A.B.L. playoffs at Belleville Wednesday afternoon.

Jake Quinn, the third baiter on the Pony batting order opened the scoring in the initial frame, when he slapped the horse hide far flung deep left center for a home run. Jake Quinn goes the honor of hitting the first home run on the new Kingston baseball park. In the second frame Jimmy Arnold and Jack Goodfellow Jimmy Arnold hit one high up and far away into left field and the other homes run scoring Stone ahead of him. Again in the fourth frame Stone singled and later scored on McQuade's four base blow. The sixth frame proved to be the undoing of the Nationals and Carl Casey, when the Ponies batters ran amok and scored eight runs. Errors both of judgment and of commission were responsible for the Nationals and at times it looked as though the Ponies were going to get the side out. In the eighth innings the ponies added another two counters, when Bert Vince clouted the ball for a four bagger to Jamieson on the paths. The Nationals scored their lone counter in the third innings, when Weir singled to Wilson, double by Cuccinello and Logan and two bad fumbles by Piet and Vaughan. Six hits in all was all the Nationals had enough. Harris came in to pass Shaute and slow Taylor, up for the second time to single. Schipp's sacrifice scored one more and O'Doul's single accounted for the last tallie.

For the Pirates, who boasted a healthy lead in the race a few weeks ago, it was their first defeat in 15 games. The collapse of the pitching staff and some erratic play by the infield, especially by Vaughan, has proved costly.

The Kingston-Pittsburgh affray was the only game played in the Major League, all other clubs having an off day.

DODGERS ARE REAL THREAT

Defeat Pirates in First Game of Crucial Series 11-6

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

First blood in the crucial series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates rested with the Dodgers and second place in the National League today. The count: a fe weeks ago. was only half a game away from Max Carey's charges today.

The Dodgers piled up nine runs in the first inning of their battle with the Cornairs yesterday and coasted into an 11-6 victory in their 20th in 25 games. Not only are the Dodgers a real threat but step ahead but the league-leading Chicago Cubs are moving to be the undoing of the Nationals and Carl Casey, when the Ponies ran rampant and scored eight runs. Errors both of judgment and of commission were responsible for the Nationals and at times it looked as though the Ponies were going to get the side out. In the eighth innings the ponies added another two counters, when Bert Vince clouted the ball for a four bagger to Jamieson on the paths. The Nationals scored their lone counter in the third innings, when Weir singled to Wilson, double by Cuccinello and Logan and two bad fumbles by Piet and Vaughan. SENATORS ARE NOW IN FIGHT

Have Played Real Ball Since Moving to Albany

(By the Associated Press)

Those newcomers to the International League, the Albany Senators are starting to make such trouble they may soon come to be recognized as a major menace to the peace of mind of the league's old guard.

A combination of effective pitching and timely batting has carried the Senators to seven victories in the eight games since the franchise was transferred to Albany.

Lyggie Barnhart pitched five-hit ball for the Senators last night and Albany will hold the lead it has in a close well fought battle. Earl Cook held the Albany nine to seven innings and went into the ninth with a 5-1 lead as a result of Jack Rothrock's home run in the fourth inning. But he weakened in the ninth and Albany batted over five runs. Toronto rallied for two runs in the ninth but Barnhart spiked the brakes. He struck out 10 men and walked only one.

The Montreal Royals evened the series with Jersey City, 8 to 5, in the only other game played yesterday. The Royals pounded Cantwell out of the box with a four run rally in the fifth inning that really decided the game for it gave them a 6 to 1 lead. They added three more in the seventh, two of them coming across on Boy Shirer's homer with Jimmy Ripple on base. Leo Mangum scattered the Skeeters' hits well but they did the least possible damage.

BOWLING

The Belleville Bowling Club greens on William St. presented an animated appearance Monday evening when five rinks from Deseronto and three from Picton were present to play friendly games with the local bowlers. Two other rinks from the local club also played, filling the greens to capacity. Evening-tea planned by the two games of ten ends each. Ideal weather and green condition that were almost perfect.

Knocks and Boosts

Wheeler shot a lucky the Nats lost to Kingston City on Monday night—16 to 1.

The Ponies opened their new ball park very auspiciously, we'd say, they not wisely second. Providing ball" but clouted the deliveries of Carl Casey and Alex Weir to all corners of the new ball park. Four circuit blows were registered during the fracas To "Jake" Quinn classy second baseman of the Ponies, goes the honor of hitting the first home run in the new park.

They have a Diamond in Kingston in which ground rules are needed but we might add right here and now, that the Nationals enjoy a much better ball field.

Well that game is now history and another story will be told after the Wednesday game when Tommy Pulmer will throw his slants against the Kingston Ponies in the second game of the league's series. Providing Pulmer is anywhere near right, he should have little difficulty in turning back the Ponies at the local ball yard on Wednesday afternoon. Manager Gerow has chosen his "Penny Milk" fed, that they have been nicknamed by the league leaders, providing the young Nats, give Pulmer the support he during the series season's play. Most of Wednesday and the fans should have plenty of excitement before the last man is called out.

Pulmer has sprung a surprise in the line of a victory by Wednesday when they took the league leading Picton team to the cleaners and threw them to the tune of 14 to 16. All Pulmer from his league are now a tie having won four games and lost four games. In the playoffs Picton will lead Belleville by the bye while Picton, and Pulmer have yet to engage in the opening game this afternoon at Picton. The day.

Vince meet the winner of this afternoon's game at either Belleville or Picton on Wednesday afternoon when the return game being played at the local ball lot on Thursday evening. Just how it looks now though the Ycs are sitting in the driver's seat.

When the Confidential Life nine hit into the Canada Cement softball league in the third game of the present play-off series of the Ontario softball league they will be slight favorites despite the fact that the Point Anne club did lose a game during the league schedule. The Cement lads" now have a two game margin over their rivals as they won the first two games in the play-off series. The two teams return to the Cricket Field Wednesday for the third game. If the Confidentials win they will be awarded the league championship. The series is the best three out of three games played.

After the severe drubbing which the Oshawa Dukes handed the New Toronto club in the second game of their league play-off it looks as though the winner of the C.O.R.L. will meet the Motor City crew in the first senior O.B.A.A. play-down series. The Motor City crew breezed through to their present position, never having been extended during the entire season's play. Most of the Motor City players are stars in the Central loop and unless they have improved considerably of late, they should be a great threat in the winner of the C.O.R.L.

Another series of punt races have been scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. The races are to take place off Victoria Park and around the triangle course. The races which were staged on Civic Holiday, were so decided success and the lovers of aquatics are looking forward to another day on the bay. Wednesday.

PUNT RACES OFF THE PARK

Youthful Navigators Will Again be at The Helm

Punt races will be the order of the day Wednesday afternoon, off Victoria Park. The second of the series of three races will start around three o'clock and the youthful skippers are hoping for a spanking breeze. Spectators likewise are trusting a brisk wind will be blowing that the sailing ability of craft and navigators may be tested out under different conditions than that prevailed on Civic Holiday afternoon.

FRUIT GIRLS WIN 1ST ONE AFTER FLYING

National Maids Downed 7-5 in Well Played Game

Coming from behind in the final stages of the game, the Belleville Fruit team won the first game of the girls' softball play-off by the score of 7 to 5 over the league leading National Maids at the Ashley Park on Monday night.

The Fruit lassies deserved their win as they played headway ball" all during the game and batted their way to victory. Norma Cooke was on the hilltop for the Fruit girls and although she was touched for five runs in the first three innings, she settled down later to hold the hard hitting Nationals in low and once her team mates started to hit the ball, she also returned to form and held the league leaders at bay.

Opposing her on the hillcop was Shirley Emery and Stewart shared the pitching duties but seemingly could not handle the Fruit girls at bat. Lois Empey was the big hitter for the losers, when she collected two hits in a single. "Mad" Kelcher was the best player on the losing team, especially when she had no less than five put-outs in the field to her credit all were quite difficult catches.

For the winners Lois McGuire, the classy little stop, was the thorn, who made things miserable for the Maids pitcher when she collected five consecutive singles. Jean Blakie and Norma Cooke were the only players to hit for the circuit for the winners, when the ball well over the heads of the Nats in centre field. Helen Smith proved a brilliant performer at short and night handling no less than seven chances in the field.

The same two teams meet again tonight, when the second game of the play-offs gets under way. Manager Gerow has announced he will be awarded the league championship. The series is the best three out of three games played.

TO REOPEN CIVIC REPERTORY THEATRE

(By The Canadian Press)

NEW YORK—After more than a year of inactivity while she did research work among European theatres, Eva Le Gallienne will reopen her civic repertory playhouse here in November.

"Liliom" will be the first play, with Miss Le Gallienne and Joseph Schildkraut in the leads, the same roles they played when the Theatre Guild first presented the Molnar comedy several years ago.

"Liliom" Schildkraut will be the second presentation. Josephine Hutchinson will be featured.

Three other new plays will be added to the civic repertoire, which already includes twenty dramas.

THROWS PAPER FROM MOVING MOTOR COACH

(By The Canadian Press)

LONDON—For throwing a newspaper from a moving motor-coach into the road, Lily Phillips of London was fined $2 by Dr. Ashford Kent, magistrates recently. The summons, under a Kent County Council By-Law was for depositing the paper in the public highway, "so as to be likely injuriously to affect the public amenities of the highway."

SHOOT LIONS AFTER FLYING INTO CONGO

Expect to Make Trip to Jungle And Back in 14 Days

QUICK TRIP

London (by the Canadian Press) —Expeditions are now being organized in which big-game hunters, by travelling to and from Africa by air save weeks in comparison with surface transport.

Nairobi, in the heart of the big-game country, is only seven days from London by the regular air route.

Hitherto, the exigencies of time, owing to the length of the journeys involved, have limited most visitors to Africa to the leisured few. But the cost of the African air mail now solves the problem of the modern sportsman who wishes to reach, and shoot, in the big game land as quickly as possible.

A series of organized parties have been arranged for sportsmen thrywould be able to reach Nairobi by airway to the heart of Africa, and specially equipped 'planes are already at all being worked into general travel schemes. From Brussels will start monthly hunting trips by air to the Belgian Congo, the out-and-home journey to be made along the airways African route, being accomplished in seven days, the time occupied by the trip in one direction only, made up from four stages. On an expedition lasting for a total of 60 days the hunting period would be, with thanks to the speed of the 'plane, able to spend 45 days in the heart of the game country, without wasted journeys. The cost of the sportsmen's guns and revolvers will be the only item of expense over the air-liners, and also the transport back to England of any specimens of the chase.

Joining the airway on their outward journey from London, the hunters fly across the Mediterranean and from Tripoli, Mussolini's capital, start one of the Central African airlines to the Congo by motor convoy which transports them to the Congo airway terminal. Each expedition completed, they rejoin the airway at some convenient point on the way out for the journey covered by air and land is about 6,000 miles.

Speed is not the only advantage of the airway when traversing Africa. A wealth of interesting wild life from the air. Recently, for example, during a flight from Kano to Uganda, the King of the Belgians obtained, along the Congo airway, a herd of 200 Malakal, some magnificent views of the game and the natural surroundings. From the windows of his air saloon he saw buffalo, giraffe and herds of elephants numbering nearly 1,000 animals; and it is interesting to note that on this journey, though the pilot steered low over the elephants, not one of the herd, however, they did not stampede or charge. The noise of the 'plane disturbed by the passage of the aircraft above.

PORTABLE SETS HELP POLICE

Can be Carried Around in The Vest Pocket

London (by the Canadian Press) —Portable wireless receiving sets will add a powerful weapon to the police equipment in a short time, final tests of the new device for detecting motor bandits recently with pocket sets. A wireless set can be carried in the pocket of the person of a constable and it will communicate with the nearest receiving station. The apparatus weighs less than two pounds and measures six inches by 4½ by 1¼ inches.

The test took place on the main London road at the Brighton boundary. Police officials and officials and officials of the company which has developed the apparatus. A police sergeant wore a special tunic, made to order for the test, and receiving set fitted with a bell and apparatus rather like a telephone receiver and a system of wires which provide the necessary connections. Such a tunic cannot be distinguished from an ordinary police tunic. Messages were sent from the transmitting room in Brighton Town Hall instructing Police Officer to go to a certain beat. Holding a receiver to his ear the officer received the message and carried out the order.

BULLET PLAYS PRANKS AFTER DISCHARGING

London (by the Canadian Press) —A revolver which a young man was showing to Helen Clark, aged 19, at the Muirhead Chrysler branch of the Royal Bank of Scotland went off unexpectedly. The bullet struck the girl on the hand, rebounded off the counter and lodged in her chest. A doctor removed the bullet, and the girl was then taken to a hospital. Her condition is not serious. The girl, and her employer, Robert Bakery, had gone to the bank for change.

CONTINENTALS WIN ANOTHER

Defeat C.P.R. to Make it Two Straight For Title

Trenton, Aug. 16—(Special)—The Continentals from the west end annexed game of their series with the C.P.R. for the league championship by a score of 7 to 5. This gives the insurance men every chance to win the best of seven series as they have only to win another game to take the title played in order to win. The C.P.R. had the chance to win but right they will ever get as Chambers and Cook were on the mound which made it necessary to switch the whole team around. The Continentals secured their first run when Ruiten was scored on a two base hit by Sager in the second. In the fourth they added another to their board, Jordan laying down a bunt, Ruitan singled and advanced him to third where he was scored by a hit by Langdon. In the seventh they continued to pile up a lead and added three more. Kidd hitting a homer with nobody on and Seager followed with a home a bunt to get on and was scored by Sager. Cook then went into left field, which Kennedy misjudged and Sager reached it into a home. In the eighth innings, Johnston had been counted and he was brought in by another homer of Kidds. Jack has been getting more homers in the last few games than any of the other players combined, getting two in the last game and driving in seven runs.

C.P.R. failed to score until the seventh innings, when Ketcheson got a free pass and scored on a homer by Johnson. Begin also drew a walk and was in turn brought in on a two base hit by Towle giving them three runs for the frame. In the eighth and ninth innings they tried to get one in each innings but despite the fact, that they had the bases loaded in each innings they could not tie the game up. Jordan was the star batter for the Continentals and while he may not be the batting champion, he is the most consistent hard hitter he has a nice change of pace, which has proved to be hard to hit. Bowler was on the mound for the railroaders and pitched his usual steady game but the team failed to back him up in the pinches. Another game is scheduled for tomorrow night and it seems doubtful, that the C.P.R. will be able to pitch two games in a row but Scott their only other pitcher would be at the mercy of the Continentals. Should the Continentals win the league this year and it looks as though only a miracle can stop them, they will be well on thy way to another Eastern Ontario championship as we understand it the Trenton League has been playing as fast, if not faster ball than the majority of teams they are grouped to play off with.

TRENTON HOME CATCHES FIRE

Owner of Dwelling Was in Madoc at Time

Trenton, Aug. 18 (Special) — Fire, which started from a unknown source, damaged a frame dwelling owned by Mr. Bert Clendorer, Dominion Street, Trenton, destroyed the house and contents of the kitchen early Thursday morning. The loss is estimated at $1500.00, partially covered by insurance. A call to the brigade was carried on the building Mr. and Mrs. Clendorer left for Madoc at the time. He has recently purchased the dwelling and the fire which was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

SCHMELING, WALKER BOUT FOR SEPT. 19

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 — Max Schmeling and Mickey Walker will meet again Thursday night, September 19, in a ten round heavyweight bout to be staged in Madison Square Garden Bowl, promoters announced.

The bout will be the first and last appearance in the ring for either match to be held next June, according to Promoter Jimmy Johnston. The Garden, he said, plans to match the winner against Champion Jack Sharkey without further argument.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Secrets of Successful Finger Waving

By now the permanent wave that was frankly made in mid-June has relaxed to a condition of amiability. It has extended two or three inches from the scalp, slipped away from its moorings, but that's all right. Waves are wider, the pattern more pronounced. One has a more kindly feeling for the hard boiled undulation than when one brought it home in its wild state.

It is amenable to suggestions, most amenable. It can be put in order without a visit to the beautery and that considerably adds to the cost of loose change that's rattling around inside the pocket book. If it were a high grade product in the first place achieved by an operator who understands the trick of waving so that the result is a definite wave instead of a frantic flirt, it has taken upon itself a pleasing design of order which shampoo, the parlor must be brought out, achentuated, so manipulated that every up and down, half circle becomes clear and pronounced.

Nothing can be done with a permanent-when it is dry. It belongs decidedly, in the wet contingent. The hair must be combed when it is dripping wet from the shampoo, the fingers dipped in throw a brain storm and get beyond control. The combing is to be done quickly. That's easy enough with short locks. Starting at the back, sweep up at the sides, comb the thick hair on the crown last.

Before the parting, groom the hair straight as straight. Use the fine teeth of a narrow comb, so that the glorious crown will be sleek and smooth. Keep a weather eye for the first wave line near the parting and by carefully movement of the comb, pushing the hair upward and over the parting bring that line into view. So with the next one. As each undulation appears, the comb edge tightly with the fingers.

Ends aren't easy to train. They can be taken in small strands, arranged on ringlets, anchored with invisible hairpins, the head covered with a cap net to dry. Or, if the water wave is given at night, next morning the ends can be turned up and under with the iron. The iron does not destroy a permanent. And it does catch all the rag, tag, rope, frizz a finished effect which the curly-cue system doesn't.

By using a curling fluid, the wave has more substances, stronger qualities of endurance. To compound a curling fluid is difficult. Gum arabic or tragacanth is used and to get the rich consistency when compounding a small amount is all, most impossible. Excellent curling fluids can be purchased for less money than one could pay for the ingredients. There are some toilet accessories that cannot very well be made by the amateur. Curling fluid tops the list.

Returning to the question of the fingerwave; a woman must have an understanding with her brain mat. She must let it follow its inclination. She has ideas of waves of its own and, given its way, will prove agreeable. If, at one point of the hair line, it has a determination to dip, it's no good trying to make it go in the opposite direction. It can be as stubborn as all get out.

Teach Children Sportsmanship

I had wondered, ever since I met the three children, just where and how someone had taught them such outstanding good sportsmanship, such pleasing without rancor, such roughhousing with a quick smile afterward. Soon I was privileged to see their mother go into action and without warning, all unconsciously, her method.

Big Sister and Young Brother got into a wrestling and as you've often seen puppies do, they forgot that it was fast play and the tussle got pretty rough. It ended with Young Brother's face planting itself with a swift smack under Sister's jaw, Sister howled, and Mother calmly appeared.

"I didn't mean to hurt her!", it was a discreet, chastened protest from the boy.

"She knows that," said Mother. "Stop crying. We don't cry!" This to Sister. It wasn't the usual sympathetic plea. It was a quiet command. "Open your mouth.." Sister did. "No teeth out; no blood. You're all right. Go wash your face."

Sniffing slightly, Sister disappeared to return presently fresh-ened up and no signs of tears apparent. She went to Mother.

"It's all right." There was no make-over of restraint. She went out to the back porch and pulled on the wading boots. Brother appeared.

"That water's cold as ice," he told her. "Let's go down and fool off and I'll row you if you want to fish."

"O.K.," said Sister, and compantionably they trudged down to the water.

Mother's quiet assumption that all hurts must be taken good-naturedly and calmly instilled in them from babyhood, has built a lovely and gentleman and lady. Slow, perhaps cal or mental And grinning about it.

What an asset that mother is giving those youngsters for life! It's of unengagement insurance. Henry Ford.

SINCLAIR—BELL

KINGSTON—A very quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Luke's Anglican Church on Saturday evening, when Iona Locke, youngest daughter of Mrs. John Clyde of Westbrooke and the late James H. Bell, was united in marriage to Stanley Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Sinclair of Paris, Ont. Rev. S. N. Harrington performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a becoming gown of white lace with a jacket and short puffed sleeves with matching hat and accessories. She was attended by her aunt. The groom was attended by Mr. Walter Day, of Belleville. Several guests were present including the bride's mother, Mrs. John Clyde. Later the couple left on a motor trip to Paris, Ontario, stopped at Toronto and Hamilton. The bride travelling in a pink and white knitted suit with matching accessories.

ROPING THE CALF

By Joan Joyce Stump

Harry thought he could take it. But—

When Josephine announced her engagement to Otto Bergher, Harry made up his mind to be a dead game sport. But Harry was human, accordingly kissed him just where his black hair made a charming widow's peak, and purred:

"Since Otto hasn't any relative to be best man, suggested you, Of course, we're counting on you, darling. He's going to ask you."

That being one punch more than Harry expected, knocked him for a count.

"So Otto Bergher's best man!" he chortled. "Why, the fat—I'll punch his nose if he gets within a block of me!"

Disregarding his scowl, Josephine gently stroked his hair pushing the crinkles into perfect waves. Harry was a difficult 19-year-old, whose collegiate tastes only lately had shifted from chorus girls to older women.

"Harry, darling! Now, you just think you're in love with me, Why, made of the difference in our ages, darling! When I'm forty, you'll only be thirty-one. Imagine your embarrassment when you introduce me to your friends Dear! Please——be Otto's best man—for me!"

"I'd be nuts if I did!" he sulked.

"Jo, I'm not the kind of a fella that does his bragging first, but before you've merged with that big overstuffed Otto of yours, you'll be good and sorry you didn't give some consideration to a fella who would appreciate your finer nature. Best man, nerts!"

So some time later Harry Lavrence, bellegerent, notably backed Otto Bergher, bridegroom, made of its garage. Gears grated. The exhaust popped. Harry rolled her up to seventy as fast as he could get her there.

Suddenly crooked road to Pottersville he roared, trying to think of a great dramatique to make Josephine "good and sorry".

A rapped smoke pille dog skittered into his path. Harry defied his tender heart to reduce the pooch to pulp. He couldn't do it. Not even Josephine could drop him cold now.

Harry raked his machine and his neck to appease his heart, missing the pup and a telephone pole by inches. While he was steadying the swerving car, he had a fleeting thought of eloping with Jo's traditional enemy. The elder Barnes girl. But—oh, nerts with the Barnes girl! So would think he was real yellow if he did that.

Before the lovelorn lad realized it, his Yellow Peril was doing eighty. He careened around a curve and saw a bridge just ahead.

Twas "Suicide Bridge" Destiny—fate—beckoned.

Had never make that curve at eighty, But what of it? What was life worth to your girl asked you to be a fat guy's b-b-best man?

At eighty five, he nosed the yellow car off the bank. Over she went, and down!

The gladiator cap crashed into the windshield, and the yellow hood crumpled while what seemed like all the wire in the world snapped and flew in every direction.

When Harry had sufficiently recovered, he looked around, hardly able to comprehend that he was really alive and unhurt. He was ten feet from the top of the road, two hundred feet below lay jilted death.

The suicide fancier saw that he had dandeliled a heavy wire fence, uprooted a post, smashed a headlight.

Disgusted, he started up the bank. Harry was the type that finished a job he'd started. From the bank, he walked to the bridge railing and for a moment regarded the lush green canyon forty feet below. Then he shut his eyes, thought wistfully of Jo, and jumped.

It took him years to hit—in the branches of a poplar tree, sadly, he slid down the tree. Silently on the ground, he contemplated the valley. In all that canyon, there was only that one tree. 'twas just his luck at love to land on it.

Blood trickled from his mouth. An investigation revealed that his upper lip was split, slightly. A tear or two mixed with the blood.

Harry was hastily conscious that a car roared onto the bridge. Then somebody screamed. He glanced up to see Josephine on the bridge. She was running down the bank, breaking off her heels in the canon.

"Harry——Harry! Oh, honey, you're hurt!" she sobbed. "I was afraid when you left, I followed you. I saw your car up there. Harry, sweet, Golly, Baby, I never knew how much you meant to me before! Here, let's get to my car. This lip of yours needs a mother's care!"

In Josephine's car, Harry fainted Josephine was a very beautiful bride, Pourteen reporters covered the wedding. The guest list included the local social set en masse.

The only tiny blemish on the otherwise beautiful scene was the conspicuous inch of white plaster on the upper lip of the bridegroom's best man.

Correct Manners

(By Mrs. Cornelius Beckman)

THE LADY ON THE RIGHT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—When a woman enters a motor with a young man, is it best for him to stand upon his right as at other occasions, or to observe the rule to seat herself nearest the door of the car where she enters it?

3.—When crossing a public street, does it seem more advisable that the gentleman present his arm to the lady as at a dinner, or that he assist her by touching her arm?

3.—Should a lady, who goes with a friend to a tea to be presented to new friends, be seated when the hostess, a young girl, enters the room? Is it discourteous for her, the older guest, to remain seated? Should she rise to acknowledge her introduction to a hostess younger than herself?

4.—It is never necessary for a lady to rise to acknowledge at the introduction even to an older gentleman, is it?

May I also remark that your advice to a "Reader" in the issue of June 20th, was considered by some truly deep consideration, and worth every penny conserving.

An Admiring Reader.

1.—It is best for the woman to take the place at the right of the man.

2.—Either is correct, but usually the man places the palm of his hand firmly under the elbow of the woman, and in this way guides her across the street.

3.—It is more courteous of her, even considering the difference in ages, to rise when she greets her hostess.

4.—Under most circumstances it isn't necessary for a woman to rise when a gentleman is presented to her. But there do come occasions when a woman's sense of graciousness, or due respect, intuitively urges her to rise, for instance, when a man is a gentleman full of years and special distinction and accomplishment.

Thank you, thank you with all my heart, for your so-kind words about this answer. I looked up that answer for the day, and found that it was the one to the woman whose husband's sister was to be married. They hadn't been on "speaking terms" with the sister for many years, but now that the sister was to be married, they felt the time up to her for a note of good wishes. I do so hope that she followed my advice and wrote the note a fine upstanding, devoted note. which, I feel sure, would heal the breach and restore harmony and love to the family. So little because a family breach, and, bless our human hearts, so little though; and gentlemen as how, and how things in life! I think are more tragic than many family disagreements. There are always those "beams in our own eyes" to be considered!

EATING FRUIT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it correct to hold fruits, such as apples, peaches, pears and bananas, in position with the fork on the plate, and peel with the knife, then eat the fruit with the fork?

Reader.

Yes.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Toronto, Aug. 16—Colin Campbell, Northbrook, Ont., recently named Liberal candidate in the Provincial constituency of Addington, is seriously ill here.

Mr. Campbell is confined to his room at the Ontario Club where he was staying during a business trip to this city.

No, use using eggs for a shampoo unless there are enough of them to foam up well and to be distributed generously all over the head. Two or seven eggs are necessary, even for short hair. Use three, beaten slightly, rinse with warm water, use the rest and rinse again. If particles of the egg adhere to hair shafts, don't worry. The brush will remove them.

The Beauty Box

(By Helen Follett)

Looking for short cuts to the beauteous and perfect appearance is rainbow chasing. The wise gal travels straight along the path of health and hygiene, getting nine hours sleep every night, eating foods that the digestive organs find agreeable, getting her daily exercise, keeping a tactful emotional outpouring, paying strict regard to bathing and fresh attire. These matters are the fundamentals of good appearance. If she enjoys playing with eye shadows; lipsticks, cheek glows and all that, well and good. But she must remember that they are only temporary props, while health is an insurance against the ravages of time.

In connected about the condition of your neck, Madame Beauty Quester! If a nice neck suddenly loses heart take upon itself creases and fiddle strings, it is not easily reformed. When giving the complexion its nightly allotment of cream, flip a dozen firm strokes on the throat with fingers that spread on the emollient. Tap the flesh in front of the ears. Early wrinkles pick those good acts as permanent locations for permanent residence.

A small tooth brush does a better job than a large one. The handle should be fairly long. Rinse well with cold water after using. Once or twice a month let the bristles rest for ten minutes in a strong solution of salt. If gums are pale, dip finger tips in a toothpaste and massage them, rubbing up and down and crosswise. Every six months have tartar removed by the dentist. Tartar collects despite faithful scrubbing.

When applying cream to the complexion, don't neglect to oil the surface of the upper lip. As the skin is dried by small up and down lines may appear there. Thwart them by keeping the skin anointed.

SHORTS COVER STOCKS SOAR

Gains of 4 to 5 Points Recorded in First Half Hour

New York, Aug. 16—The stock market leaped forward as large-scale buying poured into the floor in the early trading today.

Gains of 4 to 5 points appeared during the first half hour in American Telephone ,U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, Case, Auburn Auto Association, and others, while a wider assortment of issues rose 2 to 4 points.

Trading was at a feverish pace.

The initial upswing was so violent that it soon attracted profit taking, and some issues receded toward the end of the first half hour.

The manner in which the market bulged up yesterday, after the still off of late last week, evidently struck fear to the hearts of the bears, who prompted a flurry of short covering in the initial transactions today.

EARLY FLUSH THEN DECLINE

Market Unable to Follow Rails in Heavy Buying

New York, Aug. 16—Railroad shares pushed through to new highs for the summer recovery in today's stock market, but the list as a whole was unable to follow.

The session began with a wild flurry of buying, which boosted many issues 2 to 3 points, but leadership turned quieter, and profit taking was encountered, as the shares were distributed more strongly in the middle of the day but as the session went into the fourth hour, the peak levels of the first few minutes had not, in the aggregate, been duplicated.

Union Pacific, Case, Allied Chemical and Norfolk and Western made extreme gains of 4 to 7 points but the first hour soon lost 2 to 3 points of the advance. U. S. Steel opened 2 higher at 42, with a 10,000-share purchase, but thereafter slid back to equal a point. American Telephone was a firm feature.

Miscellaneous issues making extreme gains of 3 to 5 points included American Can, Westinghouse, Eastman, American Tobacco B, Nugent, and Myers B. Associated Gas and New York Central. Issues up a point or so included Radio, General Electric, General Motors and Standard of N.J. Coppers were sluggish.

BROKERS TAKE SMALL PROFIT

Advance Retarded When Selling Appears in List

Toronto, Aug. 16.—Profit taking at midday wiped out a portion of the early gains on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Opening higher, the advance was retarded when selling appeared in parts of the list in the afternoon, and from their peaks.

Several strong spots were noticeable. Goodyear Tire common was up 4 points, Canadian Steamships 2 and C.P.R. Bell Telephone at 96 1-2 was at the best for the movement. Gains of 1-2 to 1 point on Canada rained 3-6, and C.P.R. higher earlier in the day at 157 1-2 was off at noon. Brazilian traction, the distillery issues and Dom. Steel movements were firm.

Consumers Gas shelters lost an early gain of a point and International Nickel was down fractionally from last top of 9 7-8 but above the previous close.

EXCHANGE RATES

(By the Canadian Press)

Exchange rates at noon today were as follows:

Pound Sterling in Montreal 4.41 1-4; U. S. Dollar in Montreal, 1.13; Pound Sterling in New York 3.42 1-4; Canadian dollar in New York .87.

GRAIN PRICES

Winnipeg, Aug. 16—Prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange at ten o'clock were:

Wheat—Oct. 1-8 higher at 59 7-8 Dec. 1-2 higher at 61 1-4; May, 3-8 higher at 65 1-2.

Oats—Oct. 1-8 higher at 37 5-8.

INTERLISTED STOCKS UP

Only Issues to be Higher After Bull Movement Subsides

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—The sharp opening advance on Industrial Boards was reflected in early strength on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market, but when the smoke had cleared away it was found that only a few interlisted issues had improved their positions. General list remained quietly irregular, and at noon displayed only scattered changes.

International Nickel and Noranda enjoyed heavy turnover for the first hour and held a part of their gains to midday, former standing up 30 at $9.50 and the latter 40 at $18.50, fifteen were asked.

Deme was under accumulation in the afternoon session, price moving up 26 to $12.25. Teck Hughes firmed a few cents to $4.06 but Hollinger fell 10 to $5.60.

Oils remained inactive and unchanged.

STRUCK BUGGY FAILS TO STOP

Hit and Run Driver Reported to Provincial Police

Another hit and run driver was reported to the Provincial Police on Canada avenue by Mr. Arthur Coonsy of Moira.

Mr. Coonsy accompanied by his wife and child was driving his horse and buggy north on the Canadian road about 10.30 last night when Mr. Coonsy informed the police, that the motorist started to pass him on the left hand side of the road and suddenly pulling over to the right hand side striking his buggy on the later passing him on the right hand side. Mr. Coonsy claimed that the motorist drove his car close to the east ditch after hitting and severely shaking the occupants of the buggy.

The provincial police are investigating the case.

Professor of Economics Figures Oil Gains to Follow

WILLIAMSTON, Mass., ug. 16. —Dr. Max Winkler, Professor of Economics at the colleges of the City of New York, and the Institute of Politics today that elimination of "paper profits for the time being will change the economic position of the United States.

He estimated that the United States had cleared a profit of $40,000 million dollars on exports from 1914 to 1921, inclusive. In doing this he deducted gold imports of about one million dollars on the assumption that they may have to be withdrawn.

"Any improvement in American foreign investment and resultant profits therefrom will henceforth constitute profit gains to the country," he said.

DOG NEEDS NEW OWNER BADLY

One likable little dog, part wire haired setter and part Scottish, with fancy color, minus his new-ly-cut ear, is at present in the dog pound waiting for his owner. The little animal was picked up in the vicinity of Foster Avenue, Monday evening, by the dog catcher, and is now pounding his custodian last evening.

Here and There

Lord Nirel Douglas-Hamilton, in charge of a party of thirty English Boy Scouts, Rovers, who will arrive in Montreal August 8, under his supervision, claims that the idea of so-called "finishing school" than a tour of this nature.

August will see the season in the Canadian Rockies at its peak with the finest display of flowers already bringing in golf sunrises and sunsets for mid-season, scheduled for August 15-20 and coinciding with the Golden Jubilee Diamond Celebration, August 15-21, which will be attended by Stoneys, Crees and Blackfeet.

A hole-in-one, though rare, is not unique, but when it is made by a lady for the first time on the course it rates a headline. This was done by Mrs. Guy Lapraik on the 150-yard par three hole at the Canadian Pacific Recreation Club Course at Sorrun near Montreal recently.

Favorable development of this year's crop on the prairie provinces is noted by the Canadian Pacific Railway's weekly report issued recently by the Agricultural Department at Winnipeg. Most of the wheat in Manitoba and Saskatchewan is headed and is backed at an average height of two feet, and elsewhere ranges between advanced shot blade to headed stage. Rainfall has been only local and in scattered districts.

Bob Davis, roving columnist of the New York Sun, and probably the most traveled newspaperman in the world, has been staying at the Banff Springs Hotel on his way back from Hawaii, accompanied by Mrs. Davis. Mr. Davis has a flair for the unusual, and will likely unearth a wealth of good material for his column among the old timers of the Rockies.

Soviet Competition Now Standing in Way of a Closing Trade Agreement

Ottawa Cabinet Holds Long Session Without Result

WON'T MEET OFFER

All Offers Dropped if Soviet Competition is Uncontrolled

OTTAWA, Aug 16—At a Cabinet meeting lasting from 8 o'clock Monday night until almost midnight, it is believed the Canadian Government decided to withdraw important concessions offered the United Kingdom unless that country meets Canada's request for the effective control of Russian competition with Empire wheat and lumber. The meeting was the longest held by the Cabinet in many months. Details of the decision arrived at will be communicated to the United Kingdom delegation in London tomorrow. It is believed the withdrawal will include important trade concessions and possibly the right of appeal for terms of fair competition to the Canadian tariff board by United Kingdom industry.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—With the wind-up of the Imperial Economic Conference tentatively set only sixty hours hence, it was officially stated that the only agreement that has been reached as of today is between the United Kingdom and any of the Dominions is that with India. To that achievement can be added a near decision by New Zealand to accept what is termed a disappointing offer.

No agreement has been reached with Canada, because thus far Canada finds no offer in return by British concessions for those this Dominion has offered the United Kingdom. To all useful purposes Canada and the United Kingdom are as far apart on their differences regards as the cardinal principle —definite and adequate safeguards against Soviet competition with Empire wheat and lumber—as when they were when the conference began.

Political and contractual impediments faced by Britain in regulation of Russian trade, it was intimated by the Canadian Government, now by Australia, but the conviction is deep-seated that unless this competition is regulated —before dumping occurs and not afterward—the basic value of preferences on wheat and lumber may be rendered valueless overnight. In any event they will be deprived of security and stability, two things that Mr. Baldwin has emphasized as essential to useful preferences.

British Delegation's Viewpoint.

From members of the British delegation announcements have come that the conference is not as good as ended as was felt a tremendous success. From their viewpoint that perhaps applies true. Mr. Bennett has gone further to meet them than they ever thought for, but he did so with a very definite understanding that they, in turn, would accept the principles put forth by him. They have not done so and it will be in no way surprising—unless there is more give to the United Kingdom position—that they will also be less take.

The Canadian Cabinet met in extraordinary session at 8 o'clock Monday night to consider the situation. At 11 o'clock it was still meeting.

On the very best of authority, statements of final drafting of agreements today when "drafted" ended as "type wash," "balderdash" and "ridiculous".

"We have been drafting agreements for three weeks," one delegate said, "but we have not yet drafted one that was satisfactory to both parties to it and everyone hoped his draft would be the final one, but none such has been produced."

Tonight's Cabinet meeting, of course, was concerned with the general situation, but more particularly it is believed to have had under consideration the attitude of this country if British refuses to control Soviet competition. There appears to be extreme doubt that the United Kingdom at this time will increase the preferences on foodstuffs provided under the ten per cent. tariff enactment of last February.

Quota Arrangements Feasible

In a few instances quota arrangements may yet be possible, but it is announced that several members of the MacDonald Government refuse to consider a tariff as other than a tax on foods, a contention that is not accepted by Canada.

Apart from these foods preference, as and perhaps surmounting them, is the principle of protection against Soviet competition. The British delegation, using the term as applying to the United Kingdom, has formally expressed a desire to meet the wishes of Canada and Australia but has declined to accept any formula for so doing that has been advanced and has failed to produce one that is in any measure acceptable to Canada.

In dealing with the situation the United Kingdom is admittedly face to face with complex issues. The first is political, and if it can be disposed of—if what there is not yet any assurance—the delegation comes up against what is known as the Graham Treaty, signed at Geneva by the then president of the British Board of Trade, and extending to Russia specific trade privileges with Britain. Beyond this is the extension of favored nation treatment to Russia, and beyond this again an extension of industrial credits to Russia, now said to aggregate over 180,000,000 pounds sterling.

The other side of the picture is that of the Dominions, who insist that with the depression prevailing can be expected to meet the competition of people whose Government sells regardless of costs and whose people are in a state of dictatorial peonage. Serious feeling obtains.

Since Friday Canadian and United Kingdom delegates have been working independently and collectively in the effort to find some mutually satisfactory plan. Until tonight they had not succeeded.

From authoritative sources it is learned that the United Kingdom is in communication with Russia from London in an endeavor to agree upon a new treaty to supplant the Graham arrangement; one which, by offering other concessions, will secure a release from the limiting contracts now operative and provide some measure of regulation of dumping of wheat. How far these negotiations have progressed and with what success is not known outside the British Cabinet, but there are hopes that it will be open up the way to some measure of achievement before Parliament adjourns.

One conference delegate early today said: "The impression that the United Kingdom could close up with any of the Dominions but one is entirely erroneous. In its statement presupposed a decided change in the attitude of the United Kingdom delegation.

"The Canadian the real picture is presented in this authoritative statement: "We have been drafting agreements for three weeks, but we have not yet drafted one that was satisfactory to both parties to it."

There are still sixty hours of the scheduled time remaining.

No Newspapers So But Headlines Rumors

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 16.—The people in Butte heard and believed strange rumors for a time last week when the city was without newspapers.

A printers' strike had resulted in suspension of all Butte newspapers, and for two weeks Butte was a hotbed of wild rumors, alarmist reports and grape-vine whispers of frightful things. Many of the rumors involved the White House and President Hoover.

The three Butte papers resumed publication Saturday after settling the dispute with the printers.

Olympic Games Not For Germany in 1936

Berlin, Aug. 16—The withdrawal of Germany's offer to hold the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin was commanded Monday by a section of the press, headed by the Deutsche Zeitung.

Disappointed with the performances of most of the German entries in the games at Los Angeles, the newspapers urged that—"this any henceforth refuse to participate. The Deutsche Zeitung suggested the resignation of the officials who were alleged to have been regonsible for the poor showing of German athletes in the game.

One of these was Theodor Lewald and another was Carl Diem, the newspaper claimed that the money invested in training the team could have been invested to greater advantage in military training for German youths.

Adolph Hitler, the Pascist leader, recently was reported to have declared the 1936 games could not be held in Berlin if he comes into power.

The cities of Moscow and Leningrad have each more than 2,000,000 inhabitants.

Microscope Used by Ottawa Experts on Baldwin's Speech

Probable Hints on Parley Outcome Contained

OTTAWA, Aug. 16—Ottawa is busying with speculation over some of the high rights of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's speech before the Canadian Club Monday Ottawa often hunts with political specialties, but this one, somehow, is much different.

Excerpts are taken from Mr. Baldwin's speech and subjected to the microscope by which political Ottawa often reveals hidden motives and meanings—but which, sadly, too often discerns things which aren't there at all. But a lot of Mr. Baldwin's references are being sort of crapped out and then shuffled together like the parts of a jig-saw puzzle—and in many cases they yield what seems something of a pattern.

For instance, Mr. Baldwin's professed dread of scorn or detail. One of the great difficulties confronting statesmen, he said, was "the temptation to devote time and strives too much to detail," and "to succumb to detail was to lose one's whole grip."

This is read, perhaps tortured, in some quarters, into a fear that the imperial conference will, if Mr. Baldwin has his way, wind up with a number of agreements containing only pious expressions of abstract principles. Of what avail, they ask, is Mr. Baldwin says: "The principle is not worth anything if written into the fiscal policy of Britain"—and his emphasis on adoption of that principle is not written into agreements in language, say, to Canada's export trade?

Then Mr. Baldwin spoke of building for posterity, and "leaving to some hardheads who would like to see a little more business than for the present, as an earnest of what may be coming in the future" and these hardheads do not in any way take account either on the idea of building for eternity.

Marching to Unknown

In another passage Mr. Baldwin, where he gazed out of his window in the evening "on the ghosts of the Laurentians and witnessed the trooping forth of the eternal procession of mankind, the rising and falling of the kingdoms. Mr. Baldwin said that coming down to his own time and place he saw himself marching with the procession "knowing not the way we are going."

Some profess to see in this an expression of a sense of helplessness, despair, and others, according to the point of view, as an expression of calm confidence in the benevolent Providence to bring to the ultimate good those "who know not the way we are going."

The "ultimate goal" he said, of the British Empire is "the Kingdom of heaven upon earth." This admittedly confounds those who saw in his fearfulness of detail a left handed reference to Premier Bennett's terrific mastery of detail, and an invitation to agreements consisting only of words expressing lofty principles and high ideal.

Then he also pointed out that "political genius" did not prevent the downfall of the Cesars, though it was the same genius which was building the Roman Empire. The implication, it is said today, was said—the world "on the precipice of destruction" in the midst of "plenty."

And was he, the Ottawa asks, not pointedly chiding Canadian statesmen for a lack of patience when he asked that Britain be imbued with the spirit that no toil was too great, no sacrifice too protracted, to discharge the tasks which "providence has heavily hinting that work and patience would crown yet-yield results—at his conference?

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper pop took his collar off and put his feet up, saying, Wowie, anybody that says this season a hot day is easily endured is sure tremendously mistaken.

I knew you'd come home hot and tired, you poor man, and that's why I didn't give the ideer a 2nd thawt, me said.

O, you've been having an ideer, pop said, and ma said, Well, in a sketchy sort of an unformed haphazard way, I mean I happened to be here in the living room this afternoon and it seemed to me that if this ancient rug was turned around the opposite way, I mean with the long side where the short side is now, and vice versae, I think it would give a feeling of more space, although of course that would naturally involve moving the piano off and then moving it on again and a few details of that sort, and I thawt of asking you to term it for me this evening, and then I thawt, No, he'll be warm and tired after a day in the City Hall heet, I'll put the ideer out of my head I thawt, me said.

An excellent notion, I mean squashing that ideer was a stroke of genius, pop said, and you got less like shooting furniture and bowling with rugs in any 1, pop said, and ma said, That's just what I'm afraid of, pop, and that's just why I perished the thawt. I said to my self, The poor man will be tired and hot after all his hard work'll owe ye piling coals on Newcastle to make him perspire for'ere this evening, she said.

I said indeed, pop said, and ma said, That Willyum, I've often heard it said that there's nothing more refreshing than a change of exercise, I mean such as working hour muscs after you've been working your mind all day, for instance after sitting in the office all day a welcome change if you got up and started to dig us a relief from being mentally tired.

I know rather a lot of people who'd rather dig a garden than play golf, pop said.

Wich he did.

10 FEE CENT WAGE INCREASE

Durham, N.C., Aug. 15—The Durham Hosiery Mills yesterday posted notice of blanket wage increases of 10 per cent, boosts of improved business. At Greensboro and Kernersville, the mills also increased wages 10 to 12 per cent, stating that business booked will be enough to keep the mills busy until October 1st.

Hunting For Chicle, City of Ancient Date Found

Washington, Aug. 16—Demand for chewing gum has led explorers in the Mexican jungles a lost city that 1,500 years ago was a metropolis of an Egypt-like civilization.

Great pyramids and the ruins of temples and palaces, indicating a teeming population once lived have been found buried in what is now uninhabited, almost impassable jungle, by an expedition of the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

Native chewing-gum hunters, who explored the region for supplies of "chewing" part of chewing-gum, first found the ruins, and the Carnegie Institution in announcing the find.

The city was built at the height of the fanished civilization of the "old empire" of the Mayas, which, after the time of Christ they developed what historians consider all the most brilliant of the ancient Indian civilizations in America.

The Mayans carved dates on their buildings that have been deciphered, and the dates indicate that the city flourished from 364 to 831 A.D. It may have been built years later, however, as archaeologists differ in their interpretation of the Mayan dates.

COULDN'T PUT HIS SOCKS ON

Half-an-hour to Get Out of Bed

50-Years-old Rheumatism Yields to Kruschen

For 50 years this man endured his affliction—and then discovered that he could end them in a few months. From the letter he wrote it is evident that his rheumatism was severe.

"From my 11th to my 60th year I was tormented by severe pains. On account of my work I was compelled to get up very early in the morning. But very frequently it took me more than half-an-hour simply to get out of bed. Then I had to be helped to put on my socks, etc., like a child. And now—after the use of only three bottles of Kruschen—I can give warm thanks for quick and complete relief from my rheumatism.—J. F.

If you want to drive the rotting, jibbing pains of rheumatism from your body, put the six salts of Kruschen into your blood. Kruschen will quickly dull the aches and pains. Your flesh-hard crystals of uric acid which have settled in your muscles and joints, Kruschen will assuredly convert those torturing crystals into a harmless solution, then promptly expel them from your system. Afterwards, the "little daily dose" will keep your inside so regular, so free from poisonous waste matter, that mischievous uric acid will never get the chance to accumulate again.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

88.7 PER CENT NOW TAKEN UP

Conversion Loan of Gt. Britain Has Been Success

OTTAWA, Aug 16—Gratification at the success of the British Conversion loan was expressed last night in a statement issued by Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer for Great Britain. The total of the war loan of 2,085,000,000 pounds of which according to advices, 88.7 per cent. approximately 1,850,000,000 pounds, has thus far been converted. The remaining 235,000,000 pounds has been asked on only 2.3 per cent.

PASSENGERS SAVED FROM BURNING SHIP

Kingston, Aug. 16—Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Severs of Buffalo, N.Y., and two other persons, narrowly escaped possible death when the motor launch in which they were travelling from Batterers in the Western Lummer home, took fire off Loughboro Lake.

The passengers were removed from the burning craft after much difficulty by a young man who is employed by Charles Allpress of Rochester, N.Y., owner of Loughboro Lake's garden island. The launch took fire while the boat was plying between Garden Island and Big Island, and fortunately the young steerer saw the burning craft soon after the outbreak and at once put back and removed the imperiled people. The launch sank.

Explorers from Yale University are found in the Himalayan Mountains fossil plants and shells which shed light on the climatic history of northern India.

The belief that man has one less rib than woman persisted among the general public until the sixteenth century, when Versalius demonstrated the facts.

Canada at Present Has 163 Centenarian

Ottawa, Aug. 16—There are 163 centenarians in Canada, of whom 98 are women and 74 men, according to census figures issued yesterday. Fifty live in Ontario, 36 in Nova Scotia, 22 in Quebec, 15 in Manitoba, 12 in British Columbia, 12 in Saskatchewan, 10 in Alberta, 9 in Prince Edward Island, 7 in New Brunswick.

MOIRA W.M.S.

The Moira W.M.S. met at the home of its president, Mrs. Clayton Hagerman, with a fair attendance of 18, members also a number of visitors. At the request of the president, Mrs. George Elliott, was invited to preside over the meeting, which she kindly consented to do. Choosing for the opening hymn 336, "Will Your Anchor Hold in the Storms of Life," followed by prayer by Mrs. Th ompson. Mrs. J. Morton gave the Scripture lesson. The devotional leaflet was given by Mrs. R. Emerson. The minutes of the July meeting were read by the Recording Secretary, Mrs. Elliott. Then followed Roll Call, each member answering with a text of Scripture. A number of the ladies gave brief items of interest along missionary lines which added much to the interest of the meeting. An interesting letter was read on by Mrs. George Hollinger, entitled "If so Where You Want Me to go Dear Lord. I Shall Do What You Want Me to Do."

Miss Marion Acker acted as accompanist.

Mrs. Walsh Tower was conducted by Mrs. Blake Ketcheson, some of the members of the C.O.I.T. being "taking part, as well as the ladies of the quilting. All of which proved very interesting and beneficial.

In the absence of the pianist, Miss L. Ketcheson, Mrs. Tower very kindly acted as accompanist and the meeting closed by singing "Blest be the Tie That Binds," followed by the Mizpah Benediction.

The hostess, Mrs. Hagerman then served a most delicious lunch and a very happy social hour was enjoyed by all.

The too-big is often more intelligent than the too-little plans.—Henry Ford.

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Listen, it's all right, nobody knows but me!" said Sheila, sitting down, nothing's going to happen to you. Honestly, I promise you I won't give you away!"

"How did you find me?" Sheila whispered, sitting down.

"I never took you. There was a fellow named Buckley waiting for me in the hall that day," Frank explained, with a touch of his characteristic complaisance. "I had him follow you. He's done that sort of thing before—he's a plain-clothes man, as a matter of fact. He saw you go into the second-hand clothes shop."

"Then after that I went home!"

"I know you did. But an hour later your brother telephoned; they couldn't locate you."

"That was it," she said.

Frank sat silent, his half smiled at her.

"Never a dull moment where you are!" he observed dryly. "You see, you didn't run away at all!"

"No, I suppose I would have me alone," Sheila said simply.

"So you've been sewing on clothes all day?"

"Sometimes," she said, with a smile and shrug.

"Is it hard?"

"Oh, help!"

Then was a silence.

Then woman—O'Connor, in the agency, did she tell on me?"

She had to."

"Mrs. Keogh?"

"She knows I know, I told her that night you were with C."

"Is she all right?" Sheila asked. It began as a casual question, but suddenly her face changed, and she was crying.

"She's fine." He stopped, studied her a minute. "She misses you."

To this Sheila could make no answer.

"How long you going to keep this up?"

"I don't know."

"Well, we've had a great time since you left," Frank told her. "There's been a reporter on the front step about half the time. My mother doesn't dare answer the telephone."

"How is your mother?"

"Mother feels very badly about you. She feels that we could have shown a little more confidence in you that day."

"She didn't believe me."

"She was all upset."

"And your father didn't believe me."

"Well—he did, kinder—"

Sheila was looking somberly ahead of her, resentment smoldering in her eyes.

"I can't blame you, if my own mother thought I was a liar!" she said bitterly.

"I believed you, right through," Frank said.

Sheila's look was scornfully incredulous.

"Honestly I did," he said. "Truly. But it seemed to me that anyway, true or not true, you and Peter might want to be married."

"I don't love Peter. I'm not going to marry anyone I don't love," Frank shrugged.

"Then you're waiting for something you'll never find," he said.

"If I had known that you knew where I was," Sheila said, after a long pause, during which her blue eyes had rested steadily on his face, "I would have run away again—from here, I mean."

"It wouldn't have done you any good."

She looked up suspiciously.

"Wouldn't I?"

"No, you can't run away from things. It only makes people think you've got something to hide."

"I don't care what people think," she said. "I've had to fling you. But, knowing where you were, I could tell them you were all right." Frank said. "I knew it wouldn't hurt you to get off your mud. I was down here the day after you came, and saw Mrs. Kearney. She's a good old girl, Frank said. "She said she would keep an eye on you and not talk. I didn't tell her where, of course."

Tears of helpless anger stood in Sheila's eyes.

"You did it up in style," she commented, dryly.

"Ah, now listen—" Frank began.

"Listen nothing!" she said, with a sudden choke in her voice. "You double-crossed me. You've all been laughing at me, all this time. Mamma and Joe and everybody!"

"There isn't one of them has the faintest idea where you are!" Frank interrupted.

"Why, Sheila," he added, as she did not speak, "do you suppose your mother'd let an hour go by without coming down here after you? She's breaking her heart for you. She'll never forgive herself that she didn't take you that day."

"Mamma—" Sheila said chicklyand swallowed, and was still.

"About every third night I telephone Joe at the office" Frank went on, "and tell him to tell her that you're all right."

"Is Joe working?"

"Sure, got a job, with a contractor."

"Oh, that makes me feel happy!"

"Sure it does," Frank said encouragingly.

"Where is it?"

"It's over on Long Island. Pays has some little houses there. Your mother and Angela were going down to look at one."

"A house!"

"Yes. Look, you see, if you did go back, Sheila, you'd be in a new neighborhood—everything'd be different."

"But what rent would Ma have to pay for a place like that?"

"Well, I guess that part of it wouldn't bother you," Frank said, "if you knew your father, you know, and your father's father."

Sheila pondered, with a knitted brow.

"Is our father's an awfully good man," she said slowly.

"Sheila, why don't you come home?" Frank besieged her suddenly.

"I can't," Sheila answered in a troubled tone. She did not look up; tears dropped on her hand. "They'd all think—everyone— that I had done something wrong," she said. "I couldn't face it."

"You couldn't," he said persuasively, "just slip in again and pay up with—whatever you had to put up with? Would it be so hard? We've all got to take it on the chin sometimes, you know. And then there's what people say! Your own people love you and want you. Isn't that all that matters?"

Sheila's head and fire had torn her old world apart. Now she had had ten lonely, weary days in which to rebuild it—a world within her own soul. Prayer, loneliness, most of all the commonplaceness of other women's lives had helped her. She saw pondering, how clear it was, and the silence came the still clear voice, as of old. She must carry her load.

The sheer heroism of it appealed to her. Perhaps the Sheila of a month ago might not have decided this. But today's was a different woman.

"My mother was awfully mean to me," she faltered. "I never knew that I was to blame, she didn't intend to do it!"

"But you know why that was," Frank said, in his quick, sure way. "Your mother's like my mother, Sheila. There's just one thing gets her. And that's sin. You know that. Your mother thought you'd done something wrong. She thought that after all her love and teaching and prayers, you'd done something bad; that's what was killing her, that," Frank concluded with great simplicity, "that's what was eating her!"

There was a pause. Then Frank asked again:

"Sheila, will you go home?"

She looking at him, suddenly surrendered.

"Yes, I will, Frank."

"Good girl!" he said.

"Shall I just walk in on my mother?"

"She'll be ready for you!"

It warmed her heart. There was something tremendously exciting in the process of yielding her will to that of this young man.

Frank glanced at his wrist.

"I have to see a man in the Chandler building here, wherever that is," he said. "It's twelve o'clock now. We could meet at one, and start at two."

"Is there a two o'clock train?"

"Train! I flew down, and I'm going to fly back."

"Fly!" she said.

"Certainly." He laughed at her bewildered face. "Haven't you ever flown?"

"When on earth would I fly?"

"Well" he said, "you can fly today. You'll be home at three o'clock. I always fly down here to Atlantic City and back. I've done it for years."

Home at three o'clock! The mere thought made her heart roar with sheer ecstasy. Ma—at three o'clock.

"I'm taking you to the Commander for lunch!" Frank said.

At luncheon she tried to tell Frank some of her experiences at the Penderpat but she was much too excited.

"You're different today from the little soul who came into our house two weeks ago, Sheila." He watched her, in satisfaction, for a few minutes and then added, with just a hint of his kindly and unreconingly, "You have a new good friend in Miss Kennedy, Sheila."

"Miss Kennedy?"

"The young lady who's going to marry me in June."

"Oh," said Sheila.

"She's so much interested in everything I tell her about you. She thinks—so, no sauce," Frank said, interrupting himself," She thinks what everyone else does, that you're staying with some friend of your family. She doesn't know I'm in the secret" he said. "I'll tell her this last chapter of your adventure tonight."

"I hope it's the last!" Sheila said.

"Ah, yes, things will quiet down now. The newspapers won't be interested, once you're home and in a job again," Frank said. "Gertrude's with her grandmother, and Pete's gone up to my uncle in Pittsburgh, for the time being anyway. Everything's fake!" he concluded.

"Peter's given up his love?"

"Oh yes. He wasn't—Frank shook his head—" he wasn't a lover!" he said. "My father's delighted to have him with my uncle in the family business. To tell you the truth, Peter probably took up the work because he thought it was easier than a job!" he added, with a penitent, brotherly laugh.

"You're a lawyer, Frank?"

He looked surprised.

"I'm in the district attorney's office."

"I know you were—sort of—political."

"Yes, Bernadette wanted to live in the country," he said, but Mr. Lillie wants me here in town."

Sheila watched him in fascinated admiration.

"Is it interesting?"

"Very."

"Is Miss Kennedy's father in politics?"

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The merciful will always heed The cry of one who is in need.

—By Thornton W. Burgess.

And Farmer Brown's Boy lives up to what he preaches. He is always ready to help any of the little people of the Great Forest. The Green Meadows and the Smiling Pool. They all know it, too. That is one reason that he is so much beloved by them. You see, they feel that they can trust him.

He had come over to the Smiling Pool to see how Mrs. Redwing the Blackbird was getting along with her family in her nest in the rushes and to see if he could get a glimpse of any of Jerry Muskrat's children and to see what else was to be seen. He very fond of the Smiling Pool and knows all the people who live in and around it. Now it was at this very same time that Mr. Watermake had taken it into his head to visit the Smiling Pool. Had he known that Farmer Brown's Boy was likely to appear there he would have postponed his visit, for he is one of the few who do not like Farmer Brown's Boy. You see, Mr. Watermake is a water snake and while Farmer Brown's Boy never has hurt him he has several times interfered with him and chased him away, so when he suspects that Farmer Brown's Boy is around Mr. Watermake keeps out of sight.

So when he reached the lily-pads in the Smiling Pool and with his big head high above them these big broad leaves he looked around in the hope of seeing some unwary Frog whom he could catch for he was hungry. At first, as he stared this way and that way with unwinking eyes, he saw no one. Then he saw Grandfather Frog sitting on his favorite big green lily-pad. Farmer Brown's Boy had moved over so little but enough to catch the attention of Mr. Watermake.

"Ha!" exclaimed Mr. Watermake under his breath. "There's that old croaker I have tried so many times to catch and taken my eyes deceive me is nothing. He should know better than to go to sleep in a public place like that. Well, that is his hard luck and my good luck. I would rather catch him than any three other Frogs in the Smiling Pool. Slaughter taking a nap right out in plain sight like that! I gave him credit for more sense than that."

Mr. Watermake began to glide through the water in that same smooth, easy manner in which Mr. Blacksnake glides over the ground. Some of the time his head was out so that he could watch Grandfather Frog, and some of the time he swam wholly under water. He had almost reached the big green lily-pad on which Grandfather Frog was sitting, when Redwing the Blackbird happened to fly over and looking down saw him. Instantly Redwing screamed the alarm and Grandfather Frog's big goggly eyes flew open. They flew very wide open and the instant they flew open they saw Mr. Watermake.

Grandfather Frog made a quick turn and a long dive in the opposite direction, which happened to be straight towards shore. You see, there wasn't anywhere for him to go. Mr. Watermake shot after him and there was nothing slow about the way he moved. He had Grandfather Frog just where he wanted him. The chase was nearly just there. There was no sort of use for Grandfather Frog to hide himself in.

It was just then that Farmer Brown's Boy reached the Smiling Pool. He went at the upper end where the bulrushes grow, among which Redwing's nest had been built. The last time he had peeped in that nest there had been four beautifully marked eggs and he was sure that by this time these must have hatched and Mrs. Redwing was scolding from the alders near by and when at last he got a good look at her he saw that she had a worm in her bill. Then he knew she had babies.

"I'm just going to take a peak at them," said he, "and then I won't bother you."

Just at that instant was startled by a loud scream, a scream of sheer terror rather than pain. It made him jump. Who could that have been? he cried to himself. He looked for a scare to be repeated.

BRINGING UP FATHER

AUG 16.—MR. AND MRS. — ALL THE TIME THERE IS

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR—No. 5

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Werper sent his head in thought. Achmet Zek stood waiting his reply. What good remained in the Belgian revolted at the thought of selling a white woman into the salvery and degradation of a Moslem harem. Yet why should he refuse? This woman was nothing to him. He was at present in the hand of every white man against him. And if he refused to lend himself to her undoing, Achmet Zek would kill him.

Love of life surged through Werper. He looked up and saw the scowling face of Achmet. He saw the Arab's eyes narrow and guessed Achmet sensed his antagonism to the plan. "You hesitate," murmured the Arab. "I was but weighing the chance of success." the lied Werper, "and my reward. As an European I can gain admittance to their house and table. The risk is great. I should be well paid. The reward is what matters."

A smile of relief passed over the raider's face. "Well?" Werper asked. Achmet Zek slipped his lieutenant upon the shoulder. "You should be well paid and you shall. Let us plan how best the thing may be done." The two villains squatted upon the soft rugs beneath the faded silks of Achmet's gorgeous tent and talked together in low voices well into the night. At dawn they parted, both mutually content with their wicked bargain.

The next day was given over to preparations. Exposure to the sun and wind had given an almost Arab hue to the European's complexion so he had no fear of being discovered as the escaped criminal. All was ready to start. He had exchanged his tattered Belgian uniform for the garb of a big game hunter. Achmet Zek dug up from his collection of loot. With a party of black slaves and porters, Werper set out from camp.

FATHER ONCE CONSUL HERE

Son of Late Samuel H. Denesen Recalls Old Associations

Charles E. Denesen, former governor of the State of Illinois for two terms 1904 to 1913 and U. S. Senator for the state from 1926 to 1930, paid Belleville a visit on Monday accompanied with Mrs. Denesen on a sentimental mission. His father, the late Samuel H. Denesen, was the late Samuel H. Denesen, was the late Samuel H. Denesen, was the United States consul at Belleville, for four years, from 1889-1893.

"I often visited the Belleville Club at Chicago. They arranged trips to this city but I was never able to come with them as I should have liked to do," he told a reporter on Monday.

Given Farewell

It is nearly forty years since the consul left here. He was given a splendid send-off with banquet and presentation of a gold-headed cane. Many friends of the late Mr. Denesen have passed away, though many remain. Hard to reach them as he stopped here, his son took the occasion of telling the press how much he would have been pleased to meet friends of his father and how he had thought of Belleville and what a high place it held in the affections of the association of his father with the city.

When Mr. Denesen left Belleville thirty-nine years ago he went to live with his son, Charles E. Denesen, who is a lawyer in Chicago. He had been a professor in Shurtleff College, Lebanon, Illinois, before he went into the consular service. After retiring he lived but two years dying at the age of 87. He had been wounded in the Civil War and had never quite been cured of the effects. He recovered from his wounds, brought to the town.

Belleville's visitor of Monday, as an infant in arms was taken by his mother to see his father. Then to the front.

The family women were not allowed to go. She lived in a tent and her husband was permitted to come and see his wife and child.

Ex-Senator Charles E. Denesen is travelling eastward into Quebec, travelling, accompanied by Mrs. Denesen, who is on her first trip through Canada.

ZION W.M.S.

The regular meeting of Zion W.M.S. for the month of August was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Stevenson, on Wednesday last.

The president, Mrs. Denyes, opened the meeting with hymn 86 followed by a Study in Temperance by a verse of "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Prayer by Mrs. W. C. Reichenoo and Mrs. Ross was followed by the Scripture lesson from John 1.1-19 given by Mrs. Hawley.

Hymn 383 "I Need Thee Every Hour" was sung and the minutes of last meeting read and approved.

After a short time given for the business of the society and Mission Band, Miss Olive Searles favored with a delightful solo.

A short pray was enacted by three of the ladies bearing on the need of promptness in renewing and study of our missionary monthly.

Mrs. Denyes conducted a discussion on the officers of the Dominion board, also the mission taken by the Study Book in our meetings. It was decided to have the new Study Book for the coming year.

After the Watch Tower, all joined in singing hymn 334 "I Love to Tell the Story" and Mrs. Ray closed the meeting with prayer.

The hostess served a delightful lunch and a social half hour was spent together.

One hundred thousand dollars invested in a children's playground in one of our cities is far more remunerative than $1,000 a 700 spent in building a prison or reformatory.—George W. Wickersham.

SON BORN TO LINDBERGHS

Mrs. Lindbergh is at Home of Mother And Doing Fine

Englewood, N.J., Aug. 16.—A son was born to Colonel and Mrs. Chas. A. Lindbergh at 6.30 a.m. Eastern Standard Time today.

The child, the second son to be born to the Lindberghs, was born at the Morrow home here five months and seven days after the first baby was kidnapped from the Lindbergh home in Hopewell, N.J.

The Lindberghs first baby was 20 months old when he was kidnapped and would have been a little more than two years old now if he had lived.

His dead body was found near the Lindbergh home, however, after a world-wide search and officials believed that he had been killed by the kidnappers, perhaps accidentally, almost immediately after he was stolen from his nursery.

The fact that Mrs. Lindbergh was expecting a second child became generally known only after the first son was kidnapped. She was under constant medical care during the long search for the baby and his kidnappers and had been in retirement since her return to the home of her mother several months ago.

Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, after the first baby had been found dead and Mrs. Lindbergh had given proof of such fortitude that it was decided it was unnecessary for her to leave, went for a brief visit abroad with her children and only recently returned to be with Mrs. Lindbergh at this time.

BROCKVILLE LAWYER ADDRESSES ROTARY

Donald E. Lewis, barrister of Brockville, Past Governor International Rotary District No. 28, was the guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of Belleville Rotary Club in Rotel Quinte Monday, Mr. Lewis' address was confined almost entirely to the opportunities which Rotary affforded for useful community service and stressed especially Rotary's Sixth Objective, International Peace, and the world wide influence Rotary was wielding in the cause of world peace and international fellowship through its many members and many clubs in so many countries. In this connection he described the battlefield of Peace as they were in 1917 and 1918 and as they are now since reorganization. Rotary he likened to a giant power house with many transmission lines across the continents to be kept humming and batteries charged or the whole mass of useful machinery is dead.

Mr. Lewis is a very pleasing speaker and his address was one of very inspirational by the Rotarians present.

PLATINUM BLONDE MAY SOON BE A REDHEAD

Chicago, Aug. 16.—The platinum blonde vogue as a style invented, Max Hoefer, president of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' Association said today, and a new trend predicted this. He made it plain, however, the modernistic blonde woman may remain a moderate blonde and still be in fashion, but those with the extremely light shades probably would come out with brunet and titian locks. It would be either that he said, or a copper brunet.

At The Belle

CORINNE GRIFFITH IN "LILY CHRISTINE"

Corinne Griffith, star of "Black Oxen" and "Lilies of the Field," comes to the Belle Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, matinee daily in her newest picture, "Lily Christine," the film version of Michael Arlen's newest best-seller novel.

"Lily Christine" is the story of a woman whose nobility of character was so great that she risks love itself rather than bring disgrace to her mate—even though he deserved it.

Upon discovering that her husband has been engaging in a flirtation with a worldly actress, she at first seeks the aid of her friends in overcoming the problem, but they offer nothing, misjudging her intention, and accusing her of a mindset in which she has no part.

Then her husband himself turns against her. She still attempts courageously, to throw off the shadow of scandal, but unsuccessfully. Desperate at last she deliberately seeks to become involved in a public disgrace so that he might win a divorce from her.

This fails too—and the finale, which soon follows, provides a dramatic, pulse-quickening denouement.

Margaret Bannerman and Colin Clive are featured in the main supporting roles. Miss Bannerman has appeared in many movies and on the stage in England and Australia. Clive herself is remembered as the hero of "Frankenstein." He also created the role of Captain Stanhope in "Journey's End."

Four Screen Gems

Four varied and highly entertaining screen gems have been arranged for presentation on the same program and include Glen Tryon in "Ship a Hooey," a guaranteed cure for the "depression blues." Rudy Vales and his orchestra in the musical campus delight, "Honeymoon College." Screen Snapshots, revealing favorite stars at work and play, and the latest Metrotone Newsreel with its gist of important events garnered the world over.

At The Capitol

"MISS PINKERTON BRINGS JOAN BLONDELL IN HER FIRST STARRING PICTURE

In "Miss Pinkerton," a modern mystery thriller which comes to the Capitol Theatre next Wednesday, the management of the Capitol finds a series of reasons for claiming.

It brings to the screen the latest and most sensational literary effort of Mary Robert Rinehart, one of America's really great women writers.

The story which ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post, is one of the year's most exciting and has been made by Lloyd Bacon—director of "Firemen Save My Child," "The Famous Ferguson Case" and other successes—into one of the season's outstanding motion hits.

Miss Blondell, through a long succession of important and leading roles, has shown such amazing developmnt in her character interpretation and screen artistry that her talent has been recognized by critics and public alike as that of stellar rank.

Her sparkling beauty and personality, together with her brilliant interpretations, have caught the fancy of the motion picture public so that her popularity is now flaming hot.

Mary Roberts Rinehart, one of the world's foremost authors, the master of mystery drama, author of "The Bat," "The Door," and scores of best sellers, has surpassed all other achievements in his story which has held millions of readers of The Saturday Evening Post and is a best selling novel.

"The scenes are laid in and about New York City and the title is given to the nurse because she is the character deductively in finding the slayer while working as a nurse in the household.

The story is woven about a clever nurse who is called by the police to take care of an elderly woman who is prostrated by the sudden shooting of her brother. However, it is not known whether the death is an accident, suicide or murder and there is a matter of $100,000 insurance involved. Miss Pinkerton sees things in the house that finally lead to the unravelling of the mystery.

Wednesday is Glassware Gift Night as usual.

FEWER WOMEN IN BIG SWIM

Gertrude Ederle's Entry is, The Surprise of Event

Toronto (By the Canadian Press) —Fewer women swimmers entered so far for the 10 mile Canadian National Exhibition marathon to be held August 26 than have figured in contests of past years. But the best of the newcomers will be in the race. Several well known swimmers are in training around Toronto who have not yet fyled their entry.

Gertrude Ederle's entry is the surprise of the event and there is much speculation as to her chances. The first girl to swim the English Channel was thought to be more or less out of long distance swimming but, in a recent letter to a friend here, she asserted "I am not through yet." She is handicapped now by a difficulty in hearing, possibly caused by water. But she is confident she can come back. This year's swim will be more favorable to the speed girls as the course is entirely within the sea wall.

Another member of the women's swim this year totals $6,000 for six winning, or more than $3,000 a swim. $1,500; third $700; fourth $500; fifth $200 and sixth $100. The first prize money is to be $11,000, and $3,000 has been marked for the winners of the special speed swims at the end of the marathon. The purse is valued at $20,000 in all.

Ruth Downing, the 18 year old girl who finished in the money in the short swim a year ago, is the main hope of Toronto this year. She is a natural swimmer and gave the Ederle girl, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to home from'a business trip to Toronto. An injured has been declared unnecessary by Dr. R. E. Wesion, Coroner.

COTTON, RICE CROP DAMAGED

Tenant Farmers Principal Suffers in Texas Hurricane

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 16.—Tenant farmers constitute principal sufferers of the hurricane which swept southeastern Texas taking at least 23 lives.

Relief workers estimiged more than 1,000 persons were destitute. Emergency stations continued treating the injured, estimated variously from 200 up and in most cases requiring hospitalization.

The Red Cross and Houston Relief Society distributed food and other necessities. The Government ordered the coast guard cutter Unalga, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to aid in relief work.

Agricultural authorities said the damage to crops would run into millions, with the major ones—cotton and rice—estimated to be damaged to the extent of $2,000,000.

MAN BURNED ALIVE IN CAR

Crashes Into Tree And Immediately Takes Fire

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 16—Geo. F. Agur, 47, a well-known resident of Tillsonburg, was burned, alive today after his car crashed into a tree on No. 2 highway, instantly in front of the township cemetery.

The engine of the car was driven into the front seat and the car was a complete wreck, with the charred remains of Mr. Agur lying red almost beyond recognition.

Identification was positively established by means of the car's license plates. Deceased, who was an insurance salesman, was returning home from'a business trip to Toronto. An inquest has been declared unnecessary by Dr. R. E. Wesion, Coroner.

ARMY WORM GOES STRAIGHT FORWARD

BROADVIEW, Sask. — Armies of super-heet velworms recently passed through a number of Saskatchewan towns, and have been seen in all sections of the province in amazing numbers this year.

These worms, or caterpillars, do not eat wheat and hagely touch oats and barley. When an army passes through a grain field it will clean out every weed except those of the grass family. They like garden truck, however, and have done considerable damage to gardens.

The worms evidently march in a straight line and cannot be deflected from their course. When they come to a house or barn they crawl up the wall and over the roof and continue their journey.

PORCUPINE CAUSES PLENTY COMMOTION

Montreal (by the Canadian Press) Ontario Kashenbury's pet porcupine strolled down St. Hubert to Sherbrooke street and took up a vacation under a house gallery. One man tried to dislodge the pet, with disastrous results. He required medical attention.

A policeman, with peat experience as a cowboy, arrived on the scene and lassoed the porcupine. An empty garbage can was the home at the police station until the owner appeared.

Mr. Kashenburger explained the animal came into his garden in Lachenaison some weeks ago and he has kept it here ever since.

DELEGATES EXPECT AGREEMENT TONIGHT

Time of Conference is Extended as Britain and Canada Strike a Snag

No Pact With Canada Unless Russian Dumping Restricted

BENNETT SPEAKS

Satisfactory Ending is Expected When Parley Rises

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 17 (CP)—Swirling in the humid heat of mid-summer Ottawa, despatches to the Imperial Economic Conference are stirring industriously to reduce to acceptable formulae a single set of economic principles, policies and principles. A new tea assembly is scheduled to drop the curtain on Saturday, the last minute task, brought to a ceaseless stream of meetings and conversations.

Not unnaturally the situation is pregnant with rumor and speculation. Great Britain and Canada have struck a snag; Australia and the United Kingdom are deadlocked; Baldwin has come to an agreement with Stalin; the British have turned down all offers of preference in their submission to continue trade with Soviet Russia; they have rejected this, that and the other thing. An endless stream of bold prediction and information issues from the national capital but it is undoubtedly correct a great deal has yet to be proved.

Saturday Last Day

What is definite is that all plans for holding the second plenary session tomorrow have been swept aside and nothing definitely settled that even Saturday will be the last day. By such uncertainties is the conference at the moment shrouded.

In public the delegates continue to reiterate their high expectations of tangible benefits which will accrue to the commonwealth nations as a result of the conference. Details are still to be worked out and many questions of a highly interesting nature will be held over for consideration during the next few weeks or months. Some private matters of policy and so of such a character as to preclude the rendering of decisions by the delegations without further consultation with their home governments. Others embrace the mechanics of closer co-operation and will be left to the future care of experts.

Much Accomplished

The extravagant expectation of those, however, who foresaw in the conference the creation of a new heaven and a new earth will fall far short of realization. At the same time, the work of the conference must not be discounted. Much will be accomplished, and many obstacles will be removed from the path of intra-commonwealth trade.

For a moment the larger and nearer issues of the conference have pushed the Anglo-Irish situation into the background. It has not been lost sight of, though; for after meeting here.

WEEDS TAKE DEADLY GRIP ON SWIMMER

Kenneth Faux's Bathing Suit Tightens on Waist

PULLED UNDER

Provident'al Rock in Bay Saves Belleville Man

Clinging to a large rock, which was projecting out of the Bay of Quinte, Kenneth Faux, 61 South John Street, Belleville managed to hang on until help came and saved him from a watery grave Tuesday afternoon.

Young Faux, accompanied by Vic Hannah, and Rene St. Denis also of this city, had started out to swim from the foot of George Street to the Government Dock. The three swimmers had rolled the top portion of their bathing suits down to their waists due to the intense heat They were making good progress in their endeavours of swimming across the gap from George Street to the dock when suddenly Kenneth found his bathing suit became entangled in the weeds which are quite plentiful in that particular section of the bay. The other two swimmers were somewhat ahead of Faux and did not realize the predicament until reaching the dock.

Failed Under

When the weeds got tangled in the bathing suit they pulled the swimmer completely under the water. Faux tried to free himself but the harder he struggled the more the bathing suit was tightening about his waist. Later Faux became exhausted and went down for the first time after shouting loudly for assistance. When he came to the surface again he noticed a large rock which its top was projecting out of the bay nearby and managed to get there by swimming with both hands. Faux was completely exhausted by now but managed somehow to cling to the projecting rock.

Boatman Saves Him

Later, it is said by Faux, that a man in a rowboat passed within hailing distance but that refused to assist the unfortunate youth by this time Faux's two companions had reached the Government Dock and hailed a boatman who was engaged in the work of the Government Dock. The boatman immediately put off in search of unknown, hurried to the scene of the near drowning and after helping Faux to get his bathing suit off, pulled him into his boat.

Faux was then taken ashore where a large number of nearby residents gathered to see the rescuing Faux's shouts of distress. Although Faux had been taken into a hastated condition he was later reported that he was enjoying the best of health despite his exciting experience in the waters of the bay. Faux's companions, who probably saved Faux's life apparently, are also reported as not as mysteriously as he appeared in the side of the dock as the bathing suit was later picked up near the scene of the near tragedy.

COL. LINDBERGH WANTS SECLUSION

Believe Baby Will be Named After His Grandfather

Englewood, N.J., Aug. 17—In an atmosphere of quiet and peace, the two men and Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took a second day of life today.

In reference to the wishes of Col. Lindbergh, who said in a statement last night he desired as little public attention as possible centred on the baby boy, yesterday, the family was left in seclusion.

Friends seemed agreed that the baby would probably be named after his grandfather, the late Senator Dwight Morrow. The statement was forthcoming, but the health of mother and child was believed to be good.

Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 17—Members of the family of Betty Gow, who was the nurse of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., when he was kidnapped more than two months ago, said today she would return to the United States in October to act as nurse of the new Lindbergh baby.

Miss Gow, who came here recently to spend a holiday at her home was touring England today, her family said.

Three Ton Blue Granite Boulder in Prehistoric Whirlpool in Quarry

Countless thousands of years ago, when the present Moira River, fed by glacial streams, ran miles wide, deep and swollen, through the district north of, when the city of Belleville now stands, a tiny whirlpool originated in the rushing waters which then sped over the spot now given over to the city quarry. During intervening aeons with the action of the silt and gravel which it bore it ground steadily down through the solid limestone bed of the river into a cup-like depression, glassy smooth, six feet deep and about twenty feet across. More thousands of years elapsed. The waters of the river receded, dried out and formed the channel of the present river.

The hole which was formed had filled in and been covered over with the silt of the ages. It lay concealed in the solid rock waiting for the spell it should be uncovered again, which was finally a few days ago, when city quarry workers, blasting, uncovered it. The quarry is rea lt.

Tons of sticky blue clay had filled the depression and, were dug out by quarry workers. In the bottom of the pot they found a three ton blue granite boulder. How the whirlpool originated, whether the granite boulder, which lies in the bottom had worn the hole by the action of the water moving it around, leads to much speculation by dozens of amateur geologists who had journeyed to the city quarry within the past day or so since it was uncovered to view the million year old handiwork of Mother Nature.

For a day or so the sight will remain unattended although workers of the quarry will remove a few feet of it. With the approach of the autumn drills and men with crowbars however, the exhibit will soon go by way of other prehistoric remains of the district unless steps are taken to preserve it. Meanwhile interest increased around more will probably journey to the Story of Three Bears Brought Vividly to Members of Boy Scout Troop at Salmon Lake

Five Scouts Treed All Night When Mrs. Bruin Prowls Around

FIRE ATTRACTS

Annual Vacation to Northland Has Many Thrills

Patrol leader, Jack Doyle, Ronald Doyle, Bill Adams, James Stone and James McKenna, all members of the 9th Belleville Troop of Boy Scouts, possibly at some time in their lives will look back on the story of Three Bears of story book fame, but any lingering affection they might have had for those three bears, or all bears in general, was completely dispelled in the wee small hours, a few nights ago they sat on the smouldering ash of fire outside a cabin, at Little Salmon Lake, in a tree high above the ground, and they wondered if the bears could climb, and wishing heartily that it would stop raining, all the while a big she bear and her range cub lumbering around the camp clearing provided at the foot of the tree below.

The boys had been chased to the limbs of the tree and the porch of the cabin above by the bears, which when the big bear and cub, attracted by the fire, which had been built by the boys, ambled noiselessly through the woods, poked her nose out of the fire, which had been kept away from the nearest boy on one of the logs that smouldered in its hearty but most disconcerting fashion. Mrs. Bruin, South, Scouts, was taught, to respond to all emergencies from whatever angle they appeared, and to respond in their second and with only one idea in mind. And that idea prompted the swiftly sought refuge in the tree, as soon as Mrs. Bruin commenced action again, to let Bruin and her youngsters take full possession of the camp, which they had undertaken for the night. Sometime along about three o'clock in the still descending, the bear crossed reconnoitered and Saunders' camping and field clear for the boys to make their way down out of the tree and back to camp seven miles away, which they had left the day before. Just One Incident

That, however, was only one little incident in the boys' experience during their two weeks' vacation at their camp near Salmon Lake, some distance north of Bridge, which has been healthy and happy from roughing it, under the command of Scoutmaster

STORIES FROM PARLEY CAUSE DISCUSSIONS

London, Aug. 17 (C.P. Cable)—The Imperial Conference which ties published here today attracted considerable attention.

Lord Hailsham, Lord Privy Seal, Mr. Bennett were seen in heated discussions on the steps of the parliament buildings," according to one story. "Mr. Bennett, who was red in the face, was seriously annoyed while Lord Hailsham emphatically hammered home his argument."

Mid-conference attacks on the Canadian premier in sections of the English press aroused Canadians and unfortunate regarding been reproduced on the side," says another writer, "and just when the conversations were the most delicate. To say they are resented would be an understatement. To say they do not represent the views of the British delegation should be unnecessary."

J. Watson and Assistant Scoutmaster Max Porritt, the lads each regaining their camping tales of life in the woods they had been camping through the early avenues of trees right, and left, and in the dark mark, "Who's afraid of bears, now!" Next month, though, that the bear and her cub was the high adventure of the boys' camp. Under the guidance of Scoutmaster Watson, the boys left the camp with the cabin was reached but the bears had taken up their position to wait, while Mr. Watson returned to the main group. Lighting a fire as soon as he was out of sight, he decided to camp out all night. Just before midnight, though, attracted by the blaze, arrived with her cub, which the boys had previously already mentioned. The boys had no fire-arms, they are not permitted to use them.

At the main camp aquatic events with the chief feature, with the majority of the boys passing numerous land and water tests. There was not a moment's sickness during the whole time, probably because there was no time for it. This camping vacation is an annual event with the boys, who look eagerly each year. This season just twelve scouts made up the party.

Handling War Debts Choice Between An Orderly and Disorderly World

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 17 —"The United States' choice between reduction in the war debt settlements and further increase in the insistence on full payments is actually a choice between an orderly and a disorderly world today, declared Prof. T. E. Gregory, noted British economist, on the staff of the London School of Economics, before the Institute of Politics.

The Lausanne Reparations agreement is the first real step toward pacification of Europe, now that the world's financial markets in London and New York are convalescing, Prof. Gregory said. He urged the United States to assist in their recovery by reducing the overburdening factor of war debts.

To reduce the inflationary influences to reduce the war debts, he asserted, "it is as certain as anything that the effect of the reparation will lead to a moratorium by Germany on private as well as on public debt.

Allured circumstances, he said, had reduced Britain's capacity to pay its debts to the United States. He maintained her position was not altogether due to the gold standard, and that her subjects were taxed to the limit.

ECONOMY IN ITALIAN NAVY IS SWEEPING

130,000 Tons of Italy's Navy Forces to be Retired

CREWS TAKEN OFF

Fifty-One Ships Affected But Not at Once Scrapped

ROME, Aug. 17.—Approximately 130,000 tons of Italy's naval forces will be retired beginning Aug 25 as a result of an economy move and a sweeping re-organization of the Italian fleet.

These will include two battleships, three heavy cruisers, nine cruisers 28 destroyers and a dozen submarines, all old but still within the age limit.

The ships will be stripped of their crews but not immediately scrapped, in this condition they will continue to serve as a bartering point when the naval disarmament conference resumes its discussion at Geneva this fall. Caretakers will be left aboard the ships to keep them from deteriorating

First Reorganization

Simultaneously with the retirement schedule comes the reorganization of the fleet. This involves creation of two squadrons. Each will consist of seven 10,000-ton cruisers. None more than three years old, with headquarters at Spezia. The second squadron is of 5,000-ton cruisers, three not less two years old, some of which hold world speed records. Its headquarters will be at Taranto.

TRADE SHOWS SURE REVIVAL

Encouragement Brought to New Zealand Producers

Wellington, N.Z., Aug. 17.—(Can Press Cable)—Rising prices and faith in the ultimate success of the Ottawa conference have led to a marked revival of confidence in New Zealand commercial and representative newspapers.

"The dawn of the price of wool and a firmer tone in the prices of dairy products have brought encouragement to New Zealand producers, who began the year facing the gloomiest outlook widespread unemployment. New Zea'and is maintaining its trade balance of trade in imports, and money is now reported to be circulating more freely. The National Government has effected a considerable reduction in expenditure.

New Zealand is now passing through its winter season, which so far has enjoyed unusually mild weather, and little unemployment. The coming spring is expected to bring further gains when the results of increased British trade make themselves felt.

DEFECTIVE WIRING IS CAUSE OF FIRE

Milverton, Ont., Aug. 17— Only smouldering ruins remain today of the huge barn of Donald Jack, Wellington township, destroyed in a fast-burning fire late last night with loss of nearly $10,000 partly covered by insurance.

In addition to the barn, two adjoining buildings, much of the season's crop and valuable equipment were destroyed. The fire was believed caused by defective wiring in the structure.

HORSES NAMED AFTER LEADERS NOT SO GOOD

London, Aug. 17 (C.P. Cable) —"R. B. Bennett is no wonderful horse," said Ernest Hemingway, unless he has won races, and gave the opinion of being on the improve."

To refute the report of a racing critic from Stockton, where a horse named R. B. Bennett, owned by Lady Houston, finished third in a race yesterday.

The same writer added that a horse bearing the name of Jim Thomas was among the last in races today. "But other owners," he adds, "are apparently so sick of this individual that only the thinks it worth while opposing him."

Entire Population of Harbin is Being Vaccinated by Doctors to Prevent Spread of Dread Disease in China

BANDITS STEAL $300,000 DURING FLOOD

Millions Homeless by Floods Which Sweep Various Sections of Manchuria Early Wednesday and Carry Away Their Homes

Harbin, Manchuria, Aug. 17 — A total of 910 lives were reported lost in floods in various sections of North Manchuria today. At the same time 3,000 persons reported taking three hundreds of people have been rendered homeless by the floods.

tion of Harbin was being vaccinated.

Bandits stole $300,000 from the Chinese bank at Boduine while it was flooded.

While the figures are appalling, they are conservative, it is declared.

SEEK WAY OUT BY NIGHTFALL

Most-Favored Nations Treaties Under Question

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 17—Canadian and United Kingdom delegates at the Empire Conference are seeking the formula of settlement.

A meeting of the Canadian cabinet called for this morning and postponed to permit resumption of discussions with British delegates. Up to one o'clock, the elusive formula balked discovery, but there was every hope that by evening a way out will be found. Discussion between legal members of both the United Kingdom and Canadian delegations indicate that negotiations have reached the drafting stage.

Preferential Trade

Linked with preferential agreements is the question of most-favored-nation treaties. The United Kingdom has a wide series of most-favored-nation treaties — some of them very old—with foreign powers. Their effect might be to violate any preferences granted by the United Kingdom to the Dominions. South Africa has a treaty under which any future preferences are automatically extended to Germany. This, if made effective, would give Germany the right in the South African market to any future preferences given by South Africa.

GUN BOUGHT AFTER OWNER SHOWS HOW

London, Ont., Aug. 17—Jake, the pawnbroker, had loaned his gun to a friend, but Jake later returned it as a customer was asking to see another gun. "Here's a dandy," said Jake, picking up his own weapon. He pulled back the hammer and pulled the trigger.

The bullet went through the corner of the cash register, ripping a hole in the wall and a sheaf of invoices, on through a curtain, and finally imbedded into the plate glass window of the store. The gun-toter bought the gun without further demonstration.

SPEED COURTS TO END RIOTS

Despite Conviction Violence Continues in Germany

Berlin, Aug. 17 (AP)—Germany's new "speed" courts, authorized by the government to provide swift retribution for rioters, smashed at violences today, but the rioting went on.

A farm woman and two farmers were sentenced in three years at Breslau for heckling at a meeting of Hitlers, National Socialists. At Bring the court was forced to adjourn because of the heat after hearing conflicting statements about a street fight between Nazis and Republicans at Rostock were sentenced to nineteen months in jail for beating a Nazi.

Wounded by Police

In the meantime, two persons were wounded by police in a Communist demonstration here which was one of a series of such affairs throughout the night. Scattered clashes kept the police on the run in Berlin. In the provinces sporadic fist-fights in a number of places were squelched by the local authorities.

WEATHER

Toronto, Aug. 17—Showers and thunderstorms have occurred over the north parts of Ontario and Quebec where the weather has been warm. It continues fair in the Maritimes and in Western provinces and has become cooler in Manitoba.

Weather Forecasts: Northerly winds: fair and somewhat cooler today and Thursday.

Brief Wire Messages

Bizerte, Tunis—Four men were burned to death when a seaplane, on a night flight from the French naval base at Kazouba, crashed in flames at El Azib, near here.

New York—Ziegfeld has passed on, but not his idea of glorifying the American girl. A. C. Blumenthal and Leonard Sues, of the late producer, announced the revue would be continued.

Hollywood, Cal.—Turtle racing has arrived in Hollywood. Fifteen thousand of them have been shipped here and a 4,000 seat grandstand completed. Just to help the spectators to follow the races, the turtles will have white enamel on their backs with black numerals thereon.

Philadelphia—An escaped boa constrictor thought he was having a good time, but it was all an illusion. The snake, whose reported departure from a pet shop sent shivers through the town of Upper Darby, was found in the shop, cuddling under a radiator—which was heatless.

City and District News

SINGING CLASS SOON READY

The "Knot-Hole Gang" singing class held their weekly meeting in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday night. Mr. Newt. Thompson was in charge of the group, which numbers about 40 young boys between the ages of twelve and seventeen. His aims are "Forward in Singing" and states they are rapidly learning to sing. He expects they will be ready to appear early in the fall. Bert Rowland presides at the piano. Arley practise the boys enjoyed a swim in the pool of the "Y".

WIG-WAG ALARM IS INSTALLED

Installation of the new wig-wag alarm at Grier street crossing of the Canadian National Railway was completed during the latter part of last week in record time. The system which has been in operation for some time is said to be a success for many improvements have made an appreciable effect on the traffic using that crossing, formerly considered one of the most dangerous in the city. High bluffs on each side of the road contribute to the poor visibility afforded. With the alarm system working, motorists at the section state, that drivers of vehicles make more frequent stops. Two wig-wags which have been placed in face a different direction on the crossing.

POSTAL ACTIVITY FILMING SHOWN

Today (Wednesday) and Thursday the Capitol Theatre programme will include a 31-bit of universal interest, namely a film review of the activities of the post office in the various branches of the service under the title of "The Magic Carpet."

This film conclusively proves that there is more to the mailing and receiving of postal communications than the purchase of a three-cent stamp.

Actually, there is more value received in a penny post card, affixed in a postage stamp than in any other known commodity. This film should most certainly be seen by every one. It is a revelation!

IMPROVEMENT SEEN AT WATER PLANT

With cement work finished, fountain installed, grounds levelled and seeded, and the grass beginning to grow, great improvement in the area about the pumping station and filtration plant has been effected, generally several of the city council took time off to visit the plant and grounds and declared themselves greatly satisfied with the work which has been and is being done. With the ramps covered with grass a year from now, greater improvement will be noticed.

HEAT WAVE IS STILL PREVALENT

Although a rather marked heat wave has been felt nearly during the past few days, no marked variation in the temperatures were noticed between Monday and Wednesday. The mercury registered 93 high on Tuesday and fell as low as 57 during the early morning hours. On Wednesday, however, the mercury fail to but 61 early in the morning but had soared until it touched the 88 mark at noon.

Tabs 70 fit

According to announcement made yesterday by Premier Henry as Minister of Education Colonel A. Hoines, principal of Model Consolidated School has been appointed to be a teacher in the Ontario School for the Deaf.

LINGHAM STREET IS RESURFACED

Public works department employees commenced work on Lingham street, Wednesday, where considerable rebuilding and repairing of the road at the far end will be necessary. Crushed stone for the work is being supplied by the quarry, which is still in operation.

SNEAK THIEVES BREAK IN STORE

Sneak thieves are reported by the police to have broken into the old laundry building which previously was occupied by the Gill Laundry at the corner of West Main and North Front Streets, some time lately.

The building is at present used as a store house and just when the robbery had taken place could not be ascertained. Upon investigating the police found that two step ladders, two pails, some lumber and numerous other small articles had been tried about, were missing.

The burglars gained their entrance to the building through a side window on the west side of the building. The police are looking into the matter.

ALLEGE CAR SECURED BY WORTHLESS CHEQUE

On a charge of obtaining a motor car by the means of issuing a worthless cheque Rose E. Johnson of the Parry Sound district, appeared in the local police court bail before Magistrate Mikel this morning and was remanded for one week.

It is alleged by the police, that Johnson purchased the motor car from a local dealer on July 8th last and tendered a worthless cheque in payment. Later Johnson disappeared from this community. Circulars were sent out to all parts of the province by the local police giving a complete description of both Johnson and the car.

Johnson was apprehended in Bracebridge by the Provincial Police on Tuesday and held in custody until Belleville police department of the Belleville police department arrived. Tuesday night. From the prisoner to Belleville, where he face the charge.

FLYING BOUDOIR AFTER AIR RECORD

Welland, Ont., Aug. 17.—The lady of Amadeus Aamanskie was discovered early today on his farm at Cooks' Mills, Ont., here. It is thought that he died from injuries received by being kicked by a horse. He leaves a wife and family.

Schools Reopen Thursday Sept. 1

Belleville schools, Collegiate Vocational and public reopen on Thursday, September 1st. This definite assurance was given by the chairman of the local Board of Education, Mr. A. R. Schryver, when speaking to the press. There have been stories going about opening at a later date, but these, are unwarranted.

To delay the opening of the schools would mean a loss of a percentage of the grants of the Department of Edution, Mr. Schryver stated. "Taxpayers would not want that."

St. Michael's Separate School reopens on September 1st.

The first of September is the date set forth in the regulations of the Department of Education of Ontario.

FIREMEN MAKE READY FOR CHARITY DANCE

Preliminary arrangements for their charity ball to be held in the Armouries on the evening of October 3, have been about completed by Fire Chief William Lynch and members of the local fire department who have been working on the project for some time. Assurance that the Armouries will be available for the grand event declared has been received by the department from militia authorities in Kingston, to whom they have applied. Proceeds of this ball, as in former years will go towards the Christmas Fund to supply needy children of the city with seasonal luxuries.

BOOK SYSTEM IN SCHOOLS

Scholars of Public Schools Will Enter Under New Conditions

School books and school supplies which will be furnished scholars of the public schools under a law recently to be adopted for the first time in the history of the city will be ready for the pupils the first day of school opening, on September 7, according to Mr. H. J. Kim, chairman of the committee of the Board of Education, through whose efforts the system has been adopted after an exhaustive survey of the system which had been in operation in other cities for some years past. Parents of public school pupils are asked by the committee not to purchase school supplies for their children at school opening as all necessary supplies for the class room will be given them by their teachers on the payment per parents of the nominal sum recently named. Further particulars regarding the system and method of distribution will be given by the Board through an advertisement in the Ontario Intelligencer in the near future.

Some time ago the Board of Education purchased a supply of text book school stocks from held by local dealers. Since then tenders for supplying the public schools with all books and supplies for the coming year had been advertised and accepted. Although no deliveries have been made as yet there is enough material already on hand to put the system into operation within an hour's notice.

It is drawn to the attention of parents and readers of this journal this material applies to either Collegiate or Vocational classes.

MOTHERHOOD CRAFT HOMES ESTABLISHED

Calgary, Aug. 17—(By The Canadian Press)—New Zealand's child welfare work is one of the greatest in the British Empire, according to a report from Miss Ina K. Watt, of Edmonton, who is making a tour of that country. Karitane or mothercraft homes, have been established in New Zealand and are proving very valuable in lowering infant mortality.

These homes, started by Sir. F. Truby-King, noted New Zealand physician, are run by women trained nurses in the care and feeding of delicate and sickly babies. The first of the homes was established in Dunedin, and its name "Karitane" was, taken from the suburb in which it was located. There are also extended to Canada, Australia and England. A training home has been established in Toronto, Ont.

Karitane mothers teach mothers to dress and weigh their babies. Room temperature is kept at 80 degrees although each infant has three hot-water bottles in its basket. They sleep out of doors nearly all day while the nurses move the basket from one to the other so that the children get as much health-giving air as possible.

Many girls in New Zealand have taken up Karitane training. New Zealand's low death rate is attributed to some extent to this system.

NIOBE RAISED WITH 69 DEAD

Parents of Dead Cadets Assemble at Port of Kiel

Kiel, Germany, Aug. 17— The hulk of the naval training ship Niobe was dragged back to port today with the bodies of 69 cadets who perished when the ship foundered off the coast 22 days ago.

Like the Niobe of mythology, whose children went unburied for 12 days, the hulk lay under water here and divers hoped to reach the bodies and bring them ashore later.

Parents of the lost youths have been gathering for two days, but they were forced to view the operations from the shores of Heikendorfer Bay. For the public was barred until the bodies have been recovered and identified, and the death list checked.

Sank on July 26

After the old training ship sank July 26 with all sails flying, while over by a sudden, fierce squall all the resources of the navy were rushed to the port in an unsuccessful attempt to float her.

As divers went down, dynamited the masts away, and battered the hatchways down, reached them through tangled mess of ship's gear, and prepared the hulk to be torn in hare under water.

When all the bodies have been taken out, they will be buried with impressive ceremonies in a joint grave here.

The most tragic of the survivors represented is a widow whose son was one of those drowned. The boy's father lies in an unmarked grave in the North Sea where a submarine went down during the war. The mother attempted to commit suicide at the scene of the Niobe disaster, but was prevented.

SEIZED VESSEL IS MYSTERY SHIP

Windsor, Aug. 17—Two years ago, the steamer Vedas was seized by Canadian customs officials with 10-ton load of beer on board. Today the vessel is still berthed in the same place. It continues to be a "mystery ship" with no one seeming to know what will happen to it —whether it will be sold, traded, lent or scrapped.

OBITUARY

MASTER CHAS. W. JONES

The funeral of Master Charles William Jones, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Jones of Bancroft, was held on Friday from the family residence to the Anglican cemetery. The service at the home was conducted by the Rev. J. Fraser, assisted by Rev. T. H. Pepper. Rev Mr. Pepper officiated at the grave, Rev. Mr. Fraser reading the Epistle. The floral tributes were very beautiful. The entire community sympathizes with the parents in the loss by the accidental drowning of their second son, a bright boy of only two years and four months.

MRS. ETTA SPEERS

The death occurred this Wednesday morning, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Leachman, 180 Dundas St. E., of Mrs. Etta Speers, widow of the late Alexander Speers. The deceased's illness had been brief; Mrs Speers was born at Marlbk 53 years ago, the daughter of the late Seymour and Phoebe Stapleton, and had resider in Belleville the past year and a half. For a time her home was in Toronto. She was a member of the John Street Methodist Church and since making her home here, had formed many friendships. To those acquainted in her passing is extended the heartfelt sympathy of a host of this community and the adjacent countryside.

The immediate family surviving are two sons, Lorne and James of Chicago Ill.; the daughter at whose home her death occurred; two brothers, Monte Stapleton of Concecon and Harper Stapleton of Picton, and one sister, Mrs. R. J. Young of Consecon.

MRS. ETHEL MILDRED SHARLAND

Mrs. Ethel Mildred Sharland, beloved wife of Mort. F. Sharland, 76 Alexander street passed away, this Wednesday forenoon in the local Hospital. The deceased was born in Belleville, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Ayers, and had resided all her life in this community where she had a host of friends, who will miss her sadly. She was a member, and a most active participant in all the activities of Christ's Church; a member of the Parish Guild and a teacher in St. George's Sunday School. In her death the congregation has one who ever had the welfare and progress of the church work very near her heart. Esteemed highly by all who were fortunate in knowing her, their sympathy goes to those now sadly bereaved in her passing.

To mourn her loss, the immediate family remaining besides the husband are a son John and two daughters, Verna and Betty all at home; two brothers, John Ayers of Peterboro and William Ayers of Owen Sound; and four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Mitchell and Mrs. Ray Minns of Toronto, Mrs. Arthur Cribb of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Roy Hogle of this city.

No Interference With Preference

OTTAWA, Aug. 17—The Imperial Conference Committee on Foreign relations is understood to include in its report recommendations that:

(1)—No treaty obligations into which the Empire countries might enter in the future should be allowed to interfere with any mutual preference which the Governments of the Commonwealth might agree upon.

(2)—The Empire countries will free themselves from any existing treaties as might interfere with mutual preference which may be agreed upon.

The United Kingdom has Theda Girting stated favored nation treatment to Soviet Russia and countries. No treaties though are specified in the report.

PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

The prize winners of the Carr Studio picture contest has been announced and are as follows:

LEFT IT TO OFFICIALS

Brookville, Kentucky, tried a novel way in which to get the municipal expenditures down to a new low level. Council officials met the scheme that the story is being told everywhere in the press. Toronto Telegram gave it publicity for the benefit of Toronto council members and the board of control.

The Telegram says:

"In the latter part of 1931 the mayor ordered a ten per cent reduction in the salaries of the city employees, coupling with it a promise that if sufficient economies were effected in the departments the old salary scale would be restored.

"The incentive seems to have been sufficient to induce the employes to find or adopt ways and means of reducing expenditures which they had never before bothered about. Vigilance had thrift took the place of waste. The effect was not only immediate but of such a far-reaching nature that the Kentucky city has just closed its financial year with a surplus of $400,000—a consequence the City Council has been able to announce a reduction of a mill in taxation. And it has rewarded the employes for their co-operation by restoring the former salary scale and voting them $140,000 to compensate for the reductions which had been imposed."

The Telegram comments that "Where there is a will to economy among the spending departments of a city there is much that can be done toward saving money for the taxpayers."

It is believed that in years past checks have been made by Belleville officials when too ambitious council members would have rushed into new expenditures, but for the watch-dogs at the city hall.

Indeed it is the officials who carry the load of government not so much the councils. The latter have not the intimate knowledge which the officials possess of the details of civic business and it is true that officials can keep down expenditure and can point out any tendency toward extravagance shown by the elected administrations.

MORALITY OF THE PRESS

Newspapers in England do not "get away" with some of the things which are permitted in other parts of the world. A reporter there has been sentenced to two months in jail for bribing a government official in order to secure advance information.

This case must have been an anomaly in England where newspapers preserve a high moral tone and do not condone any such act on the part of members of their staffs.

This reporter in order to get a "scoop" secured advance information and had it published. Other reporters want scoops as badly as he did and they can be trusted not to break faith. They are trusted with secrets by police and others and do not divulge them. A case occurred in Toronto not long ago when newspapers for weeks held back a story which would have made a good scoop. This concerned an arrest for a big robbery and the four dailies preserved silence until the time came. Naturally two of the papers got "the break" at the crucial time, but the other two which had been waiting did not object as the news "broke" at a time when they were not issuing.

Newspapers could easily upset the entire community if they listened to every hair-brained suggestion made to them or to suggestions seemingly worth while but not at the time they are made. Newspapers could scandalize an entire community, give it a "black eye" throughout the Dominion from which it could not recover, though the attack was undeserved. They can spread scandal but they do not. There are no scandal-sheets among them. Indeed the most insignificant gossip in the smallest village of the land does more harm than all the newspapers of Canada rolled into one for a century.

TROLLEYS

Belleville once had a street railway. It began with the old horse-car, then it was electrified then it went. The tracks were lifted. In the course of years when the time came to lay a pavement the ties were taken out and all possibility of this city being served with an electric railway disappeared, though franchises existed in this district.

Once upon a time this city might have answered the situation. Today it is glad for another form of conveyance has transformed the world—the auto and the bus are here. Trolleys would have no chance of making money in a city of Belleville's size. Some cities has discarded them.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics report for 1931 shows a decrease of 9.1 per cent of passengers carried or 72,283,-133 persons bn tramways. None of the Canadian trolleys showed an increase. Decreases ranged from 4.2 to 18.5 per cent. Three electric lines passed operations these from during the year, a fourth was taken over by a steam railway. Out of the fifty two system twenly failed to earn operating expenses and after paying interest and taxes but not providing for reserves and dividends, 27 showed deficits. The net income of the other 25 more than offset these losses. Seven railways declared dividends. Toronto Transportation System showed a net income of about two and three quarter million dollars and the shrinkage of passengers over eight per cent.

AN OLD HOUSE
By Aline Michaelis

An old house breathes a welcome
From out its portals quaint,
Through every room
Has left its mark
And walls are bare of paint.

It knows the wail of infants,
Their shrill and urgent cries,
Knows children's glee
And ecstasy
Of lovers' smiles and sighs.

It has a tender pity
For feeble frails, and old;
It understands
Their folded hands,
Their dreams grown dim and cold.

An old house is so kindly
To all who enter there;
Through every room
Sweet memories bloom,
And faded hails grow fair.

BELLEVILLE'S BIG FAIR, 1932 version, is growing nearer. Remember the Big Show starts on Tuesday, August 30 which is just around the corner, and continues Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, August 31, September 1 and 2. Belleville Fair belongs to the whole district of the Bay of Quinte and every resident thereof should be proud of this annual exposition of the products and prowess of the district and the good use made of Nature's lavish gifts in productive soil and healthful happy homes. Belleville folks should feel particularly proud of having the annual district exposition here and should do everything in their power to add to its popularity and growth. Belleville Fair this year will have a fine program and will entertain visitors in their best manner. Let's all get together and put this year's fair over in the biggest possible way, as the Exhibition has in the history. Invite your rural friends who have been so good to you in this part of the country and wish you Fair Year and help celebrate Belleville's Biggest and Best Fair Year.

MICROBE HUNTERS, a rather bulky volume, was recommended to me as an interesting book by a friend. More interesting than a novel, said he. Sounded hooey to me, but I tackled Microbe Hunters and was more than interested. The stories of the lives of microbe hunters such as Pasteur, Koch, Jenner, and others, of the chances they took with their lives in studying deadly disease germs for the benefit of humanity are more thrilling than the cleverest novel thriller ever written. Preventative medicine, the conquering of diphtheria, small pox, yellow fever, malaria, sleeping sickness and other malignant diseases in men, as well as diseases of cattle, has a history which reads like romance, and those who like to mix a bit of instruction with their reading in a pleasing, painless way, should read "Microbe Hunters."

WALKED OVER A CARPET OF ROSES did Jimmy Walker, Mighty Mayor of New York City, when he came back from Albany where he had been on trial for his political life before Governor Roosevelt. Mayor Jimmy is mighty popular, has many friends, and big, bright, busy publicity agents. Walking over a carpet of roses between the train to his limousine was a big stunt, new enough to make the Front Page in word and picture. Mayor Jimmy is a Tammany Hall Democrat and the Republicans have been pestering him as to where he got so much mazuma in such a short time in the chief executive office of the city of New York. So far Jimmy has told them to go plump —— and they have had to go, but just now, with a Presidential election looming in the offing and a Presidential candidate lolling in the Governor's chair, Jimmy is on the spot—looks like—but still he wears the smile that springs triumphant each morning to match the beautiful rose which decorates his button hole. Why is it that most men who affect buttonhole bouquets are he litary good natured—with twines and exceptions that to them.

HOW REALLY DIFFERENT IS PHYSICAL?

Few People Believe They Are Same as The Average

BY LOUIS K. HIRSCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

If you have ever stopped to think about it and the chances are you have probably become convinced that you are quite unlike other folks in short, that you are different.

Scarcely anybody believes he is the same as the average. Few will admit that by far and large they have read and act about the same as the rest of us.

Yet it is a scientific fact that all of us are more alike than we are different. And it is merely our egos and our pride that make us feel that we are exceptional.

To be sure, we are not alike in all particulars. The more fundamental feminine traits are common to all women, and the more fundamental masculine ones to all men. And individual differences do exist of course.

If we were not more alike than different there would be no novels, plays, poetry or music. There would be no organized civilization, no appeal. It would be impossible to stir people as a unit—to touch such universal emotions as patriotism, mother love, honor, etc.

Therefore, do not be disturbed because your emotional and intellectual responses are not to be identical with those of other people. Rather give joy in the knowledge that you share as realizing common to all mankind as your rightful heritage.

People who are truly and fundamentally different usually suffer because they are so. They "don't belong" as Rupert Brooke put it in "The Hairy Ape". And they worry over it, and analyze themselves, and try by every means possible to find out why they do not fit in. Neurotics, for example, usually are that way. They realize their distinct difference from others and battle to harmonize themselves with people and the facts of life around them as they are. They are anything but proud of their differences!

But don't suppose that if you really possess differences that you must therefore be abnormal in that way. There are many varieties of intellectual differences and they vary in kind, quality and degree. The most possible combination is to be like most people as far as the ordinary reactions go, but different in one or more special traits that do not divorce you from the average, but rather glorify it, even your stature rooted in firm, average common soil.

And be careful, in trying to achieve difference, that you do not go in for eccentricities which only attract attention.

Many half-baked poets and writers in general feel called upon to wear long hair and to do other things which they think fits with genius. Women, too, will resort to all sorts of extravagant dressing to attract havior in order to be commented upon.

Yet none of these peculiarities are fundamental or genuine. They Sham—self-pretense and play-acting are soon discovered. And they fool some of the people some of the time but they soon catch up with you.

In the first place, don't worry whether you are different or not. Don't be ashamed to be concerned over traits like other people.

For if you are actually and truly different it will eventually reveal itself and be genuinely appreciated. And if such difference is meritorious you need not worry about its not being rewarded.

Letters to the Editor

CITY AN INSPIRATION
Montreal, Aug. 16, 1932

The Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ont.
Dear Sir:

It permissible I should like to convey a brief space in your paper stating some impressions gathered while on a visit to your city on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 14th and 15th.

As a city in general, it would be hard to match it for beauty, hospitality and spirit of friendliness. The clean spacious streets with their detached houses, a veritable galaxy of individual architectural design, each proud owner spurring neither time nor labour to produce the most beautiful colorful effect in floral display which gives to the place a tonic, cheerful appearance, causing pride hard to equal anywhere. I might add that no city or town, from coast to coast, can boast of having in any sense superior, or, I venture to say, equal to your beautiful lawns—certainly a credit to you, as does your up and down street after street, the splendid length and breadth of the city. This in itself speaks volumes of public spirit and interest shown by every citizen and it is the fruits of such care which makes the whole so alluring.

Sunday, Aug. 15th, being a day of "recreation," I found myself together with my wife and friends, visiting the Belleville Cemetery, where loved ones peacefully rest from their labors. It may chance for a few moments on this spot, usually given to solemn thought, I think it would be using a very mild phrase to say "a beautiful corner" for God's Acre. One could but stand for hours in that sacred enclosure and feel that contentment in the care shown and labor exercised, every spare hour seems or more of hallowed ground, and your citizens should feel proud to know that wherever it is their lot to locate Mr. Charles Schuster of Pittsburg, Pa., is in the city visiting his mother and brother.

Mr. W. S. Martin of the I.D. and D. Institute is spending a few days at Oak Hill.

Mr. H. C. Hunt who has been in the western provinces for some time has returned to the city.

Mr. John Doran of New York is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Doran, Wellington Street.

Mr. A. E. Baker of this city has been appointed Grand Sword Bearer of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Burrow of this city, and their son, Mr. Fred Burrows of New York, are visiting friends in Toronto.

At a meeting of the members of the congregation of St. Thomas Church it was decided to proceed at once to make necessary repairs and improvements to the Rectory. It is expected that the work will cost about $1500 to make the repairs and alterations. It is also decided that the building will be modern and up-to-date. The new Rector, Rev. G. R. Beamish, was present at the meeting which was presided over by Mr. J. P. C. Phillips.

Other Papers' Opinions

BRITISH PEDDLERS

The door-to-door salesman has invaded Great Britain, a writer in the Labor Magazine mournfully records, and he does not confine his works when he comes to describe the immigration. It is a comparatively new and sinister practice in Great Britain, he says, where there are more men being broken by this pernicious system of house-to-house selling than by any other phase of British salesmanship." In Canada we have come to take the door-to-door salesman for granted, and so the views of the writer who has discovered it are refreshing. He finds this selling method seriously affects the shopkeeper, who "knows where his store client, and that in many parts of Britain he is growing a veritable curse to the harassed housewife."

The alarming chance of success can be measuring by the fact that a number of these firms advertise through the leading newspapers every day of the newspaper year. A check of twelve such advertisement which appears every day over the name of the same firm looking for 'men who have a flair for salesmanship' should be sufficient warning that there is no room for them, and this despite the fact that there are several thousands of really first-class salesmen out of work. Obviously, the firm is trading in living with this class of firm they would carry on with the work, and when they had worked it successfully to advertise daily for more men. The usual outcome is for them to sell the particular commodity amongst their own friends, and then, immediately the sales possibilities of that circle are exhausted they find themselves forced to seek employment." This the writer depicts the worse side of American methods of salesmanship, but it must not be forgotten that there are door-to-door salesmen whose efforts are not confined to their own circle of friends and for the wife are modern, sixty successful work up into the larger grades of wholesale salesmanship. Nevertheless the peddler is a nuisance, and merchants and their employees are affected by his activities.—Hamilton Spectator.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL PRICES

In the desire to help business men through higher prices the investing public is interested in lower prices—that is, retail prices—is often forgotten. Retail prices are not by all previous standards, abnormally high against wholesale prices, and the particular disturbance of equilibrium has not in any measure been corrected. In Britain there has been a rise in retail prices in advance of the rise in wholesale prices, so far as the two offering can be compared. Probably the wholesale rise can only be a sure sign of recovery if retail prices are definitely kept down.—Manchester Guardian.

STAMPEDE FOR N.S.

The demand for gold has stimulated production and led to the discovery of new gold mines and the reopening of old mines. Canada is the second largest gold producing country in the world and Ontario is the largest contributor to that production. While we are interested in the progress of this province, the main pot overlogs the possibilities elsewhere, for instance in Nova Scotia. The Halifax Chronicle points out that, although gold has often been found there in fairly rich pockets, it is hard to believe that these pockets alone held all the gold currently withdrawn.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Poet's Corner

WAKING OF A CITY

Oh, I have seen the dawn above the mountain
That floods the plain,
Where life stirs up, the water from a fountain,
All sweet again.
Then seen the world awaken like a child
With eyes of blue,
That stretched its arms, breathed deeply then and smiled
That night was through.

But cities have no peaks, they have but valleys
No sweet breast,
From restless sleep crawl out of cluttered alleys
To day's unrest.
On streets since-curbed the first grey shadows break;
They are disturbed.
—Douglas Malloch, in Atlantic Monthly.

THE DYED HORSE

The dye used on the racehorse that was run as a ringer at Fort Erie is now running itself and the steed is fading to its natural color. Next time any ringing is attempted, the contest management should secure one of those hair "dyes, not dyes," that was advertised by radio beauty speakers as being unfadeable and guaranteed to remain fast for ever—Montreal Gazette.

FELL BETWEEN CARS

Winnipeg, Aug. 17.—John Griffin, 19, of Carl, died from injuries sustained when he fell between two cars at a slowly-moving freight train yesterday. The youth was attempting to get back to his Ontario home when the accident occurred.

YANKEES SOAR INTO LONGEST LEAD OF RACE

Score Double Triumph Over Slipping Tigers

CLEVELAND WINS

Cubs Hold One Game Lead Over Pittsburg Pirates

By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

On wings of a nine-game winning streak the New York Yankees have soared into their present American League lead of the season and, nodding down at a mere six games, can prevent them from capturing the pennant.

A double triumph over the Detroit Tigers yesterday boosted the Yankees' advantage to 10½ games over the slumping Athletics and Philadelphia Athletics, who were virtually tied for second place, although the Mackmen have a slight edge in percentage.

Thanks to some lusty clouting by Tony Lazzeri, Bill Dickey and Joe Sewell, the Yankees annexed their opener the first game, 13-8, although Jimmy Moore, Detroit southpaw, was the box in the eighth inning. Johnny Allen hung up his third victory of the Yankees' winning streak in the nightcap, allowing the Tigers only six hits. Lazzeri hit three home runs and drove in seven, tying Gehrig's mark.

Homer Did It

Glenn Myatt's ninth homer with one on in the fifth, enabled Cleveland to beat the Athletics, 3-2 in an exciting pitching duel between Mel Harder and George Earnshaw. Mule Haas put in the Athletics' only run in the when he clouted a homer with one on the bases. Eight hits were applied the brakes.

Washington scored four runs in the eighth to beat Chicago, 5-3, while Walter Stewart turned in a seven-hitter. Jackie Hayes led the Nationals' attack with two hits.

Gleason's circuit drive with one on in the fifth, enabled Cleveland to beat the Athletics, 3-2 in an exciting pitching duel between Mel Harder and George Earnshaw. Mule Haas put in the A's only run of the game when he clouted a homer with one on the bases in the eighth and applied the brakes.

Washington scored four runs in the eighth to beat Chicago, 5-3, while Walter Stewart turned in a seven-hitter. Jackie Hayes led the Nationals' attack with two hits.

Boston Did It

Newark had to take the long way around to win 5 to 4 in a victory over Toronto to maintain it 11½ game margin over Buffalo. Going into the eighth inning, the Bears were leading 3-1, but Roy got to Chester Sullivan and pounded out three runs in each of the last two frames Harry Rolaich of the Leafs to six hits.

The Jersey City Skeeters blasted Montreal out of its virtual tie with Rochester and its top-point hold on fourth place by hammering out a 9 to 5 triumph in their first game of a doubleheader. Another that would leave Charlie Fewster and Hewitt Smith ready for Friday's game here, with Jamieson also ready for another turn. On the other hand, Belleville are already up against it for hurlers. Painter will probably have to pitch tomorrow, and he hasn't beaten Kingston yet this season. Perhaps Walt Gerow will have to send Bobby Mills to the mound on Friday."

SHOTGUN DEVICE SHOOTS 400 MINUTE

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—A 20-year-old Junior College student is inventor of a device which he claims will convern an ordinary shot gun into a machine gun. Knocks and Boosts

The Bay of Quinte Intermediate league solely just as well have started all over again as all four teams in the loop were tied at the end of their regular playing schedule. As the situation now stands the local Victorias seem to have the edge. Any team that can nip Belleville in a double game from Point Anne yesterday afternoon the Victorias journey there this afternoon while the return game is to be played at the Fair Grounds on Friday evening. In case of each team winning a game the third game will be played on Friday evening, the winners to meet the Peterboro champs of the Trent Valley loop on Saturday. By this draw the second place team in the local intermediate league may have to play a split game every day this week. Pretty tough on an amateur baseball club, we'd say.

On Saturday the B.A.A.A. ball mull out for Peterboro where they invite the Peterboro Pirates to the second game in the Central Canada junior play downs. The Association kids, although they took the short end of a 4 to 1 score here in Belleville last Saturday in the first game, feel that they were far better than their score would indicate. Herbie Morris predicts sure fire victory for his pets on Saturday. All that Ernie Smith, who pitched for the locals last Saturday, has to do is to pitch just what he did last week. On the other hand the game was not lost in that particular department but, mighty due to their inability to hit the ball by the pitchers. The Association kids can hit as was proven by their league. When a team of kids hit the offerings of a pitcher the calibre of Smith, who starred for Ida of Wellington, now batting for the Belleville Bandidas, they should not fall down before the average pitching of any junior hurler in Peterboro.

After viewing the new Kingston ball park (we're trying to forget just what happened after we left viewing it) we are all the more satisfied with Belleville's diamond. There is no denying that the players have plenty of room in Kingston, especially the outfield, but you don't believe us just ask Alec Weir, Arthur Hall or Bill Ash about it. We doubt if there three boys have ran as far and as great as they did Monday evening. The only consolation to Kingston after the game is the fact that the locals got a fast game out of their system. Today's game with Belleville at Kingston should see a real old fashioned ball game on the field. The Nats cannot perform as bad as they did Monday evening or we might suggest that the Ponies win slightly over their heads as they seemingly could do nothing wrong while the unfortunate Gerow could do nothing else but nothing right. It was just one of those days.

Although the Ponies collected four home runs from the combined efforts of Jamieson and Gerow, Wolz's collectives we are of the opinion that none of the four would have been out of the park in good shape on the local field or any field that was up to the standard. The entire Kingston playing field is so hard as say concrete road that you could find in this province and the result is once the ball started to roll, well it was just hard to look for the outfielders. Rertelle, Morris and Ash he ran at least 47 miles after some of the hits.

All is over in the girls' softball play-offs, we notice. Unless we are very much mistaken the Canadian Maids were very fortunate to win the second game of the play-offs on Tuesday night. Over almost was what spelled defeat for the Dominion crew. Had the brave Fruit girls just taken things nice and quiet they would have romped home to victory But the older Na-tional Maid broke loose advantage of the opportunity when it afforded itself in the final innings. The Fruit team has the Maids "on the run" in the eighth frame but failed to capitalize on their chances.

We would suggest that the lesser executive hire a policeman to keep the spectators away from the wandering children during the playing of these final "play-off" games. They are a menace to the game as well as creators of disturbances. Going to and fro they sometimes hinder a player from making a catch, as was the case we marked after Tuesday's game — "Ted have made that catch only I was afraid that I'd step on some of those kids." We ask you—is that fair?

It was with much pleasure that we heard at the return hearing both between Cecil Semmens of Belleville and Ned Minicola of Peterboro. There fans by boys put on a real rough tough hard hitting bout at the Hall some three months ago before a dozen seconds of the best stopped, after Semmens had opened Minicola's eye-how about two inches. Minicola vowed vengeance that night and action apparently should be seen when these two lads clash through the ropes Friday night. Jack Parlee of Toronto has been named as referee for the card.

Hear ye what the Kingston press has to say in regards to today's ball game: "Don Merrow, who pitched the ninth inning for Kingston, was relying for the ring time before the home fans and he looking good enough to "take" the Maidenah probably tomorrow. And that would leave Charlie Fewster and Hewitt Smith ready for Friday's game here, with Jamieson also ready for another turn. On the other hand, Belleville are already up against it for hurlers. Painter will probably have to pitch tomorrow, and he hasn't beaten Kingston yet this season. Perhaps Walt Gerow will have to send Bobby Mills to the mound on Friday."

REDWINGS TO MAKE BID IN HOME STAND

Bears However Are Going Strong at Present

LEAFS LOSE

Buffalo Bisons Will Also Try to Reach Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

It seems entirely too much to expect that the Rochester Red Wings will make a serious bid for their fifth International League pennant in the remaining month of the season. They are 15 games behind the pace setting Newark Bears and only a half a game clear of the second division. But with the aid of a long home stand they may do some tall climbing through the standings.

The Red Wings have played a lot of good ball since Specs Toporcer was appointed manager a month ago and they still have a chance to play a lot more. Their record under Toporcer so far is 25 victories and 19 defeats and on their recent road trip they performed creditably, winning nine games and losing seven.

Coming home yesterday, the Birds made an auspicious start by turning back the Albany Senators 3 to 2 after being held to a hands off six innings. Tony Kaufmann, who pitched another fine game, allowing only seven hits, was given a single after two were out in the seventh and Red Rollings was then relieved four runs had been scored.

The Buffalo Bisons, who appear to be the principal stumbling block in the Rochester path Rochester may choose also opened a long stand on their home ground and they did it in a highly impressive fashion, dumping their seventh straight second-place rivals, the Baltimore Orioles, the Bisons batted two pitchers to cover and scored 10 runs in the first inning, winning 12 to 1.

Newark had to take the long way around to win 5 to 4 in a victory over Toronto to maintain it 11½ game margin over Buffalo. Going into the eighth inning, the Bears were leading 3-1, but Roy got to Chester Sullivan and pounded out three runs in each of the last two frames Harry Rolaich of the Leafs to six hits.

LOST WAY TO SHORE AFTER BOAT CAPSIZED

Sturgeon Falls, Ont., Aug. 17.—The body of Amelia Lavergne, daughter of Mayor J. P. Marchildon of this town, was recovered today from the Nipissing. Miss Marchildon was drowned last night when a skiff capsized in the river.

Miss Germaine Prieur, Paul Charbonneau and Louis Levesque, all of Sturgeon Falls, were with Miss Marchildon in the craft, when a squall swept down and all four occupants were cast into the water. Darkness of night also was lost as the others made way to shore through the rough water. The body was washed up on the shore today.

The parents and two brothers survive.

National Maids Win Second Playoff Game 13-12

The National Maids by winning the second game of the Belleville Girls' Softball League by the score of 13 to 12 pulled even with the Belleville Fruit lassies at the Arquettes Tuesday evening. The Fruit girls won the first play-off game 11 to 9, while the Maids were very fortunate to pull out a one run margin over the Barrett colleen this last night.

Manager Meagher elected Jean Stewart to hurl for the Maids and try as she might the stocky little hurler could seem to keep them by the hard hitting Fruit girls. Molly Greenwood took over in the seventh and the entirely different style of pitching put the stars of balance enough to have the Maids slip into the winning position. "Flash" Lewis was on the hilltop for the Fruit nine and although her support were by no quite hard and free, she hurled a fine game, which did her rivals.

Plenty of Homers.

Plenty of home runs were in evidence, when Buffalo, Going into four circuit blows and the Fruit nine two belted themselves to the same number. Pat Finger, in centre field for the Fruit lassies, slapped the horse hide for two circuit blows, while Peg Leaver and Helen Smith also counted four blow blows. Lou McGuire having three safeties to her credit, for the Maids, Pet Knott with a homer, a triple and a single was the sweet smith. Inez Thrasher hit for the circuit, while "Mat" Kelleher and Marie Harkins each had a homer and double.

Defensively Doris Bland, B. McGuire, A. Galina and Pat Finger were the stars for the losers, while E. Thrasher, L. Empey, L. Melchoir and Pearl Fitzsimmons starred in the sensations in the field for the winners.

The same two clubs meet tonight and will continue to meet until one team has won three games giving them the league title, the league.

SIZE IS NOTHING

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Life guard Tom McGarry is not afraid of size when called on to rescue some one in distress. Hearing cries for help at the Sunnyside beach at the foot of Lake Front here today, McGarry responded and brought to shore William Kemp, whose estimated weight in his bathing suit was 318 pounds.

SWELL CARD IS ARRANGED

Final Bout Between Whitey Hewitt And "Cy" Williams

Under the sponsorship of Jack Corcoran, matchmaker of the Queensbury Athletic Club of Toronto, and for the benefit of the Belleville Hockey Club, another wrestling exhibition will be given on Friday night at the Belleville Arena. Bobby Samson who is in charge of the show states that the card will be one of the best ever presented in Eastern Ontario and looking the names of those billed to appear, class is stuck all over the list. The main event which will be a two hour limit affair is the best two out of three falls between Whitey Hewitt; 200 pounds of Toronto and Cy Williams, 215 pounds of Vancouver to these parts. Neither of these boys have shown here often in this district, but Hewitt has wrestled all of the best wrestlers and is a popular showman before Toronto audiences. Williams is also won his last two bouts in Toronto, while Hewitt is of the rough and ready type and is also a fast worker.

The semi final bout brings together local favorites and there will no doubt be plenty of fireworks. Abe Kaminski will tackle Frankie Hart over the one hour time limit best two out of three falls and these boys will put on a real show. Hart will depend on his speed while Kaminski will depend on his strength and experience to reverse the award. The semi bout will be called at eight thirty and will be a large number from the city and district will be on hand.

GOLF

Pleasant weather and keen competition made the annual weekend field day of the Cataraqui Golf Club a success. It was accompanied with high honours being carried off by the local golfers. Many teams from that city were entered and one of their players, Miss Barnard Rooks had the proud distinction of making a hole-in-one. Miss Rooks is a young player, only of age and this is her second year at golf. The latter was 135 yards long and Miss Rooks played the ball from the tee under 3 strokes.

The results of the competition follow: Ladies' driving contest: 1st points; Kingston second team, 13 points; Brockville 12 points; Kingston third team 11 points; Kingston fourth team 10 points; Belleville 9 points; Trenton 8 points; Gananoque 7 points; Perth 6 points; Cataraqui 5 points; Napanee 4 points; Country Club 2 1-2 points; Belleville ladies' team 1 point, second in the out of town clubs.

During the afternoon the visitors were entertained to tea and at luncheon by the Cataraqui Club.

KAYE DON ON WAY TO RACE

Leaves Wednesday For Detroit For Harmsworth Trophy

New York, Aug. 17—Kaye Don looks for an average winning speed of close to 90 miles an hour in this year's competition for the Harmsworth trophy, emblematic of the international speedboat championship.

The British pilot, who arrived here yesterday, left today for Detroit where the Harmsworth races will be run tomorrow and Friday, aboard his Lee St. Clair over a seven-mile course Sept. 2, 3 and 5.

Don pushed his new boat, Miss Kaye III to a top speed record of 112.81 miles an hour in Scotland last summer, but he says he won't be able to "do better than 90" at Detroit.

"It won't go over 120 miles an hour," he explained "and without short distance racing find I can't do better than 117 at Detroit. We should be very lucky to average 93 miles an hour though, considering the course."

EDITOR MARKS 91ST BIRTHDAY

Metlr, Que., Aug. 17.—Sole survivor of the pre-confederation editors in Canada and "grand old man" of Canadian journalism is Dr. John Redpath Dougall, editor of the Montreal Witness, who celebrated his 91st birthday quietly at his home here.

Dr. Dougall, who has over 70 years of journalism, has been editor of the Witness for the past 63 years and still wields active control over the paper. Although at present spending a holiday here he dispatches contributions daily to the paper at Montreal his chief summer diversion, despite his great age, is felling trees in the lot adjoining his home.

Ice cream and soft drinks are becoming popular in China.

DOCTORS MARK CENTENNIAL

Canadians Visit British Confreres at B.M.A. Centenary

(By Thos. T. Champion)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, (By The Canadian Press)—The British Medical Association is concluding here a remarkable successful annual convention, which marks the centenary of the foundation of this body. Lord Dawson of Penn has been this year's president.

About 70 members of the Canadian Medical Association, many of them accompanied by their wives, have attended the meeting in return for the visit of the B. M. A. to Canada in 1930, when they held their annual meeting at Winnipeg. The Canadians landed at Bristol and most of them made their way to London via Oxford, Glasgow and Edinburgh.

Scientific meetings were addressed by recognized experts, and all were of interest, there were discussions on matters of medico-political interest. It looked as if it were not that the Association has no legal powers to interfere with the practice of discipline, which are under the control of the General Medical Council.

One of the most interesting features of the convention was a pilgrimage to Worcester to unveil a tablet to the memory of Dr. Charles Hastings, founder of the Association. A descendant of Hastings also presented a portrait of Hastings, the well-known portrait of him by Benjamin Palmer.

Another pioneer whose memory the Association honored during the convention was Elizabeth Garrett Anderson, founder of the Women's Hospital in Euston Road which bears her name. Her portrait by Sargent was presented to the Association much to that body's surprise. The sketches were from a local branch whose power in the matter was freely questioned. For 18 years she was the only woman member.

The Prince of Wales proposed the principal toast of the evening at the Centenary Dinner held in the Albert Hall. Two thousand attended. It was the largest dinner ever held in this building, and was by the Duke of Kent, the great Duke's son.

Space of the Hall had been used for such a function.

HEAT KILLS TWO

Hamilton Ont., Aug. 17—Two residents of this city are dead today as the result of heat prostration. Patrick Colo died this morning overcome by heat while cutting sods, and Lawrence Oswald, suffering from asthma, was so distressed by the heat that he died early today.

GERMANS PULVERIZE ATOMS BY MILLIONS

Berlin, Aug. 17—Success in another of the ancient alluring goal of science—disintegration of masses of atoms—was announced by the German Scientific Electric Company.

The new accomplishment takes big power—equivalent to the entire output of the German plant—and converts it into atom-smashing particles.

The Germans claim to have pulverized atoms by the millions instead of the few hits-and-miss "bombardments" of previous scientific methods. The importance of their development is this increase in numbers.

It will be necessary to have apparatus capable of smashing atoms by the millions, the scientists expect to fathom the secrets and possible uses—that lie behind the atomic barriers.

FOG BLINDS PLANE OF PRINCE GEORGE

Corfu, Greece, Aug. 17—The Prince of Wales narrowly escaped being caught adrift in an airplane during a fog Tuesday, and his brother, Prince George, in another plane, could not land for an hour because of the fog.

The British Princes went aloft to observe an air display Tuesday, with a part of the war games of the British Mediterranean fleet. The fog appeared suddenly, and the pilot of Wales' machine just managed to land on the deck of the battleship H.M.S. Glorious before the ship was blotted out.

Prince George was not so fortunate. He had enveloped everything before his plane could reach the Glorious. The aircraft carrier turned on searchlights, sounded sirens continuously and sent out radio signals in an effort to establish its location for the plane. However, it was only when the fog lifted an hour later that the Prince's plane could land on the Glorious.

CARS AND BUS COLLIDE

Cobourg, Aug. 16—Two cars and a bus figured in an accident four miles east of Cobourg Tuesday, with the result that Mrs. J. W. Mangle of Chicago, is in Cobourg hospital suffering from slight injuries. A car driven by Mrs. Mangle, Jordan Street, Toronto, another driven by J. W. Mangle, Chicago, and a bus driven by Calvin de Cairs, were in collision, the Chicago car going into the ditch. Chief J.C. Rust is investigating.

EFFECTIVELY DEALT WITH

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 17 —James Watson was sentenced to two months in jail and fined $400, and Arthur Aldgard was sentenced to two months in jail with a fine of $200 when they were convicted today of obtaining municipal relief by false pretences.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Care And Arrangement of White Hair

Tresses, frosted by time or whitened beyond grandma's got, that they were before she was forty, are admired. But not by the one who has them. It isn't that the snowy brain cap isn't beautiful, but because it carries suggestions of old ladies and the fireside. It shouldn't. Not these days when the older pair are up to every kind of an activity.

A careless arrangement of white hair is fatal. It requires waving to bring out its silver lights. If the profile permits, a side straight, back effect is to be preferred, since upward lines are youthful. Dragged down over the ears, lumped into a knot on the nape of the neck it brings to notice appliances of fatigue that may be present. The side part is more youthful than the middle design.

Button, quiet, bean catchers, all the little do-nads so beloved by the young fry are not for the white-haired darlings unless the hair has whitened prematurely and the face is still almost blushing—even then they may be incongruous, out of order. Extreme neatness, superlative grooming, are essential.

Locks that have grown to a length of five or six inches can be arranged ribbon fashion at the back, one pinned inched under behind the right ear, the other terminating at the left, like snug-fitting line, that, displaying the head contour. But to make a smart job of it the ends should be curled so no bob tails will pop forth.

Caution must be exercised in the selection of a shampoo medium; after strands turn to gold upon the slightest provocation. Whites of eggs serve as a cleansing agent. For the ordinary head of short hair it is necessary to use six or seven. Beat the whites slightly and a tablespoonful of cold water added. The hair is rinsed, half of the amount of the egg white is brought to until the eggs foam, there is the rinsing with the spray, more eggs and the final rinse which must be prolonged. Let there be no fear of hot water. It is necessary if the shampoo is to be thorough. The brush will remove any particles of the eggs that may adhere to the shafts.

Ordinary wash bluing can be added to an extra rinsing if the drops are thoroughly well distributed in the water in the washbowl, sinched about well. Many soaps set preparations of a purple cast that carry bleaching qualities to remove yellow streaks that torment the soul of snowy-headed beauty supplicants. His brota imperil the silver luster. Exposure to strong sunlight puts on the gilded tint. A rusty hairpin can etch a brown imprint that will remain for weeks.

For the oil treatment white vaseline is safest. It can be heated, used in the same way as oil. Tonics containing alcohol sometimes dim the glory of silver halos. Any application should be used on a single small strand, dried out to determine its effect upon colour.

As for the bob, there's no reason why a woman of seventy-five shouldn't flaunt it, if she so desires. Length of locks has nothing to do with age.

'Cheerio' Guest Of Mr. and Mrs. Chris. G. Holmes

Don Copeland, better known to radio fans as "Mr. Cheerio" of CKGW, arrived in Belleville on today afternoon accompanied by Mrs. Copeland and their two children, Murray and Betty.

After completing a 1,300 mile motor car through New Jersey and Montreal, Mr. Copeland and family are spending the remaining few days of their vacation as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chris G. Holmes at Oak Lake.

Don Copeland has a soft spot for Belleville, since his first visit when he addressed the Belleville Rotary Club last year.

To him much of the success of the recent Belleville broadcast was due and when he has visited the studio at CKGW will always remember Don Copeland as a delightful friend and advisor to the 'green-horn' radio artist.

We hope that the stay of Mr. Copeland and family will establish his popularity as Belleville the Beautiful!

BLEECKER—REID

The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Reid, Bancroft, was the scene of a pretty wedding at three o'clock, Wednesday, August 10th, the occasion was the marriage of their second daughter, Rosa Louella to Mr. Dougall Franklin Bleecker, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Dougall L. Bleecker of Trenton, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Fraser of St. Paul's Church, Bancroft.

The bride being charming in a gown of blue lace and carrying a bouquet of pink and silf-yellow-valley was given in marriage by her father.

She was attended by her two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Reid and Jean Reid. The former wore a dress of beige lace and carried Talisman roses, the latter of pink flowered chiffon with a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom was supported by his brother, Gerald B. Bleecker and his sister, Miss Mary Bleecker, played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served to immediate friends and relatives!

The groom's gifts were a silver cup to the ushers and pearl, a black leather purse to the bridesmaid, and a leather belt with silver buckle to the best man.

The newly married couple left by motor for a short trip in the Muskoka district. The bride travelled in a navy blue silk suit with accessories to match. They will, on their return, reside in Toronto.

The young couple left the recipients of varied useful and beautiful gifts indicative of the esteem in which they are held and of the good wishes which accompany them to their future home.

The out of town guests were:— Mr. and Mrs. Dougall Bleecker, (parents), Miss Mary Bleecker, Miss Betty Mills and Mr. Edward Bowe of Trenton; Miss Ella Bleecker, Mr. and Mrs. T. Fairman (grandparents of the bride) Belleville; Mr. Donald Bleecker, Goderich; Mrs. J. M. Feil, Ottawa; Miss Mae Thorne, Brampton and the Misses Gladys, Lois and Ruth Reynolds of Toronto.

FOXBORO W.M.S.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Foxboro Presbyterian Church held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday in the school room. The meeting opened with the singing of hymn 358 with Mrs. Pearl Ray, Mrs. Will Woods in the chair. Prayer and a Bible reading on "Loyalty" followed. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Treasurer's report was next, and several items of business were discussed. A beautiful piano solo was rendered by Miss O. Watt of Albens.

Mrs. (Rev.) Hill gave a very inspiring paper on "Prayer" from the Study Book. "The Side of Opportunity" Roll call was answered by a verse of Scripture 15 responding. Cards of thanks were then taken and the meeting brought to a close by singing a hymn and the Benediction.

The Misses Marion and Ruth Rose are visiting at their grandfather's Mr. Charles Rose.

The collecting for the Bible Society has been completed this week.

Mrs. Clayton Denyes entertained her little neice Miss Madeline Reid last week.

A new gas station has been put up at the mill by Mr. Brown.

Mr. H. K. Denyes occupied the pulpit in the United Church in the absence of their pastor.

The threshing machine is again on its round and reports they are real busy.

Mr. T. Crosier and family of Belleville has rented Mr. Jack Gowsell's cottage at the Grove.

BEES LET LOOSE IN CROWDS IN THEATRE

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 17— Insects entered 'racket wars' as a new weapon. Bees were liberated among patrons of a theatre, and, though the perpetrators denied any plot against police here, failed to investigate reports the action heralded use of insects of all kinds in efforts to intimidate theatre operators into paying bootleg racketeers graduated from a Cincinnati school. Three unemployed operators were fined for releasing the bees.

MODEST CLOTHES BUTTONED TO NECK

BEAUCH JUNCTION, Que., Aug. 17.—School teachers here must wear modest costumes of non-trans parent material, buttoned to the neck with sleeves to the wrist and skirt not higher than eight inches from the ground, decrees a resolution passed by Beauce Junction School Commission yesterday. The commission voted to continue the present salary rate for the female school teachers of $225 per annum.

What kind of food builds a 100% BABY?

READ WHAT 50 BABIES TAUGHT TWO SCIENTISTS

OF COURSE, you want your baby to be a rosy, healthy baby . . . taking his food contentedly . . . putting on the ounces regularly . . . going to sleep like a cherub . . .

Yet you're hoping even more, perhaps, that he's building now for future health. Building hard bones, good teeth, strong muscles, a sound nervous system — to make him fit and fine in the years to come.

When mother's milk fails, can any other food build such a baby? . . . Read of a recent scientific test.

World-famous clinic makes feeding test

Recently, two physicians—infant-feeding specialists—made a test with fifty average infants. In two of their babies' booties—a month after month — went a food known for 75 years as a remarkable baby food. These generations—millions—of healthy citizens are living testimonials of its benefits. Yet never before had such a thorough, modern test of this food been made.

This food was . . . Eagle Brand Milk. Throughout the test, it was the only milk these babies received. The supplementary foods used were those now used with all milk diets, including mother's milk.

Every modern scientific means was employed to judge these babies' progress. X-rays were used to study bone development. Tooth formation was watched. Blood tests were made. Weights and heights were carefully charted. Even alertness and strength were measured. At last, the report was ready.

Judged by every modern test, these babies had developed splendidly nourished. This simple fact—Eagle Brand, with the usual supplementary foods"—had proved itself equal to the building of a 100% baby.

If you cannot nurse your baby, try Eagle Brand. Next to mother's milk, it is the easier form of milk in the world to digest. Obtainable anywhere. Always the same. Keeps indefinitely in the unopened can. Easy to prepare just add boiled water.

Send for new booklet "Baby's Welfare," containing feeding schedules and general instructions. And we'll furnish your physician a copy of the above tests. "The usual supplementary foods, of course, are cereals or tomato juice, and cod-liver oil or other sources of the anti-rachitic vitamin D."

FINANCIAL NEWS

CHEAP ISSUES RECORD GAINS

Interlisted Stocks However Sold Off, Under Pressure

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Mixed movements marked forenoon trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market today. Interlisted stocks sold off under pressure and cheaper issues recorded some interesting gains. Volume, at 113,000 shares for the first two hours, about average for the week so far.

Steels and Syntronic were in good demand from the opening, both showing up 4 to 86 and 90, respectively. Ventures and Kirkland Townsite displayed a very strong tone while prized golds were holding their important points with activity. Trek Hughes off 2 cents to 36 under persistent selling and Stanrock off 1 to 1.06.

Base metals met some light liquidation, Hollinger selling off 15 to 8.05 and Noranda and Falconbridge each to 19.15 and 1.15 respectively.

Silvers were a firm group, Reverdale added another couple to their initial gain to stand at 41. Mining Corporation was up a cent at 1.63 and Keeley Silver showed a fraction to 15. Oils were dull and somewhat easier.

BOND MARKET FAIRLY FIRM

Traders Inclined to Pursue More Cautious Attitude

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The Stock Market backed and filled rather irregularly today.

The Bond Market was fairly firm, but bullish efforts in shares received little support from the commodity markets, and traders showed an inclination to take profits. Bullish efforts to get a following in the stock exchange and public with any large zest with limited success.

The list pulled up one to three points but then, in the morning, but reacted to show losses of 1 to four full points later on. Telephone's regular dividend announcement brought a moderate rally. Telephone after rising a point to 121, early, dropped to 119 and recovered but little on the dividend news. Losses of three and four points in Union Pacific and Case were partially regained. U. S. Steel lost about a point. Shortly after the morning rise were Loews and American Waterworks, which after three days of advance selling later fairly well. Westinghouse rose two, and Badger and Westvaco added to new 1932 highs.

While the list as a whole halted as it approached the upper resistance levels of last week in the late trading yesterday, Traders were inclined to pursue a somewhat more cautious attitude for a time. Pending more decisive indications that the rally was to be resumed.

LIONEL BARRYMORE OFFERS BRILLIANT PORTRAYAL IN "WASHINGTON MASQUERADE"

"The Washington Masquerade," a drama concerned with the lobbyist racket in the national capital with Lionel Barrymore in a dominant role as a senator who falls victim to a woman's wiles in the attraction coming to the Belle Thursday and Friday, is a powerful picture that is based on the Henry Bernstein play, "The Claw" in which Barrymore scored one of his greatest stage performances. It was directed by the late Lowell Sherman and the noted political writer, Samuel G. Blythe, and was adapted by Charles Brabin, who filmed "The Beast of the City" and "The Iron Mask."

Partners Political Leader

The plot of "The Washington Masquerade" deals with Barrymore as a senator, a national power and a leader in the fight for public ownership of utilities. The vested interests seek a woman to "vamp" him. She succeeds with all the tricks him into being the tool of the lobbyists. Complications become, the dramatic climax occurring in the Senate chambers, where Barrymore delivers a powerful speech tears asunder the structure of "inside" politics.

As the political leader, Barrymore is able to show the skill which gives him even greater dramatic opportunities than in his brilliant portrayal of "A Free Soul" and "Grand Hotel." The important role of the woman who betrays him is filled by Karen Morley, who also played with Barrymore in "Arsene Lupin." Diane Sinclair, Philadelphia society girl who makes her film debut in the production as Barrymore's daughter and the part of the "heavy" is played by Nils Asther, who recently scored in "Lilly Turner." Others in the cast are Reginald Barlow, William Collier, Sr., Wilfred Lucas, Charles Giblan, G. Henry Gordon, Burton Churchill and Henry Hunter.

The Dramatic Highlights

Among the dramatic highlights of "The Washington Masquerade" are Barrymore's speech before the Senate, his dictaphone demonstration machine, the "hazing" on the floor of the Senate chamber, Barrymore's indictment on learning the true facts of the woman he had married, the spectacular President's reception, the White House banquet and its dramatic denouement and the sensational fight before the Senate investigating committee.

Laurel-Hardy Comedy

The screen's two comedians, Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy are appearing on the silver screen in their latest bomb-shell of joy, "County Hospital," which offers a riot of twenty-eight minutes of hilarious fun. Belle Sound News will be exhibited on the same program.

ZEST AND THRILLS IN "BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE"

How would you like to see a hungry man-eating lion battle to the death with a twenty-five foot boa-constrictor python?

How would you like to see this same embattled tiger step into a death trap to attack and combat face to face with the jaws of a sixteen-foot crocodile—all waiting for tiger meat?

How would you like to see the meanest of jungle beasts—the only black panther . . . tackle the jungle's most ferocious man-eating tiger?

How would you like to see what happens when the crocodile gets himself mixed up in the jaws of a twenty-five foot python?

How would you like to see a lone white man in the heart of the tropic jungle entrap this snake with his bare hands . . . and live?

These are some of the superior thrills in the Van Beuren-Educational's feature film, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," the public relations record of Frank Buck's famous book of the same name.

There's no love interest . . . no built-up drama . . . no sobbing sisters or woman lovers in this release by Radio Pictures, directed by Clyde E. Elliott. It lives in its own such excitement as no Hollywood drama-builder could ever give. Instead real heart-action, for example, when the hunted tiger charges right into a native village and then into a camouflaged trap. There's the heart-stopping moment when Frank Buck lockeys the trapped man-eater into his cage, risking his life in the risk of his life. As for the other big moments, there are combats between age-old jungle enemies that fade into insignificance anything civilization ever threw into a prize ring dominated by electric lights, hobbyhoo and the quiet for dollars.

A wide-shouldered, ruddy-faced, stocky man merely throws off his garments of the metropolis to trek at thousand miles by land and sea in search of a Royal Bengal tiger. His weapons . . . his two hard hands. His props, a couple of native boys. His cages are hand-made right down in the heart of the tiger country. No nails to hold the bars welded to the frames. The rough-hewn poles tied together with native vines. Made the dried bark of native trees. A mounting stampede of intensely interesting action follows the inaugural of this quest as shown in "Bring 'Em Back Alive," coming to the Belle Friday, Monday and Tuesday, matinee daily, with a selected program of short offerings.

George Brent, Holmes Herbert and Joan Blondell as they appear in "Miss Pinkerton," now at the Capitol.

Karen Morley, Lionel Barrymore and Nils Asther in "The Washington Masquerade," opening at the Belle, Thursday, with Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "County Hospital."

At The Capitol

"MISS PINKERTON" IS A CHILL THRILLER

"Miss Pinkerton," which opened today at the Capitol Theatre, is not table entertainment from several important angles. For one thing, it marks the starring debut of saucy little Joan Blondell; for another it brings to the screen the talent and best mystery story of America's favorite woman writer, Mary Roberts Rinehart.

The producers, masters of reality entertainment, have made the Saturday Evening Post thriller of Mrs. Rinehart into one of the finest screen productions of the year; and, incidentally, have demonstrated to the satisfaction of this reviewer that the little Blondell has developed from a minx into a dramatic actress of the very best type.

In "Miss Pinkerton" she portrays a nurse-detective who is fed up with the monotony of her work; then suddenly is thrust into the vortex of a baffling murder mystery. Thrust by the guile wit and keen woman's instinct she succeeds in solving the mystery where trained detectives fail; and incidentally, she succeeds to get herself loved and in love. The romance prospers during the tenuous sequence of events in which it is nurtured.

Miss Blondell is ideal in the nurse detective role; retaining her characteristic bubbling humor despite the heavy demands of the character she plays.

Opposite the star is George Brent, who is more personality on the screen and one that gives promise of future power. Brent, as Inspector Patten, turns in one of the finer jobs of acting seen in the films this year and bears out the advance hoilcos which stamp him as the handsome leading man sensation in Hollywood. He is a big, handsome fellow, an Irishman trained in the famous Abbey Theatre of Dublin, and brings to his screen work a splendid polish and sureness.

Besides Miss Blondell and Brent in the cast include Smith Jelli, John Wray, Holmer Herbert.

The programme, which has the hall-mark of good entertainment includes comedy and interest.

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Not officially, Ja. But her grandmother's conductor—state senator—bodily."

Frank looked handsome, serious as he spoke. That satisfaction he felt in all these facts was unmistakable.

"When you married and home again," he said, "Delte and I want you to meet us there. We want all our family there. You see," he went on affectionately, "no matter what you do, you aren't going to escape me. I get Delte I've constituted myself a sort of big brother to you."

Sheila looked across the table at him steadily, without smiling. She did not speak.

A quarter of an hour later she climbed comfortably into the first automobile that ever seen at close range.

CHAPTER 23

The checkerboard of the little streets and the long wavering gold lines that were the beach and the short tall sway below. The world, or only a map now, shrieked and shirred; and she plane settled to a steady droning flight directly over the water.

A winter sun had emerged from heavy clouds and was shining brightly and the air that blew straight at Sheila's face was stinging and exhilarating. She could have shouted for sheer youth and high spirits and excitement as they soared along.

Her thoughts wheeled and circled, too; she was planning busily. Her great adventure was almost over; it had been a time of strain and pain and anger, and yet Sheila knew that she was coming from it richer by far than the girl of a few weeks ago.

Ma's life was richer, with this new friend to help her. Joe had a job, and to Frank Mecham Ma had a valuable new friend, too. The Carradines might be moving to wider horizons, to new ideals, in a few weeks more. And however grieved the Mecham might be at Gertrude's disappointment, and at the publicity that had suddenly dragged a respectable family into the limelight, at least she had been very kind to Sheila and Sheila hoped that after quiet weeks-months of a return to normal conditions, she might think of Sheila Carroll, dentist, with pleasure and liking again.

But more than all this, more than the excitement and change and surprise of the past three days, Sheila had so often prayed Sheila knew that there was something new in her own soul had been racked and stretched and stimulated into new growth. As yet Sheila herself could not analyze all this. Yet she was conscious of new wings beneath her spirit, and new courage to face the days that were ahead.

She would go home and begin to live on lines completely different from the old haphazard ways of the past. There should be dignity under teasing and humanity, there should be loving service quietly and simply rendered. Disheveling she should be smoothed, and Sheila would brush her hair a hundred times every night, and rise in time for a bath every morning and as for reading—

"Oh, I love it, to slide like this!" she shouted to Frank as the gleaming throbbing of the engine gave way to stillness, and the plane interrupted her musing with a graceful forward gliding, like a gull.

Ang instantly the line between unthinking and desperate need to save life—just life—was erased, and Sheila's throat was thickened and her heart stood still. She saw the world rush up at them, the fields with lines of black trees on snow, the long gray and white curve of surf, she clutched Frank, and they both instinctively struggled in their seats, and buried her face in his shoulder.

Then blackness.

After a long while and a dead silence, someone said conversationally, "Where's all right now, aren't you, dear?" and Sheila answered politely, "I'm fine thank you." Except my head was full of buzzing—

She added the last phrase in a whisper, for even saying so much had made her head begin to buzz again and her stomach feel sick and tiny bit safe. Not opening her eyes she continued to relax limply against—against something——

"Straighten the poor thing out a little," some woman said compassionately; "look how her arm's twisted under!"

Better leave things like they are until the ambulance gets here," a man's voice demurred.

Sheila did not know they were speaking of her until someone began gingerly to raise her shoulders. It felt more comfortable, and she said feebly, "Thanks."

"Her mouth's all blood, she's burst a blood vessel," the first speaker said in a whisper.

There seemed to be a good many persons murmuring and moving about. Sheila was conscious of no interest, much less concern, in what was going on. Consciousness waned, strengthened, waned again. She heard a jumble of words.

"Did you ever in your life see—it came down like a sled—" she thought it one of the voices, "the poor feller! I was just looking out to see if the children were home—May was just saying—"

"He's took up his last plane!" someone said solemnly, and a shocked agreed. "That's right. He's done for."

Then there was the gong-gonging of a car, and a deep voice, "Who-oo-oo-ee!" like a great bird sweeping over the whole world.

"Sch-h. Sheila said apologetically the hearing she was going to be actively ill. But the horrible sensation faded again, and all consciousness faded with it.

Voices presently came back.

"His head's smashed. He's done for, poor fellow. He hasn't moved. Ah—God pity him——

"Ah, get in Mason, Officer, and I've twisted my ankle."

That was Frank McCann's deliberate voice speaking over pain, speaking slowly. "I'm anxious about the young girl there," he said. "I tried to get her. I fainted, I think".

"She's very bad; she's got a hemorrhage from the lungs, I think," a woman offered. "Dear me ain't that terrible!"

"Oh, my God——" Frank's voice said slowly. And after a minute he added, "Ah, I'm sorry!"

"Where did you come from Atlantic City?" an official voice inquired.

"We're just back, right, Sergeant," one man muttered in a low tone, and another added, in a deeper voice, "Nice New Year.

"Lift that off him—There was a hat," Frank said, and then, quietly, "Ah-h-h!"

Sheila opened one eye. A rush of horrible overwhelmed her. Pain flashed over her head like a blinding light, and she shut it. She saw big dim figures, black against the sunshine, and shut her eyes again.

Presently she said, "Frank!"

"Sheila here, Sheila!" he said. "How——now are you?"

"I wouldn't try to move if I were you," a kind voice advised. "The ambulance'll be here in a couple minutes."

"Give me a hand there, will you?" Frank put his arm around Sheila and set her on her feet. They were in a sort of pen, on snow; green beach-grass were within her field of vision.

With a desperate effort Sheila opened both eyes and immediately began to laugh and cry, to hiccup and struggle all at once. She stepped forward something like a sitting posture.

"Get a priest!" some one whispered.

"I'm all right, Frank, "Sheila said, carefully, because her mouth was stiff, "except that I think I had no nosebleed and got knocked out."

"Sheila, Sheila—you're not serously hurt?"

"I don't think so."

"Ah, thank God, my arm!"

There was agony in his voice. "You you're all right, dear?" Frank said shakily.

"We're sent for an ambulance, sir."

"My shoulder hurts, but I can move," Sheila said.

"My dear, my dear, your face is all—you!" Frank told her. He laughed brokenly. "Look at us!" he faltered.

He flashed out a handkerchief; his handsome, fine handkerchief, beautifully monogrammed. Sheila moved a cramped arm; one of the women gently began to wipe her face.

"Could you wet that somewhere?" the woman said, "Poor girl, she's as conscious as I am myself."

The cold water felt delicious on Sheila's hot face.

"Oh, thank you," she said, as eyes and mouth and nostrils were freed. "That's so much better. We——well we came down, didn't we?"

"I'll tell the world," the woman who was bending over her said solemnly. "You had a mighty narrow escape."

"The man—— that nice-looking aviator——?"

She flicked from the woman's face, to Frank's. Frank nodding gravely. His rich black hair was uncovered and tumbled, his face streaked with grease and dirt.

"Couldn't be—couldn't the young lady and I be driven straight home? It would be a great accommodation to me," Frank was saying.

"Keep those people back there!" one of the policemen ordered.

"Ah-h-h-h! murmured the crowd. Sightings was being carried away, some motors engine was starting.

"I think your arm is broken, sir," the sergeant said.

"I know darned well it's broken," Frank agreed ruefully, with the laugh of a person in pain.

"I would take you another hour. You wouldn't rather go to the emergency hospital in Newark, and then go on sir?"

"I'd much rather get home, sir. I don't want my mother alarmed, or the young lady's mother alarmed."

"There may be internal injuries, sir."

"You mean——the young lady?"

"Well, either of you."

"I think she may feel the shock. She'll be much—— much better at home," Frank said. "The newspapers will get this—we want to make as little of it as possible——"

"The pilot was killed, sir."

"Oh that part; No, we can't hush that up. But the less excitement the fewer reporters——"

"This was a very nice fellow that was here now. Potter, of the Leader. I know him well. He's a Newark man," the officer said.

"Wouldn't you much rather go home, Sheila?"

"Oh, so much rather, Frank! If Ma saw it in the papers she'd die of the shock."

"Here's the ambulance now, Mr. McCann."

"I'll fix it."

Evidently Frank did fix it, for immediately it appeared that they were to be driven straight into the city."

CHAPTER 24

Frank limped toward the big gray car, leaning heavily on the police officer; Sheila found herself strangely shaky, too, and was grateful for the quick, kindly support of the ambulance nurse.

"I wouldn't look over there dear!" the nurse said, as Sheila's eyes went toward the collapsed plane that lay like a great crippled bird on the sod-speckled beach.

"It makes me feel sick—" Sheila whispered shudderingly.

"I should think it might!" The nurse murmured comfortingly as she helped Sheila into the ambulance. "Heavens, what crowd!" Sheila said dimly.

"Doesn't it just seem as if they come from nowhere?"

Frank half sat, half lay on the extended bed; Sheila could see from the working muscles of his face that he was in pain.

"Careful, frighten my mother to death!" Frank said.

Then little party certainly had a miserable ending! This was what, Sheila thought, Ma had so much feared; Sheila said nothing.

The ambulance rumbled along slowly. Sheila thought wove back and forth dreamily. Now that the first horror was over she felt utterly weak and weak. Her shoulder hurt her, and her head ached dully She was all right, she told herself, no harm had been done, but oh—how good it would be to get home to Mother, to be away from the crowd, and the noise, and the questions! She need never see the pantry at the Pendergast again, never take orders from Mr. Benny. In a few hours more she would be safe in the beloved home kitchen, talking to Ma, watching Angela's bright eyes pop out of her head with excitement; she would be drinking a cup of tea the way she liked it, reaching to the stove for her toast——

"Getting dark early!" Frank said, suddenly rousing from the stupor into which he occasionally seemed to lapse.

"It's nearly five, Frank," Sheila said.

"Five!"

"Yes. I just saw the clock."

"These things take time, you know!" the nurse observed soothingly.

Sheila slept, and shaken as she was, thought that she must remember that to tell Joe.

The poor girl, she mused. One minute floating over the the gray-white panorama of beach and winter world and the next minute just that still form, that trampled depression, in the snow.

"I've been in a terrible accident!" she thought. And then, wearily "But what haven't I been through in the last few weeks!"

"Does it feel good to be back in New York, Sheila?" Frank said, opening his eyes.

"Oh, does it! I was just thinking. My heart is pumping so, I can hardly breathe."

They were in the city streets; the ambulance bell was ringing steadily now, and Sheila could see the side-walk crowds eying them interested-ly as they went through.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR—No. 6

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Two weeks later John Clayton, Lord Greystoke—he who had been Tarzan of the Apes—came riding in from a tour of inspection of his vast African estates. Suddenly he glimpsed a column of men crossing the plain that lay between his bungalow and the forest beyond. He reined his horse and watched the little party approach, headed by a mounted man, a stranger.

Convinced that it was a wandering European hunter, seeking his hospitality, Tarzan rode forward to welcome the newcomer. Half an hour later he was introducing "M. Jules Frecoult" to Lady Greystoke. (This was the name Werper had decided to assume.) "I was completely lost," laughed the supposed game hunter. "I am very fortunate indeed to have stumbled upon your providential aid."

His guise of a French gentleman of leisure Werper found little difficulty in deceiving his host and ingratiating himself with both Tarzan and Jane Clayton. Yet after several days he became less hopeful of an easy accomplishment of his designs. Lady Greystoke never rode alone at any great distance from the bungalow, and one of Tarzan's Waziri warriors was always near.

After several weeks Werper was no nearer the fulfillment of his plans than when he arrived. Then came the unexpected something which gave him the newed hope and set his mind upon an even greater reward than a woman's ransom. A native runner had arrived at the bungalow with the weekly mail. Lord Greystoke seemed much disturbed over the letters and shortly after dinner excused himself.

It will pay you to buy for future as well as present needs at this Great Bargain Event.

A FAIR PRICE

By Philip L. Ketchum

Sheriff Tom Jackson and Bill Trainer pulled up their horses before the open lateral shaft of the Buckshot Mine.

"I reckon he's inside," Trainer grunted. "He moved all his stuff back there last week after he heard the court decision. Said all taxation wouldn't pry him loose."

The sheriff shifted uneasily in his saddle. "I guess it's purty hard on him," he offered.

"It's the law, ain't it?" Trainer snapped.

"Yes, it's the law an' I'll see that he moves out and gives you possession. The sheriff paused to roll a cigaret. He lighted it and flicked the match aside. "I'll do what I'm bound to as sheriff," he continued, "but I'm sayin' that Mr Bristol's had a rough deal."

Trainer laughed shortly. "Rough deal! He's made ten thousand out of my mine. I don't call that a rough deal."

"He developed the place," Jackson reminded him. "He thought he found it, thought the title was clear."

"But it wasn't."

"Yeah, I know that's what the courts said," answered the sheriff sarcastically. "But let's get this over. I'll handle it, much as I hate to. You keep sun."

Raising his voice, the sheriff called: "Ed! Oh, Ed!"

Footsteps sounded in the rocky passage and a short, stooped figure moved out into the light of day. His face was wrinkled; his hair, matted and grey. He looked as tho he might have been fifty—or seventy. The half smile that crossed his face when he recognized the sheriff faded as he turned to look at Bill Trainer, and his features twisted into a blazing sneer of hate.

"You!" he snarled.

"Sorry, Ed," interposed the sheriff, "but you know why I'm here according to the court decision. You've got to get out."

Ed Bristol's claw-like hand crept down to the gun holstered at his hip. Trainer edged his horse away. The sheriff didn't move.

"You might kill me, Ed," he said slowly, "but you can't fight the law. Another would come in my place. Or, Ed, you can't beat the law."

For a moment Bristol hesitated, his body rigid, his hand tense above his gun. Then his body seemed to shrink and his arm dropped helplessly. He didn't speak but the sheriff nodded to Trainer and the two men swung off of their horses.

"The stuff all inside, Ed?" Jackson asked.

Bristol nodded. "In there." He pointed down the shaft. "I've done a lot of work," he said. "What I got out of the Buckshot last year I sent to my darter. I ought to be paid a fair price for what I've done this last month."

The sheriff nodded and turned to Trainer. "How about it?"

"Paid!" Trainer snorted. "I'll pay nothing."

Bristol passed a shaking hand across his face. He looked dazed. "Just a fair price," he repeated. "All I want is eighteen dollars."

The sheriff looked at Bristol, surprised. He turned to look at Trainer. The latter motioned to his head. His face formed the words "Crazy," and the sheriff nodded.

Grinning, Trainer passed the eighteen dollars to Bristol and said: "Thanks, sheriff, for what you've done, take him to town. I'm goin' to look the stuff over." Trainer sauntered into the entrance of the mine. Bristol grinned cruelly.

Sheriff Tom Jackson climbed up on his horse and pulled the dispossessed mine owner into position behind him. Old Ed had said that he didn't have anything to take with him, and the sheriff was glad to get away. He wanted to get the whole business over with as soon as possible. They started back to town. . . .

The sky was clouded and added to the dismal spirits of the two men. Once there was the sound of a terrific clap of thunder and the sheriff mentioned that it might rain. Bristol grunted and—grinned some more.

When the train stopped at Gunsight, that evening Ed Bristol climbed on board. He hadn't talked much about the affair at the mine. But he seemed to have plenty of money. This fact prompted the sheriff to ask about the eighteen dollar.

"It was a fair price for what I did," Bristol said.

"Um, couldn't have done much, then."

"No, not much but...enough," grinned Old Ed.

As the train pulled out, Bristol stuck his head out of the window and called: "Ask Phil Matthews about that eighteen dollars."

Tom Jackson wasted no time in hunting up Matthews and in telling him the whole story, but Phil was as puzzled as the sheriff—puzzled, that is, for a time. Suddenly, Matthews leaned back in his chair and whistled.

"Tom", he said, "I think I know now what Old Ed meant by his crazy words and actions when you've described. I can tell you it you'll not do anything until tomorrow, Bill Trainer deserved it. He was a scoundrel if there ever was one."

"What do you mean?"

"Will you give Bristol a chance?"

"Duh—but what—?

"Alright, listen. There isn't a doubt but that Bristol's really crazy. He came to me several weeks ago. He knew it was from the east; Knew what I did back there. He asked me a question and I answered it and wondered for several days what it was all about. Now I understand.

"I used to be an undertaker. Bristol asked me what the charge was where I came from for opening and closing a grave. The charge was eighteen dollars."

"Then the thunder I heard—"the sheriff started.

"Must have been dynamite!" said Matthews.

CANADA WILL LEAD WORLD

Radium Production of Dominion Leading World

Calgary, Aug. 17—(By The Canadian Press)—"Almost too good to be true" is the way J. C. MacNabb, engineer of construction Canadian Pacific Railways, describes prospects in the Great Bear Lake mineral fields, following an inspection tour.

Mr. MacNabb firmly believes in the enormous potential wealth of the district, which, he declared, will some day place Canada in the forefront of the world as a radium producer, Silver, copper and other valuable minerals abound there, too.

The new reduction plant, established by the Dominion Department of Mines in Ottawa, has completed several extractions of radium from the Great Bear pitchblende with "almost fantastic results", he continued. From 97 to 98 per cent. of the radium has been extracted from the ore in each test.

"The plant was placed in Ottawa rather than at Great Bear Lake because three tons of acid to one ton of ore are used in the reduction process," he said. "Thus it is cheaper to ship out ore than to ship the acid to Great Bear owing to prevailing transportation difficulties and high freight rates inevitable when supplies must be carried by airplane or portaged for many miles overland.

"I believe the Ottawa plant will become one of the leading units of its kind in the world. It is the only one of its kind in the British Empire at present and obviates the necessity of shipping the ore to Belgium or Czecho-Slovakian for reduction."

Mr. MacNabb pointed out that the life of the radium salts secured from the Great Bear Lake pitchblende was estimated at 250 years while the Belgian product was effective for only 1,600. It was to be hoped, he concluded, that in the near future Canada would be able to break away from the Belgium combine with beneficial results for all mankind.

Radio Stations Like Temples

Poona, India, (By The Canadian Press)—Proco-converts radio stations, built to resemble Hindu temples are to provide educational talks in the highlands of the Deccan, under a scheme initiated by the Young Men's Christian Association here. Two wealthy Indians have provided $40,000 for the purchase of 300 wireless sets, which will be locked in the stations and automatically switched on and off from the Y.M.C.A. broadcasting studio in Poona. Loud speakers will enable 1,000 or more villagers to listen at each station.

Illiteracy places the vast majority of Indian villagers beyond the reach of the printed word and the Lothian Committee is recommending recently the extension of the franchise to 36,000,000 Indians, expressed the view that broadcasting as it develops will overcome the impediment of illiteracy. The Deccan experiment may prove an important step in the direction.

Emphatically not "just another low-price car" but a new-type car—the TERRAPLANE!

Miss Jessie Herbert, who christened the ESSEX TERRAPLANE, says: "I believe its career will be a notable one. What I say is from experience, or I have driven it for a number of years. I like its and I think riders especially would like it."

NO use hiding it, a vast number of good Canadian families face the future on a smaller budget.

They'll need to buy low-priced cars —but the low-priced cars of the past will not do. They don't want to "step down" in pride, or in comfort, or in satisfaction, just because they "step down" in price.

We've designed and engineered and built a totally new kind of automobile for these people—the ESSEX TERRAPLANE. Sure it's low-priced —actually down among and UNDER the former lowest-priced Three—but that's a triumph of ingenuity and not a sacrifice of the things you want. It's trim, low, compact, clean-lined—as smart and chic in comparison with older types as the wafer-thin watch is to the ancient turnip.

This chart is based on tests made by the scientists of Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University. The cars used were all 1932 designs, stock production, some being specially tuned or tuned up for the purpose, and all checked both by stopwatch and Accelerometer. Testing hill was the steepest gradient of its distance East of the Rockies

It performs like an automobile in a fairy-tale—but herewith are the test-records of the scientists of Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York University, to prove it.

It's a Scotchman for thrift and a polo pony, in fun to handle—yet it has the "road sense" of a heavyweight highway Pullman in its stability and luxurious smooth roll.

The new ESSEX TERRAPLANE has its cylindered pneumonized power—radically new structural design unifying chassis and body—a score of engineering innovations—but what do you care?

You'll never know how importantly these affect performance until you TERRAPLANE, with you at the wheel.

Come on, take a TERRAPLANE ride today.

Then you'll know why the lights are burning nights in the drafting rooms of the rest of the industry!

Rivers of Rum Run in Flames As Historic Building Burns

Half Million Dollars in Liquor Warehouse Lost

Port of Spain, Trinidad, (By The Canadian Press)—Work has begun on construction of the three-storey building which with the Post Office Savings Bank and a bonded warehouse were destroyed in a spectacular fire here. In the warehouse were 200,000 gallons of rum valued at $500,000.

It is estimated the cost of replacing the burned buildings and contents will be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. Treasury vaults withstood the terrific heat and the contents—nearly $250,000 worth of silver, a little more than $2,000,000 in reserve note currency, the Colony's ledger and hundreds of Government books and documents of vital importance—were found to be intact after the fire. The colony's books, all tax and income tax returns and assessment forms for 1932, however, were lost. Considerable revenue loss will be the direct result of the destruction of these documents, and it will be six months at least before another assessment can be completed.

When 30,000 gallons of rum poured, a blazing river, along the streets and into the sea, it presented a brilliant spectacle. There were rivers of fire emptying into a sea of fire, for the blazing alcohol spread over the waves in a blanket of red, blue and crimson flames, leaping nine and 10 feet in the air. The customs house, endangered by the flaming river of rum, was only saved by damming the fire. Banks of sand which acted as levees to detour the flow were placed at street intersections leading to the customs house and the adjoining warehouses. Lighter and small craft moored near the wharf were hurriedly moved out to sea to save them from being enveloped in the flames that covered the surface of the sea. It was estimated the stream of rum flowing down the storm drains was nine inches deep.

The treasury was celebrating its 100th anniversary this year. It was erected in 1832 as a residence for the governor.

SAILS LOST IN TEMPEST

Worst Storm in Fourteen Years' Experience is Related

Ipswich, England (By The Canadian Press)—Towed into Ipswich harbor recently after a voyage that proved almost disastrous the four-masted full-rigged ship C. B. Pedersen arrived from South Australia Pacific the wind jammer encountered the worst storm in her career and was so crippled that she was forced to crawl up the Channel instead of taking the Cape Horne route.

During the gale the chain halyard of the mainmast snapped, sending the two-ton upper topsail yard crashing 15 feet on to the lower topsail yard. Both tore through the rigging to the main yard. The hands had left the yards barely a minute earlier. After two weeks of buffeting the C. B. Pedersen reached Gibraltar with only her royal topgallant and mainsail.

"In fourteen years at sea I have never seen such a 'storm', the riveting operator said. Day and night the 46-year-old skipper, Cap. H. Dinkelmeyer, was on deck, the height of the storm, with 12 sails blown away, the 63-year-old shellbacker said. This was the crowning misfortune.

The Pedersen is the first sailing ship to pass through the Panama Canal from Australia to England. Despite the short cut the voyage to Ipswich took 123 days.

The further back toward primitivity we trace human society, the more do we find that it survives only through substituting co-operation and mutual burden bearing.

Jack Miner and Hawks

"Should hawks find owls control man, or should man control hawks and owls?" asks Jack Miner. He says he cannot understand some men wanting to imprison humanity for stealing chickens, and at the same time advocate protection of hawks for doing the same act.

Or, he says, put it this way; We have laws on our statute books to punish by fine or imprisonment my boy or your boy for killing song and insectivorous birds, which are valuable to humanity, and then to protect a hawk or owl for doing the same act. Some people have advanced the idea that the natural way for hawks and owls to get their living is killing other bird life. "If this argument holds good," says Jack Miner, "then why kill the common field mouse if it eats the bark off your young apple trees because that is its natural way of getting a living? Why kill the porcupine if it eats the vines off your potatoes, because that is its natural way of getting a living? Why kill the deer mutton—the deer? Why kill the sheep dog if it kills your sheep? Why kill the snapping turtle if it takes your young ducks and so on? This argument is all nonsense."

Another argument advanced by the hawk protectors is that hawks destroy rats and small hawks destroy a goodly number of crickets and grasshoppers, forgetting that any ONE of these thousands of valuable and insectivorous birds destroyed by the hawks, would eat equally as many of these pests if allowed to live. "Furthermore, Jack Miner points out, that there are only 'hoppers about two months in the year and asks "what do they live on during the other ten months of the year?" He says that he found when raising pheasants and quail that while birds were small, no other than buzzble bees, one of their greatest enemies was the small variety of hawks. If small hawks will do this to young birds in captivity, they would be just as great, if not a greater enemy to small game birds in the wild state with which provincial authorities are trying to stock the country. This other argument put forth by hawk protectors is, that hawks were put here to eat diseased and sickly birds. Jack Miner says that during the nineteenth century fully 90 per cent. of bird life on the continent was composed of passenger pigeons. These birds were all exterminated by a disease; such being the case if hawks were put here to control the sickly, delicate ones the hawks should have been reduced 90 per cent. at the same time.

It has always been noted that the ones who condemn Jack Miner's action for controlling hawks on his farm and sanctuary when they become a pest and destroy valuable bird life are living in cities and who spend most of their time in office buildings and know little or nothing about running a farm, early spring and growing valuable birds such as quail and mourning doves.

In conclusion, Jack Miner says it seems so foolish for some state and provincial authorities to raise game birds in captivity at the expense of thousands of dollars and liberate same in the open and protect hawks to eat them up alive.

"No," says Jack Miner, "no one ever heard me say I believed in extermination, but I believe that one

STRUGGLE OF FIRST PAPERS

Trials and Tribulations of First Newspapers in Canada

Winnipeg, (By The Canadian Press)—Trials and tribulations of the first newspapers in Manitoba and the courage and resourcefulness of their publishers are revealed in records recently examined by W. J. Healy, Manitoba librarian.

Le Metis, first French language newspaper in Manitoba, was founded by Joseph Dubuc in St. Boniface, Man., just eleven years after the Nor'wester, first English paper in the Northwest, circulated its first edition among citizens of the Red River Settlement, now known as Winnipeg.

From the time and of steel at St. Cloud, Minnesota, 400 miles south of Winnipeg, press and equipment for Le Metis newspaper and job-printing plant, costing about $500.00 was transported by ox team to Georgetown, Minn. and thence by boat up the Red River to St. Boniface.

The first issue was a single sheet 9 by 14 inches, dated May 27, 1871, with a subscription rate of "ten shillings sterling or $2.50 Canadian money."

Le Metis, the first editorial failed, was destined to defend the good name based on the eternal principles of right and of justice, the re-establishment of order and authority in this young and vigorous province of Manitoba."

Still proudly announced that "the types are of the best sort and we have presses capable of producing together from 1,000 to 1,300 sheets an hour."

For the first year the new population led a placid existence, and in April, 1872, moved across the river to Winnipeg. But in the following September during the federal elections mobs invaded and destroyed Le Metis' plant and that of the Winnipeg Manitoban, which was established in 1870, in the midst of the Riel uprising.

On election day—Sept. 13—a group of men said to have been recent arrivals from Ontario — crossed the Red River to St. Boniface, created a disturbance around the poll when they learned the returns were heavily in favor of Candidate Donald A. Smith, and destroyed the poll books.

The demonstration then returned to Winnipeg and attacked the police guarding the poll in the public station. The captain of police and several of his men were injured in the melee before the mob was finally driven off.

That night the crowd of hoodlums again assembled and descended upon the two newspaper plants, destroying presses, type and furnishings. The Anti-Smith leanings of the papers had angered the men who favored the election of Candidate W. Wilson.

Four days later Le Metis issued its extra but up type left unbroken. Dated Winnipeg, Sept. 23, 1872, it announced result of the federal elections: "D. A. Smith, elected Selkirk, 194 majority; Dr. Schultz elected Lisgar, 145 majority; Cunningham elected Marquette, 278 majority." Followed a note of thanks to publishers of the Manitoban who had turned over a handful of type saved from the wreckage so that the Manitoban "be put out." Readers were advised Le Metis would suspend publication, but that typed newspapers had been ordered. On October 12, 1872, publication was resumed and 1872 the paper moved back to St. Boniface continued to exist until when it was succeeded by Le Manitobe.

The story of the rioting featured in the Extra was as follows:

"Our two presses are broken; our cases are empty and in pieces; our types have been thrown in the street, our bookstore is sacked; and there remains in our offices not one piece intact. We have lost seven to eight thousand dollars at least in property destroyed and damaged. It is the French population that has organized mob which ed hit in sacking and destroying the offices of the only French journal founded to protect their interests, their rights and justice, and to publish what happens here.

"Poor Red River country! How times have changed in three years! During the plundering the mob remained in front of the offices, flourishing revolvers and shouting "Vive Britania"! Leaves of my associates are very considerable and of some thousands of dollars."

SOCIETY MEETS AT SUMMER HOME OF REV. POULTER

Wooler—The meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was held this month at the Reverend A. and Mrs. A. Poulter's summer home at Barrowton Beach. Mesdames A. McCull, Edward Nelson and W. J. Lawson and Mrs. F. A. Dorland were drivers and were accompanied by Mrs. McCoull, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Lawson, Mrs. L. B. Dorland and Mrs. Ivan Mrs. Aylmer Dorland, Mrs. J. J. Way, Mrs. J. J. Wessels, Mrs. H. Easterly, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. A. G. Mack, Mrs. Ab. Sharpe, Mrs. C. McMasters, Mrs. C. E. Terrill and Mrs. S. L. Terrill. The weather was sunshine and shadow, which added to the enjoyment of the afternoon, as it did not prevent anyone from going out to the bathing beach or rowing in the quiet and warm waters, this being a real pleasure. The garden court was very inviting on the spot-lighted east of the cottage. Snapshots were taken and also the guests arranged tables on the screened-in verandah where delectable refreshments were served. Some of the party then expressed a desire to play the evening and fish, but the weathermen planned it differently, and everyone started for home in the rain storm.

Mrs. A. Quackabury and daughter Helen, are spending this week in Rochester, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lawson motored to Cobourg on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Charlie Lawson of Orland, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Lawson.

Mrs. Alice Gunter of York Road, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. L. H. Rowe.

The members of the Young Ladies' Sunday School class regret to have a member of their class and found out that Miss Allen and was leaving in two weeks to train for a nurse in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto. On Friday afternoon the girls gathered together at Allen's home to spend a social time and brought a small gift, so that she may always feel she is still a member of this class and will find a welcome on her return home at any time. The members voiced the wish of success and happiness to Miss Ellis in her new studies.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill called Edith, returned home from Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. George Milligan and Doris, Mr. and Mrs. Walker and Miss mes and Rea Milligan of Thorold spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McColl were in Kingston on Friday to visit their daughter, Mabel.

Mrs. Vera Teal spent two weeks at Weslemkoon Lake.

Mrs. Lowry returned to her home in Western Canada after spending a few months with her father, Mr. David Teal.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Haggerty has been quite ill.

A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Dorland, Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Dorland and Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty spent a day at Grand Island, fishing.

Mrs. Percy Gooding entertained a number of ladies to a quilting on Monday.

Mr. Bert Philip of Brighton, called on Mr. Earl Terrill on Saturday.

A progressive long-lived farmer living on the highway between Wooler and Frankford, Chas. Leach, has made a success in growing oats this year. He was cutting a field of oats this week and he was so took a sheaf to the house and measured it and found the straw measured 5' 8" and the whole field did not vary in appearance. May the seed yield accordingly, it will be a bumper crop.

The wheat is all harvested and threshed and the average yield was 27 bushels to the acre. Barley and oats are also being harvested.

Mrs. Ellen Hawley is very poorly.

Miss Rea Walker returned to Belleville after spending two weeks with her parents.

Sidney Crossing—Miss Reta McLaren of Norwood, is spending a couple of weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gutsell.

Mr. R. A. Elliott of Toronto is visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wilmot Bailey.

Mrs. Wilson King also his brother Ernest of Consecon, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jeffrey and family of Walkerville have been visiting relatives also calling on friends in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bunnett, attended Aikin's Church on Sunday.

Miss Service Weller has been spending a few days with her sister Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton.

A lawn and ice cream social was held at Aikin's Church on Wednesday evening last. A large number were present to enjoy an interesting ball game, followed by supper and a good programme.

Miss Katherine Hogle of Belleville spent a few days last week with her cousin, Mrs. Earl Henry.

Miss Evelyn Reid of Consecon spent the week end with Mrs. Clayton Silckle. She returned home on Sunday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Silckle and family.

A few from this neighborhood attended the Decoration Service at the cemetery on Sunday.

DO NOT REQUIRE TO DECLARE THEMSELVES

London (By The Canadian Press —The National Liberal Club, which has extended a welcome to many Canadians either as country members or as temporary residents here has decided to admit 750 more members who will not be required before election to declare themselves Liberals. These members will not be eligible for the higher offices on the executive.

It has hitherto been a rule that every candidate must sign a declaration declaring his allegiance to Liberalism. Probably not a few candidates in days gone by did so with a certain mental reservation, but the new rule will debar such soon after and said nothing about it. There are already a fair number of members who are connected actively with institutions that have sympathy with Liberal political principles.

The National Liberal Club, like nearly every other West End Club, has suffered serious loss of membership in recent years. It was formed many 50 years ago, and for general social purposes is one of the most prominent meeting places in London for the man of ordinary views.

ATHLETES ATTACKED AS BONUS MARCHERS

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 17—A group of Italian athletes, returning from the Olympic games at Los Angeles, were pelted with rocks in Juarez, Chih, Mexico, last night by Mexicans who mistook them for "bonus marchers."

Much publicity has been given plans to colonize in Mexico the United States war veterans who trekked to Washington to lobby for immediate payment of bonus certificates.

A quick explanation pacified the attackers, who gave a round of vivas for Italy and Mussolini.

FELL FROM BOAT

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 17—Failing from his boat as he was fishing, Charlemagne Trester, 18, was drowned in the St. Lawrence River near Summerstown yesterday. The boy's brother, Adelaid Trester, recovered the body. Charlemagne is the second son of the Trester family to lose his life by drowning.

New Brunswick has 12,500,000 acres of forest land of which 7,500,000 acres are owned and administered by the Crown and 5,000,000 by private individuals.

HAS RECEIVED THE 11th CAR

This week's (THE FOURTEENTH) CAR-A-WEEK CONTEST closes August 24, 1933. All entries mailed after that date will be entered in the next week's contest. The winner of this contest will be announced September 7, 1933.

The weekly prizes are awarded not for good writing but for writing which reveals character or temperament, unique or unusual features.

NOTE

The only condition of entry in this contest is that you write the following on the backs of 4 front panels from empty Turret Cigarettes (50's) packages with portion of carton stamp attached—on the back of one panel, your name; on the back of another, your occupation; on a third, your street and town; and on the fourth, your province. Fasten the four panels together and mail, on or before the closing date shown above, to Turret Cigarette Handwriting Contest,

All YOU need to do to enter is send in specimens of your handwriting on the backs of 4 front panels from Turret Cigarettes (50's) packages. (Read particulars at left.) You need not be a good writer to win; for it is not good writing that counts; but the character or interesting features that even the poorest handwriting may reveal that influences the judges in their choice of each week's winner. Mr. Frederic D. Jacob; for 15 years Dominion Government Graphologist; heads the committee of judges and gives free graphological readings to 100 other contestants each week.

The Car will be delivered the day the winner is announced.

London Adds Suburbs Growth of City Steady

London, (By The Canadian Press)—Nothing illustrates more clearly the growth of greater London since the War than the manner in which the outer suburbs are receiving clusters of incorporation, and becoming independent towns. Hendon, on the north side, has just become a municipality, and will have its own mayor, aldermen and councillors.

Hendon includes the well-known residential district of Golders Green, where, but a few years ago, a five-barred gate led to a farm-yard through which one could follow a foot-path to Edgware, along-side a lively brook, its banks spread with wild flowers. The coming of the tube for some time been erected for the population has grown from 22,000 to 120,000 and more is being added every month.

Heston and Isleworth, on the south Middlesex side, have been incorporated, with the town of Hounslow as its centre. The population at the 1931 Census was 76,000, compared with 46,000 10 years earlier. Southgate on the northern heights is expecting every day to receive authority from the Privy Council to become a corporate borough. This district is rapidly extending as one of London's better class dormitories. The present population is 87,000.

A new "Tube" is being pushed out as far as Cockfosters from the present terminus at Finsbury Park, and an average of 500 new houses per week are being erected in the suburbs.

LABORATORIES OF RESEARCH FOR CANADA

Description of Immense New Pile Recently Opened in Ottawa

OF SANDSTONE

Very Little Carved Ornament Seen on The New Building

(By The Canadian Press)

OTTAWA—Dedicated to the purpose of aiding directly in the efficient utilization of Canada's resources to meet Canadian needs, and in the extension of the bounds of man's knowledge, the new home of the National Research Council stands on the bank of the historic Ottawa river, near where the Rideau tumbles its waters into the larger stream. A massive, rectangular structure built of Wallace sandstone, the new edifice is a monument to Canadian enterprise and architectural skill.

Erected to house the national research laboratories, heretofore, located in a smaller structure farther east on Sussex street and now to be used as an annex, the new structure is less than a mile from the centre of the city, on the way to Rideau Hall, residence of Canada's Governor-General.

The main building, four storeys including the basement, contains approximately 100,000 cubic feet. It is severely classic in style. The power house at the rear is a separate unit, placed at the edge of the steep river bank, taking advantage of the natural contour of the ground in order to get the necessary space without making this building too conspicuous. It contains approximately 560,000 cubic feet and is built in similar caracter to the main building, and connected to it by a tunnel.

Rectangular Plan.

The plan is rectangular, enclosing two large open interior court yards which give ample light to all laboratory rooms overlooking them and which are seven main entrances to the building, marked in every case by partitional that feature all the doors three on the Sussex street front, one on either end, and two on the river-side elevation. An interesting feature of the plan is the two large exhibition halls located underneath the open court yards.

The courts by themselves are treated as small formal gardens with turf, flagstones, and shrubs, and are entered from a door opposite to the end entrance of the building. While in the central entrance pavilion, on the Sussex street front, there is the grand staircase, elliptical in-plan, leading down on either side to the basement and to the main passageway to the two exhibition halls, and up, in the centre, into the great circular rotunda and large lecture theatre on the first floor, then up again on each side to the second floor and main reading-room. The lecture theatre below and the reading-room above are contained in the central pavilion, and project on each court. Behind the reading-room is stacking room for 150,000 volumes, with a $50,000 volume.

The administrative offices are located on the first floor of the Sussex street front, down each side, from the rotunda, and reached from the public corridor by their own private connecting corridor which gives privacy and eliminates noise. The two flanking wings on the river-basin facade contain on the first floor the board room on the one side and the president's office on the other. Each room has its own ante-room and is entered from the public corridor connecting the administrative offices.

Four Floors.

The remainder of the building and the greater part is taken up with research rooms located on each side of central corridors on all four floors. The research rooms occupy approximately 130,000 square feet of floor area, most of which is individual rooms, each for the use of one man, but also includes a large heavy testing laboratory and a large electrical laboratory, both two storeys in height and equipped with travelling cranes of 15 tons capacity. The biological department has ample quarters in a wing set apart on the roof at the southwest end, where there is accommodation for the storage of animals, operating rooms, and exercising runways on the roof itself.

Except for the main facade toward Sussex street, which, with its colonnade of Roman Doric columns, strikes a classic note, the style of the building is reminiscent of the Italian Renaissance and the treatment of the elevations that face on the interior courts is especially of this character.

The whole of the outside walls are of Wallace sandstone, standing on an eight foot high base of grey Queenston granite. There is very little carved ornament on the building. The main pediment and spandrels of the central pavilion have carved ornament representing scientific symbols. All the windows are of the steel casement type with bronze hardware. The outside doors are panelled in wood and painted, with the exception of the main entrance doors which are bronze. All the roof spaces are covered with black slate laid in a mastic bed.

The building which now stands complete and which to the casual visitor may seem pleasing to look upon architecturally, or which may favorably impress the scientist because of what it offers to the world of research, took several years of careful study to decide.

ASSOCIATION TO FIGHT JAPS

HANKING, China, Aug. 16.—Various unofficial civic organisations throughout China are forming an association for prolonged resistance to the Japanese in Manchuria and to Japanese aggression against China, generally", it was said today in official Chinese circles.

HOPE OF RECOVERY IS ABANDONED

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 16—Hope has been practically abandoned for the recovery of Stephen H. Smith, Amherstburg lawyer. Smith was injured five weeks ago in an auto accident at Oldbway and but recently returned to his home. For days his death was expected while in the hospital. Days ago he took a sudden turn for the worse and now is a victim of spinal meningitis.

ECLIPSE BRINGS HEAVY SUPPLIES FOR SCIENTISTS

Tons of Instruments Are Ready For Event on August 31

SEEN HERE

United States Observors Will Also be Present

Montreal, Aug. 17 (CP)—Tons of scientific equipment, including coronagraphs, spectographs, tower cameras and huge telescopes, have been brought to this province by astronomers of several countries who are here to observe day-time darkness at the eclipse of the sun on August 31.

As the moon rolls in front of the sun, a great shadow, several thousand miles in length, will be cast across the earth's surface, commencing in the far north, the umbral shadow will sweep directly across the Magnetic Pole, over Hudson's Bay, through the province of Quebec into the eastern United States, finally curving eastwards to disappear at sunset in mid-Atlantic.

The earth will intercept the shadow cone of the moon obliquely, producing an eclipse with a major and minor axis of 102 miles and 57 miles respectively. The area covered by the shadow at any one instant will therefore be approximately 4,564 square miles. The maximum duration of totality will be 102 seconds and will occur at the centre of the shadow, the duration lessening towards the edges. The shadow will travel at a speed of approximately 2,000 miles an hour. From the time the moon appears to touch the sun till it loses contact on the other side, will be from 3:14 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Great Interest

Throughout Quebec astronomical bases have been established. Expeditions from Great Britain and the United States will join Canadian astronomers in watching the phenomenon Canadians will not have an opportunity to see in their own country again for many years.

Cambridge University has sent a large party under Dr. F. J. M. Stratton, director of its solar physics observatory. Special observations to be made by the Cambridge expedition include a study of the wave-length of the principal coronal line by an objective interferometer, a photometric study of the intensity of the lines of the spectrochromosphere at different levels in the sun's outer atmosphere and a study of the polarization of the corona in different wave lengths Amongst the Cambridge party is Prof. Young, who has brought a 19 foot coronagraph, an objective grating spectographs including a quartz slit lens, and a 30-inch reflector with a prism spectograph.

In addition to Dr. Stratton, the party includes Prof. T. A. Carroll, Dr. R. O. Redman, Dr. C. P. Butler, Prof. H. H. Plaskett, Dr. F. W. Aston, Dr. A. C. Beale, Dr. H. Knox-Shaw, Dr. T. L. Houghton, Dr. W. J. S. Lockyer, Dr. N. W. Sicard, Dr. T. P. Cameron, Dr. W. Hall, W. S. Thackeray, and Co. T. Wesley Cohen.

The Cambridge party will be stationed at Magog, Que., in the Eastern Townships and only a few miles from the Vermont border. Here also will the United States expedition establish headquarters.

The United States group will be under the leadership of Dr. H. A. Mitchell, director of Leander McCormick Observatory, University of Virginia. Dr. Mitchell will observe his ninth total solar eclipse. With him will be Prof. A. C. G. Mitchell of New York University, Dr. Harry A. Barton of the American Institute of France, Dr. Alexander D. Butterfield of the University of Vermont, Hamilton McCormick-Goodhart of Washington and Kempton Adams of New York.

The American party will continue Dr. Mitchell's study of the heights and vapors of the solar atmosphere conducted at "Tin-Can Island" in 1930 and make use of two powerful coronagraphs. These observations will be supplementary to those made in New England by American scientists.

Observe at Parent

A second British party, sponsored by the Royal Observatory at Greenwich, will make its observations at Parent, in Northern Quebec. Photographs of the corona will be taken with a 45-foot telescope and spectra will be obtained with a 21-foot focus prism instrument of seven-inch aperture. Other spectroscopes will investigate special regions of the spectrum of the eclipsed sun. Dr. J. Jackson and C. S. Davidson of the Observatory will comprise the party, assisted by Dr. H. Dinsdale of Penang.

Imperial College, University of London, has also sent a party which will make observations from Montreal. It is headed by Dr. A. Fowler, and will co-operate with Dr. A. R. Hinks and Dr. A. Norman Shaw of McGill University.

An expedition from the University of Toronto will be located at St. Alexis des Monts on the north shore of the Lawrence. It is headed by Prof. C. A. Chant. A 40-foot tower camera will mount a plate will photograph the sun and an 11-foot camera will make two long exposure photographs. A special line by an objective interferometer, a photometric study of the intensity of the lines of the spectrochromosphere at different levels in the sun's outer atmosphere and a study of the polarization of the corona in different wave lengths Amongst the Cambridge party is Prof. Young, who has brought a 19 foot coronagraph, an objective grating spectographs including a quartz slit lens, and a 30-inch reflector with a prism spectograph.

VISITING HOUSE-KEEPER SERVICE

(By The Canadian Press)

CALGARY — Alberta division of the Canadian Red Cross Society has inaugurated a visiting house-keeper service. This step has been taken to care for homes where mothers are ill and households without adequate house-keeping supervision.

Duties of visiting house-keepers are to secure meals, tend children, house-clean and give ill mothers bedside attention. Her wage of $3 per day will be paid by the society. The fee charged the family will run from $2.50 per day down to 25 cents and in cases where families are unable to pay the service will be free.

H. C. RICHARDSON 41 DIES WAS LONG ILL

Toronto Aug. 16—After a lengthy illness, Herbert C. Richardson, 41, died at Toronto East General hospital yesterday. Richardson was born at Grant, Lanark county, and was educated in Kingston. He served overseas for the duration of the war.

He is survived by his only daughter, Juanita, of St. Helens, England, and his father of Toronto. The funeral will take place tomorrow in Toronto.

FALL UNDER TRUCK PROVES FATAL

Kitchener, Ont., Aug. 16—Harry Dawson, 33 of Listowel, was instantly killed near Elmira when he fell under the wheels of a truck. Dawson was attempting to move from the platform of the vehicle when he lost his footing and fell to the roadway. The wheels passed over his head.

ARM OF LAW REACHES FAR

Jewel Robbers Cannot Escape Scotland Yard

London (by the Canadian Press) — Scotland Yard is back of the provincial police force in a more direct way than ever before and is rapidly becoming the directing and prosecuting force in all the manhunts and cases of big crime, although a national detective force is not at present possible, according to the Home Secretary, Sir Herbert Samuel.

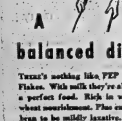
Provincial detectives now realize that the Yard resources are fully behind them. The scheme is leading to greater co-operation. The change has come fatig operation as the outcome of conferences between Yard chiefs, county and borough chief constables and Home Office officials.

Immediately a major crime occurs in any part of England or Wales a brief message is now flashed to Scotland Yard. Normally, this is just but if it is a case in which the Yard can take an active part the necessary orders are immediately given.

Take a recent instance. A big jewel robbery occurred in North Wales. The local police promptly told the Yard (the Yard were not "called in" in the official sense) and within a few hours the Yard chiefs were telling the Welsh police that the methods of the thieves suggested the jewellers might be well-known from a Midland town. These men were brought up and later convicted.

In the Home Counties the scheme is proving particularly effective for in a recent case within 50 miles of London, when bandits were using a car, the police of more than half a dozen counties received early information and formed a cordon round the area in which the suspects were operating. The men were caught and convicted. The greater use of broadcast messages by the police is also helping to make Scotland Yard the directing force. All police requests for messages to be sent out by the British Broadcasting Corporation have to be forwarded to the Yard and if, by any reason, the Yard deems a broadcast unnecessary or inadvisable the request is declined.

COCAINE IMPORTER GIVEN YEAR'S TERM



(By The Canadian Press)

PORTSMOUTH, England — For importing cocaine, John Grech, a Maltese subject who was canteen assistant in H.M.S. Royal Sovereign, was sentenced at Portsmouth recently to twelve months' imprisonment.

He told the police he had bought a bottle which contained the drug in Greece. The borough analyst said the bottle contained 75 ounces of cocaine hydro-chloride—2,000 grains. Half a grain was the full medicinal dose. The cocaine was confiscated and handed to the Royal Portsmouth Hospital.

A pendulum clock moved from Ottawa to the mouth of the Mackenzie River, in the Northwest Territories, gained about one minute and twenty seconds a day, owing to the increase of gravity with latitude.

Century of Progress in Fine Art Realm

(By The Canadian Press)

CHICAGO—A century of progress in the fine arts will be exhibited next year in the galleries of the art institute of Chicago. It will house the official art display of the 1933 world's fair.

Primarily the exhibits will parallel those of the halls devoted to science and industry, but in addition to showing the fruits of the last 100 years in art, they will be gathered arranged in sequence to show Italian, Dutch, German and French pioneers, and paintings of the European masters from the 15th to the 18th century.

HEADMASTER GIVES VIEW

Not Well Impressed With Behaviors of Modern Boys

London (by the Canadian Press) — Boys' natures have changed in the past thirty years, with the changed times, according to Cuthbert Blakiston, headmaster of Lansing College, who related stories of bed boys at school to an interested audience of medical men at a meeting of the British Medical Association. The doctors found food for thought and many opportunities for laughter.

Mr. Blakiston drew a contrast between the present-day boy and the boys of 30 years ago. For instance, he said: "Thirty years ago boys were tremendously keen on games and fishing, and absolutely mad on cricket and football, and without much sympathy for such miserable things as tennis and golf.

"But today a boy expects to be taken everywhere by car. A walk and three-quarter miles is terrible. He is interested in wireless, flying and motoring, but I doubt if he could saddle a horse. He leans to golf rather than for love of boredom. One notices today an increase of the cruelty and mischievousness of the older generation. The boys of today are quite ready to play on each other's lamentment. The average boy today dislikes cricket because he says it is slow.

"It used to be said that the only time when a boy would lie was under the influence of drink. Another honor not to betray a friend. That is not true today. Boys do not lie as a rule, mind blabbing about each other. They tell me the most disturbing things about other boys—most of them untrue.

"I said to one boy the other day, 'You know that is a lie,' and he replied, 'Well, I'll tell you the truth down quite well so far.' Peacock-ry-pinching, anything which will adorn their persons they will do to a so," was another peccadillo with which Mr. Blakiston dealt with the modern boy.

Headmasters and schoolmistresses, Mr. Blakiston said, must in-assistance.

STUDIES MATERNAL AND CHILD WELFARE

(By The Canadian Press)

CALGARY, Alta.—Study of maternal and child welfare methods in Canada will be undertaken by Miss Elizabeth Smellie, Dominion supervisor of the Victorian Order of Nurses. On a visit here recently she announced she would leave for Europe shortly to pursue her investigations on behalf of the Rockfeller Foundation of New York.

Miss Smellie disclosed that visits made by Victorian Orders of Nurses had increased from 48,000 in 1929 to 100,000 in 1931. Despite the organization's decreased revenues, two new districts had been opened in 1931.

FORMER CENTRE RESIDENT DIES

Centre—Centre and Victoria W. M.S. members held their August meeting at the parsonage. Rev. and Mrs. Mullen made everyone welcome. There were 20 present and a good program was given under the leadership of Group 2. Mrs. Mullen and her helpers served delicious fruit and refreshments at the close and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Surr of Surrs' neighborhood, also Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Munro of Carlton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Fox on Sunday.

Master Ronald Burr returned home Sunday night after a week's holiday at his aunt's, Mrs. W. Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton L. Redner attended a shower at Bloomfield on Thursday evening for Miss Weir, nephew and bride, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Pearsall.

B. L. Redner made a business trip to Brockville on Saturday.

Farmers are very busy in the harvest field. This week will see most of the grain in this vicinity cut if weather conditions are favorable.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Redner and children spent Sunday evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Black of Huff's Island.

Mrs. C. W. Pyrner and Miss Ruth of Mountain View, also Mrs. E. Wallbridge of West Lake, were visitors at Herbert Pulver's on Wednesday.

Messrs. Harold and Clarence Young received the sad news the past week that their only sister Florence Young McGregor, passed away at her home in Wallbridge. Much sympathy is felt by the family. Florence was born and lived her girlhood at Centre.

INSTITUTE MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. W. BLAIR

Bayside—Mrs. Lorne Hunt has gone to Keene to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery had a family picnic in Hill's Grove on Sunday.

Miss Jean Savage of Belleville, has returned home after spending a week with Miss Helen Jeffery.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Denyes and his father, also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bolton spent Sunday in Bancroft.

Miss Helen Jeffery celebrated her fifth birthday on Thursday entertaining friends from Rochester and Oak Lake.

Mrs. Benson Bonisteel had a bad attack of quinsy but is improving.

Mrs. H. Markley of Toronto; Mrs. Gordon Jeffery, Miss Helen Jeffery and Mr. Alfred Wickett and friends of Rochester spend Sunday at Oak Lake.

Miss Grace Cameron and Master Jack Cameron of Toronto are spending their holidays with their aunt, Mrs. H. Demille.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was late for supper again last nite, making a lot of times this month I've been late for supper. I got ready to begin to say something to me and I guess said. O, pop, gosh ma, there was a fearse accident. It's a lucky thing I didnee get cawt under it.

O for mercey sakes I wish you'd try to be more careful, ma said, and pop said. Confound it, I've told you perzer to take chances and you'll never get hert? Undr what, zet cawt under what? he said.

When? When the axident happened, of corse, and I said, Well I dont know exactly, because it happened some time this morning, but it's such a big truck there's still work in it trying to get it away, and me and Sidney Simkins are watching them, so I wouldent be serprised if he was late too.

And I wouldent be serprised if he got crawshed even harder than this, pop said.

Meaning a xster hard slap some place but not the hardest I ever got.

A grate big truck banged into a bridge and then into a tree and then went over on its side rite on the pavement. I was glad it knocked the lampost down as if it was made of bunsh of iron, and glad it knocked the tree down as if it was made of paper instead of wood, and glad it didnt hit me. I'd been there instead of that lampost or instead of that tree, I said. I wouldent be here now just imagine, I said. I was invzyble or something of the kind. O my goodness the things that go on while you're in the mocentely eating ma said, and pop said, Do you mean to say you axpect all the thing go over? How far away were you? he said.

SWEEP SWISS AIR CONTESTS

Win Both Events in 230-Mile Dash Around The Alps

(By The Canadian Press)

ZURICH, Switzerland — British aeroplanes scored the greatest triumph in international competition since the end of the Schneider Trophy contest series, when they won both single-seater and multi-seater events in races around the Alps.

Sixteen single-seater and 12 multi-seater aircraft took part, representing between them nine nations and the cream of modern aeronautical design and construction. France, Italy, Yugoslavia, Belgium, Denmark, Holland, Rumania, Poland and Switzerland all entered machines, though from the first the British fighting aeroplanes to be flown by the Yugoslavian and Italian pilots were firm favorites, such is the reputation for speed and extreme flying efficiency possessed on the continent of Europe by British military aircraft.

The course was Zurich-Thun-Lausanne-Bellinzona-Zurich, a distance of 230 miles, and it was chosen to take the pilots up to heights well above 10,000 feet over sections of the circuit. Weather conditions were perfect, and the race resolved itself into a straightforward speed and climb test of aeroplanes against aeroplane rather than a struggle with mist or storm.

In the upshot the first single-seater pilot across the finishing line at Duberdorf aerodrome, Zurich, was the Yugoslavian army flyer, Captain Stetic, who flew the entire course in 68 minutes 36 seconds, his Hawker "Fury" biplane averaging no less than 201.6 miles per hour. The British success was rounded off later when Captain Vanderlinder, of the Belgian army air force, crossed the line in a Fairey "Fox" two-seater biplane. Carrying a passenger in observer's cockpit the Belgian averaged 180.9 miles per hour, beating the circuit in 88 minutes, 7 seconds.

These records are all the more impressive because every competing aeroplane was obliged to make two compulsory halts on the way, implying three take-offs and consequently an average speed lower than would be possible in a race without intermediate landings.

The winning "Fury" was one of a batch of three of these fast and formidable interceptor fighters which were acquired by the Yugoslavian government 12 months ago, and all that time it has been flown regularly in the hands of military pilots. Powered, like the "Fox" two-seater, with the Rolls-Royce 600 h.p. "Kestrel" liquid-cooled motor, the "Fury" is now standard equipment of the Interceptor squadrons of the British Home Defence Force. Carrying full military load this craft attains speed in the neighborhood of 218-220 miles an hour, and performance which is unapproached by any military aeroplane designed and constructed outside Great Britain. It can climb to a height of 20,000 feet in less than ten minutes while maintaining forward movement at the rate of 150 miles per hour.

The "Fox" two-seater flown by Captain Vanderlinden is one of a large number supplied recently by the Fairey Company for the re-equipment of certain regiments of the Belgian military air service. Together with a large batch of Fairey-single-seater fighters, the two "Fox" orders constitute the largest contracts ever placed by a foreign government with a British aircraft company in time of peace.

SWEDISH PRINCE DONATES VIOLIN

Popular Heir is Welcomed in Remote Parts of State

Stockholm, Sweden (by the Canadian Press)—Arvid Ochelin, 12-year-old fiddler in the remote northern Swedish province of Haerjedalen, got the surprise of his young life a few days ago, thanks to the generosity of the Swedish Crown Prince, who presented him with the object he coveted most, a violin of his own.

The Crown Prince, who probably knows his country and its people better than almost any other Swede made a tour through Haerjedalen, the ancient and little known, but beautiful province, and the only one of Sweden's provinces he had not yet visited.

It was during this trip through the large forests, valleys and rugged mountains that the Crown Prince and Crown Princess Louise attended a provincial festival at the picturesque village of Glissjoberg where the fiddlers and local minstrels had gathered to play their ancient tunes and dances to the royal couple. The youngest one among them, Arvid Ochelin, showed great talent much to the delight of the royal guests. The Crown Prince learned from one of the older musicians that the boy played on a fiddle he had borrowed, his parents being too poor to buy one.

All His Own

"The boy shall have a violin of his own," the Crown Prince said, spoke but him one and send the bill to me. You have well deserved that, Arvid." The Crown Prince patted the boy's shoulder, Arvid was surprised and happy that he almost forgot to thank the donor but plunged headlong thru' the crowd to tell his father and mother.

The royal tour through these remote parts had many spectacular and touching scenes recalling the old-time patriarchal and affectionate relations between the people and its sovereigns. Thousands of men, women and children lined the roads many dressed in their picturesque provincial costumes with bared heads and beaming faces, waving flags and throwing flowers. Old people stood in shoes made of birch-bark offered gifts, wood-carvings and colored home-made carpets. When the royal couple drove up to attend the Sunday service in a country church, home-clothed girls with flaxen tresses paraded along the road and during the service the altar was surrounded by a flowered of lovely costumed children. Garlands, arches of flowers and green twigs were put up along the roads and at the entrances of the farms. The royal guests, mixed with the people, had long talks with the old ones and caressed the children. The Crown Prince made some royal speeches to the throngs who assembled around him at the local festivals in the different villages.

There were tears in the eyes of the old woodsmen as they shook hands with their royal guests, assuring them that this visit of Swedish future king would be remembered for generations at the fireside in the lonely cottages of Haerjedalen.

400 BOYS GUESTS OF DUKE OF YORK

(By The Canadian Press)

LONDON—On the invitation of the Duke of York four hundred boys are now in camp at Southwold, on the Suffolk coast. Half of the boys are from the historic schools of England such as Eton, Harrow and Winchester, and the other half consist of youths who are already at work with industrial or commercial houses of business. The idea of bringing lads of these two classes together under canvas was started by the Duke of York some years ago. The Duke hopes to spend some time in camp with his guests.

PRESERVE EAST LYN VALLEY IN N. DEVON

(By The Canadian Press)

LONDON—To buy and preserve from building some 340 acres of land in the famous East Lyn Valley of North Devon the Lynton, Lynmouth, and District Association for the Preservation of Local Natural Beauties are trying to raise £42,500. It is proposed to hand over the land, when acquired, to the National Trust. The land to be bought includes 240 acres on the north bank of the East Lyn, from Woodside to Rockford, and 100 acres of Barton Wood on the south bank. Watersmeet House is situated on the property.

A colored plan has been made of the whole property and has been divided into 1,000 numbered plots of £25 each, a plot representing about a quarter of an acre. A donor of £25 becomes the giver of the plot bearing the number printed on the receipt. A donor of £5 becomes the giver of one-fifth part of a plot, and so on in proportion.

A new kind of lacquer for coating wood, developed in Europe, is said to have both fire and water resistant qualities.

SAYS EVIDENCE DISCONNECTED

Miami, Fla., Aug. 16.—Defense Attorney James M. Carson, pleading for the life of Capt. W. N. Lackner in the British Flyers' trial for the murder of N. Clarke, today criticized the State's case as the sum of "five disconnected and sketchy circumstances in no way sufficient to give you any reason for believing he killed Clarke."

The common potato bug, or "Colorado beetle" leaves the plant in September and goes into the ground to hibernate.

CONFERENCE AT OTTAWA BREATHES SUCCESS

Atmosphere of Success As Conference Nears End

Standardization is Urged

Uniform Standards Throughout British Commonwealth Advocated in Report of Sub-Committee on Agriculture Films, Radio and so Forth

STANDARD OF QUALITY AND PACKING

Continued Development of Radio and Films Shown as Essential to Progress—Cooperation in Regard to Aircraft Materials and Methods

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—(By The Canadian Press)—The Canadian Cabinet and United Kingdom delegation will meet at 3.30 this afternoon. The Soviet Russia situation has been overcome. And the "whole atmosphere breathes success." The Imperial Conference will be over in thirty-six hours. Unofficial reports continue that the British preference on Canadian wheat will be six cents per bushel or five cents under prevailing rates of exchange.

The Imperial Conference went on record today as favoring uniformity in standard specifications and trade practices in steel, timber, industrial chemical products and the replacable parts of agricultural machinery. A goal was set that would provide for interchangeability in these products among all empire countries. The report of the sub-committee was adopted.

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—(By The Canadian Press)—The following is the official summary of the report of the Imperial Committee on methods of economic cooperation:

I—Recommendations of general questions of economic co-operation.

(a). Committee of not more than two from each Commonwealth State to consider means of facilitating economic consultation and co-operation and to survey functions, organization, and financial bases of existing agencies and to examine what changes, if any, in the existing machinery for co-operation are desirable.

(b) This committee to report to the several governments represented thereon not later than May 31st, 1933, with view to the consideration of their report by those governments not later than September, 1933.

(c) Reservations made to above recommendation by (1) South Africa and (11) Irish Free State.

As to (11):

South Africa does not disapprove of ad hoc bodies for economic investigation and preparation but will not associate itself with any scheme for the erection of any organization in the nature of a permanent secretariat or preparatory committee to consider economic conferences whether economic or otherwise; also South Africa does not feel committed by the principles of the giving of financial support to Commonwealth organizations.

As to (11): the Irish Free State, while not objecting to the adoption of the report and the accompanying resolutions, is not prepared to contemplate the setting up of an imperial economic secretariat or any similar organ of centralization. Recommendations re industrial standardization.

(1) The desirability of the work of national standardization, the following principles should, as far as possible be observed:

Details

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—Definite recommendations for stimulating the interchange of standard practice of the Imperial Conference committee on methods of economic cooperation.

A lengthy and comprehensive document, the report covers a wide field.

It recommends:

Immediate steps to secure adoption of commercial standards on steel, timber, industrial chemical products, replaceable parts of agricultural machinery, etc, in order to promote inter-Empire trade in these products.

Free circulation of specifications and other standardizing documents between the different national standardizing bodies. Consideration by the various nations of the adoption of a standard schedule of colors.

Consultation

Machinery for co-operation and consultation between various parts of the Commonwealth in the matter of standards.

Adoption of uniform standards for the Empire for those agricultural products which lend themselves readily to standardization.

Standardization of containers for agricultural products circulated between various parts of the Empire.

Establishment of a committee, representative of the entire commonwealth, to consider means of facilitating economic consultation and co-operation.

This committee is to report not later than May, 1933. Embodying as it does the reports of several sub-committee the main report deals with a wide range of subjects.

With films the suggestion is embodied in the proposal that the renting value of foreign films displayed, closer contact between commonwealth producers and censorship authorities is suggested. Free admission of a single "positive" of each commonwealth film for censorship before general release within thirty days, to give exhibitors a chance to book or not, is another suggestion.

On the question of radio, closer co-operation between all bodies controlling radio throughout the commonwealth is recommended.

GERMAN ARMY WILL BLOCK NAZI THREAT

Hitler Assures Von Papen Troops Not Used For Camp d' Etat

HITLER WARNED

Von Papen Says Germany Wants Other Nations to Keep Word

Berlin, Aug. 18—Chancellor Franz Von Papen, bitterly opposed by Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party, will take the reins before the new Reichstag on August 30th to test the strength of the opposition.

The official announcement today that the Reichstag would be convened at three o'clock on the afternoon of August 30 was read by assistant reports that the Von Papen government considered it the possibility of a no-confidence vote.

No Massacre Hitler

Berlin, Aug. 18—A warning that the German people would be unpromptly to stock any attempt by Adolf Hitler to use his National Socialist storm troops to seize the government was before Hitler today from Chancellor Von Papen.

The chancellor added he expected his government to remain in power "a long time."

The warning was given in an interview last night in which Von Papen said he would not allow any demand for equality in armaments by Germany would be met by the Fatherland no longer could submit to being treated as a second class power.

No Coup d'Etat

With reference to Hitler and the storm troops, however, he said he and President Hindenburg as the Nazi leader the troops would not be used for any attempt at a coup d'Etat.

Appearing thoroughly confident of the future for his cabinet, he declared that there was no attempt to avoid the vote of the Reichstag, in which Hitler's Nazis have the largest number of seats. He believed, he said, any appeal to the common sense of the parties would be successful because there is no government in reach to replace the present one.

No Desire to Disarm

The Chancellor's non-committal on whether Germany would leave the League of Nations if her claims for equality in armament were not recognized.

"Germany has no desire nor intention to arm" he said, "but she will not allow the Versailles Treaty to their promises to disarm."

The German people, he added are now united more closely than ever behind "their supreme leader, the Field Marshall Von Hindenburg and are full of confidence in his wise leadership."

Russian Dumping Menace To Be Restricted Says Britain

England Won to View so Firmly Asserted by R. B. Bennett

(By George Hamilton)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—United Kingdom and Canadian delegations have agreed that commonwealth preferences must be protected against dumping from any source whatever.

That, it is understood, is the basis of the formula under consideration by the two delegations. While primarily intended to meet the menace of recent Russian dumping, the formula under review does not specifically mention Russia. It is directed against dumping itself.

It will realize, a member of the United Kingdom delegation said last night, that it is useless to grant preferences within the Commonwealth if the effect of the preferences is to be negatived by dumping from some foreign country. And it is against dumping itself—whether from Russia, Germany, France or any other country—that the action proposed will be directed.

In Canadian circles, it was stated last night that the formula will be announced "shortly—possibly within twenty-four hours," Canada and United Kingdom are in agreement on the wording.

Administration of the curative action by the United Kingdom to prevent the dumping of goods and selling of primary products such as are produced in Canada, such as wheat and lumber, is the basis of the formula. No country is specified, but the formula is aimed at Soviet Russia products entering the British market.

Ultimate cancellation or modification of the present United States-Russian trade pact is generally expected to result from the Conference.

The Canadian Cabinet sat until late last night. The Empire delegates likewise conferred.

LORD KLYSANT IS RELEASED FROM PRISON

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Lord Kylsant, once the powerful and widely British shipping interests and chairman of the Royal Mail Line, was released from Wormwood Scrubbs' Prison, where he served a sentence for falsification of his company's financial statements.

He was greeted by his wife, who drove to the prison from her home in London, to be on hand when he was released.

Lady Kylsant said her husband's turn now will be to devote all their home was to tie down for a rest.

500 RESIDENTS JOIN IN SEARCH FOR GIRL

Sundridge, Ont., Aug. 18— Five hundred men assisted by boats and an aeroplane, joined in a search for arous but so far unsuccessful search for Eva Hall, 15 year old girl who has been missing for two days in the woods near Poverty Bay.

The girl went picking huckleberries Monday morning and was reported missing soon afterwards. Years ago she had been badly frightening an attack of sunstroke, in lying in the woods or that she fell victim to foul play. Her hat and was drowned.

Search movement facing the search parties was increased today when 100 Indians from the Parry Island Indian Reserve joined the search. Chief Nanticoke Monday. Many of the Indians reported missing soon afterwards. Years ago she had been badly frightened during an attack of sunstroke, in lying in the woods or that she fell victim to foul play. Her hat and was drowned.

DROPS DEAD ON CAB FLOOR

Engineer However Brings His Train to Depot Before Death

Toronto, Aug. 18.—Faithful to the last, engineer Dave Martin fought off a heart attack as he brought his fast Canadian National freight train into Toronto from South Parry Sound yesterday. As the locomotive pulled into the Union Station, Martin fell down on the floor of his cab.

Martin, who was in his sixtieth year, left home for South Parry Sound Monday night, feeling in good health. On return from that point yesterday he told his fireman he was not feeling well but when the emergency dynamite house exploded, throwing him through the doorway. After medical aid he was able to return to the job. Buildings on these jobs are scheduled as a safety fing precaution.

MARBLE SWELLING IS QUARRY PROBLEM

Campbellford, Aug. 18—Bruce Sutherland, of Ottawa, in charge of the provincial standards contract on Brighton highway near Campbellford, received seven burns about the head and arms when possible used for destruction of dynamite house exploded, throwing him through the doorway. After medical aid he was able to return to the job. Buildings on these jobs are scheduled as a safety fing precaution.

Conference One of Hard Headed Men Not Idealists Seeking New Empire

Ottawa, Aug. 18 (CP)—Conservatism, the system called the English, a system of shopkeepers. He was right. They are great traders, as we have been, leaving the shore for few days, in the quality that pulled the U. K. through the post war years and still makes London the world centre." Thus commented a leading statesman of the Dominion on the ebb and flow of the conference.

"And we of the overseas are not such bad traders ourselves," he went on. That is right and proper because this is a conference of business men, not of idealists seeking to create a new empire in the new world. To you press men, watching from the shore it must seem a dull voyage, with no breaking out of signal flags nor rockets of oratory. But to us aboard the lugger, the Conference, with its dramatic undercurrents, its thrilling enough, and to get our cargo safe in port is to us about a bit of seamanship as the traders of the seas saw have pulled off for many a year."

FLOWER SHOW IS COLORFUL

Horticultural Society Opens Annual Exhibition

The drill hall of the Armouries this, Thursday afternoon, presented an animated scene of activity as exhibitors prepared their floral displays for competition in the annual flower show of the Belleville Horticultural Society which opens there tonight and continues till Thursday night. A fine class of plant growth and splendid bloom are in classified spaces for the consideration of the judges. The committee in charge has appealed to flower lovers and growers in the city and all classes are well filled.

Tonight should see a good turnout of flower and beauty lovers of the Belleville district. The Belleville Horticultural Society's annual show has since its inception been the outstanding event in the city's Central Ontario and this year's show promises to outrival its predecessors.

MIND OF MAN NEARLY BLANK

Police Try to Gather Thread of Life From Hazy Recollections

London, Ont., Aug. 18.—The veil of mystery that surrounds the memory of John McMallaird, mysterious stranger in the city police circle is slowly disappearing and today is only one more link in the chain of evidence which may solve the puzzle which is baffling police and medical experts.

McMallaird identified to-day by Mrs. Ida Sound.

She knows me and can tell us who I am," stated the mystery man. Meanwhile he is held on a nominal charge of vagrancy and was remanded to jail for a week by Detective Sergeant Henderson.

Mind is Blank

The man who gave his name as John McMallaird but can't remember any more of his life, was picked up by police Tuesday night. He was turned over to Canadian Legion officials who in turn asked Provincial Police to take charge of him.

"Where is your home?" asked Deputy Police Magistrate Brayley.

"It might be in Windsor or it might be in Vancouver," replied McMallaird.

He arrived with the Canadian Legionaires then with the denial service and later with the United States Legion. He was injured in the war.

Known in Owen Sound

While conversing with police, McMallaird said he believed he used to work for the Central Chair Co. at Owen Sound.

Fred Johnson who lives at the corner of Alpha Street and Sixth Ave. in Owen Sound, identified McMallaird. He is also a drum major in the Salvation Army and knows him well. He will know where I live."

Police have asked the mayor of the Owen Sound man immediately.

FRAUD SUSPECT IS HELD AFTER CHASE

Campbellford Aug. 18—After a thrilling chase from Campbellford to Perth, Ont., Constables Alan Cavanagh, chang'd with passing a worthless cheque for $683 in payment of motor car at a garage here, was handed over to Smith's Falls by Chief of Police E. G. O. Kennedy and Provincial Constables Yannell and brought back to Campbellford to stand trial.

PROF. PICCARD MAKES RECORD IN UPPER AIR

Reaches Height Superior to That Reached One Year Ago

LANDS IN ITALY

Spends 12 Hours in Stratosphere or Upper Atmosphere

EDOLO, Italy, Aug. 18.—Prof. Auguste Piccard's second balloon excursion into the stratosphere ended this evening as five o'clock when he brought his balloon down here after almost 12 hours in the upper atmosphere.

Prof. Piccard landed little scientist and his young assistant, Max Cosyn, stepped out of the Aluminium gondola safely and excitedly.

"Well," said Prof. Piccard, "that was a problem indeed."

But before he would say another word he insisted upon an inspection of the gondola of the balloon.

Once he decided to land, he came down gradually and the operation required about two hours.

High above the earth, he knew that the northwest wind probably would carry him to the shores of the Adriatic Sea if he remained up much longer.

Making a slowly downward, he landed within striking distance of the Italian Alps which he had been able to see from the moment he crossed the Alps and the Swiss border.

Dubendorf, Switzerland, Aug. 18 (Havas)—Auguste Piccard, the conqueror of the stratosphere, established a new world's altitude record today by rising 16,500 metres (more than 54,000 feet) above the earth in his aluminium air-tight ball attached to his stratosphere balloon.

He took off from the aerodrome here at 8.06 o'clock this morning after weeks of waiting for suitable weather conditions and at noon his balloon was reported by Prof. Piccard's radio message saying he had smashed the world's altitude mark.

Radio messages sent by Dr. Piccard today were the first ever received from the stratosphere.

In his message at noon he said:

16,500 Metres

"We have crossed the Engadine Mountains at an altitude of 16,500 metres."

Advices from various observation posts in this vicinity indicated that Dr. Piccard had equalled his previous record shortly after his take-off. He was sighted frequently from Zurich, Berlin and Paris as the balloon took a more southerly course than that on the day he reported from Davos, St. Moritz and other points.

Another message received shortly after noon reported that Piccard had crossed the Engadine to the east of Davos, Switzerland.

"We are both well," the message said. "The cabin is filled with explosion of gas to descend soon. We wish to avoid descending into the Alps. We are at the height of Lake Garda."

Temperature Cold

"Everything aboard is all right but the temperature is very cold.

This afternoon the great balloon was floating majestically at 16,000 feet high far awhile, then drifted southward, passing Bellinzo among the Alps.

In view of Piccard's message that he intended to descend soon to avoid crossing the Alps, it believed that preparations were made to receive him at Verona, in the Adige Valley if he should decide to land there.

SLIPS OFF ROCK

Owen Sound, Aug. 18—Katherine five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, of Lion's Head, Bruce Peninsula, was drowned in Georgian Bay a short distance from the village. She was playing on the rocks with three cousins and slipped off a rock into the water. There will be no inquest.

British Press Views Upon Russian and Dominion Trade

London, Aug. 18 (C.P. Cable)—Sharp divergence of opinion is displayed by the press of the United Kingdom today in reviewing the progress of the Imperial Conference.

Trade considerations of policy move our government to sacrifice the Dominions to the Soviet?" demands The Morning Post, Conservative. "Their apparent perversity is welcomed and applauded among those wanting Ottawa to fail because they would sacrifice the Empire idea for free trade in international. It is not the attitude of this parliament, elected to adopt and not the policy the National Government was constituted to propound."

"Bennett drafts foreign treaty for Britain," is the headline in the Daily Herald, a Labor organ. "Canada and Australia are furious at Canada's attempt to invade the United Kingdom's sovereignty," says the Herald. "Canadian government circles are equally loud in their accusations that Mr. MacDonald is pulling strings against them from Lossiemouth."

"Ottawa Bid Fails," the Daily Mail states: "A formula has been drafted in which Mr. Bennett is understood to have agreed."

DAMAGE SUITS FACE ONTARIO

Result of Tragedy When Six Killed on Highway

OTTAWA, Aug. 18—(CP)—Aftermath of the Victoria Day tragedy near Chute a Blondeau, which took a toll a of six lives when a tree crashed down on a truck conveying a party of holidayers to their homes, parents of five of the six victims will seek damages from the Province of Ontario.

Writs claiming unstated damages were filed Wednesday at the office of the local master, and the cases will probably come before the sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario here.

The plaintiffs claim that the Province of Ontario was negligent in allowing the tree which they say was rotten, to remain on the right-of-way.

MISS H. JONES BADLY HURT

Has Narrow Escape From Permanent Injury at Beamsville

Miss Helen Jones of 52 Yeomans Street, Belleville, who was injured in an automobile accident near Beamsville one evening this week, was on Thursday reported to be quite badly injured.

Miss Jones was visiting relations in Beamsville at the time of the accident being on her vacation. While motoring in the vicinity of Beamsville the car in which Miss Jones was riding was forced into the ditch by an approaching car which had previously failed to stop before entering the highway when coming onto it from a side road. It is stated.

The car in which Miss Jones was travelling was turned over in the ditch over turning. After the accident occurred Miss Jones was rushed to a doctor in Beamsville and, upon examination; it was found that she had suffered a badly fractured spine vertebrae. Reports which her father, Mr. Stanley Jones, of Yeomans street received were to the effect that had the injury been sustained a quarter of an inch away from the place where it was sustained the girl would have been paralyzed for life. At present Miss Jones is confined to her bed in the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Laundry of Beamsville where it is understood that she will be required to convalesce at least six weeks.

Moulson's Plane Has Been Converted Into Gasoline Tank

MAKES ONE STOP

First Crossing in Light Aeroplane if Successful

Port Marnock, Irish Free State, Aug. 18 (AP) — J. A. Mollison, noted Australian distance flyer, took off from here at 11.35 a.m. on a transatlantic flight to the United States and return.

Mollison, who recently married Amy Johnson, Britain's premier woman distance flyer, set up new records for flights from England to Australia and from England to Capetown.

He has been planning his transatlantic flight since early spring.

The time of his take-off corresponds to 5.35 a.m. E.S.T.

To Step at Harbor Grace

He planned to make his first stop at Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, and after refuelling to dash immediately to Roosevelt Field, Long Island. There his mother called for a quick turn around and a dash back again, this time without a stop, to England.

If Mollison succeeds it will be the first trans-Atlantic solo flight from east to west and the first North-Atlantic crossing in a light aeroplane.

A big crowd assembled at Port Marnock to witness the transatlantic flyer's take-off. It cheered Mollison when he arrived by plane from Baldonnel Aerdrome, Dublin, a short time before.

Wife Arrives at Fort

Amy Johnson drove here in an automobile. Mollison said weather conditions were better than he had ever expected with light westerly winds prevailing to the middle of the Atlantic and from there on a tendency to easterly winds which would be in his favor. Very little fog was reported.

Mollison is piloting a small seaplane, weighing little more than a ton, similar to the one the Prince of Wales uses for sport and to those used by other British amateur flyers. The plane, however, has been converted virtually into a flying gasoline tank.

Weddings

LEWIS—DAVIS

KINGSTON— A lovely midsummer wedding was quietly solemnized Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Davis, Sydenham street, when their only daughter Margaret Annette, was united in marriage to Dr. G. H. Lewis of Ottawa, son of Mrs. C. H. Lewis and the late Mr. Lewis of Ottawa. The drawing room was arranged with great quantities of deep toned gladioli and phlox and the ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, by Rev. Dr. R. H. Bell of the Sydenham Street United Church, Belleville. The bride who was given in marriage by her father was unattended and wore her wedding gown, a Schiaparelli model in salmon pink with characteristic pleated scarf of beet root, gold and self tones and accessories in beet root shade, and carrying Talisman roses. Following the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Lewis left for Montreal from where they will sail to Newfoundland. On their return Dr. and Mrs. Lewis will reside in Kingston.

ELLERBECK—WALKER

BANCROFT— The marriage of Mr. Egbert Charles Ellerbeck and Miss Hilda Jane Walker took place Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride, Bancroft. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellerbeck of Sydenham, the bride the only daughter of the late Frank Walker of Bancroft.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Price was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The contracting parties took their places before an arch of evergreen and garden flowers as Miss Verna Hotidge of Oshawa played the strains of Wagner's Wedding Chorus.

The bride, graceful in white ensemble of point d'esprit with taffeta jacket, was given in marriage by Mr. H. M. Price, editor of the Bancroft Times. She was attended by Miss Verna Ward of Sydenham of Sydenham, attired in flowered chiffon with jacket of old gold crepe.

The bride carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses, Illies-of-the-Valley, Baby's Breath and Maiden Hair Fern. The bridesmaid's bouquet was of Sweet Delphinium and yellow Baby Mums

The groom was supported by Mr. Stanley Russell Walker, brother of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Fraser, minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, in the presence of immediate relatives.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellerbeck, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. George Freeland and Vera of Sydenham, Mr. and Mrs. John Bell, Odessa, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rutledge of Oshawa with daughters Verna and Irene, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hubbel of Paudash, Mrs. M. Walker and Mrs. B. Ashley, grandmother to the bride.

The groom gave to the bridesmaid an engraved silver compact and to the best man, engraved gold cuff links. To Miss Georgina Richardson, who sang "I Love You Truly" ton to Miss Verna Rutledge, who played he gave hand-painted pictures.

After the wedding supper, the minister extend this original, couplet:

"I'd like to wish this couple well,
So great a good, I cannot tell;
But with the wish I'll not be remiss,
"Good cheer and all prosperity."

A verse of "God be with you till we meet again" was sung and with a parting prayer the happy party began to disperse.

Mention was made of the fact that the great grandmother of the bride Mrs. Wm. Shales of Oshawa, would observe her 100th birthday on the 13th of October.

The bride's travelling suit was of wool mesh in shades of brown. The happy couple left for Kingston on their honeymoon and on their return will reside at Arden.

Miss Walker has been a valued worker in the Young People's Society of St. Paul's and in the choir, besides taking an active part in the Eastern Star. She will be greatly missed in the community life of Bancroft but all best wishes go with her to her new home. "Bon Voyage" on the great sea of matrimony.

SOYA BEANS DOING WELL

Farmers Have Success With New Crop Hereabouts

Soya beans, which have never before been grown successfully in this part of the country, but which specially confined to the western section of the province, are this year making a strong bid for supremacy in this district, if the exhibit from the farm of Mr. Jos. Hollinger Sth of Sidney, now on view in a down town feed and grain establishment, can be taken as any sign. This new addition to the list of crops in Hastings County is a fine specimen of the bean, having attained a height of two feet and some feet in length even though only partly grown. The seed from which the beans was grown was a free lot, which had been distributed by the government to farmers as a trial, and many farmers availed themselves of the opportunity to secure some of them. In some sections the soil did not prove favorable, but in other places the seed found ideal conditions for growth and the crop has fully exceeded expectations. Besides the farm of Mr. Hollinger, another fine crop is now several feet high, Mr. Clarence Vermilyea, Thurlow Township also reports excellent results. The bean is a most valuable addition to the farmer as fodder which cannot be excelled. It can be fed either green or cured.

ARE WEDDED HALF CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. P. Young Celebrates Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. P. Young, who are spending the summer at their cottage at Oak Lake, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding on Tuesday, August 16th.

To mark the occasion they entertained a few friends at dinner in honor of their intimate friends who are also summering at the lake.

The table decorations were in harmony with the occasion, the high season during which Mr. and Mrs. Young are held by those who know them best, was evidenced by the numerous gifts presented to the host and hostess. The guests all rejoiced in the wish that the respected couple may yet have years of happiness together.

It is another cause for congratulation that Mr. Young has reached 85th milestone on August 14th and is still "young" enough to enter a race of "bowls" with the younger campers, and he usually wins his game.

Mr. Young's "Mother Lodge" Ionic No. 283 A.F. and A.M., also showed their appreciation of a faithful member, by the gift of a handsome walnut end table, accompanied by their best wishes.

Roads Leading To No Road

Chamber of Commerce told this one this morning with a chuckle: A party of tourists from Montreal who had been making a trip through the district near Stirling, Wednesday afternoon, became mixed in directions, all good tourists sometimes do. From the road they were on they could see another road. They stopped for a moment to puzzle out the situation: Suddenly they spied, leaning against the corner of the rail fence, a resident of the section enjoying some of his crops. A car window rolled down.

"I say" came the voice from the car, "can you tell us this little road go?"

The farmer addressed, straightened up, gave the car and occupants a slow once over.

"Waal," he began, after a thoughtful interval, "man and boy I've been all my life, but I've never yet seen the road go any place."

The tourists related that not a smile from any of them or the farmer himself, broke the spell as they moved away.

PICNICKERS ARE DRIVEN TO COVER

Emmanuel Church Sunday School Congregation at Wellington

Emmanuel Church Sunday School held their annual picnic on Wednesday afternoon at Wellington, but the pleasures of the day were slightly marred by a terrific wind and rain storm which broke over that district in the late afternoon, driving everyone to shelter. The children, accompanied by their parents were transported to this beautiful lakeside resort by Rawson buses and through the kindness of the United Church a large barn on the premises was secured and a program of sports carried out. Later the Sunday School rooms of the church were placed at the disposal of the picnic party and all enjoyed a sumptuous supper provided by the ladies. The thanks of Rt. Rev. Bishop Ray Rigby and Mrs. Rigby, Misses Irene Price and Evelyn Hannah are extended to those who assisted in making the picnic a success. Rt. Rev. George Marshall acted as master of ceremonies and the result of the races held are as follows:

Infants, 5 years and under—Walter Gardiner, Mavis Wessels.

Girls, 6 to 8 years, flat race—Mildred Coleman, Norma Hanna.

Boys, 6 to 8 years, flat race—Teddy Wessels, Norman Butcher.

Girls, 9 to 11 years, flat race—Phyllis Rawson, Margaret Ivers.

Boys, 9 to 11 years, flat race—Bernard Coleman, Roy Robinson.

Girls, 12 to 15 years, flat race—Madge Chapman, Edna Butcher.

Boys, 12 to 15 years, flat race—Henry Rigby, Jack Price.

Girls' Toe and Heel race, open—Edna Butcher, Madge Chapman.

Peanut Race, open—Madge Chapman, Bert Robinson.

Needle and Thread Race, pairs, open—Phyllis Rawson, Harry Rigby.

Balloon Race, open—Grace Hannah, Roy Robinson.

The Sunday School teachers are unanimous in their opinion as to weather conditions when they arrived home.

GOLF

Twenty-five members of the Bay of Quinte Country Club paid their annual visit to the Belleville club Wednesday afternoon, and the rain holding off until five o'clock, a most interesting afternoon was enjoyed by the local divot-cutters. Competitors were by 40's holes to 20's but there was many a hard fought battle, for each was in a way representing the complete satisfaction the Bay of Quinte golfers state they enjoy at Belleville.

Subsequent to the games and prior to the dinner in the club-house Messrs Bill Christie and 'Bim' Oliver played hosts to the visitors at Mr. Oliver's beautiful home.

LAND FORMS ARE EXPECTED

Farm Settlement Forms to be Distributed Here

Despite the interest which has been aroused and enquiries made concerning them, the forms of application under the Provincial relief land settlement plan, on terms of settlement for the purchase of Crown land have yet been received in Belleville, according to City Clerk Wilfred Holmes, who has been questioned. It is probable that the forms will arrive in the city in a day or so and will be distributed from the office of the clerk in the city hall.

Those who desire to make application under the land settlement plan must submit a number of personal questions which are on the forms. Full particulars of residence in Ontario, number in family, finances, previous employment and many other questions are listed under the number asked. Solemn declaration must also be made by applicant and his wife, before a Commissioner, also a formal agreement to stay the specified length of time are included in the terms. The scheme is fully explained before applicants are asked to enter into agreement with the government which is desirous of placing families on new grant lands in order to alleviate some of the existing unemployment in cities. Considerable interest has been shown locally by those who are desirous to take up farming in the new country of Ontario.

GROCERS' PICNIC WELL ATTENDED

Gathering Held at Presqu'Ile But Rain Intervenes

Wednesday's sudden downpour of rain spoiled proceedings of the Red and White Chain Stores and National Grocers' combined annual district picnic, which was being held at Presqu'ile Point.

A number of the sporting events which were to have been introduced and were on the programme were cancelled as was the softball game. A few of the events were held, however, in the mush. Interest was keen rivalry was shown.

Messrs J. J. Whitley and J. Elton, two Red and White Store officials from Toronto, motored to Presqu'ile Park for the occasion and were greeted with the usual cordial welcome. Also Mr. Ahearn and their friends of both the chain store and the National Grocer Company gathered at the picnic grounds in ample time to spend the day off right, but rain intervened.

Mr. A. H. Lloyd was the winner of the lucky programme prize while Harry Haley and Ed. Nelson shared the prizes awarded for having the largest family on the grounds. Other prize winners were: Donald Thompson, Phyllis Riley, Alex. Adams, Margaret Jones, Clara Jones, Madeline Adams, C. Mills, Mrs. Brickman, L. Gerow, Miss Riley, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Akey and Miss Haley Marsakas. Other prizes were also awarded.

Special thanks was tendered to the Belleville Creameries and the Belleville Fruit Company for favors received by the picnickers. The affair was enjoyed by all the members of the two companies from the Bay of Quinte District, which includes stores from Cobourg to Desoronto, Prince Edward and Hastings Counties.

To Investigate Later Opening

Mr. Allan Schryver, Chairman of the Belleville Board of Education, today instructed Mr. J. E. Findlay, secretary treasurer of the Board to write to the Department of Education for an explanation of the deferred date of opening of the Toronto, which has been set at September 6, instead of September 1st, as previously announced. When questioned, Mr. Schryver, admitted that it was not quite clear to him how Toronto could open on September 6th and not be affected by the school grant, which states that all schools must open the school year on September 1st. Later details will be announced.

THE CONFERENCE

News of the conference at Ottawa is cheering as the conversations move towards the close. Britain's assurance of protection of the Dominions against the dumping by any outside nation removes one of the greatest contentions of the conference. This again proves what the Prince of Wales said "Failure is unthinkable", because of the sincerity and earnestness of the parties to the conference.

Outside of the conference, that is outside of the empire there are many who would wish for the failure of the conference though the success of the conference while in some way interfering with the present trade of other countries, will probably mean much toward world recovery.

The representatives of Britain and the Dominions are doing their utmost in the face of a difficult task.

NIGHT CLUBS PASSING

There is no need to protect Belleville from night clubs. We had a very sedate restaurant club for dancing and it passed out. Of course it was only a faint innocuous reflection of the big city night clubs but this city would not support it, some might think because the reflection was too faint more probably because there are other amusements to be had, though some claim the life of a city of this size is too unexciting.

Now the big city night club is vanishing, according to the New York Herald. There are no more cover-charge hoochtrap, or places where greenhorns pay $25 per bottle for champagne and five dollars a split for mineral water. The old palaces of pleasure were places whence the innocent were kicked down in time to be taken home by the milkman.

One element the night club thrived on was the desire of many men to be thought very wild. If many of these tame fellows wanting to be wild could be thought wild got into one of these clubs it must surely have grown very very tame before midnight. The Herald points out that though the pleasure from afar looked good, many a married man would have had more real fun playing with the children at home than revelling about in these fashion resorts. Students could have got more thrill out of their textbooks than they got out of these places all rigged up to get their money. It was once the fashion to be seen going to a night club but the style is changing.

Those who want thrills can make better thrills if left to themselves than they can buy in these places. They cannot "hide" themselves any longer for that they have been having a good time.

So the turn comes to the more sober and more sane regime. Perhaps a more quiet village where nothing happens except the coming of sunlight and sunset, of the moon and the stars, the birth of people, the marriages and deaths with meals and meals are a thousand times more thrilling than the incidents in these places of manufactured fun.

CITY'S BEAUTY

A recent visitor in Belleville caught a vision of beauty which he praises in a letter written through the column of this paper. What he saw here inspired him as it must have inspired many others who have passed through our town and the thousands who have lived here at some time in their lives. Mr. E. C. Eatley of Montreal has pointed out wherein the city's beauty lies and we it is for us who spend all our time here to be as close an observer and to have the same warm feelings as he.

He is a man of too much experience not to realize that Belleville with all its beauty and charm has its problems. But these are known to the residents and they have thought long and deeply enough upon them. Time is to think a little more of the which helps to create impressions of beauty—the outer material appearance of things, the lawns, the streets, the homes. Of these are no doubt mean souls who live in palatial homes and there may be small citizens living in the midst of a city resembling paradise as much as any earthly city can, but they are the great minority, for beauty and charm not only please the physical senses but work their way into the soul.

Too little praise has been given the things of beauty here. The comment on the tender care shown for the flowers, shrubs, lawns and homes is deserved as is that gracious reference to the work of Superintendent Thomas of the Belleville cemetery where he rules that silent city of the vast numbers of those who rest from life's labors. No finer tribute could be paid than that of Mr. Eatley to the solicitious care shown at the cemetery for city and district dead.

We appreciate the kindly thought of Mr. Eatley who has the eye to see, the heart to feel, and the kindness to write and tell us.

PRAYER

By Aline Michaelis

With swiftly whispered words and folded hands,
Head humbly bowed and knees in meekness bent,
One knelt; but still his spirit gave command,
And still his heart was proud and insolent.

No invocations mystical and strange,
Or praise or priest, or candle-flame, or bell,
Could in his haughty being work a change
Or in his soul make room for God to dwell.

And one with gladness labored all the day
And found his joy in lowly tasks well done,
While through his dreams ran laughter fond and gay,
And thoughts of children's arms, at set of sun.

He gave his best, always and everything,
Till all his days themselves became a prayer.

HOTELS HAVE BEEN HARD HIT by the keen competition from summer wayside inns, tightening up of expense accounts, and general shrinking of bank accounts, together with the metamorphosis of speakeasies into menders, or what have you. However, in many cases, hotel men have found that newspaper advertising is an effectual cracker of red ink. Cornell University Department of Hotel Administration, which has been making a study of hotel and motel operation, has discovered some interesting facts, including the following: "Hotels which decreased their advertising expenses in 1932 experienced a greater loss of business on the average than those which maintained or increased them. The survey covered 182 hotels throughout the United States and was based on a comparison of 1929 and 1931 operations. The hotels which increased their advertising suffered on the average a 3 per cent smaller decrease in room sales and a 4 per cent smaller decrease in restaurant sales than those which decreased advertising. The average spent for advertising by the 182 hotels in 1931 was 6.3 cents per available room per day; 104 spent not more than 5 report showed. There was a wide variation, however, ranging from a minimum of less than a tenth of a cent per room per day to 31.2 cents per room per day. Sixty of the hotels spent 2 1-2 cents or less per room per day; 104 spent not more than 5 cents per room, and 146 spent 10 cents or less per room. Nine of the hotels spent 20 cents and three large transient hotels in cities of more than 1,000,000 population averaged more than 25 cents per room for advertising."

So that's another angle of advertising that you and I didn't know until now, for heretofore the haughty hotel men used to say they did not need it. Other Canadian Business men of all kinds should study advertising, and not wait until a sick business demands a radical operation, and then try to save it with a tonic which was available all the time.

Jackson was celebrating the occasion of his 21st birthday at midnight and drew it became obvious that he had dined well but very unwisely, and one of his friends undertook to escort him home. After some time had elapsed the pair arrived at the road in which the young man lived.

"I say, old boy," said the obliging friend, "what's the number of your house?"

"Do't ark silly questions," replied the other. "Ish on ze gate."

Henry had been friendly with Mary for over 10 years. In all that time he had never suggested that they should marry.

One day while they were seated together in the parlor she plucked up courage to ask him a question:

"Henry, dear," she commenced, "we've been going out together now for something like 10 years, haven't we?"

"Yes Mary," he said, with a vacant smile, "and it's been lovely, too."

"Oh, course, dear," she said. "But don't you think it's about time that we got married?"

He shrugged his shoulders despairingly.

"Eh, lass you're quite right," he replied, "but who'll have us?"

"That's okay, too, I'll jump off with you."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

August 18, 1912.

Mr. Hector Post, manager of the carpet department of the Ritchie Co., has returned from a visit with relatives in England. While abroad Mr. Poste had the opportunity to visit some of the largest carpet and drapery factories in the world.

Dr. Mott, who has been visiting his parents in this city, has returned to his home in Cincinnati.

Messrs. J. V. C. Truslach, C. Bawden, W. Meagher, C. Wilson and J. V. Brennan have returned from a week's visit to Syracuse and Rochester. They had the pleasure of witnessing the great Ty Cobb play with the Detroit Tigers on the fields of Syracuse.

Mr. Dan Boland has returned to the city from Cowege, N.Y., where he spent several days.

Mr. Percy Finney is home from Kingston for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henry have returned to the city from Desoronto, where they have been visiting friends.

A large number of citizens attended the band concert in Corby Park last evening. The Johnstone pipe band rendered an excellent programme of Scottish selections and received much applause.

50 YEARS AGO

Mr. O. A. Howland of this city, has received an invitation to attend a "Fairbanks' gathering" at Dedham, Mass., rather than Fairbanks, one of the old Pilgrim Fathers, had six children, all of whom came with him from England in 1633. Mr. Greenleaf is a descendant of old Jonathan Fairbanks and there are 1200 other families in America which claim the same distinction. Cornell University Department of Hotel Administration, which has been making a study of hotel and motel operation, has discovered some interesting facts, including the following: "Hotels which decreased their advertising expenses in 1932 experienced a greater loss of business on the average than those which maintained or increased them. Mr. Dan Young, who was at one time a member of the Ontario Legislature in this city, sang at a recent service in St. Michael's Church. Mr. Young since leaving Belleville, has taken a course in voice culture and the sweet tenor which nature has gifted him with has improved wonderfully, placing him in the front rank of singers. His solo "Come Into Me" was magnificently rendered.

Mr. J. W. Doyle, his old friend of the quartette days, very artistically played the accompaniment.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Vermilyea left last evening for a trip to Mackinac, via Owen Sound and the "Soo." They will be absent about two weeks.

Cashier Morphy of the O.T.R. offices here is off for a couple of weeks' holidays. He left today for the Sand Banks and on Monday he will go per Steamer Alexandria to Montreal.

Mr. W. G. Robertson of Montreal is spending his holidays in town.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 18, 1902

Mr. Fred Reynolds has returned to the city from Rochester, N.Y., where he has been for the past few days making preparations for the exhibition across which is daily between the Okas of this city and the Beavers of Port Hope. The following players will compose the Belleville team: H. Kenny, pat; A. H. Coleman, point; R. Burdett, cover point; E. Hall-well, 1 rank; W. Vendervoort, 2nd defence field; H. S. Beasley, centre; D. B. Wallbridge, W. Greatrix and W. Garratt, home field; J. Fleming, in home; Welan, out home; H. James, spare man.

An excursion from Picton on the steamer Quinte arrived here this morning and the people spent the day "doing the city."

Owing to the death of Arthur Dickens, who was a scholar of the school, the picnic of Bridge Street Church Sunday School, which was to have been held tomorrow, is postponed until Wednesday next.

Other Papers' Opinions

GOOD OLD TRIXIE

Faithful old Trixie, she of many dog breeds, doesn't let a little thing like the Detroit River bar her from home and her 11-year-old master. When Trixie got lost in Detroit by mistake and was lost in Detroit, she wanted to get back to Kimmis Corners, her small owner. So Trixie jumped in the river and headed for the Canadian shore. She made it after a long battle against a swift current. She just made it —and home she romped to greet Jimmie with a wag of the tail and a beg for a bone.

What man or woman of this community would not do as much to get home? Not an individual, we venture. But Trixie is not human, but did.

Man's best friend is his dog. Border Cities Star.

FISHING FOR WOMEN

In Connecticut the state authorities are setting aside a trout stream for the benefit of women fishermen. The state, it is announced, has about 200 miles of fine trout streams for anglers, and it considers it only reasonable that something should be done for the "angler-ettes" who possibly if encouraged to complete their feminine fishing preserve all men will be barred —even husbands and brothers. The ladies must dig their own bait, provide their own lines, carry their supplies and build their own camp fires, if any.

It is an interesting experiment, and no doubt there are those who will hail the announcement as a great step forward for the depressed and down-trodden sex, but many will be sceptical. Doubtful ones may wonder whether the ladies will not do their fishing in the spirit of their every-day activities. It is reported that a fair motorist ever declined male assistance when there was a job of tire changing to be done.

However, Connecticut will give the ladies a fair chance to prove their angling and general ability. The enthusiastic sisters will arise at dawn, dress in whatever they choose to wear when on a fishing excursion, go abroad, lug lunch and fishing paraphernalia to the brook, wade knee-deep through dewy grass and clinging undergrowth, comb the streams patiently hour after hour without the solace of an old pipe, perhaps without the encouragement of the occasional catch. Everybody has a mental picture of the fair ones doing just that.—Ottawa Journal.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Thousands of North Dakota wheat growers have already pledged to hold their wheat until it reaches a dollar a bushel. The longer they hold it the better it will sell for. Canadians have had one experience of the holding process, and prefer to let someone else try it for a change.—London Advertiser.

HOTEL USES STEAMER FOR SICK FOLK

Brockville, Aug. 18.—For the purpose of accommodating an ever increasing overflow of people visiting the clinic of Dr. M. W. Locke at Williamsburg, the management of a Morrisburg hotel has chartered the steamer Rapids Queen to serve as a floating hotel at that point. The steamer will arrive at Morrisburg next week and will be used up there for an indefinite period.

LAW MACHINERY IS ANTIQUATED

Says Prosecution in Asking For Conviction of Flier

MIAMI, Fla, Aug. 18. — The testimony of Captain W. N. Lancaster and Mrs. Ruth Keith-Miller, the former fiancee, was characterized as the man's steps in the plan every detail of the murder of Haden Clarke," States Attorney Vernon Hawkins told the jury in a final demand for Lancaster's conviction.

The Keith-Miller is accused of killing the youthful writer as the culmination of a love triangle involving Mrs. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix and Lancaster, flying instructor.

"The drama of love, hate, tragedy, chivalry, debauchery and crime would have been settled long ago," the Executive said, "had we not been operating with legal machinery that was antiquated 300 years ago."

JUMPS INTO NIAGARA AND SAVES MAN

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 18—Jas. Amorelli, section-hand, risked his life last yesterday by leaping into the Whirlpool Rapids to rescue a man who had cast himself into the current. The man taken from the rapids said he was Joseph Cook, 70, of Allegany, N.Y.

When the cry went up that a man was in the water, Amorelli tied a rope around his waist and jumped into the rapids. Other members of the section gang let out 500 feet of line before Amorelli reached the man who had been knocked unconscious by being cast against the rocks.

ALLEGE MURDER PARTY BROKEN UP

New York, Aug. 18—Plans for a party which police believed was to "celebrate" a recent savage gang slayings and pay off killers were interrupted yesterday by sweeping arrests of sixteen men and two women.

Fourteen of the men were held without bail for hearing on Friday, charged with the slaying of John Bazzano of Pittsburgh, whose strangled and slashed body was found in a vacant lot in Brooklyn on August 8th. The women and two men were released as not being involved in the plot.

Hunters May Have Fling at Partridge Shooting in Ontario This Autumn

Port William, Aug. 18—An open season for partridge in Ontario this Fall was promised by Hon. George H. Challies, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Game and Fisheries, at a meeting of the Thunder Bay Fish and Game Protective Association here on Wednesday. Mr. Challies said the dates and length of the season for shooting the birds, which have been under a protective act for some seasons, had yet to be decided.

The minister made another announcement of importance to the north when he stated he would recommend to the Cabinet council the abolition of restrictions on fishing in the Pilgion River as exported.

JEWEL LADEN SHIP FOUND

Diving Chamber Used But Unable to Work Due to Currents

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 18.—(U.P.)—A deep-sea search for millions in gold and jewels lying in the S.S. Merida which sank 24 years ago was believed near success at a point in the Atlantic 62 miles east of Cape Henry.

Meager reports received here said John Dahl and Harry Nettleman, operating in a newly patented diving chamber, located the Merida 200 feet below the surface in a swirl of undersea currents. They have not been able to enter the ship, it was said, because the currents twisted them about so that they lost direction and could not issue orders, by telephone, to the crew above on the ship Salvor.

Word has also come back that the lost ship is covered with shells and sea growth and that huge undersea animals are now guarding the wreck. These are being driven off, however, by powerful searchlights.

When the Merida was rammed by the steamer Admiral Farragut 24 years ago, it was reported she was carrying some $4,000,000 in gold and jewels, $1,000,000 in platinum and silver bullion. Unconfirmed reports had the jewels of the Austrian Empress Maximilian aboard.

Those aboard the Salvor have clamped down a rigid censorship on news of their activities. They fear jinx-jackers if it becomes known that the fortune has been recovered. A request for coast guard protection has been made.

Cheerfulness is a duty we owe to others.

SPEED COURTS TO END RIOTS

Despite Conviction Violence Continues in Germany

Berlin, Aug. 17 (AP)—Germany's new "speed courts" established by the government to provide swift retribution for riotous, unusual violence today, but the rioting went on.

A farm woman and two farmers were sentenced to three years at Breslau for heckling at a meeting of Hitler's National Socialists. At Bringe the court was forced to adjourn because of the heat after hearing conflicting statements about a street fight between Nazis and Republicans. Two Republicans at Rostock were sentenced to nineteen months in jail for beating a Nazi. Wounded by Police

In the meantime, two persons were wounded by police in a Communist demonstration here which was one of the few main affairs throughout the night. Scattered clashes kept the police on the run in Berlin, but in the provinces sporadic fist-fights in a number of towns were squelched by the local authorities.

REQUIEM MASS IS SAID FOR FIREMEN

Montreal Gazette—A requiem mass was held today at Brother Andre's St. Joseph's Oratory in memory of Ioejiak's Fire Chief Raoul Gauthier and three other Montreal firemen, who lost their lives in an heroic attempt to save the lives of others in the fire and explosion on the tanker "Cymbeline" and ice Pilots Drydock here on June 21, which cost a total of 21 lives.

LONG FLY BALL GIVES CUBS 3-2 19 FRAME WIN

Longest Game of Present Season Played Wednesday

DODGERS WIN

Both Showed Plenty of Fight Even if They Lost

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

It is hard to imagine a pennant race any warmer than the current National League affair in which the last place team is only 12 games behind the first and three teams are battling for the lead within a space of 3½ games, but there are no signs of any portents that it will become even more heated before the season ends.

Despite a record of 15 defeats in their last 17 games, many of them chargeable to lackadaisical pitching, the Pittsburgh Pirates were only two games behind the league-leading Chicago Cubs today with the slumping Brooklyn Dodgers another half game back, and Pittsburgh was threatening to stage a comeback and promote the dangest signs were flying for Chicago.

Lose By Wins

It took just about everything the Cubs had yesterday to turn back the Boston Braves, now holders of sixth place. They waged the longest battle of the Major League campaign—19 innings—before Chicago finally won out 3 to 2. But Thrilling and Fred Frankhouse waged the major part of the struggle and the latter finally lost out when a single, a hit batsman and an intentional pass crowded the corners and forced Demaree to pitch to one of the first offerings of Rob Pruett, successor to Frankhouse, for a long fly that brought in Bill Hallahan with the winning run.

Although Brooklyn closed the gap between second and third to a half game with a 6 victory over Cincinnati, the Reds showed plenty of fight. A three run rally of Ival Swift in the eighth won the game, but Pittsburgh came back as soon as it was gotten and Paul Derringer and Heimach to cover. Van Mungo checked the Reds with five hits the full.

In the third National League game Bill Terry of the New York Giants clouted a homer, two doubles and two singles while Ben Mooney was helping Cincinnati to four hits and the Giants won easily, 9 to 2. Rain halted the Phillies and Cardinals.

American League

Perhaps to emphasize the difference between the American League chase and the National, the New York Yankees, leaders of the junior circuit, won their tenth straight game, on a strong combination of heavy hitting and timely pitching and effective hitting by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. The Bats and three hits, including his 34th homer, while Lou baffled in three counters.

The triumph increased the Yankee's lead to 11½ games as the Philadelphia Athletics regained second place from Detroit with an 11 to 0 triumph over the Indians. Lefty Grove's pitching and batting brought him his 18th victory and his fourth shutout.

Washington, in fourth place but far out of the picture, turned back the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 3 with a seventh inning rally that netted three runs and Ted Lyons. A six hit mound performance by Paul Andrews and Dale Alexander and Dale Alexander and Smead Jolley netted the Boston Red Sox a 9 to 2 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the remaining contest.

SIX PERSONS ARE HURT IN CRASH

Beamsville, Aug. 17.—When a motor car in charge of Leonard Dawson and John Hopkins, R.R. No. 3, Smithville, collided on a county road near here, all the passengers in both cars were injured. In the Welland car Mrs. Leonard Dawson and Miss Helen Jones of Beamsville sustained severe lacerations, while Leonard Dawson had several ribs broken. In the other vehicle John Hopkins, his wife and young son, George, were all badly shaken up and bruised.

Mr. J. Hughes Described to Marmora Society His Recent Trip

Marmora, Aug. 11.—On Sunday evening, Aug. 14th, the Holy Name Society of the Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, was honoured by a talk from James Hughes, on his trip abroad. The meeting opened by the president, Wm. Shannon introducing the speaker, the following account will briefly outline his course.

Audience With Pope

Leaving New York City he journeyed to Plymouth, then there to France, visiting Paris, Rheims and several other cities of importance. From there he went to Rome, his most impressive sight was that of the Vatican and had the privilege of an audience with the Pope.

Beautiful and gigantic structures were revealed the beauty of Rome. From there he went to the city of Naples, Mt. Vesuvius, also the homes of Christopher Columbus and Galileo in Genoa, Italy.

Milanda Duomo.

From there he journeyed to Southern France visiting Monte Carlo and Nice, thereby seeing numerous sights and wonders. Next landed therage of people, from all over the world, he arrived in Ireland and was present at the Eucharistic Congress which was very impressive and edifying. Pomp and grandeur, loyalty and honour marked the event. The spectators, be they rich or poor will for the remainder of their lives hold in memory this grand festival event. Words cannot express it.

While there he was honoured with meeting of our state head men, that of De Valera. These and many other important people made the journey enjoyable and interesting.

His return trip was very wonderful. Memories of which cannot be erased.

Thanks Speaker.

At the conclusion a vote of thanks to Jim, and suggesting a paper to be adopted by the members of the Holy Name Society.

Mr. H. A. McNeilly, in a few well chosen words moved such and also gave an account of his experiences in the north west territories.

Wm. Hughes who accompanied his brother in his journey was also called upon and ably responded. President Speaks.

A short talk was given by the president, who in response to Pte. Keeley gave his support, and would be very, very, try to carry out his wishes in every respect and also moved his vote of thanks to Jim for his kind remarks and his tour.

A most enjoyable evening was spent, and it is to be hoped that within a short time Jim will again favour them with another talk.

NURSE LOSES 7 LBS.

"I weighed 146 lbs." writes a nurse, "when I bought the bottle of Kruschen Salts which I have just finished. I have taken a spoonful half-teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning. Now I weigh 138 lbs., a loss of 7 lbs. I am very glad to have lost weight, especially without trouble."—(Mrs. E. H., Certified Nurse.)

Unlike most salts, Kruschen isn't simply a laxative. When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with Nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts today, and take one-half a teaspoon in a glass of not-too-hot water every morning before breakfast.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals, and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for wholesome recreation—one million women already know all this.

TENDERS RESIGNATION

Oshawa, Ont., Aug. 17.—Mr. McIntyre Hood, Provincial First Vice-president of the Canadian Legion, has tendered his resignation from that office to become effective next month. Impossibility, for business reasons, of carrying on the office, impelled the resignation, he declared.

The Standard Remedy for Headache

ZUTOO TABLETS are an efficient and harmless remedy for headache, Mr. Geo. Legge, Editor of Granby Leader-Mail, writes: "Your ZUTOO TABLETS are found to be extensively as a remedy that will stop headache." A few of these harmless little tablets in the office, home or pocket, are assurance against aches and pains. They stay them.

MANY GATHER TO PAY RESPECTS TO DECEASED FRIEND

Thomasburg—The funeral of the late William A. M. Kincaid was held Monday afternoon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Austin, Tweed, with whom he resided, to Christ Church, Thomasburg. Rev. R. W. Grant, rector of the parish, delivered a very impressive and comforting sermon to the large number of relatives and friends who had gathered to pay their last tribute to a loving friends and father. Rev. Mr. Grant took his text from I. Thessalonians 4: 13-14. Mr. Kincaid was very widely known, having been a farmer at Mossley-ville for many years later being employed with the Consolidated Gravel Company at Fuller as cook. The beautiful floral tributes showed the esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was made in Thomasburg cemetery.

HEAT WAVE IS BROKEN

Rain Accompanied by High Wind Drives People to Shelter

The heat wave, which has prevailed in the city for the past few days was broken shortly after four o'clock Wednesday by a heavy wind and rain storm, the rain continuing until Thursday morning. While the air has been considerably cooled and respite given from the humidity. Although the electrical disturbance was not as heavy as in some districts yet the wind, which preceded the storm, caused many of the residents to cover. Dark, heavy clouds, which gathered quickly in the west and south, indicated what was to follow but none thought the storm would come so quickly. Dust, small branches of trees, debris from the streets was blown hither and yon by the gale and residents fearing a miniature cyclone rushed for cover. The crowd gathered at the ball game bore the brunt of the storm as the dust from the race track and ball diamond was swept in doubt the air thus ruining the pretty frocks of the ladies besides causing much discomfiture. The wind was followed by a torrential downpour of rain which to say the least was beneficial to the farming community. The mercury remained at 90 degrees, one of the highest points reached during the summer but the humidity was much greater. On Thursday the temperature only reached 72 but no indication of warmer weather at present.

Tree limbs, broken shop signs, ripped canvas awnings and other debris littered the city Thursday morning as the result of a sudden, sharp thunderstorm and gale which struck this section late Wednesday afternoon and left to wake minor damages caused by the force of the strong wind and the heavy rain which accompanied it.

In the rural sections farmers watched their grain crops being beaten down by the heavy rain and wind. In the city and suburbs the gardener watched their flower beds being washed away by the miniature cloudburst and the flowers twisted and ripped by the wind, while on the Bay of Quinte those who were in pleasure craft stand in the rain on the shore watched several boats being overturned in the water on those lucky sea mariners of sailing pedigree became straight in the shocked for sequel during the boat races and predicted. Only one minor escape was recorded. James Keegan, whose boat capsized who was also rescued by Mr. Walter Patterson and Cecil Smith, who was in very exhausted condition when pulled into the former's launch.

On the lawnsaf of the post office the flag was ripped and tattered to ribbons by the force of the gale. Thursday morning, after being wrapped and twisted around the pole all night it was taken down by employees. Awnings on many homes were torn loose from their mountings, while along the bay shore and in the harbor many boats broke from their tie ropes and sent drifting down the bay. Two punts have been reported lost altogether. The tug on the Bagdad Church was ripped loose by the gale.

Lightning which flashed over the district did little damage. No casualties except that of the truck of Mr. Moscow have been reported.

While some damage was done to grain crops and vegetable gardens in the outlying sections it is believed that the welcome rain will more than offset the damage done, especially to grain. Roots were the chief sufferers, many having the soil washed away from them. Farmers in the city will be very busy repairing the damage.

BOYS, GIRLS WARNED NOT TO TRESPASS

A number of youthful boys appeared in the local juvenile court Thursday morning, charged with raising a disturbance and annoying the residents of Highland Ave., and Burton street.

In the absence of Magistrate Mikel, Mayor Geo. O. Tice and Alderman Harry Hill occupied the Magistrate's bench and when the charge was read to the boys, there being 11 in number ranging in age from 11 years old down to about 8. Mayor Tice severely reprimanded the boys over reminding them that they were the future citizens of this city. He also threatened on the boys' mingling, that they should not trespass on private property and orchards nor should they trespass an other people's property.

After warning the lads and assuring them, that if it would not be well for them if they appeared in the court thus charged in the future. The Worship dismissed them from custody.

It was pointed out during the court procedure, that there had been altogether too many such incidents around the city. Many complaints have been registered from various sources and particularly of late to the police in regard to young boys and girls trespassing on private property and making a general nuisance of themselves in the community.

Many coffee plantations in Salvador are being temporarily abandoned.

PRICE TREND IS UPWARDS

Few Issues Displayed Weakness But Volume Greater

Despite the adverse weather conditions, Toronto's midday market was quite largely attended. Prices were slightly lower, when grain sold for five dozen ears for 25c. Potatoes brought 15c a peck, while tomatoes sold 5c-6c for a six quart basket. Other seasonable vegetables such as fresh carrots, beets, cabbage, onions, radishes and celery sold for the prevailing prices. There have been no signs of late on the local market.

Small baskets of peaches were selling at 20 each. Cherries were down in price selling for 10c per small basket. Black sweet cherries, however, sold for two boxes for 25c. Red cherries were brought 20c a box, while huckleberries sold for 20c per quart with raspberries selling at two boxes for 25c. Plenty of seasonable cooking apples were offered at various prices depending on their size and quality. The average price of fresh cooking apples being 50c a peck. Many beautiful floral displays were offered at the market for sale and added considerably to the beauty of the Belleville market.

MART WAVERS BUYERS SLOW

Midday Sag on Wall St. Follows Morning Flush

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. — The Stock Market was not noticeably today as traders were inclined to withhold judgment on the immediate outlook, pending more convincing evidence as to the market's position.

There was a mild rally in the morning, carrying a number of Utilities and Rails up a point or more, but these advances were displaced by losses, of similar extent in the afternoon. By the fourth hour, there had been some recovery, but it lacked vitality.

Investigations of American Can and American Telephone registered losses of about 3 points, but gave back down 2, before meeting support. Issues of a purely local character, previous close including U.S. Steel Standard of N.J., New York Central, Loews, and Montgomery Ward again, the Rails held up fairly well.

The day's sales totalled 1,100,000 the market anything in the way of important stimulus in either direction and with a wide-spread feeling that more convincing signs of improved business recovery might be needed to justify a further broad advance, buyers were inclined to caution. Brokerage opinion remained predominantly bullish on the market, considered over a period of several weeks, but opinion as to immediate trend was confused.

B. C. LOAN FINANCED IN UNITED STATES

New York, Aug. 18.—First public financing of Canadian origin to be done in the United States capital market in nearly a year has been arranged for the Province of British Columbia, says the New York Herald Tribune in its financial columns today.

Investment bankers of New York and Chicago, says the Tribune have purchased a 10½% issue of bonds to funds a new issue of $2,000,000 two-year five per cent. debentures of the province, of which principal and interest are payable in United States gold.

Owing to the current discount of 11 per cent. on Canadian funds, the bankers were able to offer these bonds publicly at the United States dollar price of 96% to yield the investor about 7 per cent. to maturity.

STOCKS MOVE QUITE SLOWLY

Action of Previous Day is Brought to Halt

Toronto, Aug. 18—Prices fluctuated sluggishly and comparatively dull forenoon session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. The trend was irregular with the action of the previous day brought to a halt. No advances were made to work the list higher. Volume was light. In view of its earnings statement for the second quarter showing a deficit, International Nickel performed well, down a fraction at mid-day only. Consolidated Smelters at 70 was up a point.

Gold issues moved down following Wednesday's reaction and was ¼ higher at 18. Distillery issues were firm and oils irregular.

PRICES ARE ABOUT SAME

Despite Weather, Local Market is Well Attended

Toronto, Aug. 18—While a few individual issues displayed weakness on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market in the forenoon today general price trend was upward in improved volume.

Reflecting the second quarter deficit, Hollinger dropped 25 to 8.50 and $8.75 and Falconbridge lost 5 to 3.20. Noranda declined 25 to 19.10 and other base metals were steady.

Algoma Mining and Smelters featured the industrial group, price touching a high of 30 on reports of the new blast furnace operations. Some liquidation appeared to have started the gratuities down to 18, up a cent from last night. Eldorado was well taken and 6 higher at 1.42.

Teck Hughes was subjected to some persistent selling pressure and was off 30 at 3.75 at noon. Granada recovered 2 of 1.75 and other higher-priced golds were holding.

Standard Oil, off a point at 22, displayed the only change in a dull oil section.

GRAIN PRICES

Winnipeg, Aug. 18—Prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange at ten o'clock this morning were:

Wheat—September higher at 58¾; December ⅜ higher at 59¾; May ⅜ higher at 64⅝.

Oats—October ¼ lower at 26⅝.

CAR OVERTURNS NEAR FOXBORO

Halloway, Aug. 18—The farmers of the vicinity are busy gtawing in the grain this week. The frequent showers of last week kept the grain damp that had been cut and many kept on cutting so that a great many fields were standing the shock.

While Mrs. R. Townsend and Miss Muriel Hamilton were driving to church in Foxboro on Sunday morning, they met with a very serious injury. While passing through the village of the detour at a very narrow point in the road, after turning out for an approaching car they stepped down, about three feet off a straight embankment concealed by weeds. The car turned on its side and the occupants were able to crawl out through the window, luckily neither occupants nor car were injured in any way. A nearby garageman was sent for but before his arrival many willing hands with the aid of rails had righted the car on the road again and it proceeded on its own power into Foxboro.

Miss Vera Townsend and Miss Marie Townsend have returned home after a pleasant two weeks camping at Oak Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Welbourne of Lakefield, spent a few days with Mr. J. Lowery's.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Rose of Tweed were guests at the store recently.

PRISON ROBBED MEN GET TERMS

Guelph, Ont., Aug. 17—Reformatory and penitentiary sentences meted out in police court today to three men implicated in the recent theft of goods from the Ontario Reformatory here.

Edmund Powell, inmate of the reformatory, William Lawrence, former guard at the institution and Robert French, youthful resident of Guelph township appeared for sentence having pleaded guilty one week ago. Powell was sentenced to three years in Portsmouth Penitentiary, Kingston, while the others were given terms of six to twelve months at the Ontario Reformatory.

QUAKE RECORDED

Washington, Aug. 17.—An earthquake centering about 2111 miles from Washington was recorded early today on the seismographs at Georgetown University.

It began at 1:04 a.m. and reached its maximum at 4.05 and ended at 4.30. The direction was not certain.

The tusks carried around by an African elephant may weigh more than 200 pounds each.

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal — bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause — and not one minute before. Extra treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

HEM-ROID tablets have an almost unbelievable record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when a S. McKeown and druggists everywhere invite every sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case!

IS HOSTESS TO REDNERSVILLE W.I.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman were Sunday evening callers on Mr. and Mrs. W. Fox.

Miss Evelyn Medil, visited her uncle, Mr. Everett Brickmaf, last week.

The Rednersville Women's Institute was entertained Tuesday at the home of Miss Beatrice Jones, Belleville.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and pop was in the living room waiting for Mora to ring the dinner bell for supper, and ma came up, saying, What a gort, really gorgeous. I think she had seen seeta than I trawt she had. Can you imagine her putting my bran new bewtiful cloth on the table when she knew distinctly that I wanted it for tomorrow when the Hewes are coming for dinner, she said.

O well, it awt to last till tomorrow, pop said to me. Not with a man and a boy in the house, from what I know from better experints about the relationship between tablecloths and the members of families, particullly boys.

Meaning me and pop, especially me, and pop said. You do me a grate inhustice, it takes some miley upheaval of nature, such as an earthquake, to get me to make a stane on a tablecloth. In fact in my youth I use to be known as Stane Bill the frend of tablecloths, so calm your idle feers, my dear, you have no cause for alarm on my accounl, he said.

On mine other hand, I said, O whisskers I bet I haven't spilt anything on a tablecloth for at least a week, pritty near, that's how careful I've been being, I said.

Well, I'll make a grate story for anybody in blissful ignorants of the true facts, Mr. Any way it's too late now for vain regrets, simply remember, because I just upset a vase of water all over it while I was reaching for the salt if anybody says what dessert stane, they must of been in their life in a footh pare, dies. And whats all the silly laffing about? I asked in a full kindy condescend to tell me what's so funny I'm sure I'll be delighted to join in, she said.

Which me and pop both told them we still dident think it was funny making it seem all the number in the family.

A cigarette stub on the awning gave the firemen a run to the premises of Israel Hudgins at No. 6 Bond street, but no damage of any consequence resulted.

Try This Perfect MAYONNAISE

1 SOO WELL BEATEN
1 CUP MAZOLA OIL
1/2 TEASPOON MUSTARD
1/2 TEASPOON SALT
1/4 TEASPOON PAPRIKA

1/4 TEASPOON SUGAR
3 DASH CAYENNE PEPPER
2 TABLESPOONS LEMON JUICE
2 TEASPOONS WHITE VINEGAR

Beat egg until light, add MAZOLA Oil, about a teaspoon at a time, until mixture is thick, then add seasonings and lemon juice and vinegar alternately with MAZOLA until all is used. Put on ice to chill.

Good cooks regard MAZOLA, now reduced in price, as superior to imported oils for Mayonnaise and French Dressings. It is easier and quicker to use, more economical, and never varies in goodness. Try it and find the perfect ingredient for all kinds of Salad Dressings.

IT SAVED HER DAUGHTER

IT is the daughter herself—Miss L Rose Lama—who willingly gives the facts in a letter.

She says, "My mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was younger. But I wouldn't. If I had, I might have been a' well girl now. I suffered terribly every month."

Finally she girls in her office convinced her. She tried it at last. Now she is on the way to greater health and happiness. Mothers—tell your daughters; And daughters—take your mother's advice. Suffering is unnecessary.

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"I had been telephone Mother I'd hurt my arm, and to have Doctor Underwood at the house," Frank said "Well! Not much more of this shi! We'll be comfortable in no time now, Sheila."

"When on earth could you phone your mother?"

"I had the police sergeant do it, asked him to telephone. Just to say that there'd been a smash and that we were all right, and on our way in. I told him to say that Mother was not to use her own judgment, about putting in touch with your mother—"

"Ma's probably got the fire department out!" Sheila exclaimed, aghast.

"Well, no poor fellow was killed, Sheila and you can't avoid a certain amount of interest in that."

"To be in the slightest smash—" Sheila murmured, struck afresh with the strangeness of the whole affair.

"I took my training at Bellevue," the nurse said, as they stopped at a Broadway eatery, "and my first case was a fellow that had come down in a plane." She was diverted. "For goodness' sakes look at the evening papers!" she exclaimed. She, plainly eagerly out on a mystery herself, bought one.

"Mystery Girl in Plane Crash!"

"It's a minute like words," Sheila had nothing to Sheila. Then her heart gave a pounding start. In the remaining few seconds that they waited at corner, she leaned forward and saw the front page of the paper, the hurried blurred photographs of the big group on the plane, the dark, great fallen wings, the lifted form of the pilot man.

"That's the crash, all right," Miss Sutter said. "It doesn't take long to get things into the papers nowadays, does it? But where do they get that 'mystery girl' idea? You see it?"

She glanced at Frank and then at Sheila. "You're his wife, aren't you?" she asked.

"Oh, no, Mr. McCann was just bringing me home," Sheila said, with a queer, affronted little laugh.

"Oh, I see—" the nurse said, in a peculiar tone, with a quick glance. "Mr. McCann," Sheila explained, in a low tone, with a wary look at his closed eyelids and unconscious face, "is engaged to be married to Miss Bernadette Kennedy of Spuyten Duyvil."

The nurse's young bright eyes were sympathetic.

"You two were trying to get away with something, hey?" she roused him cheerily, smiling. "I don't mean anything wrong, just—" she paused. "The hero's asleep!" she said.

"I wish I was dead," Sheila said simply. Frank muttered inaudibly.

"He'll be all right when he gets his arm set," Miss Sutter said in a whisper. "He's dazed with shock."

"That isn't what's worrying me," Sheila answered, dully. "It's what my mother'll think, and what his people will think—"

"But my good grandsons it isn't your fault if you're in an accident!" the other girl said quickly.

"No, of course not," Sheila admitted, uneasily. "But—but it just seems as if everything had gone crazy!" she lamented.

Frank opened his eyes.

"Don't worry, Sheila," he said, in a deep reassuring voice that still had traces of sluggy in it. "I'll take care of you. We're all right."

The car turned a corner. There were at the McCann house.

"Oh, God protect me!" Sheila said in a whisper. It was a prayer. Oh, Frank," she said, "look! There's a million people waiting!"

Not a million. But a crowd that framed both sides of the brownstone steps; a crowd that demanded the constant attention of two police-men. Men were pushed forward, women were planted in solid lines; all turned their eyes eagerly to the ambulance as it drew up.

"Frank, I can't do it going on some—" Sheila stammered, aghast "I can't —they're a camera crew!" She had pulled instinctively away, he gripped her hand.

"YOU," he said, "you've got to go through with it. Your mother may be here. Come on, just walk through—"

The crowd bunned excitedly, as Sheila and Frank, between them supported the limping man across the sidewalk.

"Narrow escape, Mr. McCann!" one of the policemen said, respectfully.

"I'll tell the world!" Frank answered, with a grunt and a smile. The crowd laughed in shocked sympathy.

Sheila looked up. The door of the McCann house opened, a host of persons poured out; servants, family, and the gray-headed stout man that she was afterward to identify as the family doctor. And with them was Mrs. Carracadden—Joe—and while Sheila was stumbling upward to the lighted vestibule, half greeting Frank with her, and half dragged herself, she saw her mother-in-law, majestic in her best dress.

Then they were all crying and smiling about nastily in the hall. Sheila saw Mrs. McCann, with her face white and tear stained, and she saw Joe Carracadden looking now old and broken. She caught at his hand.

"Judge, I'm so SORRY—" she faltered.

Judge McCann brought his distracted gaze to her face.

"How are you, Sheila," he said gently. "Accidents will happen! And he rejoined immediately to the business of the moment. "Put your arm around him there, Joe. All right Mary. Hurting you, son?"

"It's my arm, look out for my arm——" Frank muttered, and the mother's moan was distinguishable above the din. Sheila knew that suddenly filled the hall.

"My darling, my son——"

"We'll get you right upstairs, Frank," Sheila put in on two inaudible" the doctor said.

Brothers, sisters, servants, parents, they surrounded him. His voice rang out suddenly, as he was being tenderly lifted upstairs.

"Is Sheila there?"

"Right here, son," said his father. "Sheila, I must see you before you go—"

"Anything, dear anything!" Judge Mccann said, faltering, and Sheila heard Frank's effort, as it laugh,

"I'm not dying, Pop. I want Doc. Underwood to look at her; that's all. She's done something to her shoulder—"

They were all struggling upstairs; they added into a big front bedroom where Mamie was turning down the bed, and Sheila's mother-in-law established without bed.

"They've broke him completely!" Sheila heard her mother say, in a whisper, and Mrs. McCann said something about Frank's effort, as it laugh,

"You hear how your heart on you—the old doctor said.

Frank gave another groan as they lowered him against the pillows. Sheila heard her mother bending over him, said tenderly. She began to pray in a low voice.

"Mother, I'm all right. And the doc' has a lot of dope for me here in my bag. Doc?"

"I'm going to fix you up right here in the drawing-room, Frank," the old doctor said. "Doctor Russell is on his way from the hospital now. When he gets here we'll give you a shot, and you go sleep."

"Doctor, do you think there may be internal injuries?" the frantic mother again asked. Frank answered.

"Internal injuries. Mother—forget it! I'm fine. Give you a score. Pop? Good God, it's—"

"We came down," Frank observed briefly.

"It was in the paper, Frank. That's the way Pop saw it."

"In the paper?"

"The late afternoon edition, with pictures, dear."

"They don't lose much time! Lord, I'm sorry!" Frank muttered.

"Ouch!" Sheila exclaimed, on a wearied and desolate echo of a sob. The old doctor gently relieved her shoulder, apologized sympathetically.

"Go slay on her," Mrs. Carracadden warned him. Sheila, completely diverted by the concern in the beloved voice, began to cry bitterly as she slipped her bare, aching shoulder back into her dress and straightened the tumbled ruffle of white at her neck.

"You had a narrow escape, my dear!" the doctor said, gravely.

"Don't I've one again," Mrs. Carracadden said in a whisper. Sheila clung to her, their wet faces touching, her mother's arms about her.

CHAPTER 35

Frank moved his own shoulder resolutely, grunted.

"Wouldn't you know the damn' thing—" he began mildly. He put his uninjured hand on his mother's bowed head. "Now, you get out of it, Mother!" he asked.

"Oh Frank, that was so terrible! God grant we never have that to go through again! Pop saw it in the paper, but I got it over the telephone. It was the police, dear, from Newark. The man said, Mr. Mc-Nevark. The man said, Mr. Carracadden has been slightly injured—I thought of course it was Pop!"

"That must have been hell!"

"It wasn't any better when I learned the truth, dear. Mamie had to take the phone. I got faint. They fixed me up on the sofa, and they tried to reach Pape, but they couldn't find him."

"I'm so sorry!" Frank said heavily. The look that was almost coma had come into his eyes again.

There were fewer persons in the room now. The younger brothers and sisters were being firmly ejected one by one, by a powerful, big black-haired woman who was being cajoled by them under the name of "Diddy". They were imploring "Diddy" to allow them to remain, and "Diddy" was sternly refusing.

Mamie and two younger maids were running back and forth, in and out of a large, adjoining dressing-room, with sheets tables, electric-light extensions. Someone had lighted a fire, someone else had drawn shades, someone was standing now with a tray and a steaming cup beside the bed, somebody else had put in a bell and was murmuring about "comprises".

An elderly woman, majestic and assured of demeanor and identified as "Grandma" had established herself in a great wing chair, near enough to the bed for a clear view of all proceedings; Judge McCann stood at the foot, his graying, black curly hair rumpled, his face gray and pale, his eyes on his son only. There were others besides Sheila and her mother; the big luxurious room was full of movement. The doctor, having finished a quick examination of her shoulder, drew Sheila toward the bed.

"No harm done, dear," Frank. She wrenched her shoulder and scratched one side of her face"

"Not broken?" Frank asked eagerly.

"Nothing broken."

"We're going now, Frank," the old doctor said, cheerfully. "I hope they won't hurt you, Frank."

His eyes were beginning to burn brightly with fever; he caught at her hand. She looked shabby, tired, sick; there were great rings about her eyes; her hair, more stuck together in heavy points, her hat had been lost in the crash and her soft coppery hair was uncovered in the evening lamp-light. Frank remembered that she had not powdered her nose; she had said she was afraid of it, and he had made her do it!

Remorse surged in his heart. There was something about the poor little luckless thing that had appealed to him in the very beginning of their acquaintance; it was stronger than ever now.

"I'm glad if anything had to happen it happened to me!" he said. "It was my fault, Mom, you mustn't blame this child. She's been—"

He tried to smile, but he was weak and in pain; the tears came instead.

"She's been wonderful" he said. "Down in Atlantic all this time I don't know her own mother didn't know it. She's such a scary little thing, Pop; she didn't want to come home to face you all. I talked her into it." He looked up at her through misty eyes, managing a sickly smile. "We didn't know our adventures were going to end like this, did we, Sheila?" he said.

"We won't say that," Judge McCann said. When she heard his voice Sheila's head shrank her; for it sounded as if Frank might be dying—Frank might be dying—

Frank knew, as he spoke, broke with the trouble he am' mine have brought on to Sir" Sheila's mother was saying, as they all went out into the hall. "I know how much there isn't a bad bone in her body!"

"Mrs. Carracadden—Mrs. McCann—" Sheila whisper. Her face was ghastly. We knew nothing of Frank's age began. "My son, Mrs. Frank has always been—we're depended on him!" she finished ed this girl, had wanted no thought-family.

"You mustn't break Mamma!" the Judge said. But he looked broken himself.

"Is he so sick?" Sheila faltered, bursting into tears.

No one paid any attention to her. Judge McCann, always grave and kindly, addressed Sheila's mother:

"Mrs. Carracadden as soon as the boy is out of the woods I'll get in touch with you."

Sheila's mother appeared not to be listening.

"He said it. But I don't believe it!" she said, in a still, stricken tone.

"Nor I, either," the Judge agreed. "There's some explanation—"

"He—he—he had never got that!" Mrs. McCann said in her soft, eager voice. "He never—Joe! never thought—that was all!"

"Well, well, well," the Judge said, "we'll straighten it all out. Don't worry, we are not war ways. And the young people don't either do! want to be!"

"Indeed, you're right about that!" said Sheila's mother.

They were working their way downstairs; Sheila and Joe, and their mother, and the senior Mccann, and various other unidentified persons servants, cousins, aunts.

Among these Sheila had confusedly noticed, from the beginning, a pretty, black-eyed girl in a dark red suit trimmed with black fur, and a dark red hat. If she had tried to identify this girl at all she might have placed her as one of Frank's younger sisters; he had three besides Veronica, she knew, or she might have supposed her to be a concerned, pretty cousin. But as a matter of fact the group had been so large, and so mixed, and the babel of voices and the general movement so distracting that Sheila, although she had distinctly observed this girl, had wanted no thought-whatever upon her identity.

But now, in the lower hall, the girl suddenly took the centre of the stage by arresting them all with a quick imperative word to the Judge.

"Judge McCann, and Mrs. McCann," with still girl began. In a high-strung and haughty voice. "I am going. You'll understand—you'll understand of course. But this changes everything."

"Bernadette, my dear!" Mrs. McCann said, in a heartbroken tone.

"You must see that!" the girl said in a quick, feverish manner. She stood close to Mrs. McCann, her fingers nervously busy with her lace collar. "You see that?" she asked.

"Bernadette," the Judge began, "don't be too quick to judge him. We mustn't jump to conclusions in a few days—when God willing, he'll be better—"

"No, never!" the girl said with spirit. "Never! You heard what he said. He never saw me. He never spoke to me! It was—it was—"

She began to choke. flung up her head, was silent.

"Bernadette, dear," Mrs. McCann said, her arm about her "control yourself. I feel as bad as you do. It doesn't seem possible that Frank—But let's give the poor child the benefit of the doubt—"

"Doubt!" the girl echoed quickly, with a scornful laugh. "You heard what he said!"

"Bernadette," said Mrs. McCann, "you know as well as I do that Frank McCann is incapable of anything underhanded—"

AUG 18 . . . MR. AND MRS.— FOR USE WHEN THE SPIRIT MOVES HIM

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR —No. 7

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Keeping well in the shadows of the shrubbery growing profusely about the bungalow, Werper crept his silent way to a point beneath an open window of the room in which he could hear his host and hostess talking earnestly. Almost the first words he overheard filled him with excitement. Lady Greystoke was speaking: "I always feared this might happen, but it seems incredible."

"Whatever the cause," replied Tarzan, "the fact remains that I have lost everything, and there is nothing for it but to return to Opar and get more gold."

"Oh John," cried Lady Greystoke and Werper could feel the shudder through her voice, "I would rather live in poverty always, than have you risk the hideous dangers of Opar. Is there no other way?"

"There is no other way half so easy to obtain another fortune, as to return to the treasure vaults of Opar and bring it away," replied Tarzan. "You need have no fear. I shall be very careful, my dear, and the Waziri are that the inhabitants of Opar will never know I have been there again. They do not know the value of their treasure. In fact few of them know of its existence."

Tarzan had made his decision and Lady Greystoke accepted his judgment. The following morning Werper announced his intention of departing. His party made but a short march, when Werper pretended he was ill. He sent one of Achmet Zek's trusted blacks over the trail to which for the departure of Tarzan, then to return and report the direction taken by the ape-man.

OF ALL THE SAPS---

By Robert Hage

"What! An insurance solicitor! No! Tell him I won't see him today or any hereafter!" said Robbins returned to his work, bristling. Kitty transmitted the message to the telephone operator in somewhat milder language and soon the keys of her typewriter were hitting on all six. A commotion at the door called her fingers and brought another frown to the brow of her employer. She dashed a youth, carrying a box case. He closed the door, locked it and walked toward Robbins with outstretched hand and a beaming style.

"Happy to meet you, Mr. Robbins," he yodeled. "The name is Parly—Jack Parly—and I represent the greatest insurance company in the world—the universe. Only the fool doesn't insure, is he not right? Isn't that right?"

Robbins cried him basely. "Why, he's a fool!" he demanded.

"Well, I sorta forced myself in," confessed the dapper salesman, removing his hat and taking a seat. "Some of your employees tried to keep me out, but knowing the value of great tidings." By now Parly had filled most of the desk with his card, charts, leaflets and blank forms.

Robbins leaned on the desk and thrust his scowling face forward with such vehemence that Mr. Parly lacked a trifle. "I've got all the insurance I'm going to take out," exclaimed the scowling one in thwarted tones. "Now, get out and get out quick!"

"You should have said—quickly," and it was evident that the heavy collection had seen heavy action before on the insurance front. "Now, let's get down to brass tacks. How much accident insurance do you carry."

"None," and Robbins regretted that he had weakened at his fences.

"What!" Mr. Parly teetered on his heels, as if the horrifying intelligence was on the verge of flooring him. "No accident insurance! Do you realize how important and accidental it is. Why, any you might be hit by an automobile today! What would you do then?"

"Listen here, young man I'm not one of those silly asses who get run over. I look where I'm going!"

"Ah, pooping an aeroplane dropped its motor on your head! I say you, what then? You can't be looking upward always. And dropping a lion (bah!) escaped from a circus crawls up behind you."

Robbins shuddered with—rage. "And suppose a manhole cover blew up while you were standing on it. What then."

The infuriated prospect raised a heavy ruler and started around the desk. But Mr. Parly was on his way. Holding the door half-way open as a shield, he smiled at Kitty, lifted his hat and was gone.

But peace was not destined to reign for long. Hardly had Robbins completed mustering his entire stock of profanity than an outburst of noise came from the street. Both Robbins and Kitty rushed to the window. Large stones below, they saw a man lying on his back in front of an automobile. A crowd had gathered and a policeman was sauntering leisurely to the scene while drawing out his report book.

Robbins did not discover that Kitty was gone from the room until he beheld her talking to the policeman. She then bent over the stricken man. At the cop's command four of the bystanders lifted the victim and carried him into the building and into Robbins' office, where he was deposited on the sofa. It was the insurance solicitor! Robbins groaned and threw up his hands. Maybe he would die here. Ugh.

The policeman, skilled through long practice, didn't seem to be alarmed by Parly's pallor. Parly roughly until the latter opened his eyes.

"C'mon, now, I've got to get back to me little beat," he growled in a business-like manner. "I've got the name of the man who socked you on the jaw. Now, what's your name pinched or not?"

Parly's answer came the weak response. "It was all my fault. I tried to pull a practical trafic, so he's not to blame."

The patrolman left.

"Oh, Jack are you hurt?" exclaimed Kitty with apprehension.

"Hay, just a little bump. You see—where's the big mogul?"

"In the other office."

"Well, you see, when I get a tough prospect like that pull you work for I have to give him the thirty-third degree."

"What do you mean?".

"That fellow in the car works for me. When I give him the high sign and walk in front of the car, he just gives me a little bump. That's fine, horrible example stuff for the prospect. I generally send the cop to the tough one's office for my brief case, which by the time I am in the car. The cop tells the guy about the accident and says I'll call on him later, but to let sorry for me and signs up, or he figures he might be the next one to be hurt, if it can happen right in front of a officer."

"But is...that really fair?"

"All's fair in love and insurance!" Kitty had gained her feet when Robbins re-entered. Soon his fingers were tapping the desk nervously. "By the way, now that you've come to your senses, sir—will you please explain that accident insurance policy—if you are able to do so? I don't want to leave this office tonight without being protected."

"At your service," and Parly leaped from the sofa with an alacrity which escaped Mr. Robbin's attention. The details were settled quickly, Robbins signed on the dotted line and left for home with "You can go, now, Miss Wright."

But Kitty preferred to remain. Parly encamped himself in a large leather chair and Kitty cuddled up in his arms. Thus time sped. Suddenly there was a fumbling at the lock of the door. "Probably the scrub woman," whispered Kitty. The door swung open and a large male figure was silhouetted before them. He walked slowly forward in search of the electric light switch. Parly failed to pull in his long legs—and there was a thunderous crash.

Kitty uttered a little shriek. Lying in front of them was Mr. Robbins, with a small cut in his forehead. He revived while Kitty was bathing the wound, and sat up in surprise.

"What are you doing here?" he said severely.

Parly laughed. "You'll get used to me, old top," he chortled. "You see, I've been courting Kitty for a long time, but she thought I wasn't so hot. She'd just yawn when I'd tell her what a good insurance solicitor I am. Then she told me about you; said that you sie agents alive. I bet her that I could land you—and she was sure—she promised to marry me if I got your signature on a policy. Aren't you going to congratulate me?"

Parly's face radiated pleasure. "Aren't you the lucky stiff,though," he exclaimed pointing at the wound on Robbins' head. "Why, you collect dough a few hours after taking out a policy. Boy, oh boy."

He slipped as he danced about and landed on the floor. He tried to rise but a leg had been sprained. Kitty and Robbins bundled Parly and again performed the duties of a nurse. "Now you can collect accident insurance, too," she observed cheerily.

Parly sat upright, his face registered shock.

"Of all the saps," he groaned, "I never thought of taking out an accident policy."

HOUSE SEATS ARE DIVIDED

Britain to Proportion The Standing of India's House

London, Aug. 17 — (Canadian Press Cable)— Indian provincial legislatures will be given a new constitution by a bill which the British Government proposes to submit to parliament at the autumn session.

The statement issued by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald explains that the British Government never wished to intervene in communal controversies and strove hard to encourage a settlement by the Indians themselves. The Indian failure to agree has forced the government to decide how Hindus, Moslems and other groups are to be represented in the provincial legislatures.

Concerning the time has not yet come when minority safeguards can be removed, the present system of separate electorates will be continued. Every reasonable effort is provided for the leading sects of India, and special seats for women Anglo-Indians, Indian Christians and Europeans. Commerce, industry, mining, planting, labor and universities and labor will also have representation.

Hindus are granted an absolute majority of seats in Madras, the United Provinces, Bihar, Orissa and the Central Provinces, and a preponderance in Bombay, Assam and Assam. Moslems receive a majority in the north west frontier province and in the Punjab, an effective majority. In Bengal Moslems will get 119 out of 250 seats, but 35 others will be occupied by representatives of commerce, Europeans, Sikhs get 32 seats in the Punjab.

Gives Friend Tip And Gets "Poked"

Montreal, Aug. 17—Gerard Laroche dropped round for a game of checkers with his friend, Adelard Tardiff. The old checker board however was already in use by Tardiff and a stranger were batting it out more for love.

Leaning over the stranger's shoulder Laroche suggested a move which won the game for the former. This morning Laroche appeared in Recorder's Court complaining Tardiff had "poked him" following his suggestion.

With ten days, or the costs of the case, the offender will have ample time to study any new moves.

Kellogg's have this patented protection.

KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes are sealed in a special WAXTITE bag which is placed inside the red-and-green package. It brings the flakes direct from the toasting ovens fresh to your table. It's a patented Kellogg feature.

Some other foods have inner bags of a kind—but Kellogg's is sealed top and bottom—a perfect protection. Compare Kellogg's. The flakes are different in appearance, taste and freshness.

Unconditionally guaranteed by W. K. Kellogg: "If you don't consider them the best corn flakes you ever ate, return the package and we will refund your money." Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

LIONEL BARRYMORE TOPS PREVIOUS ROLES IN "THE WASHINGTON MASQUERADE"

Washington, with its swirl of political intrigue, social splendour and the dramatic details of the "inside" workings of political machinery, forms a spectacular background for Lionel Barrymore's newest appearance on the screen in "The Washington Masquerade" at the Belle.

Based on "The Claw," one of the famous actor's greatest successes on the stage, the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, which is playing at the Bell today and Friday, matinee daily, presents the actor in a truly "Barrymore" role, as the senator and political power, who is master of men, but nevertheless the tool of a designing woman.

Intimate details of Washington and its "inner circle" were revealed into the screen adaptation on which John Meehan collaborated with Samuel G. Blythe, famous Washington political writer.

Werner Trutler

Barrymore plays a Middle Western senator who becomes a secret leader and national power. Unable to reach him any other way, the lobbyists try a woman, employed to charm recalcitrant legislators. The senator falls in love with her, marries her, sacrifices his career and wrecks from the Senate at her behest. After he turns trailer to his party, he discovers the trick that has been played on him. How he battles it out before the Senate, tearing down the structure of political manipulation in a final sensational oration, is a powerful climax.

Charles Brabin directed the story with deft skill, and many deft human touches are interspersed amid the spectacle of president's receptions and state banquets, impressive speeches on the floor of the Senate and sensational exposes of the "inside" of Washington politics.

Karen Morley scores as the political vamp, assorted to Barrymore. Nils Asther offers a skilful portrayal as the suave foreign diplomat, and C. Henry Gordon, who played the secret agent in "Mata Hari," is excellent as the lobbyist. Diane Sinclair, Reginald Barlow, William Collier, Sr., Wm. Morris, Raisela Ottiano, C. Henry Gordon, Burton Churchill and Henry Kolker are equally effective in their roles.

Laurel-Hardy Comedy

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, the screen's best comedians are appearing on the same program in their latest tip-snorting comedy "County Hospital," the Belle Sound News with its up-to-the-minute events around the world over, will be exhibited on the same program.

STOLE FROM RAILWAY TWO ARE TO DIE

Chelvinak, Russia, Aug. 18—The first sentenced to death under a new decree providing the extreme penalty for persons who steal goods in shipment on the railroad was meted out yesterday on two gang leaders by the transport court here. They must die before a firing squad.

APPEAL TO NATIONS TO DROP PREJUDICE

Geneva, Aug. 17—The World Jewish Congress issued an appeal to all nations today to abandon anti-Jewish discrimination.

The conference formally ratified a decision to call another world congress not later than 1934 to deal with all the evils afflicting Israel.

At The Capitol

THRILLS AND MORE THRILLS AT THE CAPITOL

The large audience at the Capitol yesterday gripped seats and held breath whilst the shivering mystery was solved by "Miss Pinkerton" played by Joan Blondell. The picture is the talk of the town today and as tonight is the last opportunity for seeing "Miss Pinkerton," lovers of a real show should visit the Capitol and be thrilled!

An old bed sheet and a clanking chain will no longer give the modern audience the shivers, according to William Cameron Menzies, who directed "Almost Married," a new thriller opening Friday at the Capitol Theatre.

The widespread diffusion of at least a smattering of psychological knowledge has created an audience, nowadays, that does not believe in ghosts. Anyone who would thrill the present generation must start from a foundation that it can at least believe in.

This, however, has widened, rather than narrowed the range of possibilities, according to Menzies.

"We used to have sane, normal main write our mystery dramas for us," he explained yesterday when in Movietone City, "but now, they are created by those who actually are, or that strange borderline between genius and insanity.

"I, too, in directing a psychological student if he is to bridge successfully the gap between his subject and his audience. He must know just what he wants his audience to feel—and he must know how to make them feel it."

"Almost Married" deals with the love of a mad musician for a beautiful English girl—a film girl, daring to express itself by the murder of that selfish dentist.

Violet Heming, star of the New York stage, portrays the girl, Nancy Bellamy, fresh from his spectacular success in "Surrender," and Neil Hamilton, the dramatic genius is in the capable hands of Alexander Kirkland.

Dawn Patrol

"The Dawn Patrol," a thrilling drama of the air service starring Richard Barthelmess is the additional attraction at the Capitol Theatre for Friday and Saturday.

Following close on the heels of such successes as "Cavalry Rides Again," "Young Nowheres" and "Son of the Gods," the newest Barthelmess production is due to create a sensation and larger fan following. Everything actual has been forced dore. "The Dawn Patrol" teems with dramatic situations, action and human interest. It tells the story of a group of young fliers in the early days of the World War. War is not its theme— it serves merely as the background against which star and director and author have painted a vivid picture of the soul-struggle of fighting men who soar above the clouds, facing the enemy against great odds and in it finds something greater than fear to make a sacrifice for.

"The Dawn Patrol" was written originally as a screen story by John Monk Saunders, author of "Wings" and other modern picture stories. It was directed by Howard Hawks, producer of the all-time money maker and himself a licensed pilot. The cast supporting Barthelmess is of superlative quality including such names as Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Neil Hamilton, Gardner James, Clyde Cook, James Finlayson, William Janney and others.

HAMBLETONIAN TO THE MARCHIONESS

Will Caton, Teamed Filly to Win Two Out of Four Heats

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 18—Will Caton spent 27 years in Russia driving the greatest of European horses to victory but he returned to the United States to receive the great thrill.

Winner of 2,343 races on the European continent, including the Grand Prix de Paris in 1901, Caton, grey from 40 years on the sulky, got his biggest lucky Saturday when he piloted Mrs. Ralph Kelley's The Marchioness, to victory in the pitch of all harness racing stakes—the Hambletonian.

The 53 year old Auburn driver boasts of one of the greatest winning records in history. He has scored with the horses of the former Czar of Russia, but in his own words: "There was none as thrilling as winning the Hambletonian before a home crowd of 25,000 howling fans."

Yesterday was Caton's first appearance in a Hambletonian but it was a successful one, the Marchioness winning two of the four heats.

As a member of the Walnut Hall consignment to the Old Glory sales in 1930, the Marchioness, a sire, unbroken, was sold for $2,300. Yesterday's race alone returned her owner nearly $20,000. She won two of her eight starts as a juvenile and has finished first in three of her four starts this season.

The loss of over 400 pounds reported on the year's working was largely due to depression in trade.

The world's monetary stocks of gold are valued at about $12,000,000,000 and the metal would make a cube measuring 31 feet on an edge.

LONE SCOT FLIES ATLANTIC WESTWARD

Weariness Brings Intrepid Mollison Down in N. B. After Record Hop

Solo Westward Flight Across Atlantic Made By Scot Lands in N. B.

Wee Plane Lands Weary Aviator Capt. J. A. Mollison Safely at Pennfield Ridge After Thirty Hours in Air

LONE SCOT SEEKS REST AT JOURNEY'S END

Mollison Tells of Experience in Flight Over Expanse of Ocean to Set New Record of Crossing Alone

Pennfield Ridge, N.B., Aug. 19—Haggard and drawn after more than thirty hours at the controls of his flying gas-bark, Capt. J. A. Mollison brought his Puss Moth to earth a perfect landing here today a quarter of an hour before noon (E.S.T.) and ended with success the first westward solo crossing of the Atlantic by air.

Farmers and fishermen flocked from this little settlement, 40 miles down the Bay of Fundy coast from Saint John, to share the honor of landing half a mile from the railway station. Mollison, greeted only by the rural residents who ran from their homes when the plane was heard overhead, flew into them weather conditions during the last half of the flight from Port Marnock, Ireland, had been unfavorable but that the Scot was able to did make push on to his goal at New York was because he was tired.

Rests at Parsboro

The slim young Scot first sought a chance to rest and was taken to a nearby farmhouse, where he had had seated himself to rest he asked his wife—any donation, equally famed flier—he notified of his safe arrival. Immediately, word was sent to Saint John, and by telephone relay, to Mrs. Mollison at London.

Mollison made steady progress and was advised word of his arrival was being rushed to London. Told that his wife had said "I'm sure it's Jim" when the news was reported over Halifax more than six hours before, he laughed and added: "She was always sure I'd find it easy."

Arrival of the plane so long after passing over Nova Scotia indicated Mollison had lost his way after crossing the Bay of Fundy and extended between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The Scot, however, did not explain the reason for the elapsed time, other than explaining the exhaustion forced him to change his plans of flying on to New York.

Is Greeted

"I passed Harbor Grace in Newfoundland and Halifax this morning and reached here at about 11 o'clock, E.S.T.," he said. This befriended a period of almost 24 hours occupied in flying a distance

HISTORY OF ATLANTIC CROSSING

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—J. A. Mollison, who landed his plane 'Heart's Content' at Pennfield Ridge near Saint John, N.B., today after a flight from Ireland, is the fourth aviator to achieve a non-stop westward crossing of the North Atlantic ocean, and the first ever to make the flight this way alone.

Only two other North Atlantic flights have been made, both eastward. They were by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, New York, in Paris in 1927, and Amelia Earhart, Harbor Grace, Nfld., to Ireland, this year.

League Flight

The westward flight is considered to be in effect, 800 miles longer than the eastward hop, because of prevailing winds.

Because of the route followed Mollison's flight compared with that of the "Southern Cross" which Kingsford-Smith, Van Dyke, Saul and Stannage made from Portmarnock to Harbor Grace, thence to New York.

The "Southern Cross" made the Portmarnock-Harbor Grace lap, 2,-113 miles in 31 hours, 31 minutes, averaging only 68 miles an hour. Mollison's flight to Pennfield Ridge, a distance of 2,800 miles from Portmarnock, was made in 30 hours, 45 minutes, for an average speed of better than 90 1-2 miles an hour.

Coste and Bellonte, who flew west from Paris to New York in 1930, covered 3,610 miles in 37 hours 18 1-3 minutes they speed averaging better than 96 1-3 miles an hour.

Brenzen Flyers

The fliers of the "Bremen", who missed their mark and landed at Green Island, Labrador, on the flight from Dublin in 1928 were 37 hours in the air to go 2,070 miles.

CAT AND GOAT AND TWO DOGS ATTACK MAN

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 19—Love of dumb animals hit a new low in the heart of L. J. Warren. On Mecham avenue a cat scratched his hand. On Grand Circle Avenue a goat knocked him down. On Rhinea Street a poodle bit his leg, and on Harris Street a police dog chewed his arm.

John Robinson, desk sergeant at police headquarters where Warren took his woes and his somewhat disfigure, was promised that if a lion charges him, police will take immediate action.

BLOODY AXE BESIDE WOMAN HER HEAD CUT

York County Woman Reading When Struck by Assailant

HUSBAND AWAY

Boy Creeps to Mother's Bedroom And Gives Alarm

Toronto, Aug. 19—Her head badly cut and a blood-stained axe beside her, Mrs. A. Bradbury, East York was rushed by police to hospital here today.

Mrs. Bradbury was found in the bed of her apartment, her pillow saturated with blood.

The discovery of the badly injured woman was made by her young son, who had crept up to his mother's bedroom. The boy gave the alarm and police rushed to the scene.

Stains in Bathroom

Mrs. Bradbury evidently was reading when the axe was allegedly executed. Blood stains were found in the bathroom, where the assailant had gone there to wash his hands. The woman's husband had left for work shortly after two o'clock this morning. He is employed by a local dairy.

"My wife was in good spirit when I left," he said. "She had prepared my breakfast and saw me off to work." He identified the axe, which had a broken handle, as one which had been on a table in the basement. Otherwise, the house was open when the police arrived.

WOMAN BEATS HUSBAND GETS NINE MONTHS TERM

COBOURG, Ont., Aug. 19.—Found guilty in police court today on a charge of assaulting her husband Mrs. Mary Manchur, was sentenced to nine months in Mercer Reformatory by Magistrate W. J. Davidson. Mrs. Manchur and her husband live at Grafton. Early in day after Manchur had paid $25 and costs to keep her out of jail on a liquor conviction.

Mrs. Manchur emerged unscratched, but her husband had been severely injured. Mrs. Manchur denied the charge, but evidence of witnesses, including that of her husband, was received quite, that required nine months.

It is probable that agreement to agree will be the decision which Premier Bennett and Premier Taschereau will make in Ottawa, and this will be followed by the almost immediate removal of both the United Kingdom and Ireland of their customs tariffs on each other's goods. Less emblazoned by this, the two governments will then work out the agreement of the tripartite, which will bear whether the Free State should continue to collect the tariff over to United Kingdom the $15,000,000 annuities or not.

Smashes Atoms by Millions And Yet World is Undestroyed

BY W. E. BROCKMAN
(A.P. Staff Writer)

Copyright 1932. Associated Press.

Berlin, Aug. 19—Smashing of the atoms of lead, second heaviest material, with the new high power German x-rays tube, was described in detail today by two young scientists, Arno Brasch and Fritz Lange who said they believe they are close to solution of the long sought secret of the constitution of matter itself.

Their giant-power tube, smashing atoms by the millions, disposed of the myths that "unlocking the energy of the atom" might produce explosive energy capable of destroying the world, they said.

They will soon start experimenting with the rays of the new tube to determine their effectiveness against cancers.

Brasch and Lange where they are working far into the nights setting up a still more powerful tube with which they hope to disintegrate the atoms of uranium, heaviest of all elements.

The lead atom was disrupted by a voltage of 2,500,000. The smashing was done by a stream of protons striking the lead.

"We had estimated previously," said Brasch, "that 15,000,000 voltage would be required to smash lead, but 2,440,000 sufficed.

"This report includes the fantastic tales about the possibilities from atom smashing.

Explaining these beta rays are different from the x-rays generally used in cancer, Dr. Brasch said: "Beta rays penetrate the skin more deeply. He added the cathode rays, at the extremely high voltage were 100,000 times more intense than x-rays. The electrons penetrating the skin directly to deptha hitherto impossible. They are especially suited for, therapy, he said, because of limited absorability in matter and the possibility of intensive irradiation which need to be achieved with x-rays.

BURST TIRE CAUSES CRASH

No Injuries Sustained By Occupants of Cars

The sudden bursting of a tire on Van Sandau Avenue, Belleville caused of a queer and nearly serious motor car accident shortly after noon Friday.

Mr. Ormond J. Logsdon of Baltimore, Md., was driving his sedan westward on Dundas Street, when opposite South Ontario Street, suddenly the right front tire blew out. The blow out caused the Logsdon car to swerve to the right crashing into the parked car the property of Ralph Ketchason of that city. The Logsdon car continued. After hitting the Ketchason car, and finally came to rest over the ditch on the boulevard between the road and the side walk on the north side of Dundas St.

No injuries were sustained by Mr. Logsdon or the occupants of his car, but considerable damage was reported to both cars. The force of the impact caused the right rear fender of the Ketcheson car to be badly bent while the right rear tire was puncitured. Other minor damages were also reported.

After crashing into the Ketchason car the Logsdon car was quite badly damaged, having its left front fender crumpled, broke its front swing and bent the front axle. The wheels also were also shattered but fortunately Mr. Logsdon was not hurt. The damages will be settled between the parties concerned.

STEAMER AGROUND OFF RED ISLAND

Quebec, Aug. 19—Clarke Line steamship North Voyager, bound for Newfoundland and Labrador with passengers and freight, was aground early today off Red Island, some distance up the St. Lawrence River from Quebec.

A screw that cannot work loose from its moorings has been devised.

LOOT TAKEN ALL OF $70,000

Women Forced on Car State They Could Identify Bandits

Beloit, Wis., Aug. 19.—Officials of Rock County, Wisconsin and Illinois said, being completed today, would show the loot taken by seven bandits would exceed $70,000 instead of the $50,000 originally estimated.

Six of the young women used by the bandits yesterday to screen their movements were reported safe, but only all members of the gang for whom police in Wisconsin and Illinois are searching.

The women were in the bank building at the time of the hold-up yesterday. They were forced to ride on the running board of the bandit car to prevent police from firing at the machine when the robbers sped out of town.

The girls were unable to harm any of the women and they were permitted to jump off the automobile when the bandits decided their hold outdistanced the police pursuit.

JUDGE TELLS MILLER ACT WAS COWARDLY

Ottawa, Aug. 19—Found guilty of assaulting a police officer during the unemployment demonstrations here Aug. 2, Frederick Miller, of Vancouver, today was reminded by Magistrate Glen Strike of police officers (assisted at the hearing) that "you did a very cowardly act."

Miller, who was charged, had been struck and seriously injured by Miller.

"You did a very cowardly act," Magistrate Glen E. Strike told Miller when he pronounced him guilty.

GIVEN FLYING HONORS

Washington, Aug. 19—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty received distinguished flying crosses yesterday from President Hoover for their round-the-world encircling the world in eight days, 15 hours, and 51 minutes.

Brief Wire Messages

London, Ont—John Noble, returned soldier who suffered a lapse of memory and was held by police until friends could be located was turned over to three neighbors. He is being taken back to his home. Upon seeing his friends and neighbors his mind cleared and he immediately remembered his past life.

London, Eng—London's prevailing heat wave is a real scorcher. At noon today the temperature was 93 degrees, the highest since 1911 when a record of 95 was established. At 3:30 p.m. the temperature at the Greenwich Obervatory was 99 degrees, only one degree below the all-time record of the station.

Curtiss Field, N.Y.—Mrs. Frances Marsalis and and Mrs. Louise Thaden approached a new endurance record for women today and indicated they would go right on flying for several days The record is 122 hours. To set an official new record they must surpass the old one by at least an hour, which would be 4 p.m.

STRANDED V. P. CANDIDATE HITCH HIKES

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 19—John N. Garner, Democratic vice-presidential nominee hitch hiked into San Antonio early today on his way to his home at Uvalde to resume a vacation interrupted by political conferences in the east.

The speaker of the United States House of Representatives travelled by air yesterday from Washington to Austin, where the plane was grounded last night by a rainstorm. Then he travelled the 90 miles between Austin and San Antonio in a motorcar with two young men whose names were not learned. The men offered the speaker a ride.

'GAS' SPRAYED ON SEPTETTE SIX PERISH

Four Children and Parents Lose Lives in Michigan

CARS IN CRASH

Two Five Gallon Cans of Gasoline Explodes on Running Board

Midland, Mich., Aug. 19—A father and mother and their four children perished in flames in a burning car before rescuers could reach the automobile which caught fire after colliding with another car.

The victims are Mr. and Mrs. George Messer, Thompsonville, Mich., and their three children, Edward, 12; Forest, 10; Stella, 6, and Ann, 4. Four of the children died in the burning car before rescuers could reach them. The others died in a hospital later.

Gasoline Sprayed

A seventh occupant of the car, Harry Crane, of Birmingham, Mich. bridegroom of the father, was critically burned, and was not expected to recover.

The collision occurred in front of the Midland County Jail police here. Forest died two hours later, while Mrs. Messer and her husband lived about an hour before death respectively.

Policeman Barned

Stanley Sage, policeman, was burned when he and others attempted to rescue the occupants of the blazing car.

When the Messer car collided with Patrick's automobile two five gallon cans of gasoline broke from the running board of Messer's car and sprayed the gasoline sprayed over the car. It ignited and enough to burn those trapped.

Others Escape

The Messer automobiles were not said, gowned into the other, causing it to turn over. Patrick and those near-by with him escaped unhurt. They were Charles Tilden, Mrs. Patrick and Henry Carruthers, all of London.

OUTWARD FLOW FALLS BELOW THAT OF INWARD

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Can. Press Cable)—For the first time the outward flow of emigrants from the United Kingdom has fallen below total of immigrants.

Figures for the year ending March 31 last, reported by the Overseas Settlement Committee, show that emigrants numbered only 34,310 and the excess of arrivals over departures was 37,072 compared with an excess of departures over arrivals of 75,955 in 1930.

The change is not due to any appreciable increase in the number of returning emigrants, but to a slowdown, but to the steep fall in the number of emigrants, from 136,000 in 1921 to 17,319 in 1931.

No Cure in Shorter Hours, Higher Wages Insurance Says Woodsworth

Orillia, Ont., Aug. 19—"I do not believe that by simply shortening hours of labor, by higher wages, by joint councils, by giving unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation that it is possible to achieve industrial democracy," declared J. H. Woodsworth, M.P., Winnipeg, in addressing the Institute of Economic and International Affairs here.

"If you are going to have government for the people, by the people you have to have a complete change in our whole system today. A great many men who occupy leading positions are very dubious of this kind of social order going on very much longer. They say that it is up to the point where it is showing fundamental defects."

MRS. MOLLISON KNEW HUBBY WOULDMAKEIT

London, Aug. 19—Amy Johnson, aviation record-holder and wife of Capt. J. A. Mollison, was seated at luncheon with some friends in a West-End hotel today, when word was brought to her that a plane like that in which her husband started on his solo Atlantic flight had been sighted over Halifax.

"Oh," she cried, "I'm sure it's Jim. But she was terribly excited.

She and her friends went upstairs to her suite where confirmation was brought to her a few minutes later.

"Isn't it wonderful!" she said. "I knew Jim would do it. I feel much easier now. I know the return journey is not easy, but in comparison with the outward trip is isn't bad. I don't know exactly what Jim's plans are. If he has enough fuel he may make for New York non-stop."

Daily, by Telephone, Letter And Person, Answers Given To Those Seeking Information

Manager of Chamber of Commerce Has to Know All MANY QUERIES

Sometimes Necessary to Refer to Library For Information

What is the population of North Bay? When can I get a bus to Toronto in the afternoon? What is the best train to take the next train leave the North Station for Montreal? What is the best train for me to take to travel through the Nipissing district? Where is a map of the Bala Lake ing grounds? And where can we get a good speaker for a lecture on a map of the district here? What Lane is it, please? Will you be good enough to furnish us with a list of all local manufacturers? Please recommend some reliable dealer who can supply us with Daily, by telephone, by letter, even in person as they swing open the big swing doors and visit the chamber for a talk with the manager, Mr. J. O. Herity, come the questions, to be answered promptly and readily by your local Chamber of Commerce.

Queries by the dozen. Hundreds of queries. Questions on all manner of things under the sun. Questions which must be answered to those who want to know from points all over the world.

Instructed by the Chamber to receive letters from far off Palestine, Syria, Egypt, or even Asia, requesting information on things not only related to Belleville, but to Ontario. In the same manner it is not unusual to get questions by telephone from residents of the city who cannot find the answer in local libraries, and come to the chamber as a last book of knowledge.

The local Chamber of Commerce is well fitted to play this role of leader to the city, the Province, or even the world. Giant directories and telephone books of other cities and towns flank the broad mahogany desk in the perfectly appointed suite of rooms reserved for it. Time tables, maps, charts, books, and all manner of information their parts when called upon. They are all handy; all within reach. Five circulars and directories play their part in the telephone which keeps up its intermittent tinkle throughout the day.

But, perfectly equipped as the Chamber may be to answer the most unusual questions, without this imposing array of statistics, files of knowledge and books of answers to everything, sits the guiding force. Answering questions admirably is the duty of Manager W. O. Herity. A former school teacher, a graduate of Queen's, an all a student and scholar of the sciences and arts, it is small wonder he be stumped with telephone in hand, for the right answer. There are times, however, when he must take time out to look through some of the books contained in the largest and most complete private library in the city.

So whether it be the price of dew taste, the number of cattle or goats in Hastings County, the price of cheese or apples or hogs, or even if it is just as simple a question of finding out where to go to see for finding out the Bay of Quinte at the present season, the idea seems to be to find out, and in other words, when in doubt, ask the Chamber of Commerce.

Signatures to be Affixed Delegates to Embark Saturday

All Contentious Matters Have Been Ironed Out

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 18 (CP)—With the second plenary session of the Imperial Economic Conference called for ten o'clock tomorrow forenoon, all work in connection with that historic assembly was hastened today, the drafting of various inter-Dominion agreements that were in progress for some time. This afternoon the final drafts were to be ratified and everything completed in order to enable the various delegates to embark on the Empress of Britain on Saturday.

The contentious matters affecting Canada and the United Kingdom have all been ironed out, and the agreement which meets in large measure the demands of both countries will cause. As between Canada and the other Dominions of Britain, a controversial nature has arisen, and the by-laterals with them have been consequently easy to negotiate.

May Effect Settlement.

There remains now an extra-conference call, one on which the attention of the particular delegates concerned has been riveted for the past month. This is the Anglo-Irish problem. Here, again, the prospects for success, and with success the re-establishment of tranquil relations between the United Kingdom and the Free State, are very high.

One close to the conference observed today, "the Irish porker is smiling again." The settling-up assisting rumors are correct, then the "Irish porker" has good cause to smile, for those rumors have it that the question of annuities will be amicably settled by the return home of Sean T. O'Kelly and J. H. Thomas for the purpose of signing the agreement.

Deloro Woman Hunting Her Cows Meets Big Bear in Huckleberry Patch

Marmora, Aug. 19—Going for the cows, about four o'clock on Monday afternoon, Mrs. John Cross of Deloro, encountered a large black bear. Accompanying Mrs. Cross was her young son, Billy. They had just crossed a small marsh and were following the path used by the huckleberry pickers when suddenly they observed brutin about fifty feet ahead.

The bear, becoming aware of their presence, jumped off the path, backed into the bushes and calmly awaited developments. Mrs. Cross decided it was the safer policy to postpone her search for the cows and returned the quarter of a mile to her home.

Singular to relate a similar experience befell her a year ago when she and her daughter, Alice, had gone for the cows and were half a mile away from home in another direction.

City and District News

AT NO TIME WERE THEY IN DANGER

Fears for the safety of Mr. Geo. Tait and Mr. R. Benson, both of Wellington, who were thought to have foundered with their boat in Lake Ontario, some distance off the shores of Prince Edward Co., following a sudden storm on Wednesday afternoon were found to be groundless on investigation by the Ontario Intelligencer. The two men had been fishing and attributed back at Wellington about the full force of the storm broke. At no time were they in danger, according to relatives.

CARS RE-FUELED AT GAS STATION

Seven Essex Terraplane automobiles, part of a consignment for a Montreal dealer passed through the city Friday morning, after a brief stop at the Hudson-Essex service station for a refueling. The machines, in charge of Mr. J. H. Forfar of London, left Tilbury early Thursday morning. The machines were of all colors.

DOG STRUCK BY PASSING MOTORIST

A large collie dog which had bounded into the road on East Dundas street near the hospital, after a ball which had been batted by a child, was struck by a passing motor car early Thursday evening and is believed to have sustained a broken hind leg. The animal dragged itself off the bowling, and disappeared in the direction of the hospital lane, evading a resident of Dundas street who attempted to aid the suffering animal. The dog is believed to be a stray.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT AT INTERSECTION

A slight motor accident was reported to William Harvey of Belleville, on the corner of Dundas street and Church street, when a coupe driven by Mr. Adams also of Belleville collided with a coupe driven by Wm. E. Adams also of Belleville at the corner of Pinnacle and Campbell streets. The former was proceeding eastward along Pinnacle street, when the Adams machine had just pulled out of Campbell street, proceeding eastward. After the collision it was found that the Harvey car was damaged to the extent of a broken left front fender, bumper and front axle. The Adams car had its right rear fender damaged and other slight damages were reported. The two automobiles were the dealership, admirably between them.

FIREMEN CHANGE BULB IN CHURCH

Firemen went to church Friday morning.

A large electric light bulb, which had burned out in the high ceiling of St. Thomas' Church awaited replacement, proved a puzzle to the caretaker, or 'sexton' who had no ladder long enough to reach. A call to the fire department brought the ladder, truck and several firemen to the scene and the job of changing the bulb in record time.

HORTICULTURAL FLOWER SHOW

Thursday night's attendance at the Belleville Horticultural Society's annual flower show at the Armouries was disappointingly and unaccountably slim considering the excellence of the floral display, and the magnitude of the exhibits. It is expected that Friday evening's visitors will make up for the lack of interest shown by the public in general last night. The Municipal Band engaged to concert on the Armouries lawn Friday night in conjunction with the flower show. The concert started last night and today will keep the bloom in excellent condition, so that lilies of Belleville will be apparent in the various exhibits.

A fine competition in the verandah and window box classes is one of the outstanding features of the show this year. All other classes are well filled, with the exception of Dahlias, entries in these classes being small.

Messrs A. R. Ross and Hugh Thompson, both of Belleville left Thursday morning starting early Thursday afternoon their arduous task of judging entries. The prize list will appear tomorrow.

STRICT SUPERVISION NEEDED IN DISTRICT

An epidemic of garden robbing, spoliation of small fruit trees and flowers, chicken thieving and other forms of lawlessness said to be indulged in by people of the district of the East Hill, centred mostly between Charles and adjoining streets will be startled by publication of sinister parental jurisdiction has no immediate effect on the youthful offenders. One incident report, made by a farmer living on the outskirts of that of his pet cat, which came home sadly battered, and with a tin can dragging from one of its hind legs. In a frenzy, sought refuge under his verandah and some time was necessary before it could be caught and quieted down.

RAIN AND COOL WEATHER NOTED

A slight drop in the local temperature was noticed during the two recent rainfalls. Thursday's registered rainfall was 18 inches while the temperatures for Thursday were 79 high and 56 low. Friday, however, the mercury fell to low as 53 during the early morning hours and then rose to but 67 at noon with little indications of it rising to a much greater height.

CHAIRMAN ATTENDS EXECUTIVE MEETING

H. E. Fairfield, chairman of the Belleville Hydro Electric Commission and a member of the executive of the Ontario Hydro Association was in Toronto on Thursday, attending a meeting of that body. Considering there are only thirteen members on the executive of this municipal body, Belleville is fortunate to have a representative on this body for the city is the only close touch with the Hydro affairs of the province. Fairfield is highly respected on the executive and his advice and advice is given mature consideration.

NO LIKEE CRACK ON END OF NOSE

When the screen door of a down town shop swung open into the street Friday morning to allow a customer to leave the establishment, the full force of the blow from the door was received square in the face by a Chinaman, who had been standing with a large laundry bag over his shoulder. Outside of a nose bleed, however, the laundryman was not hurt, although he indulged in several appropriate, sing-song words for the occasion.

VISITORS TO CITY FIND WAY

Majority Use Local Paper to Get Desired Information

"How do visitors in the city know where to go to buy things, feel certain they are receiving a good value from a reliable store in exchange for the good money they're parting over? What have they to go by except shop windows that look attractive and the hope of a local hotel clerk knows the score?

"Early Wednesday evening," he continued, "they checked in; a father, mother, son and one grown daughter. They drove an American car, and signalled their intention of staying over the next day, when they took the two rooms. After they had changed and had dined for they rested to see a show. A copy of the Ontario Intelligencer that had been lying in the lobby supplied the necessary information. They read the current picture advertisement and selected the one they liked best. Obviously their shopping needs were the best thing to demand attention. The advertising pages of the paper were next scanned. They also selected the store to buy from through those ads, and the article they needed. They kept the copy of the paper for reference."

Later the man confided that he, too, owned a department store in Indiana. "Every dime owner, who is reliable enough to use consistent advertising," he declared, "is good enough for me to deal with."

FIVE SENT TO REFORMATORY

Sentences Range From One to Two Years Determinate

Five prisoners from the local county jail were taken to the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, early on Wednesday afternoon. The five men were sentenced in the local police court on various charges and received sentences ranging from two years less a month to one year. The five men were taken to the Guelph institution by Sheriff Aikens, Gaoler C. H. Pyrell and Turnkey R. E. Colling, where they were turned over to Bailiff Fish of the Department. The men were—John Bedore, Marmora, John Rikers, St. Thomas, Erwin Jackson, Gunter, Owen Conlin, Ormsby and Ernest Hamilton of Stirling.

TABLES FREE BUT NOT GAS

If Tourists Use Facilities of Camp They Must Pay

Dissatisfaction, which has been repeatedly expressed by many tourists over the fact, that they have been asked to pay the use of tables at the city tourist camp during the times they use the camp, only has reached a climax this week with bitter complaints from tourists, who were registered by one party of tourists as the local Chamber of Commerce. They declared that no signs advised them of the fact, that the tables were to be charged for and were levied the tax after they had eaten and proceeded to leave. No other camp in the province, it is reported has adopted this method of extracting revenue from tourists.

Through the efforts of Mr. J. O. Herrington, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, who drew the matter to the attention of Alderman George Sprackett, signs are now being prepared to advise visitors, that if they wish to eat meals, or get use of the cooking, and water, the charge for the table service will be made. Otherwise cents a car. If no camp facilities are used, there will be no purpose of eating lunch will be free. Misunderstanding, which existed was caused by tourists using camp facilities, which were thought to be free.

GRAND STAND SEATS CHEAPER

Fair Board Decides on This Move After Discussion

Reduction of the price of grandstand seats, excluding the box seats, from 50 cents to 25 cents was one of the Belleville Fair Board at their meeting Wednesday evening in Thursday evening.

With the Belleville Fair but ten days off, the members of the board were all present at the regular meeting. All committees reported favorable progress in all departments, Secretary H. Ketcheson assuring the meeting that he was more than pleased with the progress than he had the day previous to the fair last year. The genial secretary was of the opinion that there would be more entries at the 1932 Belleville Fair than ever had been in any previous year.

New grandstand seats sheds are at present being erected along the north side of the track, the sheds where ample stabling room will be afford the cattle and horse exhibitors. Seats in the sheds will be permanently closed to make room for those who attend the fair, the buildings are being renovated and painted in readiness for the fair.

Following the regular meeting the horse committee held a special meeting and it was decided to enter Mayor Geo. O. Tice, Belleville's veteran horse starter, as the official starter for all races at this year's Belleville Fair. Plenty of entries have been received and it is anticipated, that all races, each day, will see more than the average number of entries, while several parts of the dominion are reported to have sent in their entry.

Another added feature for the fair is to be an invitation softball tournament for county softball bands. Such wishing to enter as Rednersville, Stirling, College Hill and other championship county teams will be invited to participate for the large fine trophy which will be donated. All games will be played at 5.45 p.m. in front of the grandstand. The series will be of the elimination type with the winning team playing the next in the losing teams dropping out. More particulars will be given in regard to this added feature later.

President Robt. Mitchell occupied the chair.

There's Always Way With Shoes

When shoes wear out there is always a way to get another pair, providing you know how. And at least one prudent lady who calls highways of the country his front doorstep has found that way.

Friday morning the wanderer crossed a downtown merchant for information regarding some undertaking establishment. He pointed to two dilapidated shoes, through which the ends of his toes protruded and stated his necessity of procuring another pair of shoes as soon as possible.

"Most undertakers," he declared, "always have on hand two pair of stocks around that they are glad to give away."

The last pair the gentleman of the road had received had been in Three Rivers, Quebec, from an undertaker in that city.

He was a bearded man, and it was headed west, and it is probable that if he has any luck in Belleville, he will need another pair by the time he gets to Winnipeg.

SOLO FLIGHT

of about 1350 miles by direct line, since he had been reported over Halifax at 6.45 E.S.T.

"Mist was heavy over the bay and I just groped along. Mollison said. "I could have come to Halifax by New York as I had planned and would have made a better time, but I was fed up with the trouble of weaving through the low mist and the heavy mist must have tired me out. I just couldn't go on.

"Weather was bad the last 18 hours."

Apparently Mollison had sought to follow the circuitous coast of Nova Scotia, through Saint John, and Pennfield Ridge on the opposite shore.

Fatigue Ends Flight

Saint John, N.B., Aug. 18— (CP) —Fatigue ended an epic of the first westward solo crossing of the Atlantic when James A. Mollison, 24, Mollison, slim young Scots airman, set his thirty pure, wind-driven plane down to a safe landing at Pennfield Ridge, New Brunswick, on the shore of the Bay of Fundy early this afternoon. Mollison took off from Portmarnock, Ireland, at 11.48 a.m. G.M.T. today, and completed the journey in 18 hours, 52 minutes, 30 seconds, breaking yesterday.

The flight ended at Pennfield Ridge at 11.48 a.m. E.S.T. today.

He regarded himself as having banked the plane westward toward New York and Mollison's solo flight of Fundy and finally glided down to a grassy field at Pennfield Ridge.

"I was too tired to go on," he said. "I landed and went to bed. A phone, after he made a perfect landing in a large field laid a mile from the Pennfield Ridge station.

Mollison left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, this morning, and went over Saint John at noon hoping to get on to New York by dusk but got this far I was so tired that I just couldn't go on."

All through the night the pilot held his head from slumping clouds and heavy mist. "The weather conditions were very unfavorable during the last 18 hours", he said.

He had been at the controls of his Heavy Percival "Gull" for 20 hours and 10 minutes sitting on a hard, uncushioned seat when his flying gasoline tank across about 2,700 miles of the North Atlantic and Europe Delightful

London, Aug. 18—Captain Mollison's safe landing at Pennfield Ridge, N.B., caused delight in London and New York which regard his fast westward crossing as a further record added to British achievements.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 19 (CP) —A glittering silver grey Puss Moth monoplane bore Capt. Jim Mollison over Nova Scotia today.

Flying westward from Port Marnock, Ireland, more than ever half-way mark of his shuttle flight between North Africa and the Nova Australian flyer circled low over the airport here shortly after 5 a.m. E.S.T. this morning.

Airmen there read on the fuselage of the monoplane before the low-lifting registry letter AKRY.

A half hour after circling the environs of the city, the plane was sighted from the air by the drone of a passing motor was Antigonish, 35 miles to the west of Halifax.

A plane went aloft from the airport here in an effort to sight the flyer after he had headed west, but caught no sign of him.

Telephone company officials reporting to the Canadian Press here were unable to trace the plane beyond Hudsonville, Nova Blanketed in mist at Shelburne, farther west and in the line of flight, and it would have been impossible for residents to sight it.

Made Good Time

Mollison had evidently made better time across the Atlantic than he had expected in his "flying machine can." He had hoped to put in little plane down at Harbor Grace at 4.35 a.m. this morning, 23 hours and 47 minutes after he had said good-bye to Amy Johnson, his bride of three weeks, and climbed aboard.

He did not stop at Harbor Grace, and his appearance over Halifax was timed less than an hour after the time for which his Harbor Grace stop had been scheduled.

It was the first westward solo crossing of the Atlantic by aeroplane. Col. Charles Augustus Lindbergh and Bert Hinkler were Australian distance flyer, and Amelia Earhart are the only others who have crossed the Atlantic by air alone. Lindbergh flew alone from New York to Paris in 1927 and Kinkler crossed the South Atlantic from Canada to Port Natal, Mozambique last year. Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam crossed from Harbor Grace to Ireland this spring.

Mollison's tiny, gull-winged monoplane is powered with a 120 horsepower Gypsy III inverted type engine and is the type of plane H.R.H. the Princes of Wales uses on private flights.

By spawing away the insulation of an electric cooking stove a parent in Gosport, England, recently cruised a fire in a business block.

Catches Bass but on Other Man's Lost Hook and Line

Float Taken For / Snake Leads to Revelation of Old Fishing Trip

Porter Wright of Tuscora, setting out early with varied lures in the still Moira above the Fairfield Bridge road Wednesday evening, and dragged up noth. ing but weeds.

He anchored the boat in the middle of the stream, reached for the tackle-box, and pulled out his head hour, hauling in: three mud-cats, one bullhead, six sucker pats of a bicycle wheel, and an eel. He never did like eels, so he cut the line.

Next he pulled another, rowed over to a nearby weed bed, stood up in the bow, and after some beautiful fly casting he caught: two turtles, a perch, and sprotlike clay which broke his line. He said it had "a face like a dog".

If he had had a spear or a net with him he would probably have tried those last two methods of fishing, but as it was he took more worms and did a little still fishing again. One more mud-cat was hauled in and then he observed a small, brownish object, spotted with red, bobbing in erratic fashion over and under the surface of the water. He reeled in, unjointed the pole, put the line out and commenced to go home. "Snakes," he murmured, "or water moccasins."

The object drew abreast of the boat. He put out an oar and tooch. it. The oar came up with part of a fish line attached and a waterlogged float on the end of it which he had mistaken for the head of a snake. Something wiggled on the other end. He pulled in more line up came a half pound black bass with several feet of line, the float, and a rusty fish hook in its mouth. The bass had the hook hooked in it; the flesh had grown around it.

Mr. Wright, primarily a bass fisherman, had caught his bass

13,336 Drivers of Motor Vehicles in Auto Accidents in 1931

There are many persons who attribute the great majority of accidents on the streets and highways to carelessness of drivers, to reckless drivers, or to inexperience. These people receive a shock if they were to ignore over the official summary of last year's accidents as compiled by Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways.

No one believes there are thirteen thousand reckless drivers in Ontario yet as many as this were concerned in death or injury to 9,065 persons in 1931. More than three-fourths of the drivers involved were experienced, that is they had been driving motor vehicles for a year or more.

A close analysis of accident information for 1931 discloses many violations by drivers, but, the outstanding feature of the whole frightful business is downright carelessness.

If the streets and highways of Ontario are to be made safe for the use of the children, the men and women drivers of every type of motor vehicle will have to train themselves to the exercise of care, courtesy and common sense every moment they are behind the wheel.

DAVID TERRY BREAKS ARM

Playing Softball at Beach When Accident Happened

TRENTON, Aug. 18.—(Special) Mr. David E. Terry, the superintendent of the Canada Crossing Plant here, fell and broke his right arm in two places between the wrist and elbow, while playing softball at his cottage at Barcovan Beach. He has been on his vacation and has been camping at the beach for the past month, when the accident happened. The last reports are that he is progressing as well as possible under the conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Mowat have been in town the past week renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Mowat was formerly the Ritarian here and made a host of friends during that time. He then moved to Belleville where he was in charge of the Bellevile Hotel and thence to Windsor. He has now accepted the position as manager of the hotel at Saskatoon Public Library in Sask., and will leave shortly for there, making the trip by motor.

MISS E. HODGE TO ENTER SWIM

Trenton Girl Has Trained Deligently For Long Grind

TRENTON, Aug. 18.—(Special)—The coming marathon swim at the Canadian National Exhibition for men and women yearly attracts attention of all lovers of sport and swimmers from every country. Trenton has a representative in the ladies' event this year, in the person of Miss Ethel Hodge. Miss Hodge resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hodge, being the bridge tender of the high level bridge on the Murray Canal. She was born in Rochester, N.Y., and moved to Trenton, where she is a pupil in the Trenton High School. Living so close to the water she was taught to swim by her father, when she was eight years old. From that time she has been winning races, wherever and whenever she entered. Last year Miss Hodge decided to enter the swim after having but two weeks' training and while she was not in for any of the prize money she won several miles of the course and finding, that all the prize money was in the salary which she was made plans for this year. In last year's swim she used the Canada Steamship Line pier and use the American crawl, after seeing the new style of swim, she can vouch for the fact, that she is down to the point, where it is the effortless style. She has been training hard this year starting out at the foot of the pier and has been in the water every day since. Last week she went down to the Murray canal, which is six and one half miles in length, by two hours and twenty minutes. She has spread her training now to the Cedar Point Sandbanks, where she is becoming accustomed to the colder water of the Lake. The natural idea one forms when a woman marathan swimmer is spoken of, is to think of one of those Amazons but on being introduced to Miss Hodge one finds a petite girl eighteen years old five foot three inches in height with brown hair and blue eyes and a charming smile. On being asked whether she expected to win this year, she said that she had every hope of winning, but as to the distance quite easily. As to what she would do with the money should she win, Miss edge refused to say. Last year she did not make plans but now this year she refuses to think about it at all. If she should fail this year she will try again next year and hopes to be under the management of Johnny Walker. Miss Hodge leaves for Toronto on Wednesday next, where she will undergo a physical examination the day before entering the swim. If she should win this year she will be under the management of Johnny Walker. Miss Hodge leaves for Toronto on Wednesday next, where she will undergo a physical examination the day before entering the swim. If she should win this year she will be under the management of Johnny Walker.

CONTINENTALS NOW CHAMPS

Defeat C. P. R. in Third Straight Game For Title

TRENTON, Aug. 18.— (Special) —The Continentals won the third straight game over the C.P.R. here on Tuesday night 10 to 8. This gives them the league championship by three straight games. The C.P.R. version in the box for the Continentals was Jack Riddell, doing his wild in the early stages of the game but settled down, from any damage was done. Ziz is the big factor for Don Crowe's men this year and how for the last in the playoffs will spread a great deal on the championship. Right up to the they neez Kingston here on Tuesday for their final game. Ell produced a slow ball in the game here when mixed up with the speedy ones, he can burn over makes the boys break their backs trying to hit it. Jack Kidd, the hard hitting backstop of the Insurance men failed to get a hit in the game, whereas in the previous games he had a total of four homers for the two games. The Continentals have developed into a hard hitting team by playing good ball right along and should go through for their second Ontario Softball Championship this year. Bowler was in the box for the C.P.R. and pitched a fine game all effective against the Continentals. Somebody in left field who up until the finals played real ball both in the field and at the bat has been away off his game while Begin at short has not improved any in the last few games. The C.P.R. have put up a good fight in the league this year, starting out slowly but coming on steadily beating Wooler, one of the best clubs in the league by a large margin then to go on and beat the Shannocks out for the championship. The Shannock league leaders was something that none of them had expected. The Continentals have the advantage over the C.P.R. in batting. The regular pitchers that they can throw into any game, whereas they have only one. So far this year they have done well that the insurance men due to the fact, that Bowler has not been right for the C.P.R. who would not be able to pitch every game, have been able to playing out of town. The Continentals have a much better record than they would have had.

Line-ups—Continentals — Chambers 3rd Larry ss; Jordan 1st Rutter, c; Riddell, p; Hendrick, rf; Johnson lf; Langdon lf; Kidd c; Culverson p.

Church Picnic Marked Success

A large number of local citizens took advantage of the day's outing and attended the annual picnic of St. John's M.C. church held on their spacious grounds at Flinton on Wednesday afternoon.

A large programme of sports had been arranged and was run off in capable manner by the official staff. A softball game presented was also the order of the day when the Flinton Northbrook Tweed and Eldorado members of the E. C. of E. parties played.

In the first game Tweed defeated Flinton after an exciting game by a score of 3 to 1. In the second game Northbrook captured honors in a close tie in winning from the local team by a score of 10 to 9, the score of 17 to 2. In the final game Northbrook rose to heights to beat the Tweed "aggregation by the score of 7 to 5.

During the afternoon the Hon. Nelson Parliament and other well known speakers addressed and received addresses. Following the evening repast dancing was the order of the night and continued until well past the midnight hour.

KIWANIS PICNIC SPOILED BY STORM

Due to a heavy rain storm, which broke over the proceedings at Twelve Colocks Point on Wednesday afternoon, those present at the Kiwanis Picnic were forced to seek shelter and the party broke up earlier than expected. Many counter attractions kept the gathering down to small proportions but those present had a real delightful day and pleasant surroundings. The Belleville Citizens band turned out and the picnickers and collagers at the Point were given a real treat. When the storm broke, the gathering rushed to the pavilion and there the band gave a few selections. A basket picnic was enjoyed under difficulties but a good time was had by all. A programme of sports was carried out and some of the Kiwanian Queens certainly excelled themselves in the races for their benefit. A softball tournament was scheduled but the rain spoiled the fun expected. The event will give a concert in front of the Armouries on Friday night in connection with the annual flower parade and will also parade with the veterans, when they

GIRL REPORTED FOUND AFTER 10 MILE WALK

Sundridge, Ont., Aug. 18—Eva Bell, 12, of Arnstein, near Trout Creek, missing since Monday last when she strayed from a blueberry picking party at Braden Rocks, near here, reported at Maple Island Sanatorium, lodge, home in worse for her experience. She followed a railway track after leaving about ten miles reached Maple Island.

Dozens of searchers had put up a constant search and for some time an aeroplane was pressed into use.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma was pushing crooked things straight and straightening crooked saying, Gladdis was around this afternoon to do some sewing with me, and naturally we got down little Willie. That child is certainly developing a decided little spunk lately. I gave him a little lesson this afternoon in taking pride in doing things well rather than just nearly doing them in this vulgar hope of a reward, she said.

Dont spare me the details, pop said, ma said, then I told her to see me sewing he always pain-takingly picks out the little snips of material and bits of thred from the floor and then I give him a penny, but today I decided to impress him with the sensation that a thing done well is its own reward, in other words I wanted to instill him with a little sense of pride.

How did it werk? pop said, and ma said, it succeeded beautifully. I was. He carefully gathered up all the little shreds and snips and handed them to me, and I pretended to be rewarded with satisfaction and I said to him Why Willie I'm proud of you, the reward of you shall be best you ever had. I'll give you a penny. And I just glowed at him impressively. But instead of running out to give him a penny, and reely he seemed quite impressed. He thawt it over a while and then he said, is it better than the last time, grandmother sent a dollar, I did better, and he said, It is better than the time before last, and he said, O, much, much better and then he said, Then I want 3 pennies instead of one, ma said.

Now you can't be selected impressively? pop said, and ma said, they certainly is a difference in the way taking pride in werk he also has a magnificent sense of his own werth which is a most necessary thing in life. Why I myself had an article in the paper about it only the other day, I was so much impressed with it I even mentioned it 2, ma said.

Pop looked sort of my paper pop said. And he got behind the sporting page and disappeared.

REV. H. I. HORSEY DIES

Ottawa, Aug. 18—Major the Rev. H. I. Horsey, 85, Minister of Zion United Church and one of the oldest citizens of Ottawa in point of service in the Capital, died this morning. He had been ill only a few days.

Cobourg—Farewell words of a father to his family, penned in a dying hand, formed part of the evidence taken on Wednesday night at the inquest into the death of the late Dr. H. W. Arnold, Cobourg veterinary, who was found dead on the floor of his office on Tuesday. The coroner's jury found death due to a self-administered dose of prussic acid.

Cobourg—At a special meeting of the Town Council on Wednesday of last week the amount of relief decided to invest $6,500 in a fire pumper. As a matter of fact, according to Chairman of Finance, W. J. Maher, the sum will amount to $800 a year for 10 years, in debenture issue of $9,000. The fire grave pumper will be selected following the reading of a report drawn up by a committee of five prominent men who had gone into the matter with specifications and relevant to the various types rendered.

Oshawa—John 37 Noble, a war veteran, living on Farleigh Ave. has been reported missing from local police. The man left Tuesday afternoon in car with Fr. Donalh, having been in poor health, and has not been seen since. Mr. Noble is described as 5 feet 8 inches tall, of dark complexion and wearing a dark suit and light hat. He was also wearing Oddfellows and Legion order badges when he left home.

Oshawa—Charged with throwing fire into the face of a man, "with intent to maim and disfigure," Mrs. Mark Szumeluk was remanded in custody for eight days when she appeared before Magistrate Creighton in police court. While not asked to plead, the accused elected to be tried by the magistrate. The magistrate pointed out to the woman that the charge was very serious, with a possible penalty of life imprisonment. The man is still in the hospital.

RESEARCH REVEALS ALL-BRAN RICH IN HEALTH-ELEMENTS

Helps Correct Constipation with "Bulk" and Vitamin B; Also Has Iron

Recent scientific research shows that Kellogg's All-Bran contains two things needed to overcome temporary and recurring constipation. It has "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements provide regular relief, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently cleans the intestines of waste. Special cooking softens the All-Bran fiber, softer, more palatable.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's All-Bran daily in any of the delicious ways ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Equally tasty as a cereal with milk or cream, or in delicious All-Bran Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

IN THE STRATOSPHERE

Prof. Piccard is one of the high fliers of the world—he goes aloft not to say he has been there but to gather data for the benefit of science.

Many men cannot see the attraction in such achievement. Fortunately some men can, because they have been trained to the ideal of service in science. Intense cold is nothing but an incentive to higher climbs.

Where Piccard was yesterday in the air is where no living thing has ever before been. He reached a height of 16,500 metres, more than ten miles. Those who strove to reach the peak of Mount Everest and just missed it were above the 28,000 foot level, well over five miles above the sea level. Life practically cannot exist at the peak, about 29,000 feet high.

To the layman it seems strange that the warm earth which we know is merely warm because of the sun's light beating upon us. Without it we should die, or more truthfully, we should say we should never have been able to live. Ten miles above the earth is utterly cold and above that and beyond no one knows what the atmosphere is like, except that it is believed to be rarer and rarer.

Today is a day in which we cease to marvel because of the plethora of wonders which surround us. One writer stated the other day that people make a great to-do over the sun's eclipse as a miracle, while a much greater wonder is the sun shining every day and ever beating without ceasing upon the earth and the worlds of the solar system. Such is a true wonder. Prof. Piccard's experiments should further the sense of reverence for the wonders of the physical world. Familiarity unfortunately breeds contempt and this world is so replete with wonder that there is danger of forgetfulness and failure to recognize.

Yesterday Prof. Piccard, the humble scientist, brainiest and most daring, was far off the earth and had a long look at the place where nearly two billion men, women and children, make up that civilization known as earth.

A poet once said:

"Take wings of fancy and ascend
And in a moment set thy face
Where all the starry realms of space
Are sharpened to a needle's end."

Prof. Piccard has not reached this poetic eyrie with his balloon, yet he was higher than any other man who has lived except his attendant Max Cosyn.

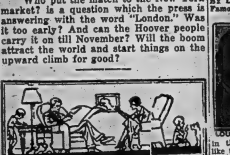
THE DOG QUESTION

There has been an avalanche of attacks upon dogs in the outside press, the police dog complaint is for the lion's share of the condemnation.

An exchange says that "dog days apparently affect human beings more than they are popularly supposed to do the dogs themselves. About this time with remarkable regularity, agitations against the canine world arise, with demands for stricter regulations and in some cases even the actual extermination of certain breeds."

Dog days are not applicable to dogs at all, but to Sirius, the dog-star, which rises and sets with the sun during this season. So dog-days ought to be called Dog-Star days and people ought to leave dogs out of their summer worries. The dogs will take care of themselves. But people, that is some of them, won't act that way and the dogs are the sufferers. Are the people who approach dogs so fluttered and flurried that they invite dog attacks in this period of Sirius days? Some people have even been known to tease dogs, and sometimes there is a sudden snap, but how often? Why not teach the children to be kind to man's friend!

Instead of getting poor Fido's nerves on edge with summer antics, why not early in life train one's dog in control, of course having first controlled oneself. Most dogs will behave, yet the race does have a deal to put-up with and yet-remain faithful to-man.



There is a very small percentage of dogs which can be called bad, being either vicious by nature or having become vicious after wrong training. Against these there must be protection. But surely dogs are not going to be made to suffer en masse for a paltry few "black sheep" among them and for those humans who somehow have an inborn detestation of the dog family. There are "bad" dogs, but not all are in this class.

WHOSE BOOM IS IT?

The spurt in the stock markets and in bond trading has lent attention to the possibility of expansion of business. Some have been guessing at the cause, one calling it a Hoover boom to assure a good feeling among the people who are to vote in November, others declaring it a Roosevelt counter-attack or thunder-stealing on his part with the intention of leading the Hooverites up to the near-days of election and there leaving them with a bull market to hang on to. Others say that it is the result of a new feeling that the old slump idea is wearing out and people are so tired of it they are beginning to cut loose, and that the feeling that the time is near when the shelves will have to be replenished with stocks and commodity prices will begin to rise as they are now going.

A Belleville manufacturer adds his view to the guessing contest. He says, "I see a slight trace of a turn to the better, but it is not going to run through stock market manipulation. It will come through improvement in the basic conditions of agriculture. That is where I see it," he said.

Who put the match to the New York market? is a question which the press is answering with the word "London." Was it too early? And can the Hoover people carry it on till November? Will the boom attract the world and start things on the upward climb for good?

LIKE FLOWERS
By Aline Michaelis

Women are like flowers;
Jessamine and rose
Through June's sunny hours
All their charms disclose.

Mignonette and lily,
Larkspur and the spray,
Under breezes chilly
Shrink and fade away.

But when Summer gaily
Dances down the lanes,
They wax fairer daily
To her blithe refrains.

Love is sunshine, falling
Where morn's mists depart:
Love is summer, calling
To a woman's heart.

Women are like flowers;
Until life is done
Living for those hours
When they see love's sun.

CATTLE GUARDS. you know the kind, narrow white boards, ends sticking up at an angle, which make it difficult and painful for even a barefoot boy to negotiate, designed to turn back any wandering cow venturing on the right-of-way of the railway. They have passed into the discard by an order of the Board of Railway Commissioners relieving railway companies of the necessity of providing the guards. It has been discovered that universal fencing and ceasing of the habit of allowing cattle to run at large has made the cattle guard unnecessary under which there are no stray cattle seeking to walk the ties and try conclusions with any iron monsters they may meet. Now that the cattle guards have been abolished what about the culverts which always flanked the cattle guards and were to be found at other parts of the railway crossings, over which the gang on the way to the 'Ole Swimmin' 'Ole used to walk on the hot rails? Has anyone noticed to see who could walk the farthest on a rail without touching ground with either foot? I'll say you do—and if those were the happy days, we're still waiting for happier.

Senator Reed was condemning the extravagance of certain politicians.

"Their attitude towards the taxpayer," he said, "is so dubious it reminds me of a story:

"A young man at the seashore halted on a moonlit stretch of sand and growled:

"'Look here, Billington, what do you mean by kissing May like that? Don't you know I'm engaged to her?'

"Billington answered: 'Well, what if you are? So am I.'"

BE ALERT AS YOUR CHILD GROWS DAILY

Nervous Ailments of Adults Traced to Days of Cradle

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
Famous Authority on Child and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

In chair operation as we would like them to be. Even where child enjoys the best of care and attention and some of the luxuries, odds may develop, which, unchecked, may grow rough and even more dangerous-in-growth. And in their mental progress, no school is perfect, not any gang of teachers, and so it is up to the parents, in the last analysis—especially up to the mother—to see to it that as few wrong ideas are implanted in the child's mind as possible.

One cannot emphasize too strongly the understandable fact that the adult is but the uninterrupted growth of the child.

Specialists in nervous disorders are continually finding the roots of nervous ailments in the seeds planted when their patients were scarcely out of the cradle. Fears and undue repressions are the cause of many functional nervous disorders. How much to let our children go and how much to restrain them is a matter of the highest importance and difficulty.

Parents often think that their children are not developing as they should, or think that perhaps they will outgrow the defect and so they wait—only to find sometimes until medical aid is out of the question.

For instance, the early childhood the advent of walking and talking should be definitely watched, though wide variations exist, especially in talking. A child there can do neither by two years should be seen by a physician who specializes in such cases.

I have known mothers who remained unalarmed even when the child was two years old and could scarcely articulate. Better be on the safe side, and if there are no signs of walking and talking, see a doctor. It pays in the end.

Also watch for speech defects, such as stammering and lisping. These habits soon become fixed and are a tremendous handicap to happiness and success later in life.

Keep an eye on the tonsils and the presence of adenoids as well. Adenoids may regrow after removal. Often, too, complete removal of the tonsils leaves enough tonsil tissue that may become infected and impair health. Both can make children dull and apathetic and disfigure their features. Infected tonsils can also keep them ill for years.

Watch the teeth. If the biting surfaces do not touch and fit, especially upon the other, the child may be developing from malocclusion which leads to digestive disturbances, nervousness and ill-health. And be sure that all decayed ones are filled or extracted.

Peculiar mannerisms that persist such as sudden hand clapping, vicious and persistent rocking may be early signs of defective mental development. Without fear, the parent must face without wincing for much can be done nowadays if a diagnosis is made early.

Does the child know how to play by himself or has he to rely on others? Is he the subject of continual ridicule? Does he only play along with children younger than himself? Does he lack affection? Does punishment have little or no effect upon him? All such points should be considered in order to discover whether a child is average. Then, during school years, seeing that he is not in classes or failing of promotion even in the lowest class are significant.

Does the child play truant frequently? Does he associate with gangs? Has he ever been arrested or stolen anything? Has he remained away from home all night?

These are the eyes other children are backward and ill because they can't see properly or are of poor mentality may make all the difference in the world.

Yes it is our duty to watch and be careful. The little ones have no one else to protect them but their parents.

Other Papers' Opinions

BENEFICIAL WORK

It is good for a man to start early in life to work hard. A young man can go about his work sordidly or stupidly or half heartedly or he can throw the best of it almost altogether. The work that really develops character and real happiness and enjoyment is honest, intelligent, and somewhat disinterested work. Shirking or stupidity or half-heartedness will rob it of its blessing almost completely.—New Outlook, London.

THE WHOLE TRUTH—

It's a well known fact that the first liar hasn't got a chance. The second fellow always stretches the truth a little bit further.

But James Lang, of Belleville, vouches for his story and what he considers—the most peculiar catch ever made by a fisherman. He was basking on the beach of Stella with a plug. High overhead a huge osprey circled the water for the plug. After two swoops at the plug in the water, it made a final lunge, struck the lure on the end of the line and started lumbering off with frantic struggles the bird managed to escape. The young fisherman was the proud owner for having hooked the strangest catch in the vicinity in the story from Belleville.

The other incident, for the veracity of which we can vouch personally, took place on Pigeon Lake not long ago. Two fishermen were out trolling for lake trout.

To get on with the story, how-ever, the fishermen were calling it a day, and the writer and a companion sat in a nearby boat watching their curiosity. Suddenly the fisherman had a strike.

"He got a fish," he informed the world at the top of his voice. Excitedly he reeled it in toward the boat. Suddenly about six feet from his boat the fish broke water and took to the air. It flew, perhaps, a dozen feet away before the line was sufficiently recovered from his surprise to start reeling it in again. Within a few minutes he landed the "fish" a full grown loon, minus the hooks from its mouth and let it go.

HAIRY VARIATIONS

Mountain goats are displayed in a store window in Owen Sound have aroused a good deal of curiosity. Owing to the age of haircloth furniture, self-feeding stoves, wax flowers, whalebone and anti-macassars, and especially to the age of the whiskers. One man who did not use a "moustache cup was in the habit of feeding a huge moustache with his knife while taking soup.

Women are sometimes accused of frequent and violent changes in the wearing of hair, but they may answer that men are not free from the same weakness. A generation or more ago there was a bewildering variety of various moustaches, mutton-chop whiskers, "side-burns", chin whiskers and full beards. In a series of pictures of a man at different ages, the man of thirty with a luxuriant beard sometimes looks like the father of the man of fifty with a shaven chin. The present fashion of bare faces is varied by an occasion Charlie Chaplin moustache, and shaven head, abandoned by the old and middle-aged, is worn by young fellows, whose toasting mates form a sharp contrast with the closely shaven head and neck below. There are still men who part their hair in the middle, and in the Confederation days there were some who combed their hair parting down the back of the head. It seems difficult to distinguish one set of men and women, boys and girls.—London Advertiser.

MARBLE SWELLS AS FIRST CUTS ARE MADE

Pittsford, Vt., Aug. 19.—Marble that swells when the first cuts or drill holes are made in it has been causing trouble in several quarries here and at South Wellingford, Vt. The process of quarrying from the rock is sufficient to bind drills so that they no longer turn, and suddenly developing flaws have been known with sufficient violence to throw machines weighing a ton off their bearings.

The phenomenon has been studied by George W. Bain, of Amherst, Mass. In a report to the Journal of Geology he states his opinion that the marble was relieved under pressure many thousands of years ago during a period of mountain formation, and that the recent cuttings by the quarrymen have given it the first chance to expand that it has had for ages.

NO INTENTION OF MARCHING ON BERLIN

Hitler Thinks it a Question of Who Will March Out

HAS CONTROL

Berechtsgaden, Bavaria, Germany, Aug. 19.—Adolf Hitler, leader of Germany's 13,700,000 Nazis today declared he had no intention of marching on Berlin.

"Why should I," he said. "When I am there already? The question isn't whether I'll march on Berlin, but rather who will have to march out of Berlin."

High up in the Bavarian mountains 107 miles from Munich, Hitler, is calmly awaiting further political developments, in the certainty that no matter what cabinet is established after the Reichstag meets on Aug. 30, his Nazis will have a large voice in representation in the government.

"According to the rules of democracy," he said, "our party is group of parties commanding 51 percent of the electorate can claim the right of having the entire government turned over to them.

"Our movement at the last elections won 37 per cent. this means that of the 51 per cent. necessary for taking over the government, we can furnish about 75.

FREAK ROSE GROWTH SEEN

Trenton, Aug. 19 (Special) — Mr. Harold White, of Bay Street, while in his rose garden Thursday night discovered that one of his cultivated roses had gained the ranks of the freaks in roses. The rose instead of growing at the end of a stem was found with a stem growing through the middle of the flower, the petals all perfectly formed attached to the stem which continued on about four inches longer, and developed red in leaves and buds were formed. Mr. J. Lemore, also of Bay Street, who has been growing roses for the past sixty years and is speaking of an authority on the matter said they he had never seen once growing like that before.

Slight Accident

Mr. James Warren, son of Mr. Warren, manager of the Bank of Toronto, while backing his car out of the garage struck the side of Mr. J. C. Holmes' car, damaging the fenders and running board of the Holmes' car, while the rear fenders of Warren's car were also badly bent. The garage is located on Dundas Street, near the bridge and on backing Warren saw Mr. Holmes' car approaching, then allowed time enough for it to pass and backed out, striking it as it had stopped directly in front of the garage. The accident was unavoidable due to the fact that a small boy running across the street in front of the Holmes car had dropped his parcels and stooped to pick it up forcing Mr. Holmes to jam on his brakes to avoid striking the boy.

SERIES NOW FAVOR MAIDS

Meagher Coached Clan Win Close Game 15-14

By virtue of their win over the Belleville Fruit girls here on the Lawn Thursday evening the National Maids are now sitting in the driver's seat with the play-off series of the local girls' softball league having seen two games and lost one. Thursday night, the Maids won a hair split decision over the Fruit lassies by the score of 15 to 14.

After trailing badly for seven innings, the Fruit girls came to life and pushed 11 counters across the plate in the last two frames. The game was filled with thrills throughout and errors were as frequent as hair on the dog, the Maids having 10 misplays chalked up against them while the Fruit lassies made seven slips in the field.

Manager Meagher elected his veteran hurler, Molly Gray, to hammer the pellet and she, for seven innings, she held the hard hitting Fruit girls at bay. In the final two frames, the losers banded together and coupled with the errors committed by the Maids sig-nal a belated rally, which netted them the game. Norma Cooke, who defeated the Maids in the opening game of the series, took the hilltop duty for the Fruit lassies and was hit hard and often in the early stages of the battle only to settle down and pitch excellent ball for the last half of the fracas.

Errors Costly.

The Fruit team's errors were costly and the girls failed to hold the ball around the field for the first five innings. Mary Cooke threw with three shingles was the big swat-smith for the Maids. Leith Brown connected for a homer and a double while Marie Hawkins got two singles. Pat Brown, Doris Bland and Ann Caina were the best defensively, while their 3-6 offense put Ginger Ball on a homer and a single. Helen Smith also hit for the circuit. Mc Grory collected three singles and her sister Lou, hit a double and a single. The win now stands two game won for the Maids and one for the Fruit girls.

The same two teams battle tonight.

BOUNDING BASQUE COMES THROUGH.

France has won the prized Davis Cup for the sixth consecutive time defeating the United States by a final score of three matches to two in the challenge round, and the country rang with acclaim for Jean Borotra, the 34-year-old Bounding Basque, who made the victory possible. Borotra, drafted for defence of the cup after he had pleaded advancing years and asked to be retired from Davis Cup competition, sealed the Tricolor's triumph by defeating Wilmer Allison, 1—6, 6—4, 6—2, 7—5 in the first of today's final single's matches.

Twelve thousand spectators saw the veteran apparently beaten in the final set, rally magnificently to win over Ted Tredah. The cup hung by a thread when Allison led 5—3 in games in the deciding set and was 40-love on his own service. Six times the American had match point, but six times Borotra, with flaming spirit, brought off shots that saved the match and in the end saved the trophy for France.

Knocks and Boosts

At last the finalists in the Bay of Quinte League have come and their heads together and are working in unison. Picton and the Belleville Victorias were scheduled to play home and home games on Wednesday and Thursday and the possible third game on Friday of this week. They were rained out at Picton on Wednesday and the two team managers got their heads together and agreed to play a sudden death game in Napanee Friday afternoon. The winner of this game will advance into the intermediate group play-down against the winners of the Trent Valley League. Had the teams worried with this same harmony all season they might have had their schedule all finished by now and the winning team would have had a little much needed rest before backing the O.B.A.A. semi-finals on Saturday.

Down east the Gibsard Athletics winners of the Lennox County County League, meet Gloucester, winners of the Kingston and District intermediate loop. The first game of the play-offs between these two teams is scheduled for Saturday afternoon in Gananoque with the return tilt being played on Napanee Monday afternoon, we understand. The Gibsard Athletics of Napanee were intermediate, class B finalists last year. Both clubs were eliminated by the fast Rodney intermediates. This year two pitchers the calibre of Doug Fraser and Freddie Bentley of the Athletics should go places again this season. Of course they lost a good man when their second baseman, Kinkley, broke his arm in the National Baseball game but Athletics are one of the hardest hitting intermediate teams we have ever had the privilege of seeing in action.

All day yesterday, over phone was ringing in regards to the supposed-to-be-played senior game of Thursday evening. This postponed game will be played on Wednesday next, that is providing the Belleville Nationals win over their afternoon or Monday's game at home. The Nationals are far from being a team safe although they are looking the tough break that they received in the hands of the walker man on Wednesday they were supposed to down in the south. We can't say that we blame them (Maids) for what was over in for a trimming the Ponies were the spot. Wednesday when Jupiter Pluvius stepped in and saved the Ponies' bacon. We suggest that the Nationals play their remaining home games at not later than 3 p. m. As a matter of fact this would be a much better hour as it would give the athletes a chance to get out of town following a ball game.

The return to hitting form of Art Scarlett gladdened our hearts on Wednesday. The boy from Trenton started off the season by cuffing the home hide at a .350 clip. Later he fell sadly by the wayside in his batting prowess. On Wednesday he had a nice single and a much nicer triple to his credit. If Scarlett can continue hitting the "old apple" in the present series, well the Nationals will be a much greater threat than here-to-fore. If the Nats would keep their bats on their shoulders when Jamieson is pitching as they do when other hurlers are opposing them they would soon learn that he has no better control than he other local pitchers. But if they keep passing away at that first pitched ball all the time it gives the opposing pitcher much less work to do on the second and naturally he can get through a game by throwing less than the batters that have a stronger hurler would.

Plenty of fun was to be seen down at the west races when that big squall came up, just previous to the opening of the races on Wednesday afternoon. No less than four of the entries tipped over, we hear. For the second time Ken Kellaway pilloted the "Yeoha" to victory. This great looking bay Standard bred pacer Kellaway has been its official skipper in all races to date. To demonstrate just how fast these Standard bred races are pulling locally, we might inform the sport fans that 14 purse were entered in the races on Wednesday afternoon. The sport has taken a firm grip after a lapse of some two decades.

Another league championship was won and last last evening, we see. The newly formed Continental Life Club under the management of Harold Crowe, walked off with the honors in the Belleville Senior Men's Softball loop when they took three straight games in the league play-off series. The series was somewhat of a surprise to the defeated Paint Anne club had gone through their entire playing season only to be forced to drop the entire play-off series to the second place Continental Life team. Johnnie Bawden, pitching star for the winners, was in rare form for all three games. Last night, when they won, the Continentals had their final game 14 to 7. Bawden literally had the Point Anne batters in the hollow of his hand could only garner five small hits off his delivery. Curtis Hollingshead are in order for the newly-crowned champions.

Over at the Armories Lawn the National Maids pulled up ahead of the Belleville Fruit in the girls' Playing Field League last night when nearly three last night's game they were up by a 12 run lead in the seventh innings finishing with but a single run margin. These two teams seem to be quite evenly matched and most anything may happen before the series is won and lost.

This Young Artist Knows Horses So Well She Does Not Need Models

New York Aug. 18 — (By The United Press)—Jane Harrah has ridden horses ever since she was old enough to walk and since she was old enough to hold a pencil she has drawn them.

Now, at 20, she has the unique distinction of being an artist who uses no models. She "just remembers" how the horses looked on her father's ranch in the state of Washington. Miss Harrah has an exhibition of sculpture paintings and drawings in the New York gallery.

Art tutors protested when she modelled from memory a horse she used to own which never started out without rearing furiously and snorting. The blind feet were in an impossible position, they complained.

Finally they called in an Indian Lone Wolf, and asked him how the feet should be.

"Like that," he replied.

The bronze brought $1,000 from a purchaser.

Miss Harrah executes rapidly and says her first impressions are best. Her fingers are drawing all the time, sometimes on menu cards, occasionally on a table cloth.

Cubs and Braves Cinch Marathon Championship Of the National League

Battle 43 Innings in Three League Contests

CARDS DROP TWO

Boston Went 15 Frames to Down St. Louis 7-6

(By Herbert W. Baker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

No matter who may win the National League pennant, the Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves seem to have clinched the marathon championship with a shadow of a doubt.

They've just completed a three-game series and the Cubs have had to travel 43 innings—quite nearly almost five ordinary contests—to win three one-run decisions.

Charley Grimm's outfit scored four runs in the ninth to win the first game 4 to 3, on Tuesday and Cy Pieh's Braves had to battle through 19 innings before the Cubs won 3-2.

Warming up right where they had left off, they fought through another extra inning session Wednesday until Riggs Stephenson broke up the ball game in the 15th with a single, that gave the Cubs a 4-3 triumph and put their league lead to 2 1-2 games over the idle Pittsburgh Pirates.

Nicky Hurst was lucky enough for the Cubs to solve, pitched the first 14 innings before going out for a pinch batsman. The Cubs soon popped an Ossie Bleeker for the winning run. Elwood English started with a single and Cy Cuyler's attempted sacrifice Al Spohrer tossed the ball wild and English reached third and Cuyler second. Stephenson's game winning hit followed. Guy Bush pitched the last frame for the Cubs and received credit for his second victory in as many days. He pitched the last frame on Wednesday's 19 inning game.

Cards Drop Double.

The Phillies turned back the St. Louis Cardinals in both ends of a double header 10 to 8 and 8 to 7. The Phils uncorked one five run rally of their own in the third frame of the opener and another off Paul Derringer in the sixth. They won the second game in another five run rally off Sloat and Carlson in the fifth inning. The New York Giants made it four in a row from Cincinnati 7 to 3. Watte Hoyt held the Reds in subjection until the eighth when he lost control and had to be relieved by Adolf Luque.

American League.

The only American league game of the day was a spectacular pitching tie between the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Browns which the former won 7 to 6 in 15 innings.

WALSHE RINK WINS TROPHY

Tweed Tournament is Success—Had to Playoff

At the annual tournament of the Tweed Bowling Club on Wednesday last, a rink from the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club, skipped by W. H. Walshe, the other members being A. Symons, Wm. Ewing and Elmer Dixon, won the Tweed tournament trophy, and the cup will remain in Belleville for the coming twelve months, at least. Seventeen coals went as prizes to the winning four. The Belleville and a Brighton rink were tied at the end of the games and the Walshe rink won in a four end play off.

The Tweed trophy has been played for, for five successive years but this is the first occasion that it has been captured by a Belleville quote.

The annual tournament of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club is announced for Wednesday, August 31st next. The draw will be made till 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The Rigel trophy for primary, and the Ritchie trophy for consolation will be up for competition with first and second prizes for each event.

PHIL EDWARDS WINS FROM GERMAN RIVAL

Chicago, Aug. 19—Phil Edwards of Hamilton, Ont., who made a gallant showing in the Olympic games but failed to gain a first place, finally achieved that spotlight in a post-Olympic meet at Soldier's field before 15,000 spectators when the Olympic stars of 29 nations competed.

Edwards won the 800 metre from Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany and Ben Eastmond of the United States. His time was 1.55. At the halfway mark Edwards and Eastmond were outfooted by Ivan Fuqua of the United States in the 400 metres with Fuqua racing the distance in the fast time of 47.8 seconds.

MONARCH CLUB SENDS STRONG TEAM TO GAMES

Washington, Aug. 19—Percy Wyer, diminutive Canadian marathoner, and a team of seven from the Monarch Athletic club of Toronto are among the more than 100 entrants for the Evening Star's Marathon run for the United States N.A.A.U. championship.

Pounding the pavements for regulation marathon distance from Mount Vernon, N.Y., Washington, stars in the brilliant field will seek to break the world's record—mark of 2.31.37 set by the gentle cowboy, Juan Carlos Zabala, in the Olympic classic.

More than $2,000,000 was spent in Oklahoma on highway construction in 1931 and an equal amount will be spent in 1932. More than 200 miles of paving is planned for 1932.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Rumors Are Rife Ab out Pompadours

Little whispering birdies say that a pompadours are coming back! We suspect that the birdies are ventriloquist's dummies and that back of them was hidden that clever person, the coiffure designer. The pompadour would be a grand step forward for the beauty trade. And to the trade women has much to be grateful for, all manner of pulchritude supports and decorations. Yet, after all, in coiffure fashions, woman is the deciding factor. Designs are submitted. She takes her choice. Oh yes, surely, she also pays her money. That's expected.

When the bob developed from a fad into a universally accepted style the hairdressing profession gnashed its teeth and pulled out its hair. Business went up to the dizzy heights. Women's heads would look like men's palms. Nothing to it but a haircut now and then. All their guashing for naught.

Permanent waves became a habit like brushing the teeth. Every permanent wave apostle acquired a finger wave customer and who would be so stingy as to get a wave without having a shampoo before hand? And maybe a trim. The bob was a blessing.

Then came chatter about growing hair. Hairdressers caught that idea. Business would be going to the dogs again. Some said grow. Some didn't. Those who did got clipped again. Nothing happened to the hair dressing business. Despite the fact that the financial world had been annihilated.

Whenever there is a radical change in coiffure design it appears in the Autumn season. Because that is the time when if fashions are going to do a startling turn-out, the news comes to start the duties twittering. Frocks lead the way, pair fall into step, the hairlines tags. We know pretty pretty well what fashion offers for fall. It remains to be seen which of these styles women will accept. There are so many variations.

"Well, Mother, What CAN I Do?"

The child was a busy one, and his afternoon had been spent in carrying out various interesting building projects only to be stopped in each by his mother.

"I can't see," the mother complained finally, "why every time I look at John, he's doing something I don't want him to."

On the other hand, what I couldn't see was why, every time she looked at him, she decided instantly that what he was doing was something she didn't want him to do.

He did a lot of things no adult would do, to be sure, but they were things he might, easily have done without material comment or interference.

At last the little boy asked pertently "Well, Mother, what can I do?"

Really he was an unusually polite child most children don't meet the situation so passively. Most of them begin with primitive objections to being constantly frustrated, such as screaming, kicking and biting. But the older child has been taught wiles through necessity, quickly acquires a technique of, "I didn't mean it," or of the

Supply the Essential of Diet First

One nutrition authority has said that we should urge children to eat what they need and then let them have what they want (within reason). This is good advice also for both children and adults, unless of course, you are "reducing."

In the morning, for instance, it is wise to eat, and to urge children to eat their fruit, cereal and milk first. Then if the appetite is not yet satisfied there may be additions of eggs, bacon, ham, toast, rolls or whatever is available.

For the children's lunch, a vegetable, creamed or buttered, or a vegetable soup, with whole wheat bread and butter, first. Then a simple dessert of fruit custard or milk is in order, but not until after the vegetable. Because there has already been a supply of fruit and an energy producing food at breakfast, plus—

If the child, at noon can been given a cooked vegetable, and not a raw one, the first food offered at the evening meal should be a salad of raw chopped vegetable or a sandwich containing vegetable. Some of the best of these raw vegetable sandwiches are made from chopped raw spinach, mayonnaise and egg; grated raw carrot and honey, chopped celery and mayonnaise, also tomato and chopped cabbage. After the uncooked vegetable, the child may be given a sweet of some sort or whatever he likes.

Sometime during the day every child should have an egg in some form. If it has not been served at two meals, be sure to include it in the third. It may be soft-cooked, coddled, baked or it may be incorporated in an egg nog or soup in which milk has been added just before serving. Chopped egg sandwiches are popular with most children.

These essentials of a child's diet which are necessary for adequate nutrition are two vegetables besides potatoes every day (preferably fresh or green, a fruit, bread and cereals, an egg and a glass of milk. The last requirement is very important. If your child has not had enough milk in two meals see that the first food offered him at the next meal is something with milk in it or milk itself.

You can readily see that it is not hard to make a diet adequate. The child to eat what he should. At the beginning of the meal tell your child what you think he sees, offer him what he should have. He will soon learn that if he eats what is offered first that he can have what he likes. But don't tell him, let him find it out for himself.

CORN FLAKE CREAM DESSERT

4 cups corn flakes, 1 cup butter 1-4 cup sugar 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Put corn flakes through a food grinder, using finest cutter. Mix thoroughly with sugar, butter and cinnamon. Line bottom of cake tin (about 8 inches square) with the mixture, reserving 1-4 cup for the top. Fill with following fillings:

2 tablespoons floor, 2 cups scalded milk, 1-4 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, extract, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3 egg yolks (well beaten)

Mix flour, sugar and salt. Add egg yolks and mix until smooth. Add scalded milk slowly being careful not to cook eggs. Cook in double boiler until thickened. Add vanilla.

Cool and pour into pan and cover top with following meringue:

3 egg white, 6 tablespoons sugar. Beat egg whites until they hold their shape but not until they lose shiny appearance, and add sugar.

Spread on top of pie and sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake in a slow oven (300°.) for 40 minutes. Cool and serve.

Yield: 6 servings.

ALLAN BAKED CUSTARD

2 cups scalded milk, 3 eggs, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Scald the milk. Mix sugar, eggs, salt and flavoring and combine with scalded milk. Pour into buttered custard cups or baking dish, set in pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven (300° F.) until firm. A knife blade run into the centre of the custard will come out clean when the custard is done.

Yield: 6 servings.

SILVER SERVICE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—A discussion has arisen about the silver which should place her hostess. A says it should be opened entirely, B claimed it should be folded over once.

2.—A also says that a clean dinner plate should be left, and B says a little food should be left when finishing eating.

3.—In what order should the knives, forks and spoons be placed when serving a dinner?

W.

1.—The napkin should not be opened entirely. We unfold it in only one direction, laying it the long way across our lap.

2.—This is just as we wish, but it is no longer necessarily "polite" to leave food on the plate. The waiter will right—and it would be absurdity.

Foreigners have always thought us very reasonable so, considering over to have had this silly dictum. Food in the mouth should be leave food on our plates "for manners' sake?" If we wish to leave food.....

3.—The silverpieces should be placed so that the guest may conveniently use the silverpiece farthest from the plate and proceed to-ward the plate. Silverpieces are placed for the courses to the dessert, and the dessert silver is brought in either before the dessert is served, or on the dessert plate with the finger bowl. The dessert fork is placed on the left of the finger bowl, and the dessert spoon is placed on the right.

Knives and spoons are on the right, and the oyster fork if one is served. Forks are on the left of the plate.

GIFT FOR A HOSTESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I live out in a suburb and pay around with a girl, who lives in the city. Whenever we go out anywhere it is always too late to go home, and my girl friend always very kindly asks me to her home to stay over-night. Sometimes I stay there for two or three meals, and feel that I would like to do something for this girl's mother, that is get her a gift or something to show my appreciation. Would you have any suggestions? This woman likes beautiful things for her home and I am hesitant about getting her anything until I hear from you.

Thank You

You should indeed be especially thoughtful about making return courtesies for such extraordinary friendliness and hospitality. It would, for instance, be nice if your mother, some time when she is in the city would invite this girl's mother and the girl to have luncheon with you and her at some attractive luncheon place.

Sometimes too, when you are going to this home, you should take the girl's mother a box of flowers or a package or a book, or a box of candy, a group of the current magazines that she would enjoy.

Then the girl herself, you now to her, I am sure that she would enjoy some gift. Why not give her a set of china or glass salad or dessert plates, or glass centre-piece, a luncheon set of runners and napkins or cloth and napkins, perhaps some silver serving piece, or a beautiful vase, of crystal or silver or pottery, would be a charming gift. An interesting cover for the fridge table or a fridge set, or a runner, a writing portfolio for her desk, or a desk holder, with flexible cover, for letter-paper.

WEDDING ATTIRE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please give me the details regarding the proper dress for a male guest attending a fourthly p.m. Sunday wedding ceremony at a hotel, with a dinner and dancing following at the same hotel?

H. W.

Since the ceremony is at four-thirty the guests would dress in day clothes for this. The correct formal attire is cutaway coat and dark striped trousers. The semi-formal attire is short black coat and striped trousers. The informal attire is a dark business suit.

Mrs. Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.)

The Beauty Box

(By Helen Follett)

To refine and whiten skin after it has become coarsened, pores enlarged and cutaneous covering not of the best, is a task that requires diligent, continued treatment—not by slop-dashing once. Every night bathe the face with soap and warm water; a complexion brush is a help. Apply a light film of cream, wiping most of it away. While the cream remains, dust on some orris root with the finger tips to make the blood-vessels stop and clot and cause the glands to function normally. Every morning bathe the face with cold water, dry and dab on which heat with pledgets of cotton.

When the face is with salt and pepper hair has an urge to apply a lemon pack. It is well for her to realize that dark and white threads won't emerge from the treatment with matching shades. The dark hairs will redden slightly. White ones may be given a golden tinge as a carrot shade. This condition comes from the first application. Following treatments will impart deeper red tones to the snowy portions of the topknot.

There's a simple way of getting the best of new shoes that are hell on putting blisters on human heels. Have the shoe man place a piece of life inside the shoe, directly over the heel. Protect a blister with a corn plaster. Don't open it to drain away the fluid. Nature puts it there to protect the flesh until the new skin has formed, skin to endure friction.

Are the little dogs swollen and tired? Give them a ten minute soaking in tepid water, dry carefully and rub with camphor ice. A teaspoonful of baking soda in the foot bath is soothing to smarting feet. Discomfort can be avoided by massaging the skin surface with boiled talcum before pulling on fresh stockings every morning.

Coiffures remain sleek, widely waved and almost severely plain. Most portions of the feminine head are thinned to hold flat to the head, seldom extend more than two inches below the nape line. They are swept sidewise into a flimsy wave pattern or given a slight upward turn of the iron.

Weddings

JOHNSON—LYNCH

A pretty wedding took place at St. Andrew's Presbytery at seven o'clock, last evening, when Celina Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lynch, became the bride of Mr. Clifford Roy Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Johnson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. S. Baker.

The bride made a charming picture in an ensemble of beige Russian crepe with hat and accessories in wood brown. She wore a corsage of roses, pink.

Miss Marjorie Lynch was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a smart suit of skipper blue Russian crepe with beige accessories.

Mr. Tom Lynch was groomsman.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left for Toronto. They will take up residence in Sudbury.

FINANCIAL NEWS

LEADERS ARE SENT HIGHER

Volume Increased But Trading Range is Narrow

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Leaders were marked higher when the afternoon was resumed in forenoon trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange. The volume increased with the resumption of the rise, but the trading range was somewhat narrow.

C.P.R. started the day on the right foot and continued to make progress, selling at 17 by mid-day for a gain of 1¼. Smelters went up 2¾ to 71¼ on small volume and International Nickel advanced one to best part of a point to sell at 9¾.

Distillery issues were in better demand and in active trading gained fractions. Oils and implements were also firmly held. Power were slightly higher and Dominion Stores down a fraction.

BUOYANCY IN COPPER LIST

Announcement of Four Per Cent Preference Causes Flurry

Toronto, Aug. 19.—Some buoyancy among higher-priced copper shares on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market followed announcement that a dividend payment on a 4-cent British preference had been declared in Canadian dollars. Cegeral list was quiet but firm today with at 133,168 shares for the first two hours' somewhat below the recent average.

Intermediate trade made the best advance, price recovering 70 to 89.50 under pressing accumulation. Noranda ⁂ firmed 40 to 12.60. Hollinger ⁂ moved up one point on the Bonanza claims was up 3 at 1.50. Algoma mining sold up a fraction at 15 cts.

Golds were mixed.

MARKET MADE BRAVE START

Stocks on N. Y. Board Seem Tied to Wheat Which Sagged

New York, Aug. 19.—The stock market made a brave start today, but soon lapsed into a weary, sagging movement.

Stocks still seemed to be tied to wheat and when that market sagged, shares eased off as well. An opening burst of buying carried many of the leaders up 1 to 2 points. Bullish efforts in some of the specialties failed to infect new life. Several of the principal issues were off 1 to 3 points, or by the fourth hour, with trading very dull.

Cues registered a somewhat wider decline; off more than 3 issues down 1 to 2 net, included International Harvester; American Telephone, General Electric, American Tobacco B, Corn Products, Westinghouse Electric, Union Pacific and Sante Fe. Gobham Stik Hosiery was boosted more than 5 points in the morning, and American Smelting and Both Aluminum about 2.

The weekly Mercantile Reviews again spoke optimistically of developments in general trade conditions pointing to further gains in wholesaling and forecasting activity in manufacturing in such lines as textiles and shoes. They anticipated also any particular new light on the situation, however.

"At The Belle"

LUCKY BREAKS ADD SENSATIONS TO MUCH TROUBLE FILM

Although the surprising wild animal motion picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," opens under a tropical moon in the Bay of Bengal, the real beginning of the Colonel Bengal Buck Expedition was at a luncheon table not far from Times Square. And that is the beginning of the story behind the story."

The men were at the table. One was Amedee J. Van Beuren, president of the Van Beuren Corporation; the other was Frank Buck. There had been shivering for several weeks between them. Buck had more than twenty years experience as a collector of live wild animals but had only the limited film experience with animal pictures. The experience of the impresario would be irrelevant in the actually dangerous work of the men said: "Well, that's settled."

Arrangements were under way that very afternoon. Mr. Buck immediately left for the jungles of cablegrams to his agent in Singapore and to Calcutta. There he could tell their servants to round up the "boys." There were cablegrams for Jim English, French and Dutch authorities by way of cablegrams to the various consulates. Then there were telegrams across the United States. One went to an elderly man named Mayer, in Los Angeles. He was an order for hand-woven lasso ropes. There was another to a New England firm for special ammunition which would be true and immune to dampness. Then there was a slogan of the newly-born Van Beuren-Buck Expedition had to be found. It was English, for the word nothing gained, and probably a great deal of time and effort lost, in toting baggage and impediments across the Atlantic, over the Mediterranean, through the Suez Canal and on eastward to Singapore.

Within one month of the luncheon, the party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buck, Clyde E. Elliott, the director, Nicholas Cavallero and Carl Berger, cameramen, had sailed on the Staatendam, London, Paris, Marseilles and Singapore were on the itinerary.

Bazaar Tipsters

In Singapore, Mr. Buck was met by All. She boy who had accompanied him on many previous expeditions, and they were joined by Matt, Malmie, Ahmad and Samie, who also were members of past expeditions. After paying their respects to the various consuls, the expedition got under way; first by a small steamer, then by wagon, then by dugout canoes, until finally they set up camp. The site of the camp was determined by conversations at the bazaars. At one bazaar more than a hundred miles inland, and at least half that distance from any railroad, Mr. Buck spoke with a Sakai who had seen a great python. The scoffer bazaar it was apparent that a real tiger was on the rampage. At this bazaar, Mr. Buck was informed by comparatively rare black panther had been killed.

Night Prowlers

Wire netting was placed on all windows in the expedition's jungle headquarters, mainly as a warning signal. An animal which scratches wire netting makes a noise that is heard by the sleepers, and is apt to sleeper. For protection against the Sakai's deadly blowpipe darts, it was apparent that a bamboo stockade would be built.

Several other "lucky breaks" during their way into the jungles had been beyond the most optimistic plans of Mr. Buck. Besides the camera account of a fight between the crashing jewed crocodile and the black panther, at a matter of fact it was hard to understand, the Sakai python secured virtually as well as exceedingly practicable, could be so staged as to investigate a "croc."

The complete RKO-Radio record of the "Bring 'Em Back Alive," sequences, with sound and musical effects, will be shown at the Belle Theatre, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. Matinee daily.

TRAPPER SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Charged With Murdering Companion in Lonely Bush

Sault Ste. Marie Ont., Aug. 18—Charged with murder of a fellow trapper at an isolated cabin on the Ohe River, John Berezenko was committed for trial by Magistrate Andrew Hinds on district police court here yesterday.

William Gaurbi, the only witness at the preliminary hearing, continued his evidence from Tuesday's session, expressed some defence counsel objected to the manner in which George Plaincek was translating Gaurbi's testimony from the Ukrainian. A defence interpreter was in court today to follow Plaincek's work and no objections were raised.

After a quarrel between the two trappers June 17, Berezenko shot Safura several times witness said. Both he and the accused left the cabin and when Gaurbi, frightened, went back he found the wounded man dead. Berezenko said, "Bill don't be afraid, I wouldn't shoot you."

WORLD PARLEY FOR LONDON

Held Immediately After United States Election

Ottawa Cot. Aug. 19—(CP)—With the London World Economic Conference an assured success eyes of British economic experts gathered here are already turning to the world economic conference in London. While no date is set it is expected this will be convened as soon after the United States presidential election as is practical, late November at the earliest but more likely immediately after the new year. It is considered that what has been accomplished in Ottawa gives a distinct and timely lead to world economic co-operation.

MALONE MAY FILE SUIT

Public Opinion Demands Action be Considered Counsel States

Toronto, Aug. 19—Dan Malone, whose deportation from Canada was stayed by an order by Hon. Wesley Gordon, acting Minister of Immigration at Ottawa yesterday, will be asked to consider taking action to recover damages for his arrest and eight day incarceration on a charge of vagrancy charge, laid following reports of a plot to assassinate R. Hon. J. H. Thomas, British Dominion Secretary.

Cone Brown, Malone's counsel, said the question of litigation against parties, whose duty the name would be decided definitely when his client returns to the city. At present Malone is enjoying a holiday at a bathing place as a result of his adventures.

Public opinion at least demands that legal action be considered," said Mr. Brown, and at the same time, he added, "It's no use flying off the handle in these things."

Gasoline goes to the "doctor" as a check against bad odor

You probably never gave it a thought — nor need you be important to the reputable gasoline refiner. For the crude oils from which gasoline is made contain sulphur, and some sulphur compounds, such as might be present, give a highly sickening odor.

Cities Service chemists don't leave the matter of odor to the nose alone. They make every day's run from Cities Service refineries come up to visual chemical test, even though its odor is supremely clean and sweet.

As a test, they mix a sample of gasolene with a special chemical solution called "doctor." This is violently shaken — and a pinch of "flowers of sulphur" is added. The slightest discoloration of the liquid — or the slightest dimming of the bright yellow of the "flowers of sulphur" — condemns not only the sample but the whole run of gasolene as "sour" and unfit for sale.

Cities chemists who make this test have only one boss — the public. So they can reject, and do reject, any product which their nose shows will fall below Cities Service standards. That is why you can put complete faith in the Cities Service emblem and this statement: "If it's Cities Service, it has to be good."

Cities Service—one of America's ten largest independent organizations—broadcasts Friday, 8 P.M. (E.D.T.) over WEAF and 32 N.B.C. stations.

Cupid Foils a Bandit

By Harry Stanley Doner

Allan disliked Irene. At times he hated her. Irene was pretty and she knew it. In fact, Allen thought she wanted everyone to know it. She was too conceited; only think of herself. Yesterday was Irene's birthday and she did not even with him happiness. She knew about it all right. Didn't she tell him two weeks ago that it was her birthday, and didn't he tell her then he'd be twenty-two two weeks later? Well, it was good that she said nothing. He never liked her anyway. He didn't want her felicitations.

Mr. Morris was another person whom Allen disliked. He was always gushing to Irene; admiring her dress, telling her she looked beautiful, taking her to lunch and to the theatre. Allen hated people who gushed . . . especially old men who played up to pretty girls. And he detested the girl who would accept dates with such men. He'd rather stay in his room and read a book, or go to a movie. They are much easier to understand than humans.

Mr. Morris was a bulking contractor. He had a small office on the second floor of one of the office buildings in Uptown. It was here that Irene and Allen worked. Irene was Mr. Morris' stenographer. It was in her duty to make up the payroll. Mr. Morris usually delivered the pay on Friday at the construction personally. Irene always brought the money from the bank alone. She had the privilege of coming to work an hour late on such days — the banks not opening until nine o'clock.

At this-thirty the opening of the door broke Allen's brooding and he sauntered in.

"Good morning, Allen," said Irene sweetly while removing her hat.

Allen did not answer. He'd have nothing to do with a person he did not like. From the corner of his eye he saw that she had been shopping again. That accounted for her being late. And carrying all that money through those cheap stores. He pretended to think what Mr. Morris would say if he found it out. Irene placed the package with the money in the drawer of her desk, and turned to Allen.

"I — said — good — morning — Allen," she repeated with more malice.

"Oh good morning," he replied in a low weak voice, feigning surprise, and feeling all the more depressed for having been forced to answer. She came over to him and seated herself on the edge of his desk.

"What is wrong with Allen this morning? You look so glum and so ferocious," she remarked coyly.

"You'd better get the payroll made up before Mr. Morris gets back," he said impatiently, his face red with blushing. He always blushed when he talked with a girl. That is why he never had a girl friend, preferring his own company to that of others. Irene pretended not to notice his shyness. It was the only good thing about her, he thought.

"It's a quarter to ten and the bous will be in any minute now," she added in a pleading tone, anxious to get her away from him.

"I won't move until you tell me what's sitting you. Maybe Irene can fix little Allen up," she teased. Allen turned. She always was acting like a kid. He wished she would leave him alone. He would like to tell her what ailed him, but he knew that she would get mad. "I've got a surprise for you. I hope it will cheer you up. You old sour," she said rising from the desk.

The door opened.

"There it is now," whispered Allen Irene.

No, it was a strange man. His cap was pulled over his eyes, and his hands were dug deep in his coat pockets.

"This is a stickup. Put up your hands and keep your mouths shut or I'll put a bullet in you," the stranger mumbled in a quavering tone. "I came for the payroll and you'd better hand it over quick".

Irene was paralyzed with fright and seemed on the verge of screaming. Allen saw that the bandit was a novice but to make an outcry would mean death. He must get rid of the man before Irene started to scream. He turned towards Irene's desk. Upon it was the package Irene had bought while shopping.

"The money's in the package on the desk near you," Allen said, surprised at his own coolness.

Luckily the young bandit did not recognize it as such, but stuffed it into his pocket quickly and slipped out the door. They both were stunned with the suddenness of the incident. Then Irene coming out of her daze, flung herself with a sob into Allen's arms, as if she sought his protection. His first impulse was to repulse her, but when he realized that she was crying, he held her more tightly.

"I'm sorry he took your package," it was my fault and I'll pay for it," said Allen to sooth her sorrow.

"It is we for you. Your birthday girl," she sobbed.

Allen understood. He did not tell her his birthday had passed. He felt it would only make her worse.

The door opened again, but Allen disregarded the intruder and clasped Irene more tightly in his arms. A laugh, a bellowy laugh rent the air.

"Well, well! Upon my word. I never expected it. I hope you won't forget to invite me," shouted Mr. Morris and with a laugh stepped into his office.

Allen looked at Irene inquiringly. His eyes seemed to ask her a question. Their gaze held fast for a few moments. Irene lowered her eyes shyly and slowly nodded her head.

RICH STRIKE AT GREAT BEAR

Silver And Radium Ores Have Been Found

Toronto, Aug. 19—Evidence of a strike of silver and radium in the Great Bear Lake district was brought to this city yesterday by Major Bernard Day, chief engineer of the company which has been exploring the area.

Two tons of ore were brought by aeroplane and freight train, the first ore found in the district, the company is working at present, this one silver and the other radium.

A detailed report to the Dominion Government on the possibilities of the find will be made by Major F. D. Kidd of the Dominion geological survey who is now making a second trip to the Great Bear district.

BR. PEOPLE OPTIMISTIC

Says Hon. G. Howard Ferguson on His Arrival

Quebec, Aug. 19—"The British people are very optimistic about the results of the Ottawa conference," said Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, on his arrival here last night on the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Britain. "They were, perhaps, a little upset, a bit cooled, when they received press stories indicating that things were not going as well as they had hoped. But all that is straightened out now. The people of England do not expect an immediate speeding up of everything. What they look for, and what I think the Canadian government is looking for, is a steady improvement in Empire trade as a result."

The conference, he said, he thought, could not be expected to do more than deal with details in a broad way, but he felt it had been humanly accomplished the part of Britain to link up the Empire more closely than it ever was.

NAPANEE CORN CROP DAMAGED BY STORM

Toronto, Aug. 19—Lightning was the cause of some damage and a number of freakish accidents during the thunderstorms which centered in most parts of southern Ontario yesterday.

The Lincoln Street canal bridge at Welland was struck by lightning and stop-electric motors, which operate the structure were put out of commission for a time. At Kitchener the force of a bolt turned on a bureau lamp in one house, but remained lighted until the frightened residents turned off the switch and buckwheat crops were badly damaged in the vicinity of Napanee.

As early as the year 1700, a religious order attempted to build a canal from Lachine to Montreal.

Anglo-Canadian Agreement Concluded by Removal of All Unfair Competition

Lumber Market is Assured and Cattle Barriers Lifted

COPPER TARIFF

Actual Preferential Rates May Not be Fixed For Time

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Aug. 19—The Empire Conference has drawn its rings down the curtain at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Then, in final plenary session, all agreements will be signed, sealed and delivered.

All obstacles in the way of the Anglo-Canadian agreement have been definitely removed. This includes the obstacle of Russian competition. Except on a few details, the British and Canadian delegations are now in complete agreement; and these details will be settled today.

The accepted anti-dumping formula, as forecast yesterday, does not specify Russia in particular. It has Russia in mind but it strikes the unfair competition of any country where, which would nullify the effect of tariff preference in the British market.

Dumped lumber from Finland would be affected just as much as dumped lumber from Russia.

There are two remaining points still outstanding in the Anglo-Canadian agreement. These will be discussed at a meeting of the two delegations today.

Between the United Kingdom and Australia. It was intimated last night, remaining details are only minor.

Meat Tariff Settled

Agreement has already been reached on findings on the grain and meat issue of meat preferences. From the outset of the Conference, Australia pressed for a preference on meats in the British market. She asked preferential treatment particularly as against chilled beef from the Argentine. New Zealand and Canada pleaded her heavy investments in the Argentine, Australia replied that British investments in Australia were still higher. Eventually tariff preferences passed into the background. Discussion turned on other methods of maintaining foreign meat imports.

The method actually in view has not been announced. Expectations are that it will take some mild form of quota.

And now that the conference draws to a close, speculation turns to the nature of the agreements themselves. What will be their nature? What will they contain? Will these be extensive, providing mutually wide extensions of preferences, or will they be modest in scope, serving as a basis for subsequent extension?

The best guess probably, is that they will represent a good give-and-take, a series of reciprocal benefits.

Their full secrets, however, may not be known until the various Empire parliaments meet to give necessary legislative effect. Nothing in this respect is changed, it is not proposed to publish full details of the agreements as far as they affect Canada, before the general purport will be announced.

Actual preferential rates may be held over till the parliaments meet.

PICCARD PREPARES FOR THIRD ACCENT

Descanso, Italy, Aug. 18—(AP)—Prof. Auguste Piccard, resting today after his record breaking ascent into the stratosphere yesterday announced he would begin immediately to prepare for a third ascent from the northwest shore of Hudson Bay it was conjectured he might make Canada's northerly seaport, Churchill, Man., his base.

NOT EVERYONE IS SUPERSTITIOUS

Are Belleville people superstitious? Not a bit of it. Thursday afternoon, while Hydro employes effected repairs and the installation of a new line to a Front street building, a long ladder stood on the pavement reaching out almost to the curb. Under the space between wall and ladder, without hesitation, trooped passersby with only a casual glance at the workers from their heads. By actual count, twelve out of fifteen people, who passed the spot within a few months walked without hesitation under the ladder. The other three stopped, looked at men and ladder, and then made a wide detour to the road to go around it.

Knowledge postulates a certain aloofness from the object.

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Understand!" The girl caught up the world again angrily. "I don't know what you call it. Swaggered up to me he was visiting Elaine's girl down there at Atlantic City! I don't care—I don't care whether he was living with her or not! You know I rushed on recklessly and the judge and his wife and Sheila's mother recoiled from the phrase as if from a blow. 'That doesn't make any difference!' Bernadette Kennedy said, beginning to sob. 'What difference does that make as long as I know that he knew she was there and was going down to see her—let her own mother didn't know where she was—and even the papers didn't know it—look at them! Look at them tonight,' Bernadette went on hysterically, her eyes on a page of mystery girl' and they say that Frank O'Keefe is the father of Mrs. McCann——' You saw! You saw what they said about her living at some hotel down there, and this Mrs. Kearney saying that Frank used to telephone her every day or two——"

"Why that's a lie!" Sheila said, understanding at last. "That's a lie! Frank never telephoned me in his life!"

"Oh!" breathed Mrs. McCann. "She is lovely, Mother!"

"I wouldn't care whether you believed me or not!" Bernadette said fiercely.

"You ruined Peter McCann's life, Bernadette Kane's life," Bernadette flung at her, breathlessly. "You ruined as well your own life, you've ruined all our lives! While your mother and I were worrying ourselves to death about you you and Frank—who's a hundred times too good for you—you and Frank were down at Atlantic City! The papers no longer get through with denying you're married to Peter McCann than they have you in an airplane smash with Frank!"

"He may be dying and you can talk about him like that!" Sheila said, her face ashen white. Her dress was still dusty and rumpled her face dirty, and she had a deep purple bruise on one temple. But there was a flaming beauty—a force—in her anger, as she faced the other girl that made Bernadette draw back.

"Pretend that you love him, why don't you?" Bernadette said in a frightened changed voice. "Pretend! Pretend! Pretend! Oh, my God! I thought you could!"

"Your kind always pretend that they love everyone," Bernadette said in bitter contempt. "It's all love and how a boy isn't understood at home, and things like that!"

"My kind!" Sheila echoed, with a bewildered look about the stricken circle.

"Yes, your kind! The kind that goes to a place like Atlantic City with a rich man's son!"

"Look here," Joe Carscadden said suddenly taking a part in the conversation. "Look here, Miss What's-your-Name. You be careful what you call my sister, will you, or you'll find yourself in trouble! Sheila is not responsible to you for what she does—no, nor the newspapers, either!

"I've just been talking to her," Joe continued, wincing at the sound of his own voice, "and she's been working hard in a hotel down there at Atlantic City, with no more idea that Frank McCann knew where she was than——"

"Than the babe Iisslit!" Mrs. Carscadden supplied, as he paused for breath, and for a smile.

"So, you believe me, don't you?" Sheila exclaimed, bursting into tears.

CHAPTER 36

"I believe you," Joe said, angrily, "and I've had enough of these rich fools that pretend they want to help a girl, just because she's lost enough to return fifty dollars their daughter didn't even know she had lost! I don't care if my father and yours were friends in Albany" he went on wildly, "I don't want my sister to have anything more to do with you!"

"Joe—Joe—" the judge began sorrowfully, piacatingly. Joe shook off the friendly hand.

"I'll bid you all good day!" he said, hesitatingly. "Come on, Sheila!"

They went out, Sheila and her mother and brother, into the night.

"The way it was, Madinna——" Sheila began.

Carefully peeling and scraping red new potatoes she was busy in the home kitchen, back in an old faded gingham apron, with her head bandkerchief tied up severely in a bandkerchief. Sheila had returned to the church and had enjoyed once again the delights of a lengthy home breakfast with the Father and she was now retailing to them, for the hundredth time, some of the more delicate details of her adventures.

Angela, having finished the dishes, was standing at the sink, occasionally mopping its already well-mopped surface. Mrs. Carscadden, just back from "ten," sat in the rocker, her black veil hanging on either side of her face, her cotton gloves and pocketbook laid beside her on the table. Joe, really listening, was pretending to read the pages of the paper.

"Don't tell me how it was Sheila," her mother said resignedly, "I can hear anything but that."

Sheila put her head down on the table and laughed.

"No one was ever as good as you can be yourself, not to be, when you've built up two good engagements and drowned a family like the McCanns into grief and sorrow!"

Mrs. Carscadden observed.

Grief and sorrow would do they core of Frank married Bernadette Kingsley or not!"

"Sheila," Angela asked seriously, "isn't he going to marry her?"

"I don't know! Yes! How so much as I do."

"As he sellin' me the way it was, we've been all through it," Mrs. Carscadden was musing, in an undertone. "Madonna, d'ye think I'd do this?" an' Madonna d'ye think I'd do this?' an all the while you're good name dragged across the front pages of the papers thinkin', you're not stoppin' back from the merried woman's mission boy what a lad from the papers'd come up to me an' me where the mystery girl was! It's done be now, and whativer she'd be into next!"

"Is this the Carscadden ser'is number?" Mrs. Carscadden continued still darkly reminiscent. "It is!" "What's yours daughter this, and what's yours that no more like birds!"

She looked at me—an' he had a very bould face on Him" the speaker's voice dropped impressively, "an' still that he gity a kind of cry. 'Ye don't know where she is?' he says. 'I am,' says I, 'but I'll not be telling those that do know,' I says 'an' that indicated you, Joe, and you, Sheila, the poor girrl plasthered over the papers again!'

"She is plasthered over the papers again," says me lad with a look. She came down in a crash today, when she'p be comin' hime from Atlantic City! She was with that other McCann boy!"

"Oh what a yell Mamma gave!" Angela put in here with a shudder of recollection.

"The Holys heard me, two flights down. You wouldn't believe my screech it set out in!"

"I'd believe anything of this family," Sheila said to her.

"Joe come in, this, as while as a potato cake!" Mrs. Carscadden went on with her narrative. "Come down to McCann's he said so me. 'Sheila's all but, kill, and they're bringin' her there!'"

Sheila had heard all this before. She would hear it again. Whatever happened in the Carscadden family or indeed if any allied or neighboring family, was immediately transmuted into history, into a saga to be recited in the regular series of sagas—the Cecilia birth, calamitied, fortunes of the entire group were her mother's stock in trade.

"Mother," Sheila said, in her own fault if an airplane comes down today, Newark, New Jersey?"

"It may not be your fault," her mother responded scornfully "but there's few cud get thimselves mixed up in trouble the way you do an' take such an ironical face on you. Whativer you'd be doin' to get into the way of them Zeppelins I don't know an' that you'd come down near Newark, New Jersey, is no more than you deserv'red! A little behoor that," Mrs. Carscadden continued, in a scolding, pleased sort of recitative, "it was disappeared you were an' no one had thought to sight of ye for days. And' befour that again it was merried in Boston Massachusetts, ye were by a justice of the peace, or was it a district attorney, Joe?"

"It was neither, Ma," Joe said, and Sheila laughed again. She was not deeply concerned she was thinking of something else this morning.

She had made up her mind to something the day before yesterday, and since the instant of her decision the world had been singing for Sheila. She was going to call on Frank McCann!

The terrible day of the plane crash was now almost two weeks in the past. Sheila had had no communication since with the McCann family. The confirmation also of the plane had been buried the physicians had reported Frank as making good progress and the reporters and newspapers had turned to other matters. Joe Carscadden had telephoned the McCann house almost every day, and had received sympathy and made inquiries for the whole family And it had finally been decided by her mother, Angela and Joe that Sheila should write Frank a "nice note", telling him how glad she was that he was getting well, and expressing the heartiest good wishes for his marriage to Miss Kennedy.

Sheila had half-heartedly agreed to this. She would have preferred, herself, to do nothing in regard to Frank.! Without being able to analyze exactly how she felt, she sensed that there was mystery, there was provocation about complete silence. But a nice letter, was simply a nice letter; it ended everything. Every thing was ended, now.

But somehow Sheila had a feeling, deep in her heart, that there would be one more act.

She wanted to see Frank once more, to be sure that everything was all right between him and Bernadette, to clear up their own sensational experience with one little, friendly talk.

But the manner in which Joe and Ma had discussed the propriety of even a letter had shown Sheila plainly that the thought of a call was quite out of the question. So she had dutifully written almost as dictated by her authorities.

The first days following the accident had been a time of strange confusion and nameless fear for Sheila. Had lain on the big bed, in the room with the rose-colored curtains, or she had come out to lake the Belgian rocker listening to the talk that had gone on about her. She had confined about their hearing; she had gone no further in her thoughts. She would ask Frank again; his dark face and his clear smile; they would talk again. The more thought had made her haggy, and she had floated in a world of dreams, awaiting the opportunity to escape unquestioned from the house and go to her marvelous hour. After that, let him marry Bernadette as soon as he liked!

It was on this particular Sunday that she knew fey chance had come. Her brother and Angela were going to church in the afternoon, some special Lenten sermons far downtown. Mrs. Carscadden grew low when away from home: Joe of course would be somewhere with Cecilia. The presumption had been that Sheila would spend the afternoon quietly resting; nothing had been said about it, simply because Sheila's letter had been written on a Wednesday night; on Thursday afternoon, where she had been alone in the house, the postman's whistle had drawn her down to the door and there had been the miracle.

A letter from Frank. Sheila would not have believed that any letter penciled from a hospital bed, "an' still that he gity a kind of cry. 'Ye don't know where she is?' he says. 'I am,' says I, 'but I'll not be telling those that do know,' I says 'an' that indicated you, Joe, and you, Sheila, the poor girrl plasthered over the papers again!'

"She is plasthered over the papers again," says me lad with a look. She came down in a crash today, when she'p be comin' hime from Atlantic City! She was with that other McCann boy!"

"Oh what a yell Mamma gave!" Angela put in here with a shudder of recollection.

"The Holys heard me, two flights down. You wouldn't believe my screech it set out in!"

"I'd believe anything of this family," Sheila said to her.

"Joe come in, this, as while as a potato cake!" Mrs. Carscadden went on with her narrative. "Come down to McCann's he said so me. 'Sheila's all but, kill, and they're bringin' her there!'"

Sheila had heard all this before. She would hear it again. Whatever happened in the Carscadden family or indeed if any allied or neighboring family, was immediately transmuted into history, into a saga to be recited in the regular series of sagas—the Cecilia birth, calamitied, fortunes of the entire group were her mother's stock in trade.

"Mother," Sheila said, in her own fault if an airplane comes down today, Newark, New Jersey?"

"It may not be your fault," her mother responded scornfully "but there's few cud get thimselves mixed up in trouble the way you do an' take such an ironical face on you. Whativer you'd be doin' to get into the way of them Zeppelins I don't know an' that you'd come down near Newark, New Jersey, is no more than you deserv'red! A little behoor that," Mrs. Carscadden continued, in a scolding, pleased sort of recitative, "it was disappeared you were an' no one had thought to sight of ye for days. And' befour that again it was merried in Boston Massachusetts, ye were by a justice of the peace, or was it a district attorney, Joe?"

"It was neither, Ma," Joe said, and Sheila laughed again. She was not deeply concerned she was thinking of something else this morning.

She had made up her mind to something the day before yesterday, and since the instant of her decision the world had been singing for Sheila. She was going to call on Frank McCann!

The terrible day of the plane crash was now almost two weeks in the past. Sheila had had no communication since with the McCann family. The confirmation also of the plane had been buried the physicians had reported Frank as making good progress and the reporters and newspapers had turned to other matters. Joe Carscadden had telephoned the McCann house almost every day, and had received sympathy and made inquiries for the whole family And it had finally been decided by her mother, Angela and Joe that Sheila should write Frank a "nice note", telling him how glad she was that he was getting well, and expressing the heartiest good wishes for his marriage to Miss Kennedy.

Sheila had half-heartedly agreed to this. She would have preferred, herself, to do nothing in regard to Frank.! Without being able to analyze exactly how she felt, she sensed that there was mystery, there was provocation about complete silence. But a nice letter, was simply a nice letter; it ended everything. Every thing was ended, now.

But somehow Sheila had a feeling, deep in her heart, that there would be one more act.

She wanted to see Frank once more, to be sure that everything was all right between him and Bernadette, to clear up their own sensational experience with one little, friendly talk.

But the manner in which Joe and Ma had discussed the propriety of even a letter had shown Sheila plainly that the thought of a call was quite out of the question. So she had dutifully written almost as dictated by her authorities.

The first days following the accident had been a time of strange confusion and nameless fear for Sheila. Had lain on the big bed, in the room with the rose-colored curtains, or she had come out to lake the Belgian rocker listening to the talk that had gone on about her.

AUG 19 MR. AND MRS... THE MAESTRO OF THE CHAFING DISH

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR —No. 8.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

The Belgian did not have long to wait, for the following day his emissary returned with word that Tarzan and a party of fifty Waziri warriors had set out towards the southeast early in the morning. Werper immediately dispatched a runner to Achmet Zek with a letter telling of his plans and then with six picked porters, set out after Tarzan to discover where his gold was hidden.

And so it was that Tarzan, in his leopard-skin clothes and armed after the primitive fashion he best loved, led his loyal Waziri toward the dead city of Opar. Werper, the renegade hunted his trail through the long, hot days, and camped close behind him at night. And as they marched, Achmet Zek rode with his following toward the Greystoke farm.

To Tarzan of the Apes his expedition was in the nature of a holiday outing. His civilization was at best but an outward veneer which he gladly peeled off with his uncomfortable European clothing when ever any reasonable pretext presented itself. Only a woman's love kept Tarzan even in the semblance of civilization. He came back to Nature in the spirit of a lover released from prison walls.

Many days the stalwart ape-man marched at the head of his Waziri warriors pursuing the quest. Each day found him more and more rejoicing in this freedom. He shot down game with arrow and spear when he would far rather have leaped from ambush, and, unarmed, pitted his muscles against the savage jungle. Within him surged the call of the milk of his savage foster-mother.

EMPIRE CONFERENCE ENDS IN SUCCESS

Delegates Voice Hopes of Improvement of Empire and World Trade

Future Generations to Say Delegates 'Builded Better Than They Knew'

Premier Bennett Given High Praise at Close of First Canadian Conference by Delegates from Various Dominions Upon His Chairmanship

DELEGATES COMMENT UPON RESULTS

Brightest Hopes as Result of Conference Which Closed at Noon on Saturday After 30 Days Deliberation

Ottawa, Aug. 20—Canada's first Imperial Economic Conference closed today in an atmosphere as satisfactory as any in its 30 days of deliberation. As on the opening day, just a month ago, the weatherman put forth his best effort to make the ceremony a success. Blue skies and sunshine harmonized with the optimism prevailing as a result of the successful conclusion of the conference.

The closing ceremonies were simple. Once more the spacious Commons Chamber of the Dominion Parliament Buildings formed the background for the historic scene. Once again flood-lights bathed the picture in light, movie cameras recorded the changing scene, and amplifiers carried the speeches by delegation heads to all parts of the great room.

Absence of Speeches

Signing of agreements, speeches by delegation heads, a general atmosphere of satisfaction mingled with an element of regret at parting, was evident. Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada and head of the Canadian delegation, presided in his capacity as chairman of the conference. The order of sessions was the same as the opening function. To the right of the chairman sat the Australian delegation, directly opposite the British. The other delegations lined each other across the broad centre aisle down the long room.

The closing formalities followed a night of strenuous effort in order that the report of the conference might be ready, that agreements might be in shape for appending the signatures of overnight speaking, so that all might be completed today, best-pressed statesmen and staffs worked throughout the night. When the time for the closing arrived all was ready.

Seated at a long table in the wide central space were the leaders of the delegations.

A resolution of loyalty to the king, moved by Premier R. B. Bennett of Canada and Hon. N. C. Havenga of South Africa, was adopted on a standing vote.

Then came the signing of treaties. The first was the Anglo-Australian Pact with Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Great Britain, and Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, Australia as the signatories. The brief ceremony of scrawling two signatures took only a moment.

South Africa and Great Britain then signed their new agreement, following by Great Britain and New Zealand; Great Britain and India; Great Britain and Newfoundland and Great Britain and Southern Rhodesia.

Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer and, Premier R. B. Bennett signed the Anglo-Canadian Pact. It was a thrilling intrigue for the crowd when Chamberlain, the British statesman of a generation who foreswore and present system of Empire preferences and unity.

Mr. Baldwin Honored

The line of bi-lateral treaties between Dominions was the Canada-Irish Free State signed by Premier Bennett and Hon. Sean T. O'Kelly, Among the other bi-lateral treaties was one between the Free State and South Africa.

Premier Bennett, at this point on behalf of all delegates, presented Mr. Baldwin with a silver salver, bearing the signatures of every delegate with the exception of the head of the British delegation. Mr. Baldwin celebrated his last birthday in Canada, being born in Conf...feration year.

When speaking p o motion lauding the Conference Secretariat Mr. Havenga paid tribute to Premier Bennett. The position of chairman of the Conference, said the South African delegate, was no enviable task and "no greater demands were made on the patience of Job." Mr. Bennett, the Prime Minister, he said, had performed his duties to the satisfaction of all.

Politics and Weather

Mr. Bennett then moved a vote of thanks to Premier Bennett. Canadian weather, he said, seemed to fit in with the moods of the Conference. In the past few days there had been storms, with thunder and rain—and now sunshine and blue skies.

The Canadian Prime Minister, said Mr. Baldwin, had been referred to by Mr. Havenga as having the patience of Job. "But Canada, sir, knows he has no patience with Job," he added.

The conference, said Mr. Baldwin was an attempt by a group of nations to build a stable economic edifice which present and future generations might regard with gratitude and satisfaction.

"And who knows", he added, "but that future generation may say they builded better than they knew".

Mr. Baldwin then ...sented Premier Bennett with a silver salver from all delegates.

Praise for Canada

"Nothing can make us forget our debt to Canada," said Sean T. O'Kelly of the Irish Free State. "And whatever changes the future may bring to us, there will always be a determination to do everything to make more the bonds of friendship between the Irish and the Canadian people."

In a formal way, the Conference then passed a resolution expressing thanks and appreciation to Premier Bennett for his services as chairman.

It was a pleasure and an honor to preside over the conference, said Mr. Bennett, and he assured he would treasure always, not for its value, but for the Empire for everything it stood for. Said Mr. Bennett: "And this is but a beginning. We have laid only the foundation. Future action will be necessary as it is too far distant day."

The Conference closed exactly at 12 o'clock noon.

Locked Jaws Unlocked by Locke Mrs. Costello Now Able to Eat Steak

Brockville, Aug. 20.—Unable to eat properly since May, 1931, when she suffered an attack of arthritis accompanied by locked jaws, Mrs. E. J. Costello of Wheeling, West Virginia, is reported to have been relieved this week at the clinic of Dr. M. W. Locke at Williamsburg, after she had consulted over thirty physicians in the United States, received serum treatments and undergone an operation without securing relief. For over a year she has been fed by tube, being unable to get more than a thin slice of bread into her mouth and she went to the Locke clinic as a last resort. After a few days treatment there was a sudden cracking of her jaws and her mouth opened wide. That night Mrs. Costello had steak for dinner.

MAYOR ISSUES RELIEF REPORT

Asks Housewives to Co-operate in Caring For Poor

An abundance of fruits and vegetables of all kinds at prices cheaper than they have been for years is the lot in store for housewives in the city to can and preserve more than they have done for some time, in many cases more than they actually require has been done up. This has led to one more urgent appeal on the part of Mayor Geo. O. Ellis for residents of the city, who find an excess of canned or preserved goods to remember the needy relief office, which will be prepared to handle all donations which are given. Many housewives could can and preserve a little extra stuff at a cheap rate this year, but if some of this could be set by until called for later by representatives of the relief office, who will in turn distribute to needy families in the city during the coming months, they will materially assist the relief committee, which are incapable during the winter, Many residents of the city, including the householder of this paper, himself, have signified their intention of so doing. Others need only a reminder.

Empire Dream Reality Common Commercial Empire Policy Created

London, Aug. 20 (by Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)—"The success of the conference is not only assured but an accomplished fact," declares The Times in a leading editorial on the Empire parley concluding at Ottawa today.

The Times depreciates the irritation shown lately in certain quarters over what seemed to be vexatious and unnecessary delays. "Less than a month's work," it continues, "has stopped the drift towards economic isolation of the different units of the Empire, and secured the general adoption of policies of co-operation."

British Cabinet Service officials, particularly those of the United Kingdom under Sir Horace Wilson are praised by The Times, which also pays tribute to the "organizing and driving power" of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada.

"A swift sweeping result was not to be expected," observes The Daily Mail, "but there is every reason to hope the agreements will be comprehensive and satisfactory. Nothing can obscure the fact that a great step has been taken toward a common commercial Empire policy. And the fact that the British National Government have shown a willingness to tax food imports to give the Dominions an effective preference is ground for believing that all sections of the government ranks are prepared to accept such a view fairly and squarely. The government has also undertaken to deal vigorously with Soviet dumping."

The Morning Post, another Conservative newspaper, believes a new era has opened for the Empire, and what for a generation has been a dream is now to become a reality.

"It was the desire of some persons, both here and in Canada," says this paper, "that the conference should fail. Socialist adversaries may be excused, but what shall be said of those nominally supporting the National governments, professing loyalty to the Empire, who pressed their opposition to the point of vulgar persistence in rudeness to the Canadian Premier. It is not at all necessary to ascribe to Mr. Bennett all the Roman virtues, but he is after all the Premier of our greatest Dominion and should therefore be entitled at least to common courtesy."

"His name," added The Morning Post, "will secure honorable remembrance in British History."

"There is no sign of any general lowering of Dominion tariffs," The News Chronicle adds: "The aim put forward by Canada could manifestly has been the diversion of foreign trade into United Kingdom channels. The best we can hope for is that the restrictions imposed may prove rather less mischievous than seem probable."

EXPECTATIONS ARE HIGHEST

Delegates' Message to King Full of Highest Hope

Ottawa, Aug. 20 (CP)—The close of the Imperial Economic Conference was signalized by the adoption of address to the king expressing the "respectful duty" of the delegates and an assurance of the "devotion and affection of your peoples." The reply to His Majesty expresses satisfaction that the "achievement has justified the high expectations with which the conference was opened."

Message To King.

The text of both address and reply, follows:

"To His Majesty the King, Emperor of India: The representatives of the governments of the British Commonwealth, who have been assembled in conference at Ottawa during the past few weeks, desire at the conclusion of the conference again to present their respectful duty.

"They pray that divine providence may continue to give to Your Majesty and to Her Majesty the Queen, health and strength to preside over the destinies of all the nations of the commonwealth and then renew the assurance of the affection of your peoples."

From The King.

"I appreciate very much the message which the representatives of the governments of the British Commonwealth have sent to me on the termination of the Ottawa Confer-now," he said, "but the achievement has also undertaken to deal vigorously with Soviet dumping."

The Morning Post, another Conservative newspaper, believes a new era has opened for the Empire, and what for a generation has been a dream is now to become a reality.

"It was the desire of some persons, both here and in Canada," says this paper, "that the conference should fail. Socialist adversaries may be excused, but what shall be said of those nominally supporting the National governments, professing loyalty to the Empire, who pressed their opposition to the point of vulgar persistence in rudeness to the Canadian Premier. It is not at all necessary to ascribe to Mr. Bennett all the Roman virtues, but he is after all the Premier of our greatest Dominion and should therefore be entitled at least to common courtesy."

"His name," added The Morning Post, "will secure honorable remembrance in British History."

"There is no sign of any general lowering of Dominion tariffs," The News Chronicle adds: "The aim put forward by Canada could manifestly has been the diversion of foreign trade into United Kingdom channels. The best we can hope for is that the restrictions imposed may prove rather less mischievous than seem probable.

ence. The Queen and I thank them all most sincerely for their expressions of devotion and good wishes. Your work has been arduous and intricate, but I rejoice to think that your achievement has justified the high expectations with which the conference began and has been able not only to conclude important agreements but to lay the foundations for the future development and promotion of trade within the British Empire, but also to adopt principles to help its future development.

"I am confident that the result of your labors, and the spirit of co-operation and mutual helpfulness which has brought about their success, will be of real benefit to my people."

"I wish you all godspeed, and a safe and happy journey homeward."

MAY ABANDON LONG FLIGHTS

Saint John, Aug. 20. — After his record return flight across the Atlantic, Captain J. A. Mollison will abandon long distance flying, it was hinted, he intimated here.

"I'm a married man now and am settled in a commercial type of flying," he said, at the same time making it clear that he had no intention of giving up his aviation career.

Captain Mollison also remarked that he would endeavour to persuade his wife, Amy Johnson, also to abandon perilous flights.

"It seems that most of the ground has been broken so far as being the final to fly anywhere is concerned here," he said.

LOWERING OF BARRIERS AID SAYS REPORT

No. 1 Committee Reports on Promotion of Trade Within Empire

MUTUAL GAINS

Details of Agreements Are Annexed to Report

Ottawa, Aug. 20 (CP)—Declaring the conviction that the lowering or removal of barriers between the various parts of the British Commonwealth will lead to stimulation and increase in Empire and world trade, Number One committee of the Imperial Economic Conference reported today. The report of the committee is the main committee of the conference dealing with the promotion of trade within the Commonwealth.

The report, which was included in the Conference proceedings issued today, declares that the various nations of fthe British Commonwealth have entered into agreements for the extension of mutual trade by means of reciprocal preferential tariffs. It does not indicate the nature of these agreements even in broad outline. The agreements, however, are made an annex of the report.

Sound Economics

Conclusion of these agreements, the report states, are a step forward "which, should in the future lead to further progress in the same direction and which will utilize protective duties to ensure that the resources of industries of the Empire are developed on sound economic basis."

Paragraphs dealing with Empire content and depreciated currency as affecting trade, are included in the report.

Following is the text of the report of Number One committee dealing with promotion of trade within the Empire:

Negotiation of Trade Agreements

At its first meeting the committee decided that the formulation of any proposals which might be submitted to the delegation of the United Kingdom would be assisted by the constitution of five groups made up of representatives of the Dominions which were interested in: (1) Dairy products (including poultry eggs); (2) Meats (including live cattle and pig products); (3) Fruits and vegetables; (4) cereals (including flour); (5) metals (including iron and steel). Tobacco was formed later on.

These groups held numerous meetings and their activities were of great assistance in connection with the negotiations which took place between the United Kingdom and certain of the Dominions. The results of these studies in respect to each group of commodities were considered by an informal committee. Inasmuch as the groups and the co-ordinating committee were constituted as regular sub-committees of the main committee of conference, no report was made by them to the committee. Their conclusions, as they reached, however, were made available by them for the use of the interested delegations.

An authority states that in 1931, 227,229 were drawing Spanish-American war pensions. Many have come from from Ere eight and a half thousand actual casualties!"

Sees Round Deflation of Costs Bring Them Within Present Prices

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—The only alternative to rising prices was a drastic, all-round deflation of costs to bring them within present prices and so restore profits, the Australian delegation declared here today.

The statement was delivered early in the committee's investigations and was only made known today when the report of the conference was released.

"The cut would apply not only to wages and interest — external as well as internal, private as well as public — but also to capital charges," Mr. Bruce said. "The peoples of the world, already so sorely tried, simply will not stand such further pressure. Continued cuts in wages would intensify an ugly situation. The writing-down of debts would take the form of the repudiation of inconvenient and defaults, quite possibly involving the collapse of the present financial system.

"I need hardly elaborate this. We are all in agreement, I think, with the Rt. Hon. Leader of the British delegation that a recovery in world prices is one of the essential features in the recovery of the world." He also suggested that there are limits to what even a large group of countries can do to raise their own price level if the price of prices in the outside world is persistently downward. Such a policy or scheme designed to secure a recovery of world prices could be evolved, it would be the most effective means of achieving our objective. Whenever international action, however, is suggested, those talking of it appear to evaluate a great conference of the nations at which world unanimity would be achieved and from which immediate results would follow."

Canada Gains Market for Farm and Forest as the Delegates Prepare to Sign

Historic Session at Ottawa Has Widened Preferential Field

FIVE YEAR PLAN

Dr. Manion as Liaison Officer Honored by Press

Ottawa, Aug. 20 (By The Canadian Press)—Delegates from the Old Land, of the Dominions and India will gather in the chamber of the Dominion House and, in public session will formally complete the signature of a series of agreements extending and confirming the principle of trade preferences within the British Commonwealth of nations.

Tomorrow closes a chapter opened in Ottawa in 1894. For it was at the Ottawa Colonial Conference of 1894, that a Canadian delegation laid down the principle of empire preference. It was in a budget presented to the Canadian parliament three years later that the principle of empire preference was recognized in tariff rates—a principle which, despite elections and change of government, has remained part of Canada's fiscal system ever since.

Will Widen Field.

Today's agreements will widen the existing preferential field. In agreements which the United Kingdom will sign with India and all the Dominions except the Irish Free State, the Old Country extends her existing quota, to food-stuffs, which have not carried a preference since the repeal of the Corn laws. She receives wider preferences in return. And the Dominions will sign trade agreements between themselves—Canada with South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Southter Rhodesia.

The general idea of the agreement is a five-year plan, which may then be terminated on notice or extended. And preferences granted under the agreements will be protected from foreign assault. The Russian dumper, who played such havoc with Canadian wheat and lumber in the British market, will be checked.

Decision of the conference in this regard is two-fold, namely: (1) No future treaty obligations shall be allowed to interfere with mutual preference.

(2) Empire countries will free themselves from such existing treaties as might interfere with mutual preference.

And the curtain drops today on an imperial conference such as has not been staged since it in the first over which a Canadian Prime Minister has presided. It is the first, which opened and now closes in public session. It has brought to Ottawa such number of industrialists, observers and newspapermen of many lands as no imperial conference ever attracted to London. The report Dr. Manion.

For the first time, a Canadian Cabinet Minister—Hon. Dr. Manion —acted as liaison officer between the conference and the press. Last night, social correspondents from the United Kingdom and continental Europe, from other Dominions, from the United States and South America gathered with their Canadian colleagues to pay tribute to the unfailing fairness and courtesy with which he has done his work.

Ocean-Flying Scot is Guest of Montreal at Great Air Meet

Montreal, Aug. 20.—Montreal today was prepared to welcome a distinguished visitor.

Captain J. A. Mollison was signalled his intention of flying here and remaining over night before going to New York with the intrepid aviatrix wealth has upon the completion of his Ireland-United States solo flight.

The captain, who ended a record-breaking journey yesterday in New York harbour, is due here at 4 p.m. afternoon, at St. Hubert, where the North Canadian air pageant began today. Tonight Col. W. A. Bishop, Canada's famous war ace, is to be host to the distinguished flier who will take off for New York tomorrow morning.

Col. W. A. "Billy" Bishop, V. C., Canada's wartime ace and the greatest of the British war pilots, will be a guest of honour, occupying a box in the stands. He will be host tonight at a dinner party.

Captain Al Williams of the U. S. Navy was to give a thrilling and stunting, nine planes from the U. S. marine corps station at Quantico, Va., arrived last night; Major P. De Seversky, one-legged Russian aviator, was to pilot his own plane. Albert Boillard of France was to do a free balloon ascent.

Over fifty planes from Roosevelt Field, N.Y., were expected this morning, an aerial argosy of goodwill from United States private flyers. .

Lower Lakes — Moderate west to southwest winds: fair and warmer today and most of Sunday. Then becoming unsettled; probably thunder showers.

Georgian Bay — Northerly winds; cloudy and becoming cooler tonight and Sunday; local thunder showers.

Saskatchewan — Thunder showers today and Sunday.

PARLIAMENTS MUST RATIFY NEW PACTS

Ottawa, Aug. 20—The agreements signed today among the United Kingdom and the various Dominions will be the closing session of the Imperial Economic Conference which has come into effect until ratified by the respective parliaments.

Sees Round Deflation of Costs Bring Them Within Present Prices

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—The only alternative to rising prices was a drastic, all-round deflation of costs to bring them within present prices and so restore profits, the Australian delegation declared here today. This was the suggestion of Right Hon. Stanley Bruce, leader of the Australian delegation speaking before the monetary committee of the Imperial Economic Conference.

The statement was delivered early in the committee's investigations and was only made known today when the report of the conference was released.

"The cut would apply not only to wages and interest — external as well as internal, private as well as public — but also to capital charges," Mr. Bruce said. BAPTIST UNION BIDS GODSPEED

The B.Y.P.U. of the Victoria Ave. Baptist Church held a most enjoyable party on Friday evening. The occasion was a farewell for Mr. Bob Austin, who is leaving Belleville to reside in England and for Miss May Hobson with a view to spending a visit.

The streamers, the large sail-boat and the poster bearing the words "Bon Voyage" made an appropriate setting for the party. The games were in charge of Miss Evelyn Mcmaster and were thoroughly enjoyed by the Young People.

After refreshments had been served, Miss Gertrude Fisher presented Miss May Hobson with a writing case and expressed the wish of the B.Y.P.U. that she have a very delightful trip.

Mr. Arthur Looby in presenting Mr. Bob Austin with a gift of gold, engraved cuff links, said how much the Belleville Baptist Church would He has been a valued and faithful member of the Church, Sunday School and Young People, and it is with regret that they learned of his departure for England.

Miss Hobson and Mr. Austin made suitable replies.

After the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," Mr. Sinclair closed with prayer.

R. S. M. Jordan was operated on for appendicitis late yesterday afternoon after he had been hurriedly taken to the local hospital that morning.

His many friends and ex-comrades Dominion-wide will join in trusting in and wishing for his speedy recovery.

Small Crowds At Flower Show

One of Finest Exhibition on Record is Held Here

After the earnest efforts of the president and other officers and the careful and arduous work of the show committee of the Belleville Horticultural Society, the attendance at their annual flower show held in the armouries Thursday and Friday was so lamentably small, as to in no way recompense them for their labors. A very fine exhibition was staged, but the almost negligible interest shown by the community this year would scarce warrant a repetition of the event next year, unless a greater interest was in some more be developed among the flower growers, gardener enthusiasts and

KEEN INTEREST IN PHENOMENA

Hundreds View The Large Boulder Now at Quarry

Keen interest has been evidenced by residents of the city and district over the pre-historic boulder unearthed by workers at the city quarry, which was described some days ago.

During the past week hundreds have visited the quarry to watch their every eyes the natural phenomena formed countless thousands of years ago by the crushing power of the glacier's smooth, tapering circular sides of the twenty foot excavation in the rock, formerly the bed of the river ages ago, has created much comment, as has the three ton, blue-grindtie boulder, which lies in the bottom of the pit. Discussion over whether or not the boulder caused the circular wearing action in the rock, or whether it was merely gravel laden water being whirled about, is still rife among amateur geologists. Officials of the department of public works have given instruction to the workmen at the quarry to leave the object undisturbed for a few days to give all who truck) it; cream, No. 1, ft. (f.o.b.)

Produce in Payment of First Paper Published 150 Years Ago

Century Old Paper Issued in Belleville is in Existence

HEALTH BOARD

Mr. Hope McGinnis of this city has in his possession a copy of a newspaper which was published in Belleville just one hundred years ago and which he prizes very highly. The copy is that of the Hastings Times and the date of issue is August 14, 1832. The issue is made up of four pages of six columns each and contains much general news of the world at that time.

Following is the publisher's announcement: "The Hastings Times is printed and published every Tuesday by William A. Weller, for the Proprietors. Front street, Belleville, U. C. Terms—Delivered to subscribers in the village of Belleville at Seventeen shillings per annum; and to subscribers from the country who may call or send for their papers, fifteen shillings per annum; when sent by mail, twenty shillings. Produce received in payment at the usual prices."

The first Board of Health in Belleville was organized at this time and the following Item shows: "It is by no means unworthy to remark that while Belleville takes place around us has been visited with greater or less severity of fresh assourge, the Cholera, Belleville has, thank God, hid desolating influence. How long we may continue to enjoy such happy exemption is not for us to divine—let us rather direct our thoughts to a proper consideration of the cause and continue in the use of those means, that, in the hands of God, may be made instrumental in still preserving us from the scourge. The first intimation given us of the disease having reached the province was by the sudden and fatal attack among our inhabitants and led to the appointment of a Board of Health that did much during its operations in improving the cleanliness of the town and produced a state of things greatly to be desired—a total cessation of the disease, whether in the possession of remedies or the ordinary means for the existence of malignant disease."

The paper contained a fair amount of local advertising. Daniel Perry advertised that he has just received an extensive supply of staple goods, chiefly adapted for farmers' use and that he will pay cash for wheat flour and pot ashes. Baldwin & Dafoe advertise that they pay the highest price for good merchantable ashes, and that Asahery, one half in cash and one half in goods, also takes them on account. The steamer Sir James Kempt is advertised to leave Belleville for Kingston every Tuesday and Friday morning at 8 o'clock. Robert D. Fitzgerald advertises to the citizens that he has rented the house known and occupied as Carnon the Masonic Hall in the town of Belleville and has fitted it up in elegant style and that travellers' baggage will be taken free of charge to and from the steamboats. Henry Baldwin advertises that he will pay reasonable for any goods landed at his wharf which they are stored, sold, forwarded announces that he has been appointed agent for the Commercial Bank of The Midland District. Joseph Rixby Herchmer, Attorney, gives notice that he has removed his office to the rooms above the Court House on Pinnacle street. Miss Swainson gives particulars as to the courses of study and the charges for young ladies attending the Belleville Seminary.

The Hastings Times of August 16, 1832, is indeed, a very interesting newspaper and gives the reader of the present an idea of the life led by the good people who resided in Belleville one hundred years ago.

OBITUARY

LATE MRS. ETTA SPEERS

The funeral of the late Mrs. Etta Speers, widow of Mr. Joseph Speers, took place on Monday afternoon from the Tickell and Browne Funeral Home, 170 Front street, to the Belleville cemetery. The Rev. H. B. Neal conducted the service at the home and at the place of interment. Though the funeral was private in nature, a large number from many relatives, numerous personal friends and those of the deceased were in attendance, while the wealth of beautiful floral offerings testified to the esteem in which Mrs. Speers had been held by her friends, and the sympathy felt for those bereaved.

The bearers were all relatives of the deceased.

ALEXANDER ROBERTSON

Alexander Robertson, 211 Grenadier Road, Toronto, died last week after an illness of short duration. He was born in Belleville 81 years ago, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Robertson formerly of Pictou, N.S. He had resided in Toronto for 56 years and was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Left to mourn his loss are the widow, one brother, T. E. Robertson of Winnipeg, and a sister Miss Jessie Robertson.

The remains were forwarded by the Belleville Burial Co., Friday morning, C.N.R. mixed train to Toronto for interment.

MRS. IDA S. ENGLISH

Mrs. Ida S. English, widow of the late Charles English, passed away Friday in the Private Patients' Pavilion of the Toronto General Hospital. The deceased was the daughter of the late William Jr. and Jane Ivy and was born in Seymour township, Northumberland; she was educated in the schools of Campbellford and resided there after her life till recently when she removed to Belleville to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Roblin, 85 Chatham Street. Mrs. English was a member of the Campbellford United Church and of the Order of the Eastern Star (Adelaide Chapter.)

To the members of the family bereaved in the passing of an esteemed and loving mother and sister is extended the sympathy of their large circle of friends here and throughout the adjoining counties.

The immediate family surviving are two sons, Everett of Flint, Mich., and Charles of Peterboro; three daughters, Mrs. Harvey Polishe of Beaverton; Mrs. Wm. Seabrook of Toronto, and Mrs. Walter Roblin of this city, with whom the deceased of late resided. Remaining also are a brother, John Ivy, of Campbellford, and three sisters, Mrs. McLean and Mrs. Nellie Diamond, both of Trenton, and Mrs. David Wood of Peterboro.

The remains were transported from Toronto to the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Parlour, Front street, to which latter is the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Roblin.

MISS MARGARET NORRIS

The death occurred Friday in the local hospital following a sudden illness of Miss Margaret Norris of 130 Dundas street. Miss Norris was born in Thurlow Township seventy-one years ago, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norris. She attended school in the Blue Island, Ill., but has lived in Belleville for the past twenty-five years and resided with her sister, Mrs. David Peoples at the address above noted. The late Miss Norris was well known by many and respected and esteemed as a kindly and a thoughtful friend.

One sister, Mrs. David Peoples is the only surviving immediate relative and to her is extended the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

Lady Motorist Shows Her Skill

Officer Says She "Can't" Turn But She Really Does

Northbound and southbound traffic was routed by Const. O. E. Sidney late Friday afternoon. In the middle of the street a lady driving a car with Kingston markers, hampered by cars parked at each curb, attempted to make a complete turn. Stalled traffic grossed and displayed impatience by insistent beeking of horns. With perfect aplomb the lady operated her machine forward, backing, & police officer, attracted by the commotion, hurried up.

"Here, you can't make a complete turn on Front street," gasped Officer Taylor, as the lady commenced to drive away.

The lady leaned out of the car and smiled sweetly: "Oh, yes I can, officer, although I had to back up twice to do it."

GOOD FOOD
Delicious food, quickly served, eaten fast as he could brush it off, and there's hardly anyone on the street. He's just packing up when a couple of men come along wanting to get into the ring. One of them seems to be very sorry. He moves some of his crates and lets them in.

About five minutes later, a shot, loud enough to wake the dead, startles him. This was followed by two more in rapid succession. He peers hastily through the thickly falling snow to see what was happening. He didn't have to wait long.

In another second, the warning siren on the outside of the bank building shrieked its lone, weird note —it's a robbery alarm! A man, with a gun in his hand, plunged down the alley toward Casey.....one of the men he had just let in. Two had come with a truck and drawn guns were after him. The man, facing Casey, stopped, with lying in the snow.

A machine, with powerful, purring motor, drew up to the curb just as the frantically running robber reached the spike stands.

There might have been a second when Casey thought of getting out of the way—a second that he thought of his wife and kids, but he didn't duck. Instead, he reaches down quick and picks up one of his empty crates, holding it up in front of him as if to ward off the three bullets that hit him almost at once. Then he slumps down—coughing

A Belleville Boy's Success

"Hitch your wagon to a star" is a good motto, but when Mr. F. LaPalm or 'Howard,' as he is known to a great many friends, entered the cartage business in Belleville seventeen years ago, he found that a horse was much more useful and so he commenced his business career in his native city as a very young man by hitching one horse to a wagon and going out in search of patronage from business men and citizens generally.

By giving prompt and satisfactory service in a cheerful manner, 'Howard' soon built up a good connection, his business grew steadily and in order to take care of it properly he added gradually to his equipment until it consisted of four horses and several wagons, the handling of which made necessary the employment of several men.

Mr. LaPalm was ambitious and progressive and three years after commencing business he recognized the great advantages afforded by the use of motor trucks, which were then becoming used largely in this district, and he disposed of horses and wagons and purchased a motor truck, as far as his business was concerned horses and wagons were a thing of the past. The first truck was soon followed by the purchase of another and today Mr. LaPalm has an equipment of excellent motor trucks consisting of one large closed van and four large open trucks.

From a purely local business, Mr. LaPalm's business has grown to include all territory where motor transports can travel and contracts calling for the sending of his huge trucks hundreds of miles from Belleville are quite common. Trips have been made to Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester, Brooklyn, Boston and many places in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. All goods are covered by insurance while in his charge.

Mr. LaPalm's office and garage is located at 165 Pinnacle Street. In this building there is also special space set apart for the storage of goods and merchandise.

No cartage order is too small or too large to be satisfactorily handled by LaPalm's trucks and the same careful and cheerful service is given to small contracts as is given to the larger ones.

Mr. LaPalm is an active and enthusiastic member of the Kiwanis Club and he is much interested in all sports, especially baseball and hockey. 'Howard' is a Belleville boy and he loves his 'old home town.'

APPLES

By Ernest Goodwin Monigle

Courage crops up in strange places, and under strange circumstances. This is a story of one of those circumstances.

The morning was cold and blustery, as I left the subway on my way to work. A few flakes of snow were in the air as I stopped at Casey's apple stand for my usual two Baldwins.

Casey was a chap, who a couple of months ago, set up a little apple stand in the narrow alley that separated my store from the State Bank and Trust Company. Quite a chap was Casey. Always a big smile on his face—always finding something to laugh at. You know the kind I mean? A-real sor—ine kind you instinctively like.

Well, as I was saying, he set up his apple business and peddles out those Baldwins. Pretty tough going though. Folks didn't have many spare nickels. But he keeps at it.

One day, under a perfect of getting warm, I got him into the store and he tells me a little about his bad breaks. Not much though, for he wasn't a talker. He tells me about being laid off over at the shipyard—government program of curtailment, you know. After that he hunts around for another job —any kind, but there's thousands doing the same thing, so, after a hundred disappointments, he gets into the apple selling racket, hoping it would keep him going until spring came along.

He tells me all this with his head down—with his eyes on the floor. Kind of ashamed I guess to be spewing about his hard luck. Then he tells me that he's got a wife and two kids, over in Brooklyn somewhere. His head comes up as he starts talking about them—he lo-ves right at me. That's when I get my first good look at his eyes ....big blue ones—the biggest I've ever seen.... calm unafraid eyes—with courage written in their depths.

I confess I only thinking then that the Almighty never gave eyes like those to any man, without handy some defining plan behind the giving. And he sure had a plan for Casey!

I wish you could have heard him as he talked about his little family. He not only loved them— he adored them.

"You see," he says, as he puts on his nittens and starts to leave, "I've got to make a go of this apple selling—I've simply got to. I'll get by somehow on the few bucks I can pick up."

You can't beat a guy like that! Well, all this happened the first week I knew him. I never did get him into the store again. Coming in, even for a few minutes to get warm, might mean a lost sale—and he wasn't losing any sales.

I'm getting a little away from my story though.

It's a few more flakes of the morning, had by noon, turned into an old fashioned blizzard. I saw Casey at lunch time, and I tell him he better pack up and go home. But he says he'll stick it out a while longer.

Now, I'm not exactly sure of what happened next, but here's how I dope it out. Along about two o'clock the storm gets so bad that Casey decides to call it a day. The snow was covering up his apple as fast as he could brush it

Casey never saw it coming. He never even saw the guns. He didn't have to. He didn't even have to duck. He just let it hit him—let it hit him square in the face—let it hit him in the eyes—let it hit him in the nose—let it hit him in the mouth—let it hit him in the chin—let it hit him in the throat—let it hit him in the chest—let it hit him in the stomach—let it hit him in the groin—let it hit him in the legs—let it hit him in the knees—let it hit him in the shins—let it hit him in the feet—let it hit him in the toes—let it hit him in the heels—let it hit him in the ankles—let it hit him in the calves—let it hit him in the thighs—let it hit him in the hips—let it hit him in the buttocks—let it hit him in the back—let it hit him in the shoulders—let it hit him in the arms—let it hit him in the hands—let it hit him in the fingers—let it hit him in the fingernails—let it hit him in the elbows—let it hit him in the armpits—let it hit him in the ribs—let it hit him in the lungs—let it hit him in the heart—let it hit him in the liver—let it hit him in the kidneys—let it hit him in the spleen—let it hit him in the intestines—let it hit him in the stomach—let it hit him in the brain—let it hit him in the head—let it hit him in the hair—let it hit him in the ears

THE EMPIRE A REALITY

With the close of the Imperial Conference at Ottawa, a month of the vastest importance to the empire countries and to the world at large has passed with two score of Empire pacts signed and sealed to recast the trade of the world, its routs and methods, and with an expression which proves that the Commonwealth of Empire nations is not a mere phrase but a living entity, which means more to the individual component nations than it ever mean to those three quarters of the earth outside the ring of the Empire.

This is one thing in which Britishers must be proud. Britain and her far-flung Dominions mean a great deal to one another. "The Federation of the World" was a phrase coined in the nineteenth century and it is yet unrealized but there is a federation in which the nations are free, a federation which binds closer than any armies and navies can do, with the cement of unity and ideal, and that is the British Empire. Ancient Empires and others have marched forward with the power of the sword and the fallen Roman empire was more powerful sword-arm loses its cunning. But to goodwill and identity of ideal, there is no such danger.

The feeling which comes out of the conference and the pacts which have been made after the most thorough investigation and study is that the trade channels of the world will be changed for the benefits of the Dominions.

The modern world is concerned not mainly with armies and fighting but with trade and social legislation. What has happened in the past few years with the restriction of business is all too apparent. Napoleon who tried to dominate with a sword, as have many since and established empires, made a great mistake, he drenched the world in the Napoleonic wars and created an era of parasitism which brought out in time other wars and revolutions and finally the world war. But Napoleon said one thing which was true that Britain was a nation of shop-keepers. He was sarcastic when he said that, but in large measure it is true, though it is not the only truth. Now Napoleon's own France on which he was going to build a world domination has proven she is anxious to be a nation of shopkeepers. Anywhere British people know the value of trade and trade is the great outstanding foreign business of governments.

British peoples' way is not bureaucratic domination but unity in diversity which is far-flung Dominions provide. British trade is essentially world trade, no other group of nations being so geographically related to grapple with world problems. A world Empire of trade for the betterment of the nations is the ideal and because Britain's Dominions are world wide, the world looks to her for the safest trade principles.

THE CHURCH IN RUSSIA

It is reported that there is to be a liquidation of all churches in Russia except twenty churches, chapels and houses of prayer to be completed at the end of next year.

If the story is true the Soviet is making a determined attack on the church and it seems almost amazing that even twenty are to be left although how few twenty are is realized when Belleville has almost that number of religious institutions, large and small.

Even if all the churches were eliminated the natural turn of the Russian who is of a highly religious nature may lead to bring religion back to its place in the nation, though its form may be different. Soviet principles which are materialistic though working with a naturally religious people feel the church stands in the way of the completion of their material aims. Back of the situation lies the fact that the church in the minds of the Russians is a part of the system which was beaten down with the crushing of the old imperial regime. The close relationship of church and state in those days is not forgotten. This is what drives the idealistic Russian of today still against the church to wipe out all traces of autocracy in the Soviet Republic. It is therefore almost natural that they should condemn the merits as well as the faults of the church, confounding them all in its condemnation.

What effect it will have on the Russian people to have the traces of the church wiped out remains to be seen. Will it make for a mass naturally religious quite godless and atheistic, even if individually the Russian preserves a trace of religion?

CHEER UP, Summer of 1932 is rapidly passing into history, but a Canadian fall is about the finest thing that poets ever dreamed of. September and October with their bright sunshiny days, cool delightful evenings, and Nature's finest color display in foliage, flower and grassy terrain, are the finest months in the year in Canada—when the harvest is safely garnered and the farmer can find opportunity to attend the fairs or take a motor trip to visit distant relatives, after all the hard summer's work —happy in the assurance of work well done and exigencies of winter discounted. Health, peace and contentment, these are the blessings most prized and sought after —and where easier to get than right here in Ontario thrice blest by all the gods of Nature and the Great Master Workman of All?

GREATEST ATTRACTION since the evenings of Wash. and Toronto Fair will be visible on the second day of Belleville Fair, Wednesday, August 31, when the officers of the Fair declare that patrons will be given the opportunity of viewing the sight of a lifetime, an almost total eclipse of the sun and there is no better place for observing that unusual phenomena than the Exhibition Grounds at Belleville, where the elevation is high and the visibility unobscured. Astronomers tell us that this eclipse will be almost ninety per cent total here at its maximum which will be at 3.24 standard time. The shadow will be visible first about 2.15 and will finally disappear about 4.28, but at no time during the eclipse will there be total darkness here. Hence, the Fair officials are of the opinion that the best place in this vicinity to observe the eclipse is from Belleville Exhibition Park on the second day of Belleville Fair.—Prescott: Bob Mitchell says the eclipse of the sun will POSITIVELY TAKE PLACE on the date specified, but that nothing on earth or in the heavens can stop the eclipse from Belleville Fair, 1932 Edition, Bigger and Better than ever.

"PLEASE BEAR IN MIND that heart disease does not mean shortened life; but it does mean that your expectation of life will be shortened. Will you not respect you give your heart." Thanks for those few kind words from an eminent specialist Senator Royal S. Copeland, M.D., former Commissioner of Health, New York City. Dr. Copeland, in a recent syndicated article, discussed heart conditions, so prevalent in this mad, fast-moving age. Dr. Copeland points out the great amount of work the heart has to do, and the urgent need of giving the overworked organ as much rest as possible in order that it may recuperate and renew its strength for its daily work. "Few realize," says Dr. Copeland, "that the heart, like any other muscle in the body, requires rest when fatigued. If the heart muscle is allowed to rest and be relieved of strain, it becomes refreshed and strengthened, able to resume the normal demands made upon it." Violent exercise is taboo, regular sleep, afternoon rest periods and even weekly rest as possible in order that it may recuperate in advanced cases. One or two hours rest in the middle of the day has helped many of the "heart condition" patients, says the learned medico, who says "it is only a foolish man who whips his tired horse toward bound." See your doctor at regular intervals, and examination of heart, lungs and blood pressure at specified times is a wise precaution, concludes Dr. Copeland. What a pleasant prescription, REST, to which might be added CHANGE, and if you have enough CHANGE try a sea voyage around the world, or the Mediterrean trip, or as Andrew H. Brown would say, OR SOMEFIN.

IMPORTANT TO WATCH TEETH OF CHILDREN

Preservation Necessary For Best Possible State of Health

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Personality

LOUIS E. BISCH

The condition of children's teeth is of the highest importance if the best possible state of health is to be maintained, and this applies not to the first or "milk teeth" as well as the permanent teeth just coming later.

Unfortunately many mothers pay little attention to the first teeth because they believe the child will outgrow the trouble, way at six or seven, yet these lovely baby teeth can deep decay be a source of infection just as readily as the final and more resistive set of thirty-two. Besides, the young child does not possess the resisting power as a child of disease that the older one has. To this fact many child sicknesses can be traced.

Furthermore, when the first teeth are poorly formed or grow irregularly they are usually marking the normal development of the jaws and the biting function of the teeth. Under such conditions children may not take kindly to food properly or mix it as they should with saliva, which is really a digestive process, and indigestion usually results, or even some more serious stomach, intestinal or intestinal disturbance.

Often the teeth abnormally placed, the biting surfaces of the upper and lower jaw should overlap and fit at all points; yet children are often allowed to go on with badly-shaped teeth, some of them growing, some receding, some higher or lower than others, and in extreme cases of so-called "malocclusion" have caused severe nervous troubles, even backward mental states, while general physical development has been greatly retarded in many instances. In some cases actual disfigurement of the face and features has resulted.

Strange as it may seem, perhaps, a mother should consider her child's teeth even before it is born. She should provide a diet which contains plenty of lime and phosphate to promote the growth of bone. Fresh vegetables, milk, fruit, and cereals are particularly good. Foods that are spicy, made-over dishes, rich pastries and the like must be avoided.

The condition of the prospective mother's own teeth is vital to the infant. If her teeth are carious, if they are chipped or if the malocclusion is present, she cannot chew her food properly, and therefore she thus inevitably pulls down her health and affects her baby.

The child must be taught, in order that it may have strong teeth and mother's milk, to eat foods that are nutritious and it contains in abundance the mineral and vitamin content necessary for sound first teeth. Chewing also strengthens the baby's jaw muscles and helps to develop the jaw bones, both essential for healthy teeth.

It has been estimated that 85 per cent of all children of school age have one or more decayed teeth!

All starchy, sugary and mushy foods must be restricted if children's teeth are to be protected. The whole wheat, wetbach, celery, carrots, apples, lettuce, cabbage, and the like, with fibre and hardness, are good for teeth.

Candy does not "spoil" teeth if and by itself, but does so indirectly if eaten between meals because it spoils the appetite and so interferes with nutrition. Candy should only be eaten right after meals.

The importance of regular brushing of the teeth and gums, at least twice a day and preferably after meals, goes without saying.

The Nats are beginning to go places and do things and justify the confidence the fans have placed in them.

While the Kingston Ponies, who thought all they had to do was to go through the motions of throwing games and they would be invited to enter the next round of the O.B.A.A. playdowns.

But the pesky Nationals have upset all the dope and today are all keyed up for the curve-ball with respect to the outcome of the 1932 World's Series.

Kingston Ponies won the first game in a buggy ride and many thought it all over but the cheering. The Nationals came back and were well in front and going strong when rain interfered.

On Friday night they stepped down in the ballwick of the Ponies and held Walter Johnson, big pastor, "Tammy" Jamieson, and his cohorts to a 5-4 win and the way it blazed fan, who witnessed the pastime will say the Nationals certainly had no rabbit's paw in their pockets. They should have been going away, by rights, they should have shut out the Ponies except for a wild throw by Weir in the ninth when he let a double play go by the boards and a run score. Then with a hit bateman and a walk with the bases loaded forced the tying runs across the platter. Belleville still had a real chance for the finish tag with their two games to be played on the home lot. The first one will be Saturday night and Tommy Pointer will go gunning for the Ponies, while Lefty Weir on his smart performance in Kingston on Friday should put the Nats in the ring row and make the Ponies come from behind to win. It should be a thriller as the first real edge the Nationals have had this season and there are a number of fans who hope that such will be the case.

Called Game

The game was not without its thrills and the cash customers were kept on anxious nails until the last out was registered. Kin Colling, who sits behind the plate, was put in a tough spot, when after conferring with his helpmate, Pat Walsh, called the game at the end of the ninth on account of darkness. Probably there was no time to play another inning but the sides would have to have been put out in one, two, three order to accomplish that end. As it was the umpires used good judgment and there is still another day. Tetro watched the game from the vine recesses of the dugout, when he talked the matter to the base umpire on a close play at first base. Incidentally it was about time that ball players were taught that the umpires run this game, and no such has not been the case in the season just passed and the whole trouble has been caused by the umpire system in vogue in this loop. Providing the league operates again next year it would be money well spent if the league decide to have neutral umpires. Harry Morgan, who was most versatile in the outer garden, sustained a badly wrenched ankle when he hooked third base on a close play. He was carried to the bench and Dr. Ryan, of Kingston, kindly came over and examined the injured member and eased the worries of the manager, Walley Gerow, when the physician informed him, it was only a bad sprain. Harry continued in the game but came out when Pointer went to the mound in the eighth.

Had Chance to Win

Belleville had a splendid chance to win the old ball game but probably it was not the cards. The umpires had many close plays during the game and in all worked a smart contest. Probably the turning point of the battle was in the eighth frame. The National were leading by one run and Kingston had the bases loaded with C. Quinn, Vince and Elliott on the pillows. Pointer had the pitch but this was undoubtedly a ball but the second strike was called and again called a ball. Right then and there the game should be finally walked the batter to force the tying run home. It was the best played game of the series so far and there were many exciting moments. Jamieson pitched well but he weakened slightly in two frames. He struck out two and walked but one, yet he had the Ponies hitting them in the air and the outfield roamed hither and yon to pull them all in. In the seventh Harry Morgan and Morris certainly gave a sweet exhibition of fly chasing and Morris' catch in the ninth frame was a gem. Cosbie made a nice play at a tight pinch.

Barriage Led Hitters

"Cy" Barriage led the National hitters with three singles in four tries, while "Jakie" Quinn for the Ponies was close behind with two out of five. Jimmy Arnel also got a brace of hits, while Cosbie, Morris each swatted a double. Belleville went to the front in the fourth when Mills singled and on trying to nip him off first he arrived at second. Scarlett scratched a hit in the infield and "Peeney" stopped at third. Morris bounced a double to centre field and Mills scored, Scarlett stopping a third. Barriage dropped a Texas leaguer in right field, Scarlett and Morris scoring and Barriage going to second when a play was made at home plate. Chambers walked, Morgan hit to Elliott who miscued on a soft chance and the bases were loaded. Alex Weir hit to Quinn and Barriage was forced at the plate, the runners all moving one. Cosbie slammed a single to right and Chambers scored. Cressey looped to Vince in centre and Mills up for the second time forced Cosbie at second when he hit to Compeau, who made a nice play.

The Ponies got two of the runs back in the fourth when Vince singled and he scored when Quinn's hit went through Cosbe's legs for a double. Arnel singled, Quinn stopping at third, Elliott aiked to Morris and Quinn scored after the catch, Arnel stole second and McQuade drew a life on Cosbe's error. Stood hit to Cosbe who made a perfect peg home to catch J. Arnold and Compeau grounded out to Barriage to end the rally. Their last two runs were secured in the eighth. Quinn singled and Jimmy Arnel walked. Elliott bolsted to Morris and McQuade singled to fill the sacks. Weir worked too hard on Stone who was hit forcing in a run. At this point Pointer went to the mound and he struck out Compeau. G. Arnel was worked on but he also walked forcing in the tying run. Jamieson fouled to Cressey for the third out. The last innings was played with Kingston failing to score and the game was called. Some hot-headed fans crowded around the umpires and they received a number of boos from kicks about the legs from the disgruntled fans. It was not the fairest kind of sportsmanship, but peace soon prevailed.

Wrestling Card Scintillated While Local Boxer Lost a Decision to Peterboro Boxer

Towel Thrown in Ring After Minicola Had Smark Down.

GOOD CROWD

"Whitey" Hewitt Had to Show His Wares to Best Williams

Hopelessly outclassed from the opening bell in a scheduled ten round bout, the wrestling show held in Belleville Arena last night, George Smark, local boxer, was saved at the count of nine in the second round from further punishment at the hands of stocky Leonard Minicola, Peterboro boxer, who had received a cut lip and a broken nose in a wild flurry of savage punching of approximately three minutes' duration.

In the previous round Smark had been knocked down for the count of eight, and Minicola, afraid of a playful form and aggressiveness far in excess of that shown in a previous bout with Smark some weeks ago, when the local lad opened a cut over Minicola's eye which stopped the bout. Decidedly out of condition, Smark, however, gamely took a terrific three minute lacing from a man who has been rated as the best of shape. Medical attention following the throwing in of the towel by Manager Green for Smark by Dr. G. H. Stoble, who was present.

Smark, who weighed in at 140 pounds, had one pound bes'er than his opponent.

The Best Show Yet

The show, one of the best ever staged in the city, was primarily a wrestling match, viewed by an estimated attendance of between six and seven hundred rooting, yelling, whistling fans, who cheered wrestling and boxing from start to finish. Careful study of the orderly crowd, of which a number were ladies proves beyond doubt that wrestling and wrestlers of the calibre displayed by recent bouts has gripped the attention of the fans of the city who have shown their appreciation of bouts which have been staged by Promoter Hamilton since at each one. Referee Jack Forbes of Toronto, handled each of all bouts which were presented last evening.

For the fans present there was just one bout of the evening according to the cheering and applause which was rendered. That was the semi-final between Frankie Hart, the Belleville crowd pleaser, and Alex Macdonald, who was booted and rassed unmercifully owing to his rough-house tactics over the amateur working Hart. Both boys having wrestled different opponents on previous cards here have come to be recognized.

Kaasboal Tough

Kaasboal, always a rough and tumble artist, did not disappoint. From the word go the scowling man from Renfrew mauled, hacked and tackled his five pound lighter opponent. In return he found himself repeatedly tied up in close mat work by the less showy and clever Hartsman. Flying tackles during which time Hart was hurled completely out of the ring twice were featured. Once Kaasboal followed Hart through the ropes and attempted to mix it up on the hard floor of the arena. Pass and Forbes (the referee), parted them. Following three heavy body slams by the boards Kaasboal scored the needed fall in 34 minutes. Hart lost the bout to Kaasboal but won it with the yelling, cheering crowd.

Opening Tilt Flashy

The opening bout was a flashy set-to by Bobby Sampson at present resident in the city, and "Red" Pasco, Chatham. Samson, who weighed in at 150 pounds, is possessed of one of the most perfect bodies yet seen in a ring. He gave away 8 pounds to his stocker opponent, but floored him without much trouble after 14½ minutes of the 30-minute bout following a series of flying tackles and body slams which had the fans on their feet cheering and pleading for broken limbs and more blood. Pasco gave Sampson a good face and instead of the former lers. Samson, the showman, was greeted with on previous occasions the crowd rooted slavishly and laughter for him to win.

The final bout in the earnest opinion of those who witnessed it was odious. Of the two hour limit which was set on it thirty-two minutes which were spent by "Whitey" Hewitt, 217, getting the first fall over "Cy" Williams, 215, both of Toronto, was used mostly in slandering around outside of the ring, sitting on the ropes, chewing and biting in the corners, and lugging and tussling in the centre of the mat. Hewitt, who clowned thru the whole performance distinguished himself by apparent utter disgust with Referee Forbes and scowling at the crowd who paid plenty of long power in returning Brest Cole and Ed Gatewaus, at his evident goal-setting.

Hewitt Used Everything

In odd moments he indulged in rabbit punching, kicks to the stomach of Williams, and grappling with Referee Forbes. Twice Hewitt came within an ace of being counted out by the referee, while he lay flat on his back watching the lights. As the referee counted to eight each time the crowd chanted the count with him in dolorous fashion. The sympathies of the fans were definitely with Williams who lost the first fall in 32 minutes.

The second round was a repetition of the first with Hewitt doing more visiting outside the ring than ever. Once he got tired wrestling and went and sat on the lap of a press reporter on the bench. When Referee Forbes managed to get him into the ring again to face the perspiring Williams he got no other decision over the latter when he deliberately brought the referee onto the floor. Williams was counted out before he could get to his feet. Sixteen minutes was the duration of the second round.

17 RINKS ENTER TWEED TOURNEY

W. Walshe of This City And Karey of Brighton Winners

Tweed, Aug. 20 (Special)—Seventeen rinks participated in the annual men's bowling tournament on Wednesday afternoon. The threesome event was partly responsible for the fact that there were not more entries. Belleville sent up four rinks one of which skipped by W. Walshe carried first prize and with it the Tweed bowling champion. Brighton also entry skipped by Mr. Karley captured second prize and Stirling's entry skipped by Walter Wright captured third prize and Mr. Fred Rose, of Tweed, fourth prize. Kingston was represented by one rink, Madoc by one, Norwood one, Deseronto one, Picton two and Tweed five. The ladies' bowling club had assumed responsibility for the refreshments and served a delightful supper in the club house.

Tennis Notes

When Tweed senior tennis players are set to hang up their rackets others will be ready to carry on and keep the town on the tennis map. The intermediate team took Brighton on Tuesday and trimmed Brighton on the latter's courts on Wednesday afternoon.

The results:

Men's singles, Sid Arber won from Vic Fraser, scores 6—4, 6—4.

Ladies' singles—Miss Clark won from G. Rose, scores 6—3, 6—2.

First Men's doubles—R. Rashotte and Sid Arber defeated H. Simmons and A. McPhee 1—6, 6—4, 6—3.

Second Men's doubles—C. Cordy and J. Ryan won from G. Gration and T. Wilson 6—2, 7—5.

Ladies' doubles—B. Gordon and M. Morrison won from G. Price and R. Strong 10—8, 1—6, 8—6.

Mixed doubles—C. Gordon and N. Bowers lost to F. Forbes and R. Brown 4—6, 6—7, 4—6.

The baseball game between Havelock and Tweed on Wednesday afternoon was interrupted at the conclusion of the fifth inning by rain, and players, spectators and umpires alike were forced to seek shelter from the storm. The score at the time was 10 to 3 in favor of the home team. The visitors who have played a fine season in the Trent Valley League, were without the services of one of their regulars, filling the vacancies with members of their junior team. They were quite out of their class, however, and would have been hopelessly overwhelmed had the game lasted the regulation nine innings. In fact, the only runs were the Bayy hitters for Tweed, while Hagerty, the baseman of Havelock team kept pace with them, also getting a total of two hits. Smith and Hooper included doubles among their hits. Freeman and D. Casey also contributed a two base hit. Havelock lost no time in entering the score column, McKenzie lead off man singled on the first pitch and Hooper brought him home with a double, scoring Marr on sacrifice by Matheson and McLaughlin. After Hooper was retired, Freeman, Marsh and Casey hit safely in to relief rules.

A few weeks ago the Yankees picked him up again from the Boston Red Sox and since here he is turning back trial batsmen when the going gets toughest.

Great Relief Hurling

He was shoved into the breach against the Detroit Tigers yesterday his third relief job in 15 last five days, and promptly saved the game for the Yankees. The Tigers had won the first battle, 6 to 5, when Hogsett outpitched Charlie Ruffing and broke the Yankees' streak of ten successive victories, and the second game was going up at 5-3, when Moore was sent in to hold the Tigers safe in the ninth. He did and the Yankees proceeded to win the game for him in the last of the same frame. Tony Lazzeri's single driving in the winning run. Babe Ruth clouted his 35th homer.

The Philadelphia Athletics got a four hold on second place by whipping the Cleveland Indians in both ends of a double header, 5-1, and 3-2, in 10 innings. Tony Freitas hung up his ninth straight victory in the nightcap. Washington's Senators tripped the Chicago White Sox, 5-3, but had valuable assistance from the Sox pitching who made six errors.

National League

In the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers moved into second place two games behind the Chicago Cubs by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 6-0, behind Van Mungo's six-hit pitching.

The Cubs dropped a 6-5 decision to the Boston Braves in the fourth game of a series in which every game has been decided by one run. Baxter Jordan batted in what proved to be the winning run in the ninth.

The New York Giants clouted Boston Braves and Leon Chagnon for six runs in the first inning and beat Phillies, 7-3, to stop the the Pirates into third place. Single-by Wilson and Plowers, with Bjylevcn batting for Johnson with two between, gave the St. Louis Cardinals the first tally over the Phillies in an 11 inning game, marked by sensational fielding by Jimmy Wilson and Ed. Holley. Johnson allowed only nine hits and fanned eight.

YANKEES SPLIT

Wiley Moore Saved 2nd Game After Ranks Drop First

(By Herbert W. Barker Associated Press Sports Writer)

Back in 1877 the New York Yankees won an American League pennant with the aid of the good right arm of one of the oldest rookies any major league club ever brought up to the big show. Now that same Rube, by his middle thirties now, is furnishing material assistance as the Yankees drive toward another championship.

He is Wiley Moore, relief hurler extraordinary. After two men were down, Crosse, third man up showed good judgment and was rewarded with a charity. This seemed to upset the Havelock twirler who gave the next two men a free pass him. A hit and an error did the rest and four runs came in. Callaghan struck out two of the batters he faced and allowed one base on balls while Champney retired four via the strikeout route including the side in the fifth, but was more generous with his free tickets to first, four batters being issued, three of which blossomed out with runs.

Mr. Picobac straightened his vest and continued.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Feet Are Getting Bigger And Better

When women chucked crochet needles and took up golf clubs they paved the way for the coming of any number of health and beauty gains. It was the interest aroused about abolished the steel riveted corset which has been howled down by kings and doctors and lace makers to no effect. When women discovered that it was more fun to play golf than to loll on the beach more than to loll on the beach more struggling to keep tennis than to sit on a veranda and twirl a parasol, muscles and restricted muscles experienced a feeling of buoyancy. As for feet, they broke away from the bondage of pointed toes and marched straight along, with no shame whatsoever, into number sizes.

Science tells now that foot beauty is not dependent upon slenderness. Clodpoles bearing up heavy carriages are a perfect sight-for-feet shape and proportion. Even as they bend with dramatic simplicity are no beauty aspect for the large women. What women wants are feet that are comfortable that are proportionate to the rest of her body, that carry her through the day's activities without twinge or ache.

So first of all she selects shoes that are thick-soled and wide for feets wear, shoes with moderate heels that have a fairly wide base when sitting shoes with a light strap for housework, and of course the more fetching styles for the merry evening. Chiropodists are like the mamas who say "rest your aching feet and then you can have your dessert" when they acknowledge that if feet are of ample width and proportion and are worn during the day, the luxuriating time spent sometimes in a few hours in the evening will do no harm.

The health and well being of the foot are dependent upon the manner of walking. Coming down first on the heel is one cause of flatfoot, a painful condition that has a deplorable effect upon the bony framework of the body and the nervous system.

The weight of the body should descend directly, neither on the toe or toe but upon that portion of the foot that is directly beneath the ankle bone. A shoe that fits snugly over the instep, no slip at the heel, with sufficient width that avoids uncomfortable pressure will in itself help in the development of good carriage.

When flatfoot has developed it is necessary to wear specially made shoes that provide support for the weakened arch and to resort to daily exercise suggested by a specialist in treatment of foot deformities.

Pedals fills are tenfold in warm weather. Walking in the sand, getting that exotic stocking-free tan will grind into the tender flesh of the under side of the toes, will cause a state of raw flesh and inflammation that is often maddening for ankles. The feet should be bathed immediately after a walk in the sand, hosiery and shoes changed.

For burning soles, there are various methods of relief baths with two quarts of tepid water to which a tablespoon of baking soda has been added, friction with olive or mineral oil, compresses that are moist, and ice cold.

Corns can be removed by means of the razor or ointments for that purpose that dissolve the "callous" skin but by pressure of the shoe continues, they will reappear. Scientific relief for shoe is the remedy for nearly all pedal ills.

LIBRARY CORNER

H. R. Knickerbocker, American newspaper correspondent and winner of the Pulitzer prize for his Russian articles "The Red Drama Cycle", has in his new book, "The German Crisis", analyzed the political, economic, and social problems of Germany. The author risks the judgment that Germany is potentially the strongest power in Europe, is financially the least secure, is politically the most divided and harbours socially the most explosive possibilities. The book is full of the fascination of a modern novel, — plot, tension, heroes and heroines and facts. The author's vivid journalism and realistic observation will make this book a popular one. Many photographs also show the precarious situation existing in Germany today.

"Behind the Scenes With Ourselves" by Carl Ramus, M. D., is a book which will appeal to all those interested in the study of psychology. Dr. Ramus gives a stimulating account of such varied subjects as neuroticism and normals, social inferiority and its effects, the inferiority and reputation and the psychology of criminal procedure. The book is home.

Group No. 6 of Tabernacle Women's Association under the leadership of Mrs. E. B. Bell held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. A. H. Fisher, 271 William street, with a splendid attendance which included several visitors from other groups, Mrs. Bell opened the meeting with prayer after which she offered congratulations and best wishes to four of the members whose birthdays occur in this month, and read some beautiful verses for their benefit. Then followed a lively program of contests and readings which added much jollity and laughter the hrs passed. Mrs. Fisher and Miss Marian served dainty refreshments, including a birthday cake made and donated by Mrs. Shorey.

Fashion Flashes

(By Alice Aiden)

Don't go away without a light silk coat for wear at night when an evening wrap is not desired. A charming model is in heavy slightly crinkled silk crepe in black. It has a tiny turn-over collar and cuffs, a molded waistline and a tie fastening in front. Grand for afternoon wear too.

You will see lots of little dinner hats next autumn. Typical of this fashion is a cap made of net onto which black velvet ribbon is appliqued on the form of stripe radiating from the centre of the crown. It is finished by a top rosette of wider black velvet ribbon.

Why not reveal the hair and use it as trimming for the hat? A brunette with glossy black hair wore a lovely hat of white cotton pique which is cut out in one side between the crown and the brim in a crescent shape. This cut-out is bordered with flat white pique roses that so the flowers edge the hair that shows through.

We have cottoned to cotton with a vengeance this season. Chanced is having huge success with her pique frocks and offers a new model in very pale blue. The skirt is cut in flared sections and has much animation and movement and the bodice is adorned with a ruche made of tiny blue pique forget-me-nots.

If you must go to a garden party or dressy afternoon function there are lovely frocks to gladden the occasion. Such a model is one of canary yellow mousseline de soie it has a V neck and deep ruffles over the shoulders. Pink, yellow and white cabbage roses of chiffon are placed in the centre of the bodice. The skirt is vertically tucked.

It isn't always easy to find a silk coat that is dressy and also attractive. A most original coat is made of heavily corded silk in a dark blue. It is cut on fitted lines and has a row of buttons down the centre front from collarless neckline to hem.

Don't Forget That The Children Don't Forget

Perhaps because a child's interests are short, because his fears are quickly dried by the offer of a ice-cream cone or coveted pleasure, we think that his little griefs are forgotten. Yet if you will stop to recall your own childhood, it will not be a far cry to remember a convince you that this is not true. We say "Oh, he'll forget it" but he doesn't.

It is safe to say children live few unhappy memories as possible, for unfortunately they will stick with him when they grow older and have but molded themselves passively into his nature.

I remember one incident, in a childhood that was full of them, forgotten, when my chum's mother telephoned and asked my mother if I could come over next afternoon and play. I went. I wore a white dress with little green dots on it. I shall never forget that dress, little green dots, and cuffs and collar edged.

It was clean and neat, HITS—the mother hadn't said anything about it's being a party and the other little girls all had their skirts, many little "best dresses" on. I held up my head, with conscious pride and a joyous chance to wear it. I had been "different" clearly in their child mind among the other children, and it was indeed a tragedy to me.

Through all these years I've remembered that, while the happy days in between are omitted away.

Let's remember that we mustn't think children have no feelings because they don't speak of their troubles. Children, whom we regard as open books, are amazingly inarticulate and bewildered when they are hurt, and it is up to us to see that they don't GET hurt; because they'll carry the little hurts with them longer than all the joys we have planned.

BAILIFF SEIZES CHURCHPROPERTY

Minister of Congregation Calls it High Handed Act

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 20.—Bibles, hymn books and an communion set, the property of the congregation of Westdale Presbyterian church, were seized by a bailiff yesterday and the officer of the law is now in possession of the edifice.

Declaring it to be a "high-handed" act, Rev. W. A. Graham Graham, pastor of the church, charged that the mortgagees were seeking to prevent the congregation from maintaining worship.

According to Rev. Mr. Graham, a group has been active in a move to oust him, but they have disappointed. Mr. Graham said his supporters constituted a majority of the congregation, but the bailiff was waiting to foreclose the present mortgage, force sale and buy it again to gain control.

The church was built only a few years ago at a cost of $65,000 and there is a $35,000 mortgage.

The locks of the original Walland canal built over a century ago, were constructed of pine timber.

Weddings

EMERY—KINCAID

TWEED—Miss Sarah Evelyn Kincaid, Rochester N.Y. daughter of the late William A. E. Kincaid was united in marriage on Tuesday to John Phillip Emery, Syracuse, N.Y., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Emery, Batavia, New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. N. Grant at Hoskin.

MADDEN—TWEED

TWEED—A very pretty wedding took place at St. Dartlagh's Roman Catholic Church, Tweed, on Tuesday last, when Amy Nora, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Fenwyn was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph Madden Rock Island Illinois, by Rev. Father J. P. Feeney, brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. Fathers W. J. Kinlin, S. LeSage and D. Hanley.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Mr. Raphael Rashotte. She was attended by her cousin Miss Mary Harkins, B.M., while Mr. James Madden acted as groomsman. During the ceremony Mrs. Neil O'Keefe of Campbellford and Mr. Edgar Boland, teacher at Sioco, sang. Following a luncheon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Madden by by motor for their home in Rock Island.

DOXSEE—BERRY

LONDON—Empress Avenue Unit. ed Church was the scene of a charming wedding Thursday evening when Rose La Vera, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Berry of this city, became the bride of F. A. Chisholm Doxsee of Belleville, youngest son of Mrs. E. R. Doxsee and the late Professor Doxsee of Regina.

The church was softly lighted with ivory tapers in tall brass candlesticks. On the altar was a large bream bowl of Talisman roses and fern.

Gladioli standing from palms and ferns, banked each side of the pulpit platform. The guest pews were marked with clusters of gladioli and roses.

Rev. Robert Hall of Belleville performed the double ring ceremony and read the marriage service, assisted by Rev. W. A. Walden, pastor of the church.

Miss Hazel Taylor, organist played the wedding processional and recessional and Gregh's "Ave Maria Dich" during the ceremony.

At 8.30 the bridal party entered the church led by the ushers, J. B. Boyd of Londesboro and M. B. Simpson of Scuth. The bride and Miss Mary E. Diefenderfer of Baltimore, maid of honour, were the only bridesmaid. She was gowned in softly draped taffeta chiffon over canary yellow. The broad girdle and sweep of taffaman red and larkspur blue fell into a short train. Her large drooping hat of yellow felt was covered with chiffon. She wore eyathell gloves and blue slippers, and carried a sheaf of Talisman roses and fern.

The bride was stately in a gown of cream satin, fashioned on long fitted lines and moulded to the figure with a high waistline and plain decolletage, and long tight sleeves pointed over the hands. The skirt fell into a full swirl below the hips, and was cut longer in the back, to form a graceful train. The bridal veil of silk net, bordered with wide Chantilly lace, was simply arranged in cap shape, was caught at the sides of the head with clusters of orange blossoms. The bride carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and lily of the valley, and wore cream gloves to complete her ensemble.

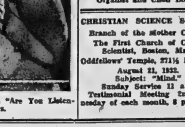
The groomsman was E. M. Berry of Detroit, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a wedding reception for immediate relatives and out-of-town friends was held at the home of the bride's parents in Oxford street. The table was centred with the bride's cake, and the decorations were carried out effectively with Pernet roses and gladioli. A buffet supper was served.

The bride and groom left by motor for Eastern Quebec, the bride travelling in a rust-colored suit with dark brown accessories. They will reside in Montreal.

RADIO SINGER INJURED WRIST

Helped to Put Out Fire When Motor of Sloop Caught Fire



Toronto, Aug. 20.—When the motor of their sloop caught fire as they were returning from Ontario towards Cowegn, N. Y., two men spent an anxious few moments before they extinguished the blaze. Byron Lear, New York radio singer, sustained an injured wrist in pulling out the flames apparently started by a cigarette lighter in the hands of his companion, Thomas Hammell, Niagara Falls, N.Y. After the craft had been brought back to Toronto for repairs, the pair continued their journey.

NOT AS ADVERSE AS WAS EXPECTED

New York, Aug. 20—Wall Street financial comment today says:

The conclusion of the Ottawa conference was one of the chief developments of interest in Wall Street, and while it appeared that American foreign trade might suffer somewhat, the results were probably not as adverse as expected. Several weeks ago, Gisel and textiles appeared o be the items in our export trade which would feel the adverse effects most. Our export trade, however, as reported for the July, had already fallen to the lowest level since July of 1906.

It is estimated that the sea canals of Holland will carry the whole dry land under a layer 400 feet deep.

FINANCIAL NEWS

WALL STREET TRADING LOW

Switching From Share to Bond Market Evident

New York, Aug. 20—The stock market drifted within a narrow trend week-end session in four weeks today, with prices fluctuating in a narrow run.

The list closed with a steady tone with a few issues up fractions to a point or more, but in the aggregate, the list was very close to the final level of the previous session. The turnover for the five-hour session was approximately 600,000 shares.

There appeared to be some switching of speculative attention to the bond market, which again pushed forward, somewhat less vigorously than yesterday, with railroad issues still in the lead. Professional traders appeared to have grown somewhat wary of the stock market, pending a demonstration of its ability to break through its recent upper resistance levels, but brokers felt that there were many buyers waiting to get into the market on a setback.

KNOCKED OVER BY BACKING CAR

Struck by a car which had backed out from a parking space on a Toronto street, near the market square, at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, Robert Montgomery, 14, resident of Thurlow, was knocked to the road but suffered slight injuries. The driver of the car did not see the boy passing behind the car as he commenced to back out, but applied his brakes in time to avoid running over him when his attention was drawn by a passenger who witnessed the scene. A loaded basket of vegetables carried by the youth sustained the most damage.

With the new radio telephone those being established this year, the United States will have 40 million telephone connections to 40 countries.

FOUR CARS INVOLVED IN ACCIDENT ON HILL

Attempting to pass a car driven southward by E. Mack of Point Anne, Kenneth Mcallister of Trenton, collided with the Mack car, striking it on the front fender and breaking it into the guard rail on Boardman's Hill about 11.45 p.m. Friday night.

Both cars swerved across the road and came to rest on the east side of the highway when two cars also driven southward, attempted to pass the Mack car. At the time there was an approaching car coming from the north and both cars attempted to pass the disabled cars. With an accident inevitable all three cars applied the brakes, with the result that the other three cars landed into the guard rail.

The driver's name of the northbound car was not ascertained while Mr. J. G. Christie and Kenneth Mack, both of Belleville, were driving the southbound cars.

Outside of a few minor damages to fenders and bumpers, none of the great damage was reported. The traffic officer who investigated the cause of the accident and no injuries to the occupants of the cars were reported.

SLIGHT DROP IN PRICE OF PRODUCE ON MARKET

A market drop in the prevailing prices of farm produce was quite in evidence on Belleville farmer's Belleville market, when the price of oats lowered to 18c a dozen. Butter, however, remained at the prevailing price of 24c a pound for 65c.

Plenty of fine looking chickens were offered to the purchasers at a rather low figure, when fine specimens of fowl sold at from 60c upward according to their weight. Other fine looking dressed chickens brought 85c a pair. A few ducks were sold at 75c a pair and one of goose coming was also offered at the inside market.

The outside market was the largest in point of attendance for years, when the farmers were forced to display their wares and merchandise. Financial conditions due to the fact, that all the available grain crops on the farm have been utilized early in the morning. Plenty of vegetables and fruits were in evidence when green corn sold at 10c a dozen and new potatoes sold at 25c a peck while tomatoes brought 30c a pint. Plenty of cucumbers were sold at a rather small figure when a few therefine looking cucumbers could be purchased for 10c, and cauliflowers brought 10c each.

Apples sold at 10c a peck while one vendor of late strawberries sold his wares at 20c a box. Long distance apples sold for 10c a box and raspberries brought 25c for two boxes. Huckleberries were also offered at 20c a quart and fine looking plums were sold at 10c a berry box. Peaches were offered to the purchasers at 30 and 35c a small basket.

CURRENT SPORT

Knocks and Boosts

Belleville got another baseball club in the O.B.A.A. play-downs when the local Victorias were returned winners of the semi-finals over the Bay of Quinte League after they had defeated Picton Athletics by the score of 4 to 2 at Napanee yesterday, we see. Once again Lionel Baker was the hero of the day and judging from his hitting ability of late, he will be a valuable asset to the Belleville Nationals next week.

X—X—X

The champion Victorias meet Deseronto in the O.B.A.A. play-downs.

X—X—X

We notice that Picton's extra base hits the Bellville Fruit lassies defeated in two games while in the play-off series in the local girls' league, will be the guests of the National Maids 14 to 9. The present play-off series has aroused considerable interest and the team that the winner should receive much credit for their victories and more especially in the Eastern Ontario playdowns.

X—X—X

Whooie—what a game and what a finish was seen in Kingston when the local Nationals played a four all ten innings game with the Kingston fans and executive very quite hostile over the decision of umpires Colling and Walsh when they called the game on account of darkness. Both officials were of the opinion that it was too dark to see baseballs.

X—X—X

The fault of the matter is that the Kingston executive were solely at fault. They could have elected to start the game at 4.30 p.m. Standard Time. They advertised the game for 4.45 p.m. Daylight Saving time and had to bear the brunt.

Both umpires agreed that it was too dark to play, the game and all sections of the Kingston executive were "small gooders". What is needed down in the Limestone City is two rough, tough experienced umpires who can stay right at it least 2166.98 then perhaps the executive of the town will permit them. The league executive of the O.B.A.A. met last night, after the game, and decided that the game should be nothing value—replacing credits. There has only been one completed game to date in the league.

X—X—X

Last night's baseball card at the Arena was a "pip" except for the scoring bout when George Semaan and Steve Lash put on a stellar affair at the hands of Nat Minicola. The "great grandpa" of the game, the Kingston fan present a swell show and judging from their appearance last night they should go over in a big way in the league. Whitey Wint put on a real exhibition of the art while Alex Kaszubski beat Belleville's favorite Middle Heart when champ Bobby Samaan was also returned a winner in his bout. The show was well attended and from a spectatorly view-point went over in a big way.

X—X—X

Following last night's game in Kingston she Nats returned to their dressing quarters to find that some person had stolen their shoes. Every cent that the Nats had in their pockets had also been taken. Again we say "small potatoes". When the players reported to the Kingston police they got about as much protection in the matter as the spectators received at the Fair Grounds.

FRUIT LASSIES EVENED SERIES

Pound Out 15 Hits to Win From National Maids 14-9

All even.

Two games apiece.

What a series!

Using their bats to an advantage, the Belleville Fruit girls' softball team pounded out a well deserved victory over the National Maids by the score of 14 to 9 in the second-round lawn last night.

Both the ladies completely outhit and out-scored their Maid rivals and pulled ahead of them in the third inning when Lena Finger and Helen Smith rose to heights last night in not only the home run circle but play a perfect game in the field. The McGuire sisters, "Pi" and Lou also played stellar ball and both players hit for the circuit.

Smith, the Fruit pitching star, also connected for three hits apiece.

"Babe" Davis was on the hilltop for the Fruit team and pitched one of the best games of her career.

Opposing her was Jean Stewart, who although she hurled fairly good ball was nicked for fifteen hits. Errors of commission as well as omission were the final ultimate downfall of the Maids as they had no less than six mistakes chalked against them.

The fifth and deciding game will be played tonight.

Belleville Fruit — Galna, Finger, Leavey, Smith, Blaind, Lou McGuire, Warhan, B. McGuire and Lewis.

National Maids — Kelleher, Melchior, Empey, Harkins, Rowbotham, Thrasher, Tuttle, Knott and Stewart.

Nat. Maids . 102 101 020— 9 14 6

B. Fruit . . . 125 400 11x—14 15 3

Umpires—C. Colling, Clapper and Riddell.

BLAKER AGAIN COMES THRU

Three Base Hit Wins For Victorias, Championship of Loop

History repeated itself yesterday, when Lionel Blaker's hit put the Belleville Victorias into the O.B.A.A. play-offs, when he clouted the ball high up and far away for a three base hit to score Ken Thompson and after a overthrow in the eight inning, won the game for the Victorias by a 4 to 3 victory over Picton in the sudden death game, to annex the championship of the Bay of Quinte League played in Napanee yesterday.

Coach "Chummy" Gerow elected Ralphie Campbell to hurl for the local Victorias and for over six innings the "Peach" left hander completely baffled the Picton batters. But the seventh Campbell weakened slightly and was touched for three by, who after rushing to the hilltop in the ninth and last inning, had hitting Picton batters at bay.

S. Rorke was Manager Campbell's choice as pitcher.

Every local Victorias are now champions of the Bay of Quinte League and meet Deloro the title holders of the Trent Valley League in the first of the intermediate play-downs.

The line-ups: — Belleville Victorias—Rorke 3rd Base; Finkle 2nd; Plagler ss; Blaker 1st Campbell and Dey p; Latchford lf; Darrah 2nd; Secony c. Picton—Leavens c; Thompson 3rd; Hudgins cf; Rorke p; Cole 1st.; Frederick r; Yanover and Phillips rf; Haddon 1f; Church 2nd Maker 2nd.

Score by innings:

Victorias..0 0 0 1 0 0 2 0 1 x—4

Umpires—Marcels and Gaulin.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all who sent such lovely flowers during our dear mother's illness and at the time of her going away. To the pastors, Rev. Mitchell, Rev. Irwin, who paid such a fine tribute to mother and the singers for their sympathy. To all those who are left to mourn the passing of one of Canada's best who were pallbearers. To all who gave us assistance in any way.

The children, Jennie Fox, Hattie Penrod, Mack Lont, the Chisholm children. a30-1i

Big Boy Hijacks Poles and Fish Blamed for Hurling Lad Into River

A drowning scare, whieh attracted dozens to the river bank behind a down town service station early Thursday evening, turned out to be no more than an enforced bath for a youth of tender age, who had been goaded or had fallen off the stone wall into the river, while struggling to retain possession of a long pole around which the fisherman's name has not been learned, tried to seize.

During the altercation the boy, Arthur Wight, aged 12, clutched the fish, a small sucker in the face and then had been pushed off the wall. Nearly stunned by the fall, he had half lain in shallow water, leaning against the stone wall, while another companion above set up a lusty yelling, attracting over a dozen to the scene. The lad was aided up the wall again by a man, who retrieved both piece of ladder and lowered it into the water. The rowdy, who was responsible for the affair, disappeared with three larger fish, while the fish is the climax weeks of hijacking on the part of the boy, and companions, who prowl the river bank nightly taking poles and fish therefrom from children, whom they have terrified by threats to throw them off the wall into the river.

Necktie Symbol of Conference

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—(By the Canadian Press)—The mystery of Ontario's Conference Tie, worn by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's brilliant necktie was revealed to newspapermen today: the necktie is the symbol of the Ottawa Imperial Conference.

For some days the leader of the British delegation has been wearing a necktie which was described as "blue flood." It is of three colors black, red and white. It clothes a Cricket Association, Mr. Baldwin explained to the press gallery in the Conference. Even when conditions are "black" the red and white should shone forth like a flag of victory.

Now that all is well and success "is out into the light," he explained the three colors.

The story was told to newspapers today.

"It should be 'out of the darkness into the light,'" Inverted one of them.

In reference to the Russian dumping problem which, for a time threatened success, drew a laugh.

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

The door stood open; Sheila saw open windows, pots and pans in exquisite flowers, beyond. She began to tremble now, and felt as much like crying as smiling as she walked into the room. Mamie did not acknowledge her greeting at the door.

Frank was alone, dressed, seated in a great chair piled with pillows, his bandaged left arm strapped across his breast. One thin silk shirt he wore a loose blue silk coat; his hair was neatly brushed, he looked sober, and a little pale.

As Sheila walked slowly to his chair, her unsmiling eyes fixed on him, he glanced away from the window, and instantly a sort of mask seemed to be shimmering about her, and she felt that she could not read what she was doing.

"Why, look who's here!" Frank said with his broadest smile. "Well, I am glad to see you! How are you? Sit down, sit down. No, not your chair nearer. I'm all alone."

Sheila sat down and looked at him.

"Do you know, I've been thinking about you, and wanting to see you?" Frank asked. And as she did not answer, he went on, funny thing, I was talking about you only last night. Remember, Pete, when Mamie Kennedy was here—"

"I guess Sheila's voice was very faint. She nearness the sight of the hard, blue-shaven jaw, the half-shut of his white teeth, the half-smile in his Irish eyes, were too much for her. She could not find a voice made her heart feel as if it were smiling, and—

"I said to Bernadette that you were the darndest kid I ever saw!" Frank said. "I said I had the funniest feeling of—being responsible for you!"

"You told her that?"

"Bernadette, you know," Frank said, with a smile, "got all wrought up about our flying together over the Atlantic! Why, that does not stink of that? It doesn't seem a bit like her—seriously I mean."

She—" Sheila cleared her throat. "She said something—that day—"

"The day of the accident?"

"Yes. Down here, down here in the hall."

"I gathered from something Mother said, she did. But when I was better—when she said I had had a talk she got over it?"

"Sure" Sheila said.

"Sure" he echoed.

He relaxed, smiling unalarmed. Sheila sat silent too wrapped in the hungry and beauty of the big old-fashioned room; enjoying without analyzing what she enjoyed. The soft deep carpets the flowers the rich colors in lamps and books, curtains, and bed draperies.

"Is this your room, Frank?"

"Nope up on the next floor; it's not so grand as this."

"Whose room was this?"

"Well, this used to be an upstairs sitting room. Then Pop put the kitchen and the dining-room into the basement floor, and turned the old dining-room into a library, and gave Mom a sitting room next to that, and this has been a sort of spare room ever since. And beyond the bathroom, there—the room where they set my arm—is Gerry's room."

"And that reminds me that she's coming down to dinner tonight," Frank went on. "And Pete's home, and here yesterday. And we think they've been writing to each other, and that they've made it up."

"Peter and Gertrude?"

"Yes."

"Oh, I'm glad!" Sheila exclaimed. "Honest, are they?"

"Co, honest! And she looked at him in surprise.

Frank was eying her with a teasing expression.

"I thought you liked Pete?"

"Well, I don't."

"You're not jealous, anyway," he said. After a minute he added, "I don't believe that, after five years of being engaged, you'd suspect a man of anything, would you, Sheila?"

"I wouldn't be engaged for five years," Sheila answered.

"You wouldn't? Why, not?"

"Because—She was thinking it out. "Because I wouldn't want any man to feel—sure of me, for five years," she formulated it slowly.

There was a silence.

"I don't think any man would!" Frank presently said, with a not quite natural laugh. And after a minute he added dryly, "Fortunately for me, Bernadette doesn't agree with you."

"So you don't think you could be faithful to any man for five years?" he asked, as Sheila did not speak.

"I didn't say that. I only meant that—if I loved a man, I wouldn't want to wait five years—to—to be his wife," Sheila answered simply.

"You wouldn't want to be sure?

"I would be sure.

Frank mused on this, watching her steadily.

"What would you call being sure?"

Sheila thought a while before she answered, looking down and biting her full, red lower lip.

"Dividing the world into two parts," she said, after a pause, 'him' and the rest—just everything and everybody, except him. Knowing where that you didn't hope to meet him, never doing anything without thinking whether he'd like it or not. Hoping—hoping that everyone else would hate him—"

"Hate him! Love him, you mean?" Frank ejaculated incredulously, as she hesitated.

"Hate him—so that you could make it up to him by living him all the more," she said.

Frank could only stare at her.

"I don't know how I found this out; I'm glad when anyone else discovers her," Sheila rambled. "And she feels the same way about me."

"You're very different," Sheila commented mildly.

"How do you know that love is like that?" Frank demanded.

"I—I think it is."

"It would be for you?"

"It is. Her head was singing; she felt her hands cold and numb.

A silence.

"You mean—Peter?" Frank asked respectfully.

"Peter?" Sheila cleared her throat. "No, Nor Peter," she said.

"You mean you don't love Peter any more?"

"I never did. We just had a—a—a—a kind of—of—habit that he promised he'd come to see me, and he didn't come, and that made me mad—I thought more about him than if he had maybe. But that's all," Sheila said, and concluded with a smile.

"He's older than you are."

"To this the girl made no answer. Sat silent, her head bent, looking unconsciously. "You're only made half a confession! If it isn't Pete, who is any more?"

"Peter was the—the first gentleman I'd ever known," Sheila instead of answering, said hurriedly and nervously, "I liked him, for that."

"So much so that he didn't keep his word to you?"

"He lost my address."

"And forgot your name?"

"I mean his little girl said honestly, laughing. "But you see we're not in the fairytale book, and he said that she only Canadian that would be possible to him was in Brooklyn."

"You're dodging the issue," Frank pursued. "You don't do that when you're talking to a lawyer, you know. Come on—out with it—what do you like?"

"I might know what I thought about it, without being it," Sheila stammered.

"I'll, and it! What d'you mean by it?"

"Well I might know what being in love was, without being in love." She was suddenly scarlet, the clean color flooding up under her transparent skin like a flame.

"Yes, but you aren't guessing!" he answered shrewdly. "Be a sport Sheila. I won't tell on you!"

She looked at him steadily, unable to speak, unable to smile or look away. Locked in her chair, the apricot color flooding her face, her blue eyes fixed on his.

"For a long time they looked at each other in silence. Could she come into Frank's face too. After a while he smiled his kindest, his simplest smile.

"I'm sorry," he said. And after a pause he repeated it. "I'm terribly sorry."

"Oh, that's all right," Sheila assured him politely, clearing her throat again. And for a long time neither could seem to find anything further to say.

"It must—mind—kind of flat—for me to say that I like you—awfully much more than any girl you'll ever know here" Frank presently ventured with an awkward laugh.

"No, I'm glad," Sheila responded very simply and honestly.

She looked up at him, looked down again. She was young, almost childish—looking in the big chair, with her blue hat curving off her face like a baby's cap and the coppery film of hair almost in her blue eyes.

"My father says you're moving to Astoria" Frank said.

"Next month."

"Will you be glad, Sheila?"

"Glad?" she echoed. "Angela and I'll have a room to ourselves."

"Oh, and where'll you be?"

"Oh, we are sure Cecily want to get married."

"Ah, and now they can!"

"Your father told Ma that if she'd keep the eight houses rented for him she wouldn't have to pay any rent; she'd get paid, herself."

"Does she like that idea, Sheila?"

"She said it was an answer to prayer."

"How much will it be?"

"Sixty. That's what your father pays now."

"It isn't much."

"With her rent paid, and Joe helping?" Sheila's eyes were very round.

"It's enough, eh?"

"It's a fortune to Ma."

"Then some good did come out of all this, didn't it?"

"Sure—" she agreed, rather lifelessly.

CHAPTER 28

There was a long pause. Sheila knew that she ought to go now. But her limbs refused to obey the languid impulse of her mind. She ought to go—she ought to go—

But that would end it. When she went now, she never would see him again. The black thick hair, and the dark lashes against the shaved jaw, and the little half-smile he so often gave her, and the ways in which he was so good and so simple—all gone out of her life, when she walked out of this house.

"I remember when Mamie first called here, you—you were all golden up as a beggar," Frank recalled. "I came into the hall and asked Mamie who had left the rag-bag in. And she said that Gertrude—by the way, where is that purse?"

"Most of the money, luckily, I left with Mamma," Sheila explained. "But the purse is Ma's. I had to buy the farmhouse in Connecticut I remember because my make-up was in it, and I powdered my nose there —I remember that I had shaken out all the excitement of getting away and the queerness of it all, I dropped it, somewhere. And I lost my blue hat the day of the smash."

"Well, I think I owe you a hat," Frank said.

"Oh no, you don't! This one," Sheila told him, "cost me ninety-eight cents. It was in a window. They had every hat with the two copper cents lying next to it."

"The two copper cents?"

"Lying next to it. Your change from a dollar," she explained.

"Ah—"

Sheila stood up, smiling a good-by Frank took her hand.

There was no more for more. Sudden footsteps sounded in the hall, and with tremendous speed, Peter and Mamie were in the room.

"Frank!" he shouted.

"Peter!" Frank said at the sight of Sheila.

"Hello Sheila," he said.

"Hello!" Sheila responded, simply. They stood looking at each other a moment then Peter, with a return of excitement, turned toward his brother, "Frank d'you know what's happened? Gee I'm glad Sheila's here for this!"

"What's the matter?"

"They've found the farmhouse! They found the place those fellows took us Sheila—"

"They've found the farmhouse!" Sheila exclaimed. "Oh, Peter!"

"Member you drew a plan of the rooms for the police? Well, listen, they want to see you again, and check up on that plan, and they found your purse, and everything! Listen Frank, they've school teachers or artists or something from Boston have that place, and they're up there for school vacation, see? —and they found signs of Bonnie and everything—

"Who said so?" Frank interrupted, almost as much excited as his brother.

"The police. This country cop came all the way down to identify the purse. They telephoned here! a couple of hours ago. you were asleep, and everyone else was out, and I beat it right over to see him. Well there was your bits purse all right, with Gerry's initials and our address on it, Sheila—"

"And they found the place wrecked!—"

"They say the fellows must have stopped, using it right after they took us up there."

"This is interesting!" Frank said.

"Frank they'd like to ask Sheila some questions. Could she and I go over there now?"

"Hang it! Frank said, "you ought to have someone, Pop or me, with you!"

"We don't need anyone!"

"How much—Sheila was rising excitement in Frank's voice, "How much'd I have to take Pete, if I went with you?"

"Frank, you oughtn't!" Sheila protested.

"Shucks, it can't hurt me!"

"You wouldn't have to walk a step, Frank. We can get a taxi, right here."

"I'd like to go. I'd know what they were after—"

"It wouldn't hurt you a bit."

"I don't believe it would," Frank said slowly.

"Aw come on, Frank! Come on. All they want is to ask Sheila a few questions."

"It wouldn't take us fifteen minutes—the invalid mused tempted.

"You were out yesterday," Peter urged. "You managed that all right."

AUG 20 MR. AND MRS. - IT'IS SUCH A DISAPPOINTMENT

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR —No. 9.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service) By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Tarzan tossed upon his bed of grasses, sleepless, for an hour. The moans and coughings of the big cats, the myriad noises of the lesser forest animals, mysterious jungle murmurs another man's ears could never hear, all were magic music to the ape-man. They fanned the savage flame in, the breast of this Savage English lord until at last he could resist the urgings within him no longer.

Noiseless as a wraith, Tarzan rose, vaulted the bonna wall, swung silently into a great tree and was gone. For a time in sheer exuberance of animal spirit he raced swiftly along swinging perilously across wide spans from one jungle tree to another. Once, the moon, shone down on him as he risked death in each frail branch high up amid the upper terrace where he swayed.

Then he went on more slowly and with greater stealth and caution, for now Tarzan of the Apes was seeking a kill. Down to the ground he came, stopping from time to time to put his nose close to the earth. He sought and found a wide game trail and at last his nostrils were rewarded by the scent of fresh meat. Tarzan's mouth watered and a low growl escaped his tips.

Up wind he followed the elusive spoor until he came upon Sara the deer, standing alert at the edge of a moon-bathed clearing. Noiselessly, Tarzan crept through the trees until he was directly over the animal. In the ape-man's right hand he clutched his hunting knife. Just for an instant he poised above the still unsuspecting Sara and then he launched himself downward upon the sleek back

ANKLE BROKEN AFTER FALL

Lineman Knocked From Ladder at Trenton Friday

Trenton, Aug. 20 (Special)—Mr. Samuel Wellman who is employed as a lineman by the Trenton Hydro Electric fell from a ladder here Friday afternoon and broke his left ankle in two places also injured his left hand. Mr. Wellman was up on a ladder putting up wires to cross the street for decoration purposes for the coming Rotary Carnival, the wire had been attached to the building across the street and he was making the connection on the ladder on the building. The wire was suspended some distance in the air but was not clear of passing vehicles and was struck by a truck, which pulled the wire taught and knocked Mr. Wellman from the ladder to the pavement, below. He was taken to the office of Dr. Johnston who assisted by Dr. Farley set the broken ankle.

Horses are not the only things that run away in this city of gasoline buggies as they can get away from drivers. Mr. Gerald Ward McHenry, while cranking his father's car in the front of Graham's Garage had to jump quickly to avoid being run over as the car was in gear, when cranked and started it started across the yard crashing through a picket fence, which separates the garage owned by Mr. Donaldson Clegg from Grahame. The runaway finally stopped after running into two cars which were parked in the lot. The fender and running boards of all three cars were slightly damaged.

WOMAN PAYS FINE FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Trenton, Aug. 20—(Special)—Mrs. Zelena Langford of 146 Hunsberger St., Toronto, lost control of her car, causing a minor accident on Dundas St., Mrs. Langford was attempting to pass a truck, which was going in the same direction and was pulling over to the left to go by lost control of her car and left the road continuing on some three hundred feet striking the car of Mr. Harry Sager, which was parked well off the pavement. The cars were badly damaged, while the impact caused car damaged fenders and the radiator of Mrs. Sager. One of Mrs. Langford had the front badly damaged. Constable Sparrow in the police court on the charge of driving without a driver's license and costs she was accompanied by her husband at the time of the accident which occurred early Friday morning.

GREAT THINGS EXPECTED OF PARLEY TERMS

Ontario Minister of Agriculture Looks For Trade Revival

HELPS FARMERS

Bacon Trade With Britain is The Greatest Boost

Toronto, Aug. 20—"Great things" for the Ontario farmer are expected by Hon. Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, from the major advantages which the Dominion will secure in the British market by terms of the agreement that is being consummated today at the Ottawa Conference.

"We have got 10 per cent. right but they are mighty close to it. They certainly are going to mean a lot to the prosperity of Ontario," Col. Kennedy.

"The 25 per cent. per hundredweight preference on Canadian apples, pears, peaches, plums and the $1.25 per barrel on Ontario apples, last year Ontario placed 180,000 barrels in the British market. This year, while only 50,000 to 60,000 barrels will be available for export, a great demand has already been created overseas and only yesterday English buyers were in Toronto looking for apples.

The 5 per cent. preference increase in Empire butter will have a great effect," Col. Kennedy thought, inasmuch as Ontario has, "to be producing enough butter now to feed her own people."

The new agreement regarding Canadian cattle is going to aid the Ontario industry tremendously. Up to now, females have had to be slaughtered, Col. Kennedy stated, but under the new deal such unprofitable stock in Ontario cattle will mean, added, that females may not be placed on the grass and fatted overseas.

The "biggest thing" that Ontario would get out of the trade agreement would come from the added quota on Canadian bacon of 2-3rds over the present figure, Col. Kennedy declared. "That," said Col. Kennedy, "means $2,000,000 more every years. You can realize the benefit therefrom to our hog producers.

WELCOME FOR NOTED FLIER

Capt. Mollison to Visit Montreal Over Week End

Montreal, Aug. 20—Montreal is preparing to extend a tumultuous welcome to Capt. Jim Mollison, aerial adventurer, the British Empire has produced.

Confirmation was received last night from Capt. A. C. Macmillan, conqueror of the North Atlantic in a little Puss Moth aeroplane, will fly to St. Hubert's airport from Fredericton, New Brunswick to receive the congratulations of a crowd expected to attend the fourth annual Canadian Air Pageant.

Present indications are that the young Scottish aviator will remain in Montreal Saturday night as guest of Col. A. Bishop. Captain Mollison is expected to leave for New York, on a aerial destination of his contemplated non-stop trans-Atlantic crossing on Sunday.

EMPIRE CONTENT IS DEALT WITH

OTTAWA, Aug. 20—Empire content, and export bounties and anti-dumping duties within the British commonwealth, were dealt with in resolutions approved by "Committee A" at the Imperial Conference. This is the main committee dealing with questions of trade within the commonwealth.

The question of Empire content is left to the various governments to decide. A greater degree of uniformity in Empire tariffs is also desirable however, the resolution declares. Any preference required should not be such "as to defeat or frustrate" the intention of preference, which is to increase the trade in goods.

Canada does not extend any export bounties, so the resolution passed in regard to them does not affect this country, except in so far as it applies to special duties imposed in the United Kingdom. The resolution expresses the hope that with rising commodity prices and stabilized exchanges means for adjusting temporary and adverse conditions may be withdrawn.

WE BROUGHT 'EM BACK ALIVE FOR CIRCUSES AND ZOOS

When the NBC radio offices in New York were preparing their publicity material on Frank Buck's great animal picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," at the Belle Theatre Today, Monday and Tuesday, matinee daily, Buck was asked for a list of the animals he has brought back to the country. This, they thought, is a fine way to identify Mr. Buck to each continuity where the picture plays.

Certain limitations, however, prevented him supplying a complete census of the "assisted immigration" of zoological prizes.

"Animals die when they have lived their years and so, in a way, this makes it all the more difficult to specify exactly what I brought in. For instance, I supplied practically the entire musical collection of the San Diego zoo when it first started. That was later on in 1924, and "they have continually added to specimens; and birds and animals have died off, so that now I cannot set accurate idea of what animals there were when I left. But I do accept that two full grown female tigers are living on the job.

"Many of the animals which I brought back and which are in zoos and circuses over the country, were sold to them by intermediate dealers.

"At Dallas I stocked the entire park. I do not remember what among the animals which I brought back and which are still there, are elephants, but I do recall a couple of leopards and a Malayan tapir. They have also been added to the original stock that I brought back, so that I am the parent, by proxy, of a dozen orang-outangs.

"The big monkey zoos all have creatures that I captured for them. Some of the outstanding specimens are a pair of gorillas at the zoo in Milwaukee zoo; a black buck antelope, an addax, a gemsbok, a pair of Gibbon apes, a fine pair of Royal Bengal tigers and an orang-outang at the St. Louis Zoo; a pair of lions and a black leopard at Lincoln Park Zoo, Chicago.

"Many of the animals in both the Philadelphia and New York zoos, including the two most valuable animals in the collection, the Indian rhinocerz, were brought back by me.

"The biggest part of the elephant herd in the Barnes Circus was supplied by me from time to time.

"From 1918 to 1926 when John Ringling bought the show, I supplied practically all the animals for the circus and most of their tigers, leopards, panthers, monkeys and other wild animals that are all with the show.

"Other shrines such as the Hagenback-Wallace, Sells-Floto, Christy Brothers, Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey, have a large percentage of their animals that were supplied by me direct or through dealers.

"And now that I've made a movie, have written two books, I'll soon be time for me to be getting back to work again."

Four selected shorts, Edgar Kennedy in "Office Blues," a Mickey cartoon, a tuneful revue entitled "Rhapsody in Blue and Black", and Fox Sound News, are announced for exhibition on the same program.

If all the outlying possessions of the United States, exclusive of Alaska could be combined into a single area, they would total less than the area of the state of Montana.

At The Capitol

ARE YOU LISTENING? IS A BIG SURPRISE

The activities of a National Radio Broadcasting station form the background for the surprising story told in "Are You Listening?" which comes to the Capitol Theatre today.

The picture is based on the wide-open work of Jack McVoy, story of radio entertainers and writers into the less familiar behind-the-scenes aspects of the "radio racket." The machinations of "yellow journalism" and the misuse of radio in the pursuit of criminals are also bound up in the stirring plot which concerns the motivating power which befall a radio announcer when he is accused of the murder of his henpecking wife.

Stuart Erwin, Sally Eilers

The picture is said to be unusual in combining the diverse elements of tragedy, romance and comedy, most of the film's lighter moments taking place in the broadcasting station where such tricks of the trade as the "applause machine," "thunder chute" and "wind whistle" are smashingly exposed.

The manic side of the story is threatened by something a bit of real town girls who come to New York to see life but find that the glamorous city has its dark phases.

Additional interest is attached to this feature in that it introduces William Haines in his first straight role since giving the popular young actor a chance to prove what he can do with a straight characterization, devoid of the wise-cracking flippancy of his past vehicles. The unusually strong cast which supports him will even include film names as Madge Evans, Sally Eilers and "Lovers Courageous," Anita Page, considered the ideal combination of the modern American girl; Karen Morley, who has graduated from direct from her work opposite the Barrymores in "Arsene Lupin"; Marion Nixon, "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum"; Wallace Ford, Jean Hersholt, Joan Marsh, Arthur Vinton, Edward Kimmell and Ethel Griffies.

The picture was directed by Harry Beaumont who achieved a reputation for drama of the modern age theme with "Our Modern Maidens" and "Our Dancing Daughters."

"Are You Listening?" will be shown at the Capitol Monday and Tuesday only, and will be preceded by a beautiful gift of Wedgewood Richness presentation on Monday and are advised to be early.

Tonight

"Almost Married" and "The Dawn Patrol," a super-thrilling double feature, will be shown here for the last times tonight at 7.00 and 8.20.

PRESENCE OF MIND SAVES CHILD'S LIFE

Goderich, Aug. 20—Presence of mind displayed by 7-year-old Donald Carrick saved the child's life and saved his life. Struck down on St. Andrew street, shortly after noon hour by a car driven by Dr. Simpson of Kintail, the boy ran on for dear life, while the car proceed 200 feet up the street.

Dr. Simpson was unaware of the boy's predicament.

Eye-witnesses ran out from the sidewalk shouting to the driver to stop and to the boy to hang on. Examination showed no bones to be broken, but the boy suffered painful bruises and abrasions.

Graves of Ex-Service Men Will Be Decorated by Comrades

Prominent Speakers Have Been Asked to Address Veterans

Simple services in memory of departed former comrades will be held at the cenotaph on Memorial Park at two-thirty o'clock, Sunday afternoon, when members of the Belleville Legion, Sea Service and members of the Army and Navy Veterans's Association, the official of the day will be observed, being the details of the day of commemoration.

Later, after flowers have been placed on the cenotaph and the few simple rites performed, the parade of ex-soldiers and relatives of the departed ones will march to the Belleville Cemetery, led by the Belleville Band, who have given their services for the day. Here the graves of departed comrades will also be decorated by an abundance of flowers, which have been given the association by donors throughout the city, and members of the Belleville Horticultural Society, who are giving all of the beautiful flowers for the service on Sunday Friday.

Officials of the Association have been handicapped by the shortness of notice given them to hold this day of commemoration but are rapidly rounding out the details of the program and have also been arranged to attend the march which will assemble at the Memorial Clubhouse at Memorial Hall at two o'clock in the afternoon. Members of the Association and cars, which have been promised by citizens will be available for widows or mothers of the departed soldiers and also the ex-service men, who are unable to walk the distance to Memorial Park and to the Belleville Cemetery. If ex-service men in the city still retain their uniforms they are asked to wear them, while those in mufti will wear medals.

While a many flowers have been promised the association from donors throughout the city, more can be used if available. If those who have any they wish to donate to the worthy cause will call telephone number 1816, headquarters of the association on Front Street, any time before Sunday, executives will gladly call for them.

Those relatives who wish to avail themselves of transportation to Memorial Park and the cemetery are asked to meet at the clubhouse on the corner of Bridge street and Front.

A number of prominent speakers have been invited to take part in the services.

BRITISH IRON AND STEEL TO ENJOY ADVANTAGES

Toronto, Aug. 20—It is estimated by the Toronto Globe that under Imperial Conference agreements to be signed today British iron and steel are to enjoy tariff advantages in the Canadian markets which will give an additional $10,000,000 orders annually to United Kingdom producers. All steel plates above 48 inches to be admitted duty-free from Britain.

NO RESPITE FROM HEAT

England Faces Another Blistering Sun And Humidity

LONDON Aug. 20.—(AP)—A blistering sun was over England again today following a thunderstorm yesterday, which smashed heat records to which no one had subscribed the deaths of 36 persons.

The death toll included three suicides, six drownings, and a dozen other fatalities. Yesterday's high temperature was 99, nearly an all-time record.

Thousands sought relief at Seaside resorts.

The sky was cloudless again this morning and another roasting was promised. Hundreds thronged the resorts and in inland rivers and pools were filled to capacity. Attendants with thermometer still stood at around 90.

The throngs in London's swimming baths late last night were so dense, that swimming was impossible, and the best, that could be done was to splash water in the water while crowds outside clamored for admission. The police on night planes arriving here from the continent said the heat was as great at an altitude of two feet as it was on the ground. They cad discarded their flying clothes in an effort to keep cool in the air.

LOVE FINDS A WAY

Seminole, Okla., Aug. 20—Love will find a way, even with onions and green peppers. County Clerk Kenneth C. Pidgeon yesterday gave O. M. Harris, 22, and Leona Ballad, 19, marriage license No. 2,115—all the cash they had—a bushel of onions and 10 pounds of green peppers. The young couple departed happily for Harris' rented farm.

A Different Feelings

Watermake although he never bothered them, living as he did on fish, frogs and toads. Probably it was because he reminded them so much of Mr. Blacksnake, whom they all feared, and with cause, for frogs and young birds are his delight.

Farmer Brown's boy rushed forward and seized Mr. Watermake by the neck, despite his struggle to escape, once he had hold of that neck he began to squeeze. Mr. Watermake struggled and hung on to Grandfather Frog for a few minutes but in the end he had to let go and open his mouth. Then released Grandfather Frog. He didn't dare to say thank you to Farmer Brown's boy. He didn't stop for anything. He plunged for the bottom of the Smiling Pool and disappeared in the mud.

Then and not until then did Farmer Brown's boy let Mr. Watermake go. He gave it away in a great rage. He hated Farmer Brown's boy, although why the latter had not harmed him in the least. And once in the mud Grandfather Frog felt that he loved Farmer Brown's boy as much as he could love anybody but himself. And there you have the difference in the feelings caused by the same deed. REMOVAL OF EXCISE TAX ON BRITISH GOODS

Regimental Sergt. Major Jordan D. C. M., M. C. Dies After Operation

Canada Soon to Remove Excise Tax on British Goods as Finances Allow Divergent Comment Upon British Imperial Conference

FARMERS PLEASED

Britisher Fears Cost of Living Will Mount as Result

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—Canada will abolish the forty cent excise tax against all British imports "as soon as the finances of Canada will allow", Consideration also will be given to the possibility of reducing and ultimately abolishing the exchange dumping duty insofar as it applies to imports from the United Kingdom.

These undertakings form part of Canada's concessions in the treaty signed with the United Kingdom. The excise tax increased from one to two percent at the last session, applies to all imports, irrespective of the country of origin or the rate of duty.

Exchange dumping duties were applied against United Kingdom products when the Gold Standard was abandoned and the pound Sterling fell to a discount on the money markets.

Farmers Pleased

With high hopes and great gratification, Canadian Manufacturers and Agriculturists commented on the Imperial Conference which concluded Saturday. Prospects of increased trade with the United Kingdom as the result of preferences granted have been received with gladness.

Here are typical comments:

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture for Nova Scotia:—

"The Government of Nova Scotia is highly pleased with the results obtained at Ottawa * * * I believe the agreements will be of benefit to numerous Nova Scotia industries."

Burton Dickie, President of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association:—

"It ought to mean increased business for the West. We must wait and see how it will work out."

Referring to the preference on Empire-produced copper, John S. McDougall, minister of Mines and Natural Resources, Manitoba, said:

"It should be of real value to our copper mines," and expresses pleasure at the results of the Conference generally.

Help to Refining

O. R. Laycock, Secretary of the Manitoba Chamber of Mines:

"The advantage of the copper to two pence per pound will certainly help the United Kingdom refining trade."

C. H. G. Short Honorary President of the Canadian Millers' Association:—

"United Kingdom preference for Canadian Wheat will probably hold world wheat prices, while the quantity of Canadian flour should prove a great benefit to Canadian wheat interests."

J. H. Hamilton, Secretary Vancouver Board of Trade:—

"The agreements between Canada and the United Kingdom, Canada and other Dominions, look to be a great improvement in every way. Even if benefits are not immediately evident, British Columbia's primary industries will share in activity as the months roll by."

Premier J. T. Anderson, Saskatchewan:

"... the confident of material results. We will know definitely when the details are announced."

Feed Cows To Go Up

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(CPC) Samuel F. Perry M.P., secretary of the Co-operative Party told the London Star: "There is fears a rise in the cost of living as a result of concession made by the United Kingdom at the Imperial Conference.

"Higher living costs will bring demands for increased wages and consequently unrest industrial strife, declared Mr. Perry, who was Parliamentary private secretary to the President of the Board of Trade in the former Labor Government.

The Star said Mr. Runciman, the Conference as "a calamitous failure". Mr. Runciman's colleagues men, it asserts, make no claim for any real achievement, only hoping, like Mr. Micawber, that "something will turn up."

WEDDING IS HALTED BY 2 TELEGRAMS

London, Aug. 22 (Canadian Press Cable)—Two telegrams today halted the wedding of John Amery, son, of Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery, who has been a Cabinet Minister and observer of the Imperial Economic Conference.

The younger Mr. Amery was to have been married at noon to Miss Una Evelyn Wing, a 21-year-old actress. An hour before noon however, the Chelsea Registry Office received telegrams from Lord and Lady Greenwood, Mr. Amery's uncle and aunt, forbidding the marriage on the ground that their nephew is under age. A letter was received from his mother, Mrs. L. S. Amery giving similar instructions.

"My father doesn't know about it," said Mr. Amery on Saturday, when he announced the wedding. "but I'm sure he won't stand in the way of what I and him, My father and I are great pals." Mr. Amery is a well-known figure in the British motion picture industry.

Mr. Amery's mother was formerly Miss Florence Greenwood of Witney, Ont., and is a sister of the 1st Baron Greenwood.

REGIMENTAL SERGT. MAJOR JORDAN DIES

Active Military Career in Two Wars is Closed

WON DECORATIONS

Closely Allied to Fighting 21st Battalion and A. L. I.

With deepest regret throughout the community, returned soldiers and citizens in general, Sunday learned of a gallant soldier's passing to the far-flung front line to join the spirits of his comrades who had laid down their lives in British battles or had passed on subsequent to hostilities. On Sunday morning early, R. S.-M. Thomas Frederick Jordan, D.C.M., M.C., in the Belleville General Hospital answered the call of the Great Beyond and joined the hosts in the eternal "Reveille" of the great beyond. Mr. Jordan was well known in the community, the Bay of Quinte district, the Province and the Dominion long one of their outstanding regimental soldiers. On being had served signally in two wars and been honored by His Majesty; and was decorated for valor. His life had had the welfare of his comrades ever close at heart.

Took Ill Friday

Friday morning last he had been removed from his home in Rossmore to the local hospital and an operation performed for appendicitis that afternoon. Saturday his condition had been reported as exceedingly critical. He had not been unable to rally and passed away peacefully Sunday morning.

The late Mr. Jordan was born in Norwich, England, fifty-four years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jordan. He was a member of Court Loyal Orange Lodge, Belleville. In both these fraternal societies he took an active interest and was a constant attendant at their various meetings throughout the district. He was a farmer, and following the close of the Great War located for a couple of years on Prince Edward County, but years ago he purchased a farm just across the bay at Rossmore and had since resided there.

Some four years ago Lieut.-Col. K. G. Ketchen, then commanding officer of the Argyll Light Infantry, Belleville, selected Mr. Jordan to resume regimental sergeant-major's duties, which he held time he had served with the 21st Battalion and most capably, energetically and efficiently carried on in that capacity with the Argylls. He was also instrumentally missed by his commanding officers, the officers, sergeants and rank and file of the

SPEED COURT DOOMS FIVE

Political Slaying Will Result in Executions

Beuthen, Germany, Aug. 22—Five men convicted of killing another in a political argument were sentenced to death today and a tumultuous was the crowd which had attended the trial that the police had to use their clubs to clear the courtroom.

Three of the condemned are members of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party. The others are affiliated with the upper Silesian Communist party. The executions are closely with the Nazis.

They were convicted of killing a Communist in the village of Potsemps. The trial was in one of the most bitter courts created by the emergency decree of August 9, which also provided the death penalty for acts of political violence.

Heredity to be Made For Suggestion Made By Eugenic Congress

(By Howard W. Blakeslee)
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York, Aug. 22—Bonuses and bonuses for having children of good heredity were advocated at the Third International Congress of Eugenics which opened here today.

Failure of contraceptives to limit birth of inferior children was asserted. Abortions were reported beneficial in female health in some cases in Russia, but were frowned upon as means of eugenic progress. The keynote of what the geneticists are fighting was struck in a statement by Theodore Russell Noble, United States, that the greatest single cause of mental deficiency (50 to 65 per cent) is poor heredity."

Direct payment of $50 monthly to parents of good heredity when their child reaches its fifth birthday and $10 or more for each child in addition was advocated by Dr. Renator Kehl of Rio De Janeiro.

Deaths of children would end payment. He favored also high inheritance taxes for families with few children, with reductions for large families.

Income tax rebates to cover substantial portions of a child's education were suggested by Dr. J. Sanders of Rotterdam.

These state allowances, however desirable, would almost certainly be too small to encourage the really gifted to have more children, said Sir Bernard Mallett, of London. Spread of Eugenic knowledge he held as the "real hope."

"The advice that in the birth rate, due undoubtedly to the spread of knowledge of contraceptive devices," Sir Bernard said, "which has occurred in the last 50 years is perhaps the most momentous social and biological phenomenon of our time. Should not eugenics take its place without alarm the effect of this probable development on the future of the race."

BUFFALO NEWS PRAISES PACT

Believes Soviet Problem One of Greatest Interest

Buffalo, Aug. 22—"Something has been accomplished which manifestly has left among the delegates the feeling that the conference was worth while," declares the Buffalo Evening News commenting on the Imperial Conference.

Any changes in the buying and selling between the constituents of the British Empire will be slow, the expectations held out at the beginning, the News says, are considered, and partly for this reason little fluctuation is looked for in the Oxford Lodge, Sons of England, Belleville. In both these fraternal societies he took an active interest and was a constant attendant at their various meetings throughout the district. He was a farmer, and following the close of the Great War located for a couple of years on Prince Edward County, but years ago he purchased a farm just across the bay at Rossmore and had since resided there.

CHURCH LIQUIDATION DENIED BY SOVIET

Moscow, Aug. 22.—Observators Romano's statement that Soviet Government is preparing for the liquidation of all churches by the end of 1933 was officially characterised as "absolutely false" and proof of an anti-Soviet campaign by the Vatican organ.

Numerous abandoned churches are being demolished it is said, but many others confirmed to flourishing under a Soviet law permitting worship in all those with sufficient congregations to justify operation.

TRAIN STRIKES CAR, KILLS TWO

Train Running 65 M.P.H. At Time Of Impact

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 22—Newton W. Dean, 19, London, and an unidentified male companion were instantly killed here early today when the car in which they were travelling was struck by a passenger train travelling west from Burgessville to Detroit.

The train was an hour and a half late and was travelling about 65 m.p.h.

Dean's body was found 41 feet down the track, while the unidentified man's body was found 41 feet after the collision. The car, a complete wreck was strewn along the track for 150 feet.

COL. LENNOX'S SON KILLED

Car Went Into Sidewise Skid And Rolled Over 3 Times

Toronto, Aug. 22—Herbert Sydney Lennox, only son of Col. T. Herbert Lennox, M.P. for North York and Dr. James Forrest, Jr., Toronto, were killed in an automobile crash north of here yesterday.

The roadster which Lennox was driving north on Yonge Street went into a sideswipe and rolled over three times. The driver had evidently lost control of the car after swinging too far to the left in passing a truck.

Young Lennox and Dr. Forrest, an intimate friend, were driving to a week-end cottage home at Jackson's point from Toronto. Police said that Lennox, in attempting to car to the right, it began to skid and the driver lost all feel how a tire and started rolling.

There will be no inquest.

Brief Wire Messages

Kitchener—Kelsie Forsythe, 15, died in hospital here today as a result of injuries suffered when she drove her bicycle into an automobile driven by Edward Harris, Guelph, Saturday night. The girl is one of identical twins. Guelph is the "stop" sign at the corner. An inquest will be held.

Montreal—Recommendation has been made that Admiral Sir David Murray Anderson, C.B.E., Equerry to His Majesty, be appointed Governor General of Newfoundland.

Toronto—Leonard Barnett, M.P., for Ontario South in 1896, and resident of Toronto for last 12 years, died at his home in his 87th year. He farmed at Greenbank, Ont., for forty years.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—James Leonard, 70, was found dead yesterday in an old shack by the tail race of the power canal. Two other men, Donald McNevin and William Romaine, were asleep in the shack at the time of the discovery and did not know Leonard was dead until awakened.

NUMEROUS NEW PREFERENCES GIVEN CANADA

Two Shillings Per Eight Bushels of Wheat

MANY INCREASES

Unwrought Copper And Wheat Are Added to List

OTTAWA, Aug. 22. — (By the Canadian Press)—Many new preferences are granted to Canada under her trade agreement with the United Kingdom. Numerous primary products of this country will benefit to a very marked degree.

Others such as lumber at 10 per cent preference.

But the chief advantage that Canada will enjoy is in the case of products retaining the former preference will be the protection against Russia "dumping". The undertaking of the United Kingdom to so protect the Canadian trade in the exports of this country is laid down in the trade agreements signed on Saturday.

Permanency

Another feature in the retaining of preferences is that if the agreement had not been signed, the present ten percent preference granted by the United Kingdom on many products from Canada would have terminated on November 1st. The permanency given to the preferences retained is of considerable advantage. Especially is this true in the lumber industry, where it takes several months and in some cases years to prepare the timber for market.

The opinion was freely expressed here today that the action of the lumber industry will begin very early. Representatives are made by representatives of the British Lumber Industry before they departed for the old country that orders for Canadian sawn lumber, soft and hard, would follow almost immediately.

Comparisons

The preferences which the United Kingdom will grant to Canada under the new treaty, and the present preferences follow:

Wheat, 5 shillings per 8 bushels, old; present (present).

Butter, 15 shillings, per cwt., August to per cent. (present).

Cheese, 15 per cent. Ad Valorem, June; 15 per cent. (present).

Apples, raw, 4s. 6d. per cwt.; 10 percent.

Pears, raw, 4s. 6d. per cwt.; 10 percent.

Apples, canned 3s. 6d. per cwt.; 10 or 20 percent.

Pears, canned 3s. 6d. per cwt.; 7 shillings per cwt.

Eggs in shell, 1s. to 1s. 6d. per 10 percent.

Condensed milk, 5s per cwt.; 20 percent.

Copper, unwrought, 2d. per lb.; None.

Timber, 10 percent.; 10 percent.

Fish, Fresh, 5s. 10 per cent.; 10 percent.

Salmon, canned, 10 percent.; 10 percent.

Asbestos, 10 percent.; 10 percent.

Zinc, 10 percent.; 10 percent.

Lead, 10 percent.; 10 percent.

In the case of condensed milk the duty to Canada is subject to regular sugar tariff.

Gibraltar, Aug. 22—Five young undergraduates of Princeton University have crossed the Atlantic in a 31-ton two-masted craft in 46 days.

The adventure began in New York July 2 and will end, for the time being at least, in Marseilles, when the craft reaches there.

The venturesome team lost five sails in a heavy blow and spent 14 days in various spots of dead calm. They are: William Drewrey and William L. Grow of New York; Hamilton Backus, Detroit; Ashley Hardy, Boston; and Robert Keidle, Baltimore.

Growing Demand of Prisoners For Wages For Workers in Shops

RIOTS CONQUERED

Strikers Seem Sorry And "Yessir" Everyone in Prison

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22— A disturbance in the county prison at Hunsteburg, in which prisoners shouted, broke chairs and set fire to pillows in their cells, was laid today by Dr. Frederick S. Baldwin, warden. Of the 220 prisoners confined who had been on a hunger strike since Friday, morning.

He reported the situation under control and said the strikers "seemed sorry", were "yessirring" everybody and "trying their best to appear apologetic."

Strike Subterfuge

Dr. Baldwin said the hunger strike has "a subterfuge to enforce a growing demand by these prisoners for wages for those who work in the prison shops." The disturbance occurred Saturday night and was confined to the cell blocks. The acting Warden said. No outside aid was called and the regular guards quelled the disturbance with a stream from fire hose.

Fifteen hose 200 started by refusing to eat lunch Friday noon' said Dr. Baldi.

ALLIGATOR IS RETAKEN

150 Year Old Reptile Lassoed by Policeman

Toronto, Aug. 22—Armed with a cotton comforter and a long lasso, Toronto police force saved somebody's future rubber boots from Lake Ontario. The future clubbing, an alligator 150 years old, was just heading into the lake after escaping from the Canadian National Exhibition grounds when the constable roped him neatly about the neck and hauled him back to safety.

The alligator was in an enclosure which contained a cement pool with flowing water. He made a gate and slithered out to the lakefront. The constable was walking along Lakeshore when he saw a large gathering. He joined the crowd and expects many beneficial results from it, although these results may not be apparent in the immediate future.

NO WORD ON DATE OF SCHOOL OPENING

No word regarding school opening in the city has yet been received by Mr. J. B. Fraser, secretary of the Board of Education, in answer to a communication to the Department of Education of Education in Toronto, sent on the 18th of August requesting information regarding the opening of school dates in other cities. The date for Belleville opening had been set at September 1st, while schools in other cities have deferred the opening date until September 6th.

The School Inspector in local Board of Education could not understand the later date in reference to a request by Chairman of the Board, Mr. Fraser, for further more information on the matter.

WINE MAKERS DO NOT FEEL CONCERN

Toronto, Aug. 22—No concern will be felt by Canadian wine manufacturers as a result of the Imperial Economic Conference to provide any preference on their products, according to Hector Marshall, President of Canadian Wine Products, Ltd., today.

"It wouldn't affect us in any event," he declared. "Canada does not hope to complete with Australia in the wine market, or with South Africa. The longer period of sunshine in Australia gives the grape a higher percentage of sugar

ENTRY LIST IS QUITE HEAVY

Already There Are as Many Entries as Last Year

One week from tomorrow, the gates will swing open and Belleville Fair will become a reality after months of preparation by the energetic Board of Directors. One does not realize the amount of work that is necessary to bring a fair of such proportions to fruition and those who visit the fair during the four days will find something of interest. Splendid entry lists have been arranged for in front of the grandstand, the evening performance will be up to the usual standard, while the Crystal Slims Shows will supply the Midway attractions. For the agriculturalist, the Board has arranged an interesting programme and the entrants in the live stock lines exceeded all expectations. At present, the Secretary R. E. Ketcheson, has received as many entries as were in at this time while many of the large exhibitors have yet to forward their entries. The cattle and horse exhibits will be the feature, although the grain will be up to the high standard set, while competition will be keen in all with each other in the decoration of the various booths in the main building.

Grounds Cleaned Up

The grounds have received a thorough going over, liberal coats of paint have been applied and all of the buildings have been cleaned. It was found necessary to clean the cattle sheds and these will be of permanent nature. Carpenters have been busy for the past week in this connection and the cattle housed there will have the same protection as in the older barns. The lawn near the grandstand has been carefully kept during the year and visitors will find a cool, shady and inviting place to spend a quiet hour after tramping through the buildings.

Of interest to the horsemen of the district will be the harness races in the perfect half mile ring during the last three days of the fair. There will be two races each afternoon for substantial purses and some of the best horses in training will be on hand. The secretary has received entries from stables that never before ras raced in this district and each will be in for a contest of speed of the highest order. Many of the horsemen will be present in Ottawa to the big meet and from there will ship to this point, they going into Belleville for the four day meet. Vic Rowntree, "Chappy" Chapman and Johnny Mullins will be on hand with their strings including Ransom Cristian, Ray Peters, McDougall and other high class pacers. The local horses have been carded out and the card is not be surprising that some of them look down the long end of the purses, Percy Morgan has Lou Dane in training at the local track and he will turn for the word in the 2.15 class and the fur should fly. The Belleville Fair is a local institution and unless patronized by the citizens and residents of the district, cannot exist. There will be plenty of entertainment up to and everyone should make it a point to visit the fair on every occasion and make the Belleville Fair one of the best in Eastern Ontario. Only co-operation can bring this about.

TERM SUSPENDED FOR SHOPLIFTERS

A woman resident not far from Belleville, appeared in police court Monday charged with shop lifting in a local chain grocery store. The unfortunate woman pleaded guilty, later explaining to the court that her husband was working but three hours a day and bringing in but $6 a week to feed eight mouths. His Worship, on the recommendation of Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, took a rather lenient stand in the matter and meted out a two year suspended sentence with the stipulation that she remain away from all chain grocery stores.

A number of cases of breach of the Highway Traffic Act and breach of the Liquor Control Act were also disposed of.

TWO "LUNGE" WEIGHT 81 1-2

Fred Sprague and Joe Thrasher are Successful Fishermen

Fred Sprague and Joe Thrasher take all the honors so far.

There dwells on Isaac Walton had the supreme thrill of all fishermen, when they landed last week two lunge, that weighed 81 1-2 pounds. The first one was caught on Wednesday last, while the second one was hooked on Friday. Mr. Sprague and Mr. Thrasher have been enjoying their holidays on the upper reaches of the Moira River and were rewarded for their efforts just before holiday time came to a close. They were trolling in Bay of Islands, a small bay about six miles from Belleville on Wednesday, when the big strike came to them. Mr. Sprague, held by Mr. Sprague, he went to work and after a hard fight, the fish which weighed 50 lbs was landed in the boat. Not content with this catch, the fishermen, practically the same spot, Mr. Thrasher was fortunate to hook the other beauty. He had a nice tussle with the lunge and he tipped the beam at 41 1-2 pounds. It is only once in a lifetime, that a fisherman is fortunate enough to hook one of these beauties but to get two of equal size in the same day is indeed a record and the party is to be congratulated on their good fortune.

POLICE COURT

On a common charge of vagrancy, Frank Bowen was this week sentenced to serve three months indeterminate and by which less than one day indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory after pleading guilty before Magistrate Mikel, Monday morning.

It was pointed out by the court that Wilson had been convicted on various charges throughout the province and had also served time in the Portsmouth penitentiary. Wilson accepted the sentence without a murmur.

How Fee System Will Work Out

Further announcement regarding the fee system to be put into effect in public schools of the city and the re-opening of classes has been made by the special committee following a meeting held by the committee on Monday evening.

At a meeting the committee decided that pupils now having text books in their possession will be allowed to use their own, providing they are in good condition and meet the recommendations specified. In cases where books are already owned are used, two-thirds of the cost of the books or rooms will be deducted from the amount to be paid by the scholars.

The fee system was designed to penalize the parents of the pupils, but the cost of the books and rooms can be bought for far less the cost of rent and rooms according to trustees who are responsible for this part of the work. Under this reduction of the fee system the holders of books in good shape will be able to get the advantage of them. The other one-third will go for small class room supplies. The final announcement is made by Mr. W. H. Allin, chairman of the committee, which has been responsible for its adoption.

MOURN VICTIM OF DROWNING

News of Lake St. Louis Tragedy Received Here

Earl Adams whose death by drowning at Beaconfield on Lake St. Louis, was reported from Montreal this Monday morning, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams of 163 Bridge St. East. He was twenty five years of age and born in Brighton, after residing with his parents in Lindsay on their removal to that town. He had only visited with his family here, as following his graduation from Queen's University he entered the employ of the Sun Life Assurance Co. and located at Montreal.

The father left Monday morning for Montreal to await the recovery of his son's body, which will be conveyed here for funeral service by Marlow and Sons undertaking establishment.

To the sadly bereaved father and mother is extended the sympathy of their numerous friends in this community.

"PURE ACCIDENT" IS DECISION HANDED DOWN

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 22.—(By The Canadian Press).—The motor accident in which Miss Margaret Smith of Lunenburg was killed and Senator W. H. Dennis of Halifax, with several others, severely injured, was a "pure accident" and the decision handed down by Stipendiary Magistrate J. A. Jones following an official investigation.

The accident occurred when cars driven by Senator Dennis, toward Halifax and by Allison T. Smith, toward Bridgewater, collided about 18 miles from Halifax, on July 5.

MYSTERY VISIT TO U.S. BY "PROF. SKINNER"

Boston, Aug. 22—Montagu C. Norman, Governor of the Bank of England, arrived Saturday, aboard the White Star Liner Britannic, clothed in the atmosphere of mystery which has frequently attended his movements.

In shipboard he was listed as "Professor Clarence Skinner," but he freely admitted his identity to ship reporters.

Norman declined to say whom he expected to see in this country, but declared he intended to leave by train for New York at once. He said he would return to Great Britain in a week.

OBITUARY

LATE WILLIAM E. BONTER

The funeral of the late William E Bonter was held Saturday afternoon last from the Thomas C Thompson Funeral Parlor, Front Street. The Rev. C. J. F. Wilson conducted the service there and also at the place of interment in the Belleville cemetery. A large number were in attendance to pay their last solemn tribute of respect to the deceased. The wealth of floral offerings further testified to the esteem in which he was held and the sympathy felt for those bereaved.

The bearers were Messrs. John Carr, William Cromwell, Thomas Clare, Clifford Crooks, James Hudgins and Captain Hunter.

STEWART R. McCONNICAL

The death occurred in the Belleville General Hospital on Sunday, of Stewart R. McConical, eighteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McConigal of Savannah, N.Y.

SERGT. MAJOR JORDON DIES

Argyle. A soldier well versed in all phases of infantry drill, military law and procedure, he had been a strength to local battalion.

Long Military Career

In early manhood Tom Jordan joined the 3rd. Rifle Brigade, Black Watch, Montreal with that unit throughout the Boer War. Several years after the outbreak of the Great War he had come to Canada and on November 14th, 1914 he joined the Canadian Engineers formation at Kingston. With his knowledge of engineering and his was of the greatest aid in the weeks of preparation for the grim struggle toward military proficiency that was to be the keynote of success of the battalion have much to thank him for in their earlier training. On May 15th, 1915 he was granted as a company sergeant major of the Canadian Engineers and as regimental sergeant major stuck to his post until May, 1919. At the battle of Amiens on the 8th of August, 1918, he was seriously wounded at the same time the officer commanding the unit, the late Lieut.-Col. Elmer Jones, D.S.O., was killed. Invalided to England, by most strenuous efforts he made a very great fit shape he returned to France in the fall of that eventful year to have his heart's desire, and marched following his commanding officer at the head of one of Canada's greatest fighting infantry battalions across Rhine at Bonn and into German territory. The battalion he had so earnestly and assiduously nurtured and whose destinies he had helped to mold known and whose honour he had ever most sacredly maintained.

Given Many Honors

To R.S.M. Jordan came honors outstanding in the campaigns of the Great War. For devotion to duty and bravery he was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal, standing next to the Victoria Cross and he was one of the very few first class warrant officers of the British armies to be selected for outstanding service and devotion, as recipient of an officer's decoration, the Military Cross.

With love for his old battalion, its members and traditions, "Tim" Jordan had been an outstanding attendant at the annual reunions of the 21st Battalion and all other gatherings of its members for special purposes throughout the past thirteen years. To his untiring efforts is due chiefly the formation of the 21st Battalion clubs, here, and in Kingston, Oshawa, Toronto, Brockville and Peterboro and the meeting of his comrades in bonds of loyalty in tradition of the days when they so self sacrificingly made history in the battlefield of France and Belgium. Wherever his old comrades gather henceforth many occasions will prompt the departed comrades is observed by the two minutes' silence, most vividly and forcefully will pass thoughts of Tim Jordan and what he loyally accomplished for God, for King and Country throughout his life.

To mourn his loss remain the widow, a son, Thomas at home, and two daughters, Miss Alice of Belleville and Wilma at home, and a nephew, Thomas Dodsworth of Brantain View. To those bereaved is extended the united sympathy of this community, the soldiers' organizations throughout the district and most especially the sincerest of all sympathies from the old comrades of the 21st Battalion and the 34th Battery and also from a former Argyll Light Infantry.

Fitting Testimonial

Mayor Tice today said: "I have known R.S.M. Jordan for a number of years and ever found him to be a soldier and gentleman, a man to be depended on. Very often he was visited at my home for an hour or so, to talk of the problem confronting the returned men of the city and district, to entertainingly speak of war experiences or to discuss with me the general problems of the day. Interest in local civil life maintained true, to the high standard of British ideals which made him an outstanding soldier, while fighting with the 21st Battalion overseas. I deeply regret his passing and my sympathy goes to those bereaved near and dear to him."

Duty will rest at the Belleville Burial Co.'s Funeral Home, 27 Campbell Street, till Wednesday morning, when it will be conveyed to the Armouries to lie in state until 2 o'clock the service at that time. The funeral will be a military nature. Word was received this forenoon by Secretary Treasurer of the local 21st Battalion Club; that Major the Rev. William Kidd, M.C. of Acmeder, padre of the 21st Battalion will be in Belleville to officiate at the funeral of his old comrade, and a wire has also been received from Lieut.-Col. H. R. Pense, D.S.O., M.C., of Walkerton, last commanding officer of the unit, that he would be in Belleville to pay his respects to the memory of his late Regimental Sergeant Major.

Time to Hold True to Traditions and Face the Crisis With Fortitude

Message by Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, D.S.O. at Decoration-Day

REAL SUCCESS

Place Wreath on Cenotaph and Decorate All Graves

Sunday afternoon several hundred citizens joined with the returned soldiers of Belleville at the Belleville war memorial and at the most solemn in the Belleville Cemetery to devoutly pay tribute to the memory of those who fell in the Great War, and remained on the "Front line" in Belgium and France forevermore, and those, who had returned but had not passed on, and lie in the Belleville and St. James cemeteries, to the veterans of the Fenian Raid and the Northwest Rebellion, whose last resting place is in those hallowed acres on the shore of the Bay of Quinte.

Under New Direction

The newly formed branch of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada were responsible for the parade, the service and the afternoon's proceedings were under their supervision. At 1.45 p.m. by the Belleville Citizens' Band and headed by President George Smith, Mayor Tice and the Rev. A. L. Geen chaplain of the Canadian Legion, the parade in charge of Capt. Tom Hyland, marshalled in the War Memorial on Front and Station Streets. A detachment of Cadets, cadets and the Women's Auxiliary of the Veterans joined with the returned men in the parade.

The ceremony at the memorial was better known as "better may God to Thee" was sung, wreaths and flowers placed at the base of the monument, the band sounded the "Last Post" and two minutes' silence was observed.

By car and buses those attending were transported to the Belleville cemetery and the parade was formed on Victoria Avenue on the Trenton road, and marched to the space in front of the memorial cross.

Rev. Mr. Geen officiated at the afternoon's service in opening referred to decoration day as the sacred day of remembrance of those who in time of war had been willing to sacrifice their lives for King and Country, for the protection of the lives at home and for the ideal of British freedom. A day when men and women gathered to do honor to the memory of the soldiers who had died, and to be grateful that those who had been decorated on them service should not be forgotten or neglected.

Following the singing, again, of a verse of "Nearer My God to Thee" the prayers and Scripture were read. "Abide With Me" the song and Mayor Tice placed the Veteran's wreath on the cenotaph. Lt.-Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, D.S.O., was then called on for the address of the afternoon.

Lt.-Col. Vanderwater Speaker

Today, he said, we were paying tribute to the memory of the comrades who had made the supreme sacrifice in war, and to those who had passed on since 1918. Each year, each week, each day, saw the ranks of comrades in eternal slumber added to. Today an outstanding soldier of the war, Regimental Sergeant Major Tom Jordan of the Royal Hussars, had gone to join those ranks. A truer perspective of the Great War was at present many decidable than immediately at its close. Never before in

MAJOR F. M. JONES

Major H. M. Jones, a senior officer of the Argyll Light Infantry who last week passed his Militia Staff Course, the highest course for the non-active forces. Major T. V. Wills, O.C. 45th Battery and Major A. B. Gribble, A.I.C. also successfully completed the course.

history had the Dominion sent five per cent of its population to fight for the Mother Country on foreign shores, every home in Canada had been effected by it. Time effaced and softened the memory of the sacrifices. Hospitals of loved ones buried on foreign soil would ever remain bright—undimmed.

We must realize, concluded the Colonel, that today's young men and young women have only a recollection of the memory of the years of 1914-1918. Time is passing and what of the future in a time of depression, and what was the vision given property due to economic conditions. Now was the time to maintain and hold true to the traditions of the past and face the crisis with fortitude and courage.

Following Col. Vanderwater's address, Mr. Geen paid tribute to the Colonel and then sang "Oh God Our Hope in Ages Past" was sung, "Last Post" was sounded and the service closed with the singing of the National Anthem and Benediction.

200 Graves Decorated

Next followed the decoration of the over 200 soldiers' graves in the two cemeteries. Mr. Arthur Thomas, the courteous and able caretaker of the Belleville cemetery had most carefully laid the route of the part of the parade in that cemetime would not unnecessarily be lost in placing the flowers at each of the flag-marked graves.

On returning to the city the procession was again formed at the top of Meyer Hill and marched to the Front of Memorial Hall. Here, Mr. Geen briefly addressed the returned men asking for their closer unity and urged on them the necessity of identifying themselves with an organization. The band played "God Save the King" and Captain Hyland dismissed the parade.

Although arrangements for the day had been rather hurriedly made the Soldiers' Decoration Day of 1932 passed off splendidly.

HEAR ADDRESS ON ECLIPSE

Officers at Course Had Interesting Evening at Lecture

Wednesday evening last, officers in attendance at the Staff Course at Lennoxville, Que., were guests of the Hermitage Club, Lake Memphramagog. The camps of the British scientists, now in Quebec to observe the eclipse of the sun on the 31st inst., is in the nearby vicinity and the club is their headquarters. During the evening Prof. Stratton of Cambridge University, head of the expedition, gave an interesting hour's talk relative to the approaching eclipse and outlined the manner in which various observations were to be made. He also explained some of the various instruments in the line of testing the different phases of the eclipse and these instruments are known these costly measuring apparatus, some of which is insured for $20,000 and is regarded as nonreplacable. Prof. Stratton also explained the conditions he had been with in observing eclipses; the last previous one had been in Sumatra. In all the local members of the course have been taking their own D. Young.

TWO IN CANOE ARE DROWNED

Earl Adams of Belleville and L. Bagshaw, Cambray, Upset

Montreal, Aug. 22—Their canoe overturning, Earl Adams, aged 25, of Belleville, Ont., and Lorne Bagshaw, aged 26, Cambray, Ont., were drowned Sunday at Beaconsfield, on Lake St. Louis. The men, paddling a canoe, struck the canoe, tipping it on its side. They had just eaten lunch and were completely dressed.

Bagshaw was to have been married on September 7 at Cambray according to local friends. He was an employee of a wholesale drug firm, and Adams of an insurance company, both in Montreal. A search had failed to recover the bodies Sunday.

MISS DONALDSON CONTEST WINNER

Closing Exercises of Bible School Largely Attended

At eight o'clock Friday night a large number of young and old filled the auditorium of Street United Church Mission building for the closing exercises of the Daily Vacation Bible school, which had been put forth during the past six weeks. Principal Fred H. Henry was in the chair. Through the courtesy of the Y.M.C.A. lantern and Bridge Street United Church, there were several views of Palestine and of Biblical scenes were shown. Motion pictures of the children proved to be very interesting and a revelation to older folk of what can be accomplished and how juveniles take an interest in the study of religious training.

Mrs. E. Donaldson was accompanist for the evening and led the singing in quaint style by Miss Mary of Cod-grove, and Little Lillian Parker.

Prize Donaldson Winner

The main enthusiasm centred about local contests in elocution and Bible memory and reaching under the direction of Miss B. Arbuckle. The winner in the elocution were Miss S. Jones, Mrs. Asa Bunnett and Rev. E. B. Neal. The latter as spokesman announced the results of contestants as follows:—1st Frede Donaldson, 2nd Mary Elizabeth Cooper, 3rd Mary Lloyd, 4th Dell.

Each was rewarded with a prize as a reward for their meritorious achievements.

While the judges were considering their task, Miss Arbuckle favored the assembly with two fine recitations, one in inhabitant language and Miss Eva Juby a visitor from the group of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church in faultless manner recited the parable so well learnd by the others too.

On behalf of the parents in this section of the city Mrs. W. Deline expressed appreciation of the splendid conduct conducted in such a variety of manner and thanks were extended to all, who had assisted toward the success of the venture. Many of the children manifested a desire for its continuance next year if circumstances permit and workers are available. They are yet in touch with the different city groups, who all meet next Tuesday morning in the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church to rehearse, motion chorus for the final rally there this coming Friday evening when Mayor Tice will preside over general closing exercises.

The boys and girls have perfected themselves in a splendid patriotic suite as given at the close of each days proceedings.

The only sure happiness for any nation is to be found in the peace and prosperity of the whole world. —Prince of Wales.

Held Up at Point of Gun And Relieved of All Money

Mr. Smith, Montreal, Fixing Car at Time of Robbery

Mr. Smith of Montreal was held up and robbed of some $40 on the No. 2 Highway between Marysville and Descronto at about 3 o'clock this morning. Mr. Smith was proceeding to Toronto in a Ford roadster and was having trouble with the lighting system. He had pulled up to the side of the road to look over the generator, when he was prodded in the back and told to hold up his hands and relieved of his money. On arriving in Belleville he noted the Lodtion Lunch open and went in there to enquire as to police headquarters. Two Papas night-man at the lunch room telephoned the police station and Sergt. Arthur Booth after interviewing Mr. Smith notified the Provincial Police. Officers Byles and Campbell went to the scene of the hold up but no trace of the culprit has so far been found.

We must be prepared to build up from now a completely receiver to deal with our bankrupt world. —H. G. Wells.

THREE OBTAIN STAFF COURSE

Majors T. Y. Wills, H. M. Jones and A. B. Gribble Successful

Mayor T. Y. Wills O.C. 34 Battery and Majors H. M. Jones and A. B. Gribble of the Argyll Light Infantry, returned to the city Saturday last, after successfully completing Part II of the Militia Staff Course at Lennoxville, Que. Friday morning last. It was announced by a class of sixty one, who had been in attendance the past two weeks that all had passed their arduous examinations. For five months last winter and spring a course of lectures and instruction was carried on in the Armories here, by Major Whitelaw, C.R.O. of Kingston as Part I of the course and the three local officers heretofore mentioned passed with a most creditable showing.

In passing successfully the entire course these officers are now eligible for staff work in either peace or war and entitled to m.c. (Militia Staff Course) following their names and will be so designated in military lists. Since the war, only two others from this city have attained staff qualifications, Captain Waller Scott former manager of the Dominion Bank here and now at Barrie and Crown Attorney J.A. for R. C. Donnan.

The class at Lennoxville was under supervision of the District staff and quartered in the Bishop's College buildings, Brigadier Constantin, former Commandant of the R.M.C. Kingston, and now of Halifax, acted as president of the examining board.

To the new Staff Officers is extended the congratulations of their many friends in this district on attaining their meritoriously won honours.

FATALITY AT SANDBANKS

Morden Knox Loses Life Swimming in Lake

Enjoying a picnic at the Sandbanks in Prince Edward County with a number of relatives and friends, Morden Knox, aged 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Knox, Picton, an accountant of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Saskatoon, drowned late Friday evening in full view of a large number who were enjoying a swim in the water. The young man had assisted several of the party into the boat through a heavy undertow and was making the second trip when he was seen to collapse. Before help arrived he had succumbed. Mr. Knox is single and it is believed he may have been strangled from swallowing a mouthful of water. Dr. Hepburn was called and he decided no inquest necessary.

KNIGHTHOOD FOR MOLLISON EXPECTED

London, Aug. 22—Still hailing the daring flight of Captain J. A. Mollison across the westward Atlantic passage, London newspapers agreed that he would be knighted there after his return from America. The Sunday Express declared that Mollison would make his romantic bride, Amy Johnson, herself a famous flier, to sign an agreement whereby both would abstain from stunt flights and hazardous flying. The newspaper said Mollison would begin his return flight from New York Tuesday.

One should always learn to love oneself for that is the only lifelong romance.—Gabriele d'Annunzio.

MINERS HAVE LEFTFORHOMES

Warrants Issued Charging 103 Miners With Inciting Riot

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 20— The miners' expeditionary force of 10,000 men, successful in closing 10 coal mines, has departed from Christian County today and scattered to their homes in adjacent counties—there to await a possible call from leaders for a trek into coal fields further south.

Occupation of the county, which took place Thursday, was terminated last night when leaders announced their purpose had been achieved. Local miners had joined the ranks of the strikers who objected to the $5 daily basic wage agreement recently effected by the Illinois Union.

Coincident with the start of the evacuation, officials of the Peabody Coal Company, largest operator in the county, obtained warrants charging 103 members of the invading forces with inciting riot.

AGREEMENT HELPS SOUTH AFRICA

Stabilized Exchange More Important to Country Than Preferences

Cape Town, South Africa, Aug. 20 (C.P. Cable)—Proceedings of the Empire parley at Ottawa have been followed with the deepest interest in the newspapers of South Africa. Many of them point out that the Union is the only gold-standard country in the Commonwealth at present, with all her principal exports complicated by heavy subsidies aimed at offsetting adverse exchange rates.

There is a considerable body of opinion here that South Africa will not secure the full benefit of economics in the British Empire until the present exchange disability is removed. The conference reached no action regarding stabilized exchange, the withdrawal of bounties and special duties has a special significance and in some quarters is held far outweighs the question of preferences.

It is generally agreed however that whatever concessions are secured will be enormously appreciated by producers and cannot fail to ease the situation in South Africa.

INSTABILITY FOE OF ECONOMIC SYSTEM

Ottawa, Aug. 20 (CP)—Elimination of monetary instability would constitute one of the most important contributions which statesmanship could make to the betterment of our present economic and social system," Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada and chairman of the conference, told the committee on monetary and financial questions preceding one of which were published at the closing session of the economic conference today. He pleaded for no delay in world study of the problem.

WEEKLY NEWS BUDGET FROM GILEAD VICINITY

Good looks aren't always luck

Sparkling eyes and a smooth complexion depend on good health.

The beautiful woman guards against constipation. She knows this condition can cause headaches, sallow skin, dull eyes, pimples, premature aging.

Protect yourself from constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Taste the delightful nut flavor. It provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. The addition of ALL-BRAN furnishes blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much safer than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal—will correct most types of constipation. If your trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal; with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

BRITISH PLUCK IN HARD TIMES

"Are we down-hearted? No!" was the cry of the Canadians in war days.

And then the Canadians went into battle confidently, but on the alert.

That at present is the spirit of the entire British nation, avers Andre Maurois, a French writer, famous for his understanding of the English-speaking peoples throughout the world.

But more immediately interesting to readers is his statement that there is such a marked contrast between the attitude of the British and of the Americans toward the "depression," the "crash," or the "collapse," call it as you will. Mr. Maurois, who has traveled widely in the United States, tells us in a world-known Paris newspaper, Le Journal:

"In the United States the crisis is an obsession. The faces you see are faces stricken by a catastrophe. Mysterious fears haunt the hearts of Americans.

"The mighty moving-picture houses, a glory of New York, are failures."

But in London, Mr. Maurois goes on to say, in the year of grace 1932, the restaurants and the theatres seem to move along in their same old way. In the universities the students maintain "their noble nonchalance." In the country, various great estates have been transformed into hotel properties. But in smaller places, "life goes on slowly and graciously." To listen further to Mr. Maurois:

"Of course, as everywhere, people talk here of the crisis—but the English talk about it with humor, with philosophy. It's a common topic of conversation, but it is not the only one.

"In fact, after a few epigrams, the subject is dropped and the talk is turned to races, the bridges of London—about which there is much criticism—to the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes, and other things.

"Everybody tries to keep to the old agreeable things of life, to the old good taste at table. To be sure, many are forced by lessened income to moderate their feeling for good things at table.

"Meals are much more simple, clothes worn are not so new, houses are run on a smaller scale. But gaiety still remains."

FAITH AND HONOR IN REFORMATORY

Faith in human nature is found where, reasonably, it could hardly be expected. It would be going too far to compare this example with the honor said to be proverbial among thieves, as its exponents can not just yet be said to be schooled in any criminal profession. On the contrary, they are on the menace.

"Lost, a Waterman fountain pen; finder please return to the editorial office." "A pair of tweezers was found about the institution; will finder please return same to print-shop?"

These are two notices appearing in The Summary, which records the doings at Elmira Reformatory, New York.

Nor are the notices of lost articles only. A rosary found at the foot of the auditorium stairs, it appears, has been deposited with the clerk for the owner to get.

Real friendships are formed at Elmira.

The departure of one member of the "family" was a tribute which might well have appeared in a college annual. It is headed "Farewell, Jack:"

"At last the day of days has rolled around for Jack, one of the best liked fellows in the College. He is preparing to say farewell to his many friends here. There isn't one of us who doesn't know and admire this genial, likable young man, who came into our midst some nineteen months ago . . .

"During our association with Jack we have openly admired and secretly envied his pleasant, ever-smiling disposition. Always smiling, always rowing, he has gone along, month after month, radiating good cheer among us and making our confinement much easier to bear. Telling his own troubles behind his smiles, he has helped us to smile our own troubles away. Now he is saying farewell.

"We are glad and happy for your sake, Jack, that your time is up. We'll miss you more than mere words can say. We'll miss your happy disposition, but most of all, we'll miss YOU. You've proved yourself a regular if there ever was one, and your going will leave a void in our midst that will be hard to fill, if ever.

"In saying farewell, Jack, let us say that we wish you the best of luck and success in all your enterprises in the world beyond the bars. May happiness and good fortune smile on you at very turn of the Road of Life. We'll treasure your friendship in our memory, and always look back at our confinement here with little or no regret and smile the smile that we learned from you.

"May you be to yourself what you've been to us: A Pal, a Friend, a Regular."

Two other "graduates" receive cordial godspeed. Pete spent thirteen months working in the Elmira barber shop. "Many fellows," says The Summary, "are wearing a 'Ring Haircut' as a testimonial of the care he takes in practising his profession." Jerry is popular, too, for a great number of friends say "so long" to him. False "one inmate who seldom gets lonesome; he is always talking to some one, and if he can't get any one to listen to him, then he talks to himself."

The Summary is up to date, too, with a humorous column. Under a head-line, "As See by the Papers," we read these bits:

"That a head-line read, 'Cops Battle Communists.' What can you expect when you wave a red flag at a bull?"

"That there is a well in England that completely petrifies anything that is dropped into it. It really is strange how far our bootlegger will travel for some of his stuff."

"That about 75 per cent of the cases that are appealed to the Court of Appeals are refused further hearings. That didn't happen when our opponent appealed his case."

REWARDS
By Aline Michaelis

Of all rewards beneath the sun
The best is this: to hear within,
Above the world's loud strife and din,
A quiet voice that says: "Well done!"

Some labor long for worldly fame,
And count it as life's highest prize;
Star-bright, sun-bright in their rapt eyes
Shines this fair gift of man's acclaim.

And others hold the praise of friends
A thing more dear, of greater worth;
Love's voice alone they ask of Earth,
For every lack it makes amends.

But best of all the guerdons won
In Earth's applause, or friendly hearts,
The voice which greatest bliss imparts,
Is one within that says "Well done!"

NEWS REEL of Dr. Locke's famous out-door foot clinic at Williamsburg was taken last week with the doctor speaking into the microphone. At Morrisburg the steamer Rapids Queen, of the Canada Steamships Line has been chartered by the proprietor of the St. Lawrence Hall in that village as an overflow annex to accommodate patients for the "Country Doctor" at Williamsburg (six miles away.) There are sixty staterooms on the Rapids Queen, besides a grand ball room which will be used for entertainment purposes. Consciously or unconsciously Dr. Locke is a showman of no mean calibre and every move in the open air drama of the healing art is a picture.

GREATEST NEWS of the century is that which came out of Ottawa announcing the successful conclusion of the Imperial Economic Conference and the birth of a greater Empire. Is it too much to claim, perhaps, that the germ of this great idea now in the process of being put in operation, originated with the Belleville Chamber of Commerce which formulated and pressed resolutions for Free Trade Within the Empire and protection against the rest of the world at the Conferences of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce held at London, England and also in South Africa. In any event we helped.

'PHONE MANNERS might well be made a compulsory subject in public schools, witness schools, at least. Everyone knows how nice it is to hear a pleasant voice over the telephone, and the reverse, short, crisp, impatient or even impudent voices. Irate complainers on the phone are often soothed and frowns changed to smiles by a pleasant, good-natured voice in reply, and many a good business connection has been saved in the same way, while, contrary-wise, many good business has been sacrificed because of ire aroused by phone too-smartness. If one end of the wire is hot keep the other end cool. When a person picks up the telephone to give someone a piece of their mind, the other persons keeps cool and pours smooth words into the troubled transmitter the person at the other end generally finishes by being heartily ashamed of the burst of temper. Good nature on the telephone is worth much more than its weight in gold and much comfort in the social world. It isn't a brave thing to bulldoze a person over the phone with words you wouldn't dare to use face to face. Telephone talkers are divided into several groups among which may be listed the following: NICE, NASTY, GRUFF, BLUFF, BELLIGERENT, BELLICOSE, BULL, SMOOTH, FAST, SLOW, SLANGY, BASHFUL, MOUTHY, PLEASANT, PATIENT, IMPATIENT, POLITE, etc. What's yours? Think it over.

HYPNOTISM IS REALITY AND HAS VALUES

Hypnotism is Valuable Aid in Treatment of Diseases

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

Despite the doubts as well as the falsities one hears expressed concerning it, hypnotism is a real thing.

Some believe hypnotism mere pipe fake. Others hold that their weak-minded individuals can be brought under its influence. A few think that some people possess the power to hypnotize while others do not. Many, too, are convinced that a person with such alleged hypnotic powers can hypnotize others without their knowing it, and even at a distance.

There can be absolutely no question about hypnotism being an actuality. In fact hypnosis, which is the term doctors prefer, is a most valuable aid in the treatment of certain nervous disorders, especially of the functional variety.

To say that only weak-willed or weak-minded individuals can be brought under the spell of hypnosis is sheer nonsense. That some possess superior hypnotic powers and that people can be hypnotized at a distance are likewise false notions.

Whether a person can be hypnotized or not—and there are thousands who cannot—has nothing whatsoever to do with the strength so-called, of the mentality. If anything, the person with a strong will can be more readily hypnotized than a person with a weak one, for the depth of an hypnosis and its efficacy depends largely upon the ability of the subject to control his mind sufficiently to pay close attention and concentrate.

When all is said and done, we may regard the act of hypnosis as a kind of trick. There are many methods, but all depend upon narrowing of the field of interest, the subject listening to the hypnotist and gradually allowing consciousness to fade out until he is in the hypnotist's power, so to speak, and responds unconsciously to his dictates.

One method is adaptable for one type of subject, another for another. The patient himself cannot be the judge, nor should the patient fear the influence of the hypnotist. It is usually most conducive to best results, when hypnosis is employed for therapeutic purposes, if the subject remembers all afterwards everything that occurred during the hypnotic state.

One might divide hypnoses into three degrees. In the first the subject is but lightly hypnotized, the procedure being little more than a thorough relaxation. During this first stage the subject hears what the hypnotist says, but is not concerned or bothered by anything that transpires. In the second deeper stage, occurrences are recalled only in a vague way. In the third and deepest stage the patient remembers nothing of what was said or done.

In this last stage the muscles of the patient are so under the control of the hypnotist, who can stiffen them and, in fact, produce the "cataleptic state", make the skin insensitive to pain, etc.

Experiments have proved that should a suggestion be made during an hypnosis which is contrary to the morals of the subject, the latter will generally awaken from the hypnosis automatically come to an end. This explains why many persons sometimes hears expressed about this method.

Hypnosis often invaluable in aiding over a crisis of nerves of that there can be no question. Hypnosis however does not reach organic troubles, and hence are not likely to be lasting. Hypnotism in fact, practically has been given up by the best psychological methods that probe the unconscious, locate the real trouble, and root it out.

SAYS INDIA MUST PROVE HER RIGHT

Drogheda, Irish Free State, Aug. 22—"I pledge myself England will not get her money until she proves her right to it," is the terse words President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State yesterday summed up his policy regarding the payment of land annuities under the treaty of 1921 with the United Kingdom.

The president promised the details of his new agricultural plan would be announced next week from now. It would mean, he said, guaranteed prices and markets for farmers.

ARTICLE NO. 27

More About Up Grade Merchandising

The question is often asked — why continue to spend millions each year to advertise a product so widely distributed and so well known, and Wm. Wrigley Jr., gives this answer:

"Tell em quick and tell 'em often. You must have a good product in the first place and something that people want, for it's easier to row down stream than up. Explain to that plainly and sincerly what you have to sell,' do it in as few words as possible, and keep everlastingly coming at them."

"Advertising is pretty much like running a furnace. You've got to keep on shoveling coal. Once you stop stoking, the fire goes out. It's strange that some people's imagination can't compass this fact."

A merchant told me the other day that he did not believed in doing any advertising. He said he had a lot of customers who had been coming to him for years. He was blind to the fact that many of those old customers were gradually dying off or moving out of the district and the balance were being appealed to by the advertising of other merchants. To be successful in business today you must be continually working to hold all your old customers as well as building up new business. As I have said before the man who is standing still is really dropping behind.

Another merchant in commenting on his plans said, "As the business is going at present we are not going to make a profit for the year and we will be hard put to it to avoid a loss. At the same time, I don't think we should cut advertising except as the last resort because it is advertising we depend on to build up our business. In fact we need to consider a further substantial increase of advertising as soon as we can manage to commence it if we are to hold our own in this market.

Be busy doing business, or be busy trying to get business. No one likes to do business with a doleful merchant, and a busy appearance, even though it may be on the outside, will frequently create the actual. Do not think for one moment conditions are going to come back exactly as they were before the crash. Never again, and never have the energy displayed when things were moving fast is too slow for harder conditions. The gas which will run your car on the level, will not be sufficient to get it over a stiff grade.

The store front, go outside and look at it. Does it look clean, bright and prosperous? If not, get busy and do make it right.

Your windows, are they frequently dressed? Do people stop and look at them expecting something new, or do they pass on by because of the same old story? Inside the store, are you making the best use of the display in the location of the goods and the relation of the goods to each other?

The lighting of your windows, do you light them early in the evening and leave the light on while people are on the street (even if the store is not open), it usually is worth more than it costs.

Is the store inside bright and cheerful? or are you holding down your light bill?

I cannot emphasize too strongly that it is essential for you to study your store and see if you cannot easily make changes that will make for better display. Study your shelving — your counters — your windows — your advertising. Study other stores and other advertising, not necessarily in your line or even your own type of business, but study them all and look about you for ideas.

NO PUNCH WITH WILLOW, IS A TOUGH BLOW

B. A. A. A. Jrs. Out of Running Losing to Petes 3-2

HAD REAL CHANCE

Bases Loaded With None Out And Still Did Not Score

Peterboro, Aug. 22.—(Special to Ontario Intelligencer)—The Belleville A. A. Juniors were put out of the O.B.A.A. running here Saturday, losing their second straight playoff game to the Petes, 3 to 2, being up against a heartbreaking loss, with the Petes' veteran team accepting the winning run in the ninth after Belleville had tied the score in the eighth.

Both teams staged a fine battle, the pitching and fielding of the juniors being a genuine surprise to many of the fans. "Dude" Dunkerley, a southpaw, held the visitors to two hits,—a double by Wilkins in the second and Sherry's single in the eighth. His sudden curve and change of pace baffled the opposition, and he fanned ten. On the other hand, Wilkins allowed eight hits, but he kept them scattered while he struck out nine of the Petes. He turned in a fine hurling performance tightening up in the pinches.

Bad Bad Bastiaga.

Still, he was his own downfall, as in the second inning two walks, a wild pitch, along with an infielders' error, gave the home team two runs. Belleville got one back in the sixth when Barriage was safe on an error, stole second and third to score on another misplay. They evened the count in the eighth, Smith walking, going to second on Sherry's hit and scoring on a misplay. The Lit-Lock outfit won in the ninth, Dunkerley walking, going to third on McCulloch's single, and scoring on Padgett's safe blow to left.

The Belleville team turned in a fine fielding game, which included a double play. While they all looked good on tough ones, Barriage played a bang-up game at short, having eight perfect chances and drawing applause on a couple of them.

The Peterboro boys went good on the field most of the way, though their errors were costly. Joe Bailey pulled off a circus catch over his head in deep left in the ninth to rob Smith of an extra base hit.

Wilkins with a double, and Sherry with a single were the only Belleville hitters, while Marrocco led the Petes with two safe ones.

Knocks and Boosts

It looks as though Belleville will have a team in the second round of the O.B.A.A. play-downs. After Saturday's game here when the locals defeated the returned victorious in their provincial play-down when they defeated the Dolora "Miners" by the score of 18 to 2, other interesting news in Eastern Ontario will begin to respect Belleville's intermediate entry, we suggest.

X—X—X

In Ralph Dey, Archie Campbell and Ed Hutten the local Vics have three pretty fair twirlers. Their infield has been clicking along at a fine pace, of late, while their outfield cannot be improved upon, defensively. The Vics have been a treat with the willow all season but when the play-offs started they seem to have acquired the necessary punch to put them through. Judging from Saturday's game here the Vic! should win the Peterboro, His team is batting a cool .400 for the season.

X—X—X

While the subject of intermediate baseball we saw the Gilbert Athletics take the short end of a 7 to 6 score in Gananoque on Saturday. We also saw a real smart pitcher, Hutten, in that game, a left hander and an exact duplicate of Ralph Dey. We think we remember how "the Duke" used to walk up to the rubber and "bang" 'em the half! Well the kid Dey works identically the same. The kid is a pitcher.

X—X—X

Ernie Gilbert's Athletics feel that they can "take" Dorey the next time they meet, which happens to be this afternoon. Of course the Athletics will have their ace hurler, Doug Fraser, on the hilltop today and they play a pretty fair brand of ball behind Doug, too.

X—X—X

We were sorry to hear that the local juniors, the B.A.A.A. kids, were counted out of the O.B.A.A. running at Peterboro on Saturday. The kids took a 2 to 1 thumping before one of the largest baseball crowds to be seen at James Stevenson Park, Peterboro, this year. According to reports from the Lit Lock City the game was a "pip". The local Association kids expelled themselves and the was never high lack than misplaying that they were not returned victorious. The game which the local kids should have won, especially on right here in Belleville a week ago Saturday. Even in the face of defeat and all-in being put out the local kids wished the victorious Peterboro Pirates the very best of luck and we hope that they can bring the Junior O.B.A.A. trophy to Peterboro and Eastern Ontario.

Following this evening's senior game the team delegates and the league executive will convene to see just how the C.O.B.L. situation does stand. As the Kingston press says "there should be neutral managers". We are heartily in accord with the idea and have advocated neutral umpires for senior games some now. That is more than can be said of Kingston, by the way, that at tonight's meeting somebody makes the above motion and it carries. Of course neither team will mind laying $100.00 "on the line" for Tuesday night. If the rumors we hear are all authentic the Kingston gang will have a much louder squawk about next April. Of course this is neither a threat nor a promise but all we hope for is to be present when the story "breaks" next spring.

For three consecutive years now the National Maids have finished first in the local girls' loop only to lose out in the play-offs. On Saturday evening this fine Belleville Fruit girls out-played them throughout and were crowned 1932 champions of the Belleville Girls' Softball loop the all wee bitter. Much credit is due to coach Lee "Stub" Barrett, who started the season but a few of the girls from last year's team and moulded them into a champion club. "Babe" Lewis, the mite hurler from Trenton, goes the lions share of the league title honors. She has won four nights last week. Coach Barrett had four first year players on his club which also speaks all the better of the Belleville Fruit combination. And was Manager Frank Dumulee a tickled mortal? Well, I'll say so. "Pete" the Maids is beyond our conception as they all seem to be ladies both on and off the field. They proved this by congratulating the new champions after Saturday night's game.

MERCURY OVER 100 IN FRANCE AND ITALY

London, Aug. 22—After causing more than a score of deaths, the heat wave that swept the British Isles moved on to the continent during the week-end, sending the mercury over the 90-degree Fahrenheit in many parts of France and Italy.

Berlin despatches said Sunday with 98 degrees, was the hottest day in Berlin in 47 years. Many persons were drowned there and five in Hamburg, bathing relief from the heat. A heavy wind struck Hamburg, damaging 40 houses.

Temperatures in the British Isles and Northern Germany and France dropped about 20 degrees last night and there were indications that relief might be expected in other sections soon.

FRUIT LASSIES CHAMPIONS IN SOFTBALL

Defeat National Maids in 5th And Deciding Game 13-9

HEAVY HITTING

"Babe" Lewis, Mite Hurler Had Maids Baffled

New champions were crowned in the Belleville and District Girls' softball league when the Belleville Fruit girls took the fifth and deciding game of the play-off series from the National Maids by the score of 13 to 9 at the Ammonite park Saturday evening.

By virtue of their win the Belleville Fruit club have represent the local girls' loop in the Eastern Ontario play-downs, the first league game of which is being played at the Ammonite this evening between the Kingston Provincials, winners of the Kingston City League and the city crowned champion Belleville Fruit girls.

"Babe" Lewis Starred.

After giving all credit necessary to Coach Lee Barrett it must be pointed out, that "Babe" Lewis, mite hurler of the Fruit team's nine for the fourth night of the week assumed the pitching duties and did not fail her manager. The slight little lass from Trenton rose to heights in the pinches and after her team mates gave her a substantial lead in the first innings she swept the opposing batters before her like chaff before the wind for the remainder of the game.

The Maids sent their veteran hurler Molly Shaw to the hilltop and beyond a doubt, she was the outstanding pitcher in her's a National uniform, when she handed eight runners, nine putouts and seven assists without an error. The National Maids had no less than 13 base runners left stranded on the paths, while the Fruit Maids had eight. Time and again Molly struckout four batters while "Babe" Lewis did the like and Molly's batter while the "Babe" issued three free tickets to the initial sack.

Hit Long Homer.

To Lou McGuire goes the honor of hitting the longest home run of the season, when she hit one high up and far away in the Fruit girls' bags. Pal Finger also hit for the circuit, both of these plays coming in the eighth inning to their credit. M. Leavey hit two singles and a double while Helen Smith collected three consecutive hits. Ruth Watson got two singles and two singles as did Pearl Tuttle. M. Knickelbein helped herself to a single while Doris Bland and B. McGuire provided the fielding features.

The lineups:

Belle Fruit — Galna, Finger, Tuttle, Smith, Bland, L. McGuire, Watson, B. McGuire and Knickelbein.

Nat. Maids — Kelleher, Melchoir, Empey, Harkins, I. Thrasher, E. Thrasher, Tuttle, Knost, Gray and Young.

WES. FERRELL MARKS UP 20TH WIN OF YEAR

First Hurler in Big Leagues to Achieve This Mark

LENGTHEN LEAD

Cards Set Back by Boston in 14 Innings

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

Wesley Ferrell, tall, husky North Carolinian, has chalked up his 20th victory of the season, the first pitcher in major league history to win that number, and gave the Cleveland Indians a lead in the big league.

The Cleveland right-hander won 21 games and lost 10 in his first full season with the Indians in 1929, was beaten 13 in 1930 and 22 and 13 last year.

His 20th triumph of the current campaign was gained yesterday over the Washington Senators, 11-6, in a loosely played game in which 13 passes were given by the pitchers. Even though he was relieved in the eighth inning by Wes Ferrell, Walk.

Detroit and Boston split a double bill. Bob Weiland gave the Tigers only four hits in the opener which the Red Sox won 3-1. Vic Sorrell limited the Red Sox to seven blows in the second battle and won 4-3.

National League

Chicago's Cubs strengthened their hold on the National League lead, beating the Phillies 2-0, while their closest rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers and Pittsburgh Pirates, took were beaten.

The Cubs had the benefit of four-hit pitching from the sensational rookie, Lon Warneke, who has up his 18th victory of the season. A single by Warneke, doubled by Herman and Cuyler and a long fly by Jurges gave the Cubs both their runs in the fifth.

Three Dodger pitchers were pounded for 17 hits as the New York Giants whipped Max Carey's pennant hopefuls, 8-3. Hughie Critz and Shanty Hogan led the Giant attack with three hits apiece. Fred Fitzsimmons allowed the Dodgers 10 hits but was effective in the pinches.

Eppa Sepha Rixey, 41 year old left-hander of the Cincinnati Reds, tamed the Pirates for the fourth time this season, allowing but eight hits in a 3-0 victory. Bill Swift pitched well for the Pirates, granting only four hits, but two safe bunts, a walk and two long flies gave the Reds two runs in the third.

The Boston Braves batted four-teen innings to achieve a 7-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and then darkness halted the second game of a scheduled double-header with the score tied at 2-2 in the sixth. Dizzy Dean relieved Bill Hallahan in the ninth inning of the opener and struck out ten in six innings only to lose out in the 14th on a single to Maranville, a triple by Urbanski and a single by Jordan.

Beauty.....

Treatment For Enlarged Pores

Handicapped with a skin of coarse texture, one girl will go about her beautifying business without much zest or spirit. Maybe doesn't hide the horrid indentations. She tries tots and phat, most. Powders and creams that are available, in a warfare against these conditions, gives it up as a bad job, settles down to a state of resignation and endurance.

Help can be had, if she exercises persistance. Enlarged pores heed the list of children's diseases. They're a long time coming and they aren't particularly keen about going. The change from fine texture to coarse comes usually in youth, when the complexion is not kept properly clean. And diet has a lot to do with it. Heavy eaters nearly always have coarse complexions.

Having heard that hot water relaxes the skin texture the artificial ones are afraid of it. Yet hot compresses followed immediately by ice cubs will prove effective in shrinking the functions of glands and skin. Hot water should never be used unless the skin is chilled immediately afterwards. Creams too are feared They shouldn't be. Oily applications incite the sweat glands to act and produce sweating is tonic to the complexion.

Astringents are necessary. An excellent one is compounded by combining one ounce of witch hazel, one fourth ounce of powdered boric acid, one half pint of camphor and water. The time for the astringent is in the morning immediately after the face has been rinsed with cold water.

When pores are large there is usually an excessive amount of oil excluded by the sebaceous glands. Perhaps that is the reason why pore structure differs so, nobody knows exactly. At any rate, the more soap used the better. Every night the face should be scoured vigorously with a cloth that is covered with a thick lather. Then rinse with warm water to remove soap deposits, finish with cold water. Or have an ice rub. The reaction of the blood vessels is bound to bring the texture of the skin to a more normal condition.

Another way to combat oily skin and enlarged pores is to stimulate the circulation of the surface of the body. This can best be done by means of a five-minute scrubbing in a hot with bath, scrubbing with soap suds, using flesh brush that will hold the lather quickly. Then, turning on the cold spray, giving oneself a brisk rub-down with a coarse towel.

A high grade powder is necessary in such cases, but a heavy one should never be ground into the complexion with the powder puff but fluffed on lightly with pledgets of cotton. A creamy rouge will help besides. Not a dry one which if pores are open and large, may become lodged in the pore openings unlike tatoo marks. Beauty specialists use them often enough. Rouge pore carrying its carmine load.

Then the diet; plenty of fruit juices, raw or cooked, and also plenty of vegetables, added to lean meat, fish or fowl will greatly work toward skin improvement. And don't forget the six glasses of water each day, which are essential to a complexion that can face the world without the aid of dirty complication. The human body needs water. Give it to it.

When a Child Refuses Milk

(By Constance Cameron)

Milk being the highly important factor that it is, mothers have a valid excuse for worrying when a child refuses to drink that he likes "hates milk", and continually refuses it. Many a mother becomes upset firmly on their decision that a glass must be drunk at this meal, or that one, and nothing else will set usually results for both mother and child.

New Forms of Milk

Milk that has to be fought down, young throats, or cried down, loses a lot of its value. I had thought this with great success. Mother's nagging about it.

Fortunately there are many ways of increasing your child's intake of milk without compulsion or bribery on both sides—and don't talk to him about it. None do we ever admit we just because it was "good for

Most children can be made to consume a proper quantity of milk, if appreciated if they are given drinks which should be light and easy to digest. Cocoa, chocolate, cornstarch and milk eggs poached in milk and custards are delicious. They will even, in turn unfortunately to taking milk in liquid forms after they've had it from the bottle or cup. Mother's nagging about it.

Correct Manners

(By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman)

BREAD-AND-BUTTER LETTER

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

1.—When visiting a girl friend over the week-end all her home is it correct to bring a gift for her mother or whom one has just met for the first time?

2.—How should a bread-and-but. ter letter be addressed?

3.—How soon should it be sent and to whom should it be addressed?

4.—Should the man friend who accompanied the girl to the dinner party also write a bread-and-butter note, or should I write it for both of us?

B.

1.—The gracious guest thoughtfully brings some trifling gift to her hostess, even if she has not met her before. A box of candy or a bit of flowers, or a book or two, or a group of the current magazines. These are some of the customary gifts taken to the hostess when we don't know at all or don't know very well. Then if we wish ....and we wish.... we should send a note as a consequential gift when we write our bread-and-butter letter after the visit. We will know her better then, know her more, and will understand better the kind of gift to send her to carry out appreciation with one sent.

2.—A bread and butter letter thanks first for the hospitality in general, for the kindness of the invitation, for the thoughtfulness of the hostess and the members of her family, and for the happiness that has given us. Naturally we also would mention our delight at the special plans that she made for us, for our entertainment, and say how much we enjoyed the dinner party and enjoyed meeting the friends of the family who came during the visit and such other things as should be mentioned by an appreciative guest.

3.—The bread and butter letter should be sent as soon as we can possibly send it after our return to our home. This is most important. It should not be postponed. It should be addressed to the hostess herself.....unless she has requested by the mother of your girl friend.

4.—Most emphatically, yes. This letter is extremely important. Attention was an especially gracious one. Limited invitations were sent out by the hostess and to your friend.

THE LADY'S COAT

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

What is the proper etiquette in regard to a young man carrying a young lady's coat and also her umbrella?

I have a friend who does not object to carrying a lady's umbrella but objects strenuously to carrying a coat. I maintain a man should carry her coat, while he says he feels ridiculous doing so.

W.

I agree with your friend about this. Of course a man should not carry a woman's coat, he may with gallantry and propriety do either. But I see no special reason why he should do this, if I were a man I am sure that I'd admire a woman who carries her own coat and her umbrella.....and I have written to carry these even if I suggest. ed that I'd carry them!

The Beauty Box

(By Helen Follett)

Have your creamy cosmetic handy, dip it into it daily and you'll have old Peggy Sage's fine finger tick. It is oil that keeps the wheels of the finger machinery going. Not good for complexion, half, scalp, eyebrows, lashes. The white, sophisticated scalp is not flaked with dandruff. Hair that is sprayed with brilliantine does not shine. Why? As for the cutaneous covering of the body, it is always busily engaged in going a state of decay and renewal, shedding off dead cuticle, making a new surface, so the more cream it receives, the better it functions.

It is impossible to name an infallible standard of weights and meas, dependent upon certain factors in bony constructions of the body. When a child's beauty sleep looks lean and the complexion needs a bleaching pack save your cream. Mix with oatmeal to form a mixture that will spread easily over the skin. Rub it in. 87 MILE RACE TO SAVE CHILD WINS

Toronto, Aug. 22—Roaring for 87 miles through the thick of holiday traffic, motorcycle officers in relays between London and Guelph averaged a mile a minute to bring a drug to a dying tot to save the life of a six year old girl, Mary Ann Hewitt of 20 Guelph General Hospital.

Mary Ann Hewitt of Guelph found that the life of his patient depended upon certain drug which could only be obtained from the laboratories of the Victoria Hospital in London. From hospital to hospital the officers sped, losing no moment. But they were rewarded at last night by the assertion of the doctor that only their effort saved the child's life.

The child had been suffering from convulsions of the brain. The Victoria Hospital had a diagnosis of the case and when Dr. Howitt "phoned the hospital that the police would take the serum, the serum was prepared with haste, and despatched immediately. From the time the call came the police was first called until the drug reached the Guelph Hospital scarcely one hour and 50 minutes had elapsed.

SIX PLANES VISIT OTTAWA

Will be Away From Airport For Over a Week

Trenton, Aug. 22 (Special)— Five Stinson planes of the Belleville Flying Club left Saturday morning for Ottawa, where they will spend a week. The Stinsons were piloted by Flying Officers Hawkney, Morrison, Wray, Edwards and Godwin, while the Rearchild was handled by Flight Sergeant Roberts. The flight leaving took off in perfect formation and disappeared into the east with the Trenton boys would land them at the Capitol in about one hour and forty minutes.

At the present time the roll includes 15 officers and 97 other ranks —the enlisted ranks having been augmented by the arrival of some twenty men in the last week from the west.

Those who thinks that the government will abandon the station at Trenton is in for a surprise. The buildings that have been erected to the value of $300,000 are nearly all completed and are a marvel in the way of modern home for veterans. It is expected that the airmen will take over their new quarters about the middle of November. The kitchen and dining rooms will be built in the centre, while there will mess at the north side of the building, these to be used by the officers system, while separated by a partition on the south side will be the Sergeant's Mess.

Brooks Writes

Mr. Sherman A. Graham of the Riverside Dairy, broke the large news to his friends here on Friday, being one of the company's trucks on Saturday morning crashed into a car. Mr. Graham had driven to the Bay of Quinte bridge and while he was attempted to park the truck when his hand slipped off and he fell, the truck going on and crashing on to the office of Dr. Johnston and then into the garage.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon of the late Mrs. Brooks, from St. George's Church where the services have been held since Friday, the feild concurring on Wednesday in Kingston. Service in the church was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Anderson, who is at present in charge of St. George's. After the service the corteges left for interment in Cataraqui Cemetery. The funeral on Saturday afternoon recalls the death of Miss Chadd's mother, Mrs. E. A. Chadd, who died a bequest of 89,000 to St. George's, the latter having been left to Miss Chadd was to receive accumulated interest until the time of her death.

Band Reorganized

The Trenton Band has been reorganized and will play at the concert Rednersville on Wednesday August 24th. The band is now under the direction of Mr. A. Cooper, while Mr. Lorne D. Foster has taken charge of the drums. Mr. J. Penlington is the secretary treasurer. The band committee is composed of Messrs W. Hamilton, W. Jones, H. Keitel and Mr. McGee of Wooler.

The opportunity was afforded to make their payments and secure a discount. It is thought that the total collections will bring the figures up to date it is expected that the collections will be up to those of last year which amounted to one hundred thousand dollars and more.

Hold Field Day

Lt.-Colonel Gates, commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, is in camp here on Thursday last to make final arrangements for inspection day on Friday, September 2nd. Each company will do training in the evolutions of the week between now and that date. "A" Company under the command of Major W. Graham will also carry out evening parades in preparation for Inspection at an early date. On September 1st. the regiment will assemble on Dundonald's Park at 8 a.m. and the early part of the day will be spent in the training exercises. A dinner will be served, following which the afternoon will be devoted to sports. The day should prove an interesting one to the townspeople.

It is understood that additional huts have been added to the ranks of the commissioned men in "A" Company. Further huts for the officers will be made public as soon as they are completed.

Car Was in Garage

When the most absent-minded man in town? has been discussed for some time but a certain young doctor we believe wins the prize for the past week. The man in question drove his car into town as usual, but instead of parking it in his customary place left it in one of the garages for a greasing job. On coming out for his car at noon he was astonished to not find the car where he thought he had left it but there it parked near his office. After looking around he decided that he had been stolen and notified the local police to that effect. The police took a look around the town but were unable to locate the car and informed the police of the surrounding towns to be on the lookout for the stolen car, when the doctor called up and informed them that he had finally remembered that he had left his car in one of the local garages.

At The Belle

"BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE"
DELIGHTS CAPACITY AUDIENCES

The fascination which wild animals in their native habitat hold for picture audiences never has been more clearly demonstrated than in the film "Bring 'Em Back Alive" by Frank Buck's "Bring 'Em Back Alive," at the Belle now till Tuesday.

If the four capacity audiences on Saturday may be taken as typical, "Bring 'Em Back Alive" has an appeal unlike that of any conventional production, whether it be comedy or society gangster, or romance.

Adventure, strife and comedy run through this astonishing wild animal picture in which everything is real, unstaged and unrehearsed. Truth is stranger than fiction, and astonishing than fiction, and there can be no doubt that Frank Buck's film is fact. Anyone who witnesses the death struggle between the cobra and black leopard, the python and the mandrill, the charging rhinoceros, who sees the shots of the elephant herd and the gorilla, the lion and baby elephant, anyone, indeed, who sees any one of the many fine shots in the picture knows that the picture is the real thing.

It is impossible to convey in mere words the charm of "Bring 'Em Back Alive." It is known that several of the incidents in the picture were the result of weeks of patient waiting, but Buck has demonstrated themselves to be well worth waiting for.

"Bring 'Em Back Alive" has such a diversity of convincing jungle episodes that it will be of interest not only as a sure-fire entertainment value but also for its educational value. It is a practical lesson in natural history for children and old. It shows also the strange peoples of distant worlds, the pictures were made in the federated Malay States.

Everyone will thrill to the unprecedented action shots, but there is a thing or two about the real jungle. "Bring 'Em Back Alive" is rather like a visit to a menagerie in that rarity of rarities something really new.

The enjoyment of the program is enhanced by the exhibition of four interesting shorts presented by feature attraction, namely, Edgar Kennedy in "Cigar Waiter," Pat Kennedy in "Fancy cartoon" and "Rhapsody in Black and Blue." "Bring 'Em Back Alive" will be repeated again tonight and Tuesday, matinee and evening, and it will worth seeing.

Paul Lukas and Frances Dee in a scene from Stuart Erwin and Buddy Rogers in "Working Girls" at the Belle, Wednesday only.

At The Capitol

WILLIAM HAINES IN ARE YOU LISTENING?"

There's more than the ordinary in the picture presented in "Are You Listening?" which opened at the Capitol Theatre this afternoon, for exhilarating comedy and pleasant romance.

William Haines has a role well suited to his particular style of humor and the conflict resulting from the fact that he cannot obtain a divorce and marry the girl he loves is handled in a radio singer in the broadcasting studios that will interest all who take this picture. The story takes a humorous turn when Haines is accidentally killed and the writer throughout a series of misadventures becomes a fugitive from justice.

Underlying the comical narrative are two love interests, one of the radio singer's two younger sisters who has come to New York from a rural town to have their fling at radio fame, and the other a debutante whom they become involved in in a fast set that is given to intoxicating parties and fast living.

Of particular interest in connection with this sequence is its comprehensive radio background for the production is said to be typical; national broadcasting station are reproduced in full detail. As an aspect, also, that the film gets much of its humor from, as we see just what some of our dramatic artists "on the air" look like and hear what they do as they deliver their melodramatic radio-play thrillers.

A fine performance is offered by Madge Evans as the radio singer who loves Haines, as well as by Anita Page and Leila Hyams, directed by Karen Morley as the neurotic wife.

Charles is Dinnerware Oil't Night when ladies are advied to be early! A thing or two about the real jungle. "Bring 'Em Back Alive" is rather like a visit to a menagerie in that rarity of rarities something really new.

C.P.R. SHINING LIGHT ON MART

British Preference is Accountable For Upward Move

Trading Light With Prices Irregularly Higher

Toronto, Aug. 22—C.P.R. was the shining light in comparatively dull trading on the Toronto stock exchange today. This issue opened soft, became active and rose to 17 5-8 from 5-8.

Trading in the market as a whole was inclined to be light and outside of the favorites there was little doing. Prices were irregularly higher.

Consolidated Smelters lost a fraction and Nickel gained 1-4. Bell Telephone, Canadian Canners Pref. and Brazilian Traction recorded slight gains, while Massey Harris, Page Hersey and Distillers showed slight losses.

Bank stocks were firm, with Montreal up 2 and Toronto 2 1-2. Advance of a point or better were experienced by Riverside Silk, Canada Malting and Good-year Tire preferred.

Belleville Victorias Win First Playoff Game from Deloro 10-3

Hutton Hurled Smart Ball, Backed by Heavy Hitting

Behind the superb pitching of Ed. Hutton, the Belleville Victorias won the first game of the inter-county playoffs on Deloro diamond yesterday afternoon defeating the Deloro "Smelters" by the score of 10 to 3 at the Fair Grounds on Saturday afternoon.

The previous day both teams had been returned champions of their respective leagues, the Belleville Victorias won the Bay of Quinte loop and the Deloro club the Inter-County in the Twin Valley League. The first game of the provincial playdowns had previously been scheduled for Saturday with the second game being played between these two teams on Wednesday in Deloro.

Both hurlers, Hutton for the local Vics and Morrison for the visitors were in top form and turned in excellent scoumtis. Hutton sent the first three batters that faced him to the bench via the strikeout route, while Morrison shifted his life batters. Hutton, with the exception of four scattered hits throughout the "Smeltjes" counted twice, was never in danger and had the situation well in hand throughout. The local outfielders were also in there fine, fielding Saturday with a number of nice running catches.

The Victorias Batting

The Victorias opened the game in the first innings with a bang when Hughes walked and went to third on Ross' single. Later both of these runners advanced on Mc-Palmer's single to right. Palmer was forced at second on Hughes' play. No more scoring was in evidence in the first three innings, Hughes finally crossed single and later scored on Neil Barrah's one base blow. In the fifth, the Vics added three more counters, when Kerr, Flagg, and Hughes all hit safely. The latter's hits coupled with a fielder's choice and two errors accounted for the good measure. The Vics were getting nine hits off the locals, but failed three more in the eighth, when Kerr, Sersery and Burgoyne were retired in order on a pop fly and two consecutive hits. Les Thompson then pitched his to drive in two men on the pathe.

Visitors Batting Triple

The visitors counted two runs in the second inning when Sersery and Morrison singled both scoring on Stewart's long triple to left center. Hutton got the long-ball drive on the day but Stewart scored at last. The next two innings the visitors scored their third and final runs when Morrison walked went to third on Boudreau's single and scored on Mitchell ball. The game was very well contested and was witnessed by a fair crowd of interested baseball fans.

The lineups:

Belleville Victorias — Kerr ss; Yoest 2b; Vine cf; Flagg 3rd; Hughes rf; Blaker 1st; Hutton p, Latchford and Burgoyne lf; Barrah 2nd; Scarey c.

Deloro — M. Callery cf; Regan 2nd; Brown ss; Boudreau 1f; P. Callery rf; Morrison p; McCrodan lf; O'Neil 3rd; Stewart c; while Bowler.

TIGERS TAKE SHAMROCKS

Local Hardball Teams of Trenton Stage Real Game

Trenton, Aug. 22 (Special)—Two local hard ball mixes met on Saturday afternoon, the Tigers winning out over the Shamrock A. C. 16 to 5. This was on the diamond for the Tigers until the sixth innings and pitched a nice game. He is supported with every game Lewis should develop into a real pitcher. He was replaced by Jim Lewis in the Shamrocks, who seems to have his ability all in one inning. Ken Chambers got six strikeouts and allowed but one hit during the time he was on the mound. Alexander started out hurling for the Shamrocks, while Jimmie Lewis played third first rate, he needs a good deal more practice but Manager Ken Lewis replaced him in the sixth and was able to hold the Tigers without allowing them a run. Lewis equaled Chambers in strikeouts. The Shamrocks have been playing softball all season and seemed to have their hardball out of the same calibre and went out without a struggle. Manager Ken Lewis said that while the Tigers are not a class "A" team, that a few games like the better class will do all. Between the two teams, that played here on Saturday they should be able to pick up a good team to-gether. Tweed in their game with Scarlett in left field for the Shamrocks was the star of the team getting three hits but was struck out by his running mate of the Belleville Tigers. Ken Lewis, Chambers and Cook had the honors for the Tigers, Cook getting made the hard ones look easy, while at bat he was able to hit effectively. Bell in center field has proved a real man in the outer garden and is a good man at bat. The late season playing, that some of the local hardball players should help to revive hard ball in the old time manner, perhaps next year we will be able to enter a team.

Line-ups.

Tigers—Parks, c; Bell cf; Long, 1st; Cook, ss; Chambers 2nd; Dickinson, rf; Benham 3rd; Sandercock; p; Bernard lf; Weese 2nd.

Shamrocks—Hamm, c; Chase, 3rd; Scarlett, lf; Smith 1st; Mc-Cullough 2nd; Graham, ss; Alexander, cf; Miller, c; Lewis, p; Alexander, rf.

NOTED ACTOR LACKAYE DIES

For Forty Years One of Best Known Actors of U. S. Stage

New York, Aug. 22—Wilton Lackaye, for almost 40 years one of the best known actors on the Unoited States stage, died at his home here of a heart ailment, it was learned 2 years old.

He has famed the country over as the creator of Svengali on the American stage.

For the past five years he had been in what he called "involuntary retirement" because of ill health, except for a period in which he engaged in "Svengali" for the benefit of "Trelawney of the Wells."

In March, 1928, he married Miss Cathryn Alcetra Riley, nurse, who attended him during his illness. She was his second wife and she survives him.

Lackaye was born in Loudon County, Va., and was educated at Ottawa College and Georgetown University. He studied for a time for the priesthood and then took up law before finally turning to the stage.

MILLION FUR CARGO ON DERELICT SHIP

Dutch Harbor, Alaska, Aug. 22—(UP)—The steamer Bayichimo—"Flying Dutchman" of the Arctic Seas—has been sighted, solidly bedged in ice, seven miles west of Point Barrow, Word received here said.

The Bayichimo is a floating treasure-trove of furs. She was abandoned more than a year ago with an estimated $1,000,000 of furs aboard.

Nineteen men to-day left Point Barrow with sleds and light native boats made of skins hoping to retrieve part of the cargo, it was reported. They faced a hazardous trip over mountainous peaks of ice, stretches of open water, and grinding floes.

The Bayichimo last was sighted in January. Adventurers that time risked their lives t otake 14 bales of furs from her. They reached Point Barrow with only on bale.

Point Barrow, the village from which the ship reportedly has been sighted is the "farthest north" town in the American continent, well inside the Arctic Circle.

OOBOURG—Mr. R. P. Morrison, who recently took over the Hotel Victoria, has announced that in future the names will be Hotel Cobourg.

OOBOURG—The smallest mother in the Dominion of Canada was in Cobourg on Monday looking for a job. She is Mrs. L. Downing, born in the city of Cobourg, and is tramping the highway in search of work. Thirty-five years old, she weighs 62 pounds is one inch short of four feet and wears a No. 12 baby shoe.

OSHAWA—With only two protests registered, the Oshawa City Council recently passed a motion recommending the pardon of convicted aliens who are on civic relief be deported. The motion in full reads: That the municipal relief departments of Canada, be requested to discontinue relief from this municipality through no fault of municipality in favor of the motion. "We find it a hardship to keep up Canadian families who have been on relief practically since arriving in Canada."

CAMPBELLFORD— Another big catch has been registered from the waters of Trent river. David Stanwood of Brighton, was successful in landing a 32-pound lunge measuring 46 inches in length. The catch was made at Percy Boom Mr. Stanwood being assisted by Joe McCoy.

OSHAWA—The Oshawa City Council recently decided to cooperate with the Federal and Provincial governments in employing unemployed men on farms under the "back to the land" scheme. Ten men will be picked from a long list of applicants by a special committee composed of Aldermen Hyman, Ferguson and Bowden, which is all the city intends recommending at this time.

RESTRICTIONS OF 25 YEARS ARE LIFTED

Canadian Parliament to Consider Trade Agreements

BIGGER MARKET

Pact With United Kingdom Secures Farm Market

OTTAWA Aug. 22.—The newly pressed Canadian farmers get the benefit coming and going in the trade agreements signed Saturday between this Dominion and the United Kingdom. They get important concessions for what they sell and hope to sell in the United Kingdom markets, and may well expect to get more prices in some of the goods they buy because of the lower Canadian tariffs against Great Britain.

Its expressing satisfaction over the result of the negotiations Hon. Robert-Weir, Minister of Agriculture, explained that from end of the other Canadian Agriculture has yielded nothing. The advantages they will receive will be far-reaching.

The lifting of the restrictions on Canadian live cattle going into the United Kingdom means the successful termination of a battle that had been going on for 25 years. During the past two years. In spite of the restrictions Canada shipped from 25,000 to 29,000 head annually.

The present restrictions on cattle include a three-day quarantine in Canada; a 56-day quarantine for near-fats in the U.K., and a six-day quarantine for store cattle, and females kin-spayed in at the U.K. the restrictions are to be lifted with the exception of a one-day quarantine in Canada, which is the great hindrance and the provision that females for breeding purposes must be of a certain standard before they can leave U.K. ports for the interior.

Cattle men here last night declared, that the lifting of the restrictions would mean at least $3 a head more shippers would receive and in many cases much in excess of that figure. It would eliminate one of the great uncertainties which makes the shipping of cattle hazardous for Canadian exporters from a financial standpoint.

AUTO MARKET IS OPENED UP

Tropical Fruits of Rhodesia Find Market in Canada

Ottawa, Aug. 22—Canadian automobile manufacturers will gain a new market as a result of a trade treaty signed Saturday with Southern Rhodesia. The African country, named after Cecil Rhodes and which is on the point of assuming a full-fledged dominion status, will grant Canada a substantial preference on a long list of articles including automobil and farm implements.

Canada will grant tariff concessions to the principal exports of Rhodesia—tropical fruits, agricultural produce, and chrome metal.

Because of the Russian embargo, Canada is looked upon as a fertile market for chrome metal. Rhodesia is estimated to own enough chrome to supply the world for 100 years. White maize is another product that Rhodesia expects to sell Canada in increasing amounts.

Substance of What Canada Gets and Gives to Others

WHAT CANADA GETS BY UNITED KINGDOM-CANADA AGREEMENT

Preferences in the United Kingdom market, as follows:

Wheat in grain—Two shillings per quarter or about six cents a bushel at par.

Butter—Fifteen shillings per hundredweight (112 pounds), or about $3.75 at par.

Cheese—Fifteen per cent ad valorem.

Raw apples—Four shillings sixpence per hundredweight, or $1.06 par. Kiln pears—Four shillings sixpence per hundredweight or $1.06 par. Canned apples—Three shillings per hundredweight, or 85 cents.

Dride fruits—Ten shillings sixpence per hundredweight, $2.53 par.

Eggs in shell—From one shilling (24 cents) to one shillings nine-pence (43 cents) per great hundred (ten dozen), according to grade.

Condensed milk,whole sweetened—Five shillings per hundredweight, or $1.29 par.

Copper, unwrought, whether refined or not, in ingots, bars, blocks slabs, cakes, and rods—Twopence per pound (four cents).

Free entry for Canadian eggs, poultry, butter, cheese, and other milk products for three years certain with possible revision after that period.

Continued free entry to the British market under the Import Duties Act, This act imposed the U.K. general tariff on a number of commodities from Canada after Nov. 15 but for the agreement.

Continuation of the present 10 per cent. duty on foreign lumber, fish (both fresh and sea), canned salmon; other canned fish, asbestos, zinc and lead, with Canadian products free.

Modification of restrictions against Canadian live cattle on agreed lines. This, it is estimated, will mean at least $2 more per head to the Canadian shipper.

Beaver hat skin quota up to a maximum of 2,500,000 hundredweight per annum.

Existing margin of preference on Canadian tobacco to continue for ten years.

While potatoes are not specifically mentioned, Great Britain will consider lifting the embargo against the Canadian product.

WHAT CANADA GIVES IN UNITED KINGDOM-CANADA AGREEMENT

New or increased margins of preference on 220 items in the Canadian tariff. Many items subject to preferential rates transferred ib the free list.

These changes are understood to be in the iron and steel, textile, chemical, glass and ther schedules but details are withheld for the time being.

Protection against United Kingdom products to be given only those industries which have sound opportunity for success.

United Kingdom producers to have full opportunity of reasonable competition in Canadian markets.

Complaints will spposed the Tariff Board, which will review tariffs on request of the United Kingdom.

Duties against United Kingdom products not to be increased except on report of the Tariff Board.

Existing surcharges on United Kingdom products to be abolished as soon as finances of Canada will permit.

Sympathetic consideration to be given to reducing, and ultimately abolishing, the exchange dumping duty.

Modification of regulations on the importation of pedigree stock from the United Kingdom.

TREATY WILL RUN 5 YEARS

Canada and South Africa Sign Important Dotument

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—Canada and South Africa bridges the thousands of miles separating them when the first trade treaty between the two countries was signed Saturday. It was signed to accelerate the Commerce of the two Dominions especially automobiles from Canada and Indian corn or maize from South Africa.

Canada already has a substantial trade with South Africa in automobiles, both trucks and passenger cars. In the fiscal year ending last March, Canada sold South Africa automobiles valued at $1,631,100 and in the year before $2,019,800.

The treaty which is subject to the ratification by the Canadian and South African parliaments, will have a currency of five years, and may be denounced, after the expiration of that period by six months' notice.

Details of the treaty were announced, but an official explanation said: "It follows the principle of dealing with the main commodities only-and is therefore, in comparison with the trade agreements recently concluded with Australia and New Zealand, somewhat limited in scope. It has, however, secured a considerable extension of the list of commodities on which preference has been extended hitherto to Canada. Special consideration has been given by administrative regulation to the position of Indian Corn or Maize from South Africa and to motor cars from Canada."

The treaty was signed by Premier R. B. Bennett for Canada and Hon. N. C. Havenga for South Africa.

Tilbury, Aug. 22 (CP)—Stung by a bee while en route to her home in Detroit, Mrs. Ada McKay had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday when her car plunged into the ditch and crashed against a pole. Although badly shaken up as a result of the impact Mrs. McKay was found to be suffering from only a slight concussion of the brain.

WILL RATIFY TRADE PACTS IN OCTOBER

Canadian Farmer Benefited Both Going And Coming

BIGGER MARKET

Cattle Dealers Highly Pleased With Agreements

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 22 (Canadian Press)—The Canadian Parliament will meet on time in October to consider ratification of four trade agreements negotiated with different states of the Commonwealth at the Imperial Economic Conference.

And while the Ottawa House is in session, other Empire parliaments will be considering the tangible results of conference — Twelve all-red trade treaties, designed to unite the interests of the world's population in closer economic partnership.

United Kingdom negotiated seven treaties — with Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Newfoundland and Southern Rhodesia. The Irish Free State made trade agreements with Canada and South Africa. Canada negotiated agreements with South Africa and Southern Rhodesia. New Zealand and South Africa signed the last.

Empire Association

"The agreements," said Premier Bennett, in closing the conference, "constitute a definite advance towards closer Empire economic association—but this association of planning must not blind us to the fact that it is only a beginning. What we have laid only the foundation — and if it is to be a lasting one Empire association is to endure and bring to each of us the benefits we hope for, further action must be taken at a not too distant date."

From the Canadian viewpoint, the most important treaty is the one with the United Kingdom, in its broad outlines. It secures for Canada a preferred position in the British market for such products as wheat, butter, cheese, fruits, eggs, copper, timber and newsprint of the restrictions against Canadian cattle. In return, Canada grants new or increased margins of preference on British manufactured goods, chiefly iron and steel, textiles, chemicals and glass.

Canadian automobile manufacturers will secure tariff concessions in the South African and Southern Rhodesian markets through the treaties with those Dominions. The Irish Free State is expected to increase materially its purchase of Canadian wheat.

AUSTRALIAN PREFERENCES

Butter, Cheese, Wheat, Fruits, Copper Included

Ottawa, Aug. 22—Preference in the United Kingdom market for Australian wheat, butter and cheese, fruits (including oranges and grape fruit), eggs, condensed milk, lead and copper are included in the Imperial Economic Agreements signed Saturday by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the U.K. delegation, and Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, head of the Australian group.

Opposite to the agreement is a lengthy "declaration by the United Kingdom" dealing with frozen meats, one of the great export items from Australia. The present depressed wholesale prices for frozen meats are referred to, and the serious results to producer and consumer if these are not raised. Consequently the new delegations have agreed to a policy of regulation.

Preferences which Australia grants the United Kingdom are not shown in the agreements. "Increased preferences will be granted on the United Kingdom over a very wide range of commodities," according to the agreement, but details are withheld.

Under the terms of the agreement, the 10 per cent preference granted to a list of Australian goods under the Import Duties Act is to continue without reduction.

Preferences Extended to Butter, Cheese Industry Helpful to This District

Biggest Advantage to Dairy Industry Yet Given

INCREASE 5%

Large Quantities Cheese Shipped From Quinte District

OTTAWA Aug. 22.—Canada is to get a preference in the markets of the United Kingdom of five shillings per 112 pounds on condensed milk, whole or sweetened. In the case of sweetened there is a tariff on the sugar content. This is regarded by many as the most important concession to the Dairy Industry contained in the agreement signed Saturday between the United Kingdom and Canada.

The present preference on condensed milk of around ten per cent. would already started the trade from Canada. Some United States firms with Canadian branches have shifted to Canada their United Kingdom business and several independent Canadian firms have also received substantial orders from Britain.

This situation is regarded by dairymen as excellent because in many respects it is more remunerative to export condensed milk than cheese. The processing, the containers, etc., leaves much more money in the country it is contended. It is expected that with the proposed substantial preference the business spread to most of the dairying districts both in Ontario and Quebec.

Canada along with the other Dominions is to get preference of 10 shillings per 112 lbs on butter which is around three cents a pound and a preference on cheese of 15 per cent ad valorem, increased from the existing ten per cent. These two products go hand in hand. It is open to argument whether either will be of any great advantage to this country.

Canada already gets a higher price for her cheddar cheese of any country shipping into the U.K., namely,

IRELAND TO BUY WHEAT

Potential Market For Thousands of Bushels

Ottawa, Aug. 22—The Irish Free State will open its doors to Canadian wheat, as a result of a trade treaty signed Saturday between the two countries. Canadian goods will enter the Free State at the lowest tariff rates. Irish products will receive from Canada the tariff preferences granted under the Anglo-Canadian treaty.

Ireland is a potential market for many thousands of bushels of Canadian wheat. In the fiscal year ending in March, Canada sold the Free State 560,800 bushels.

This is valued at $362,700. The year before the value was $450,800. With Canadian wheat receiving most-favored-nation treatment, this trade is expected to increase substantially.

Under the terms of the treaty Canada agrees to grant to the Free State the same tariff preferences that the United Kingdom will receive under its agreement with Canada. In return, the Free State undertakers to tax Canadian goods no more heavily than any other country.

Canada has a heavy favorable trade balance with the Free State. In the last fiscal year, Canadian purchases were $2,661,400 and imports from the Free State, $45,500.

IRISH EYES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"I know. What harm can it do?" Frank exclaimed, throwing hesitation to the winds. "Get me my coat, Jane."

He bobbed to the head of the stairs, manned them easily; directed, cheerfully flattering ahead with his stick and his hat, and Peter accompanying him anxiously and warningly. They reached the street, he half moved slowly and steadily to the front door.

"I'm all right. I feel fine!" Frank said.

The taxi was waiting; they could see it as they reached the top of the brownstone steps. Sheila took the stick from Peter again, caught a firm hold of his brother's arm.

They had gained the sidewalk when a limousine drew up ahead of the taxi and Gertrude Keane, a stout, gray-headed man said sweetly.

"Oh, Frank, I'm so glad!"

"I never told you and Angela exactly what happened, Ma," Sheila said.

She had washed her bright, soapery hair, and as it fluffed in rings and ringlets on her neck, the spring sunshine struck dazzling lights from it. A towel was spread across her shoulders, a belted brimly gown about the curves of her young body was an old blue cotton kimono.

The three members of the Carcadden family were in the sunroom of their new home. It was the corner house of an commonplace block of two-story, two-flat buildings that stretched in every direction across the gently rolling levels of what had recently been a dump for the greatest of all the cities. On top of the dump real-estate developments had been started; every corner bore signs advertising the merits of this or that "fine-room home" or that. The devastaire apartments were already alike; all had fire rooms, one bath, and this delightful feature of a sun-porch, a square, unlimousinable extrive veiven by seven feet of space at the front, glassed in from the street.

The streets were paved but still showed patches of wet cement and shining planks of new sidewalk between. There were handsome lamp posts at the corners but the glories had not been smashed. The names of the thorough-fares were posted: Trafalgar Way Versailles Avenue, Rhododendron Court. There were a great many empty new stores with wholesale still smeared on their new, unwashed window-glass and signs of the thickness of a child's finger were planted at regular intervals along the curbs.

Passengers for Oyster Bay or Southampton might have passed through this district with scant wonder. It was all rawness, ugliness, cheapness; the green, only earth cut into great gashes for sewers and pole holes; the glass buildings of yellow brick; pink brick, stucco, exposed mercilessly to the light, without a protecting tree or the shadow of a hill, without gardens or the quietness of lawns and stone fences to soften their nakedness.

Blocks of it, miles of it, and the Carcaddens' particular corner only one of the thousand corners. But to them it was no less than heaven.

Angela had exhausted every exclamation in her vocabulary long before their poor shoes and odds and ends of furniture had been moved in and had finally dropped, exhausted herself, on the old lounge. Sheila, the newly sobered, thoughtful Sheila, who had somehow developed from the giddy red-headed girl of Harris and Mandeville suffered had exulted in all only slightly quieter way. Joe had worn a perpetual smile of complacent satisfaction in these days for he and his Cecilia were presently to take one of the four-room upper apartments, at the corner of the row, and get ready their dining-room set, and the splendors of their ice-box and their gas stove, for which both prospective husband and wife were paying on the installment plan ellipsis and anything that either the Moors or the Carcaddens had even known, and Joe had acquired a muddy old open car for forty-six dollars, and what Joe hadn't done to that car!

"It seems too much," Angela had said fearfully. But Joe, much bolder, had looked up at the spring sky, had looked about him at the spyried homes that were ramifying in all directions about them and had said confidently, "Listen, half the people in America are prospering. Why shouldn't we?"

As for their mother, she had been in a state of dignified outrage since Sheila's latest escapade, and had been relinquish express embarrassment about anything. But it was noted that her first act in the new home had been to gather her children about her; Sheila, Angela, Joe, Cecilia, Margret and Margret's Lew. Neily and his Linnie, each kneeling down, solemnly to recite some litanies that were to bring blessings upon the God-given increase and solemnly to assure the listening saints that rather than have one mortal discontent abroad beneath this new roof she would resign the new dignity gladly and gratefully, and go back to the poverty and obscurity of the old days again.

And this ceremony had told her story. Mrs. McCrack, Sheila's friend here might have done, exactly what significance the adventure had had for her.

To the girls it had been a time of pure delight. It was spring, and a part of the general felicity was contributed by the grass that was bursting out fresh and green upon the corner lots and under the raw big billboards, clouds fleeced across soft blue skies, and the scent of earth and flowers.

Sunshine — actual sunshine pouring into their rooms. Ma stirring in a sunny kitchen, stepping out to a back stoop, stepping in again in the most natural way in the world, and even beginning to murmur, not in words, and everyone knew it.

"Oh don't! It's too much."

Silberty's had green glass lemonade pitchers and six glasses for eighty-nine cents. I wonder if they have any left?"

"Oh, don't, Sheila!"

They had their first sketchy meals in the new home — "breakfast picnic" that with the parlor, kitchen and two bedrooms, made up the count of five. Joe slept on the porch and Ma, for the first time since those dim days before her marriage when she had "worked for Mrs. Murray" as an untrained girl just over from County Clare, had a room to herself.

And Sheila had gotten a job.

CHAPTER 29

Sheila's job was not much of a job, to be sure, nor was she to be needed until May first. But it was near; until May first the department store over under the elevated road, five blocks away, and she could walk to and fro, so that the fifteen a week was all-but pure gain. Sheila was to sit near the main entrance in a sort of little pulpit, and tell arriving customers where everything in the store was to be found. A small heavy brass triangle would stand near her hand, and pointed on it would be "Miss Carcadden," had been chosen because of her exceptional courtesy and efficiency. It will give her real pleasure to Ruby Frank."

"The place is full of that sort of bunk but who cares? I don't care what they think about me," Sheila had said, indignantly, upon reporting this job. "I'm informed, anyway" she had added. "I'm all for citizenship and helpful books spirit — I'm going to be character building, clean finger nails, and a low, rich voice.

The pep-squeak who hires and fires," Sheila had further considered, on the particular Saturday morning when she had washed her hair, "told me on my real reason for coming into Bilberty's was, and if I had any secret ambitions I told him that all my life long I had been studying department store, comparing them with one another and analyzing them and that Bilberty's had appealed to me as being the most interesting, in its house system and store spirit, that I had ever seen. I said that I thought, great as the store is, that it has a still greater future, and that I wanted to be a part of it!"

Angela, entranced by Sheila's serious manner, regarded her sister in surprise. At this revelation, but Mrs. Carcadden was not deceived. "You never heard of the place before you walked in there an' ast thim for a job!"

"He knew that" Sheila conceded. "He just wanted to know if I'd pay the same his way, that was all."

"I hope you told thim that the fire-crapple burnin out every time ye have a bright idea!" the mother said.

"Ma—" Sheila had pleaded, and it was then that she had added, while she spread and loosed her blazing hair "I never told you and Angela what really happened, did I?"

"An' God preserve me shul you iver wud!" her mother said simply. "There's iver a breath of blame cud be said against ye, but we'll all be up in the Death Row hard if I tell yet; get another chance to do good to somebody, or get yourself out of somethin!"

"You wrong me" Sheila said, manicuring a newly fingernail with her scissors and holding up her hand to study it in the light.

"I didn't wrong ye enough wir a slipper over me head when I had a chanst!" her mother responded. "An' it'll be laid again me on the Day of Judgment!"

"Ma if they're hard on you, I'll stand up for you!" Sheila assured her warmly. Her mother frowned above the old joint of lamb she was expertly cutting up for a stew, eyed her speculatively.

"You'll stand up for me what?"

"On the Day of Judgment, dear" "I'll judgment you!" was the outraged matron's only reply.

Now on Palm Sunday afternoon" Sheila continued pleasantly, "what harm did it do me to drive to a police station with Peter and Judge McCann make a short statement, McCann make a short statement, and have Judge McCann give me a dollar for my last home? I stayed in the car" she added, with dulcet accents, "until it said thirty cents, then I gave him a ten-cent tip jumped into the subway and made fifty-five cents on the judge!"

"It makes me nervous to have ye talk about him, McCrack. Sheila I'd never known weak minute ye'd be in throwin again," her mother said.

"Peter and Gertrude Keane are getting married next fall Ma; that's all the trouble amounted to there."

"Yes, an' what about the other poor fellow?"

"You mean Frank?" Sheila asked dreamily. The name sounded like music on her lips. "I don't know—" she admitted slowly.

"While did ye see him?"

"Another Carcaddenfamily incident.

"Mother, I give you my word I haven't seen him since that last Sunday—nearly three weeks ago."

"Tis, he ain't had a letter from him, honestly."

"Do you write him, Sheila?"

"No, sir, I haven't telephoned him. Honestly, Ma."

Mrs. Carcadden was still dissatisfied.

"I've wastin' yure time thinkin' about him, Sheila."

Sheila frowned.

"How do you know I'm thinking about him?"

"Wid a nice young lady like Miss Kennedy why wud he cas. his eye about for a better?"

"Why—why indeed" Sheila agreed mildly clearing her throat.

"An' you meanwhile breakin' yure heart? I know why ye're actin' like you do! Mrs. Carcadden with an air of clinching the argument, said. She got up and carried her bowl and platter to the kitchen.

"Sheila Carcadden" Angela said instantly, when they were alone, "you had a wife, this morning."

"I know it. But Ma only asked about kitchen.'

"All right." Angela said, in dissapeace. "If you want to lie."

"I didn't lie!"

"You practically did." Angela persisted.

Sheila's expression grew suddenly alarming and angry.

"Listen, Angie. I was knocked completely in a heap when I got it. I— she interrupted herself. "How did you know it was from Frank McCann?" she demanded.

"I didn't read it, if that's what you mean," Angela answered. "But the way you've been acting since it came is explained eloquently.

"I know—" Sheila murmured, looking away.

"You've been talking character for weeks now," the younger sister pursued. "You've been horribly quiet—we've all seen it. You've jumped whenever anyone spoke to you, and you've gone off into sort of dreamy spells—"

"I know," Sheila admitted again, still staring into space with tranced eyes.

"And I know it was Frank!" Angela concluded triumphantly.

The other girl spoke slowly:

"I've known all along that it was Frank."

"And in his wire—Sheila, do you think he [illegible] Angela demanded eagerly.

"Angela, I don't know. He only says, 'Coming to see you Sunday'."

"Tomorrow?"

"Yes."

"Is he going to marry Miss Kennedy, Sheila?"

"I don't know."

"Ma don't know out when she hears he's coming!" Angela predicted in a silence. "She has a fit if anyone mentions Miss McCann. I think she's afraid that if anything more happens we'll get bounced out of here and have to go back."

"If ever we're kicked out of this house" Sheila said, "I'll work and I'll slave, I'll wash motor cars if I have to, but somehow I'll get back here again! Other people have rooms up in the world, and why shouldn't we? These lovely apartments rent for thirty-two fifty, well—what do it? That's no rent!"

"Oh, Sheila," Angela murmured, awed.

"Judge McCann didn't have a cent when he came to this country. He told me so. His mother brought him here when he was eight and he and his brother Frank used to go out nights after wood."

"Sheila, what do you think Frank McCann is just coming down here to tell you he's going to be married?" the younger sister asked after a silence.

"I thought of that."

"But after all why should he?" Angela asked timidly.

"It's just one of the things he would do" Sheila mused. "Well," she added, with spirit, "he'll not see me lose my nerve!"

"But will you feel—terribly, Sheila?" Angela asked timidly, after another pause.

Sheila brought her gaze back from far spaces.

"Oh Angela, it will be very hard," she answered simply.

It was not fifteen minutes later that Angela called.

"Sheila!"

"Woo-hoo!" Sheila returned from the depths of the house.

"Mr. McCann is here!" Angela shouted.

"Mr. McCann what?" (There were hairpins in Sheila's mouth.)

"Mr. McCann is here."

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR —No. 10

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service). By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

As Tarzan rose from the body of his kill to scream forth his hideous victory cry into the face of the moon, the wind carried to his nostrils something which froze him to statuesque immobility and silence. Soon the grasses parted and Numa the lion, strode majestically into view. Numa's yellow eyes glared enviously at the successful hunter, for the hungry beast had no luck this night.

From the lips of the ape-man broke a rumbling growl of warning. Numa eyed him with growing resentment and rage. At last the famished lion could restrain himself no longer. His tail shot suddenly erect and at the same instant the wary ape-man, knowing all too well what the signal meant, grasped the deer and leaped into a nearby tree just as Numa charged with all his speed of an oncoming express.

Close by were many trees bearing large, hard fruits and to one of these ape-man swung with the agility of a squirrel. Then commenced a bombardment which brought forth earth-shaking roars from Numa. One after another as fast as he could gather and hurl them, Tarzan pelted the hard fruit down upon the enemy. Many cat roared, but suddenly his voice was hushed.

Tarzan saw the great head lower and flatten out, and the body crouch and the long tail quiver, as the huge quadrumanous beast shrunk cautiously toward the tree upon the opposite side. Immediately Tarzan was alert. He lifted his head and sniffed the slow, jungle breeze. What was it that silenced Numa's attention and taken him, soft-footed and silent, away from the scene of his discomfiture? Tarzan followed.

THREE TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHTS ARE BEGUN

Hitler's Threat of Reprisals Answered by German Government

Ocean Picnickers Start Flight From West Side Three Planes Under Way

Mollison Not Among Those Leaving Main-land Tuesday

"FLYING FAMILY"

Two Other Planes on Way To Harbor Grace, Newfoundland

(By The Canadian Press)

Three transatlantic aeroplanes were winging their way from the United States towards Canada and Newfoundland preparatory for the long flight to expected to take the ocean to different destinations.

But Captain J. A. Mollison, hero of the first solo westward crossing last week, remained in New York. He will start his return flight within a few days.

Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen took off from Floyd Bennett field at 4.41 a.m., E.S.T., for Harbor Grace, Nfld., from where they plan to leave at dawn tomorrow for Norway.

From Barre, Vt.

Clyde Lee and John Bochkon took off from Barre, Vt., at 5.15 a.m. with the same programme—a stop at Harbor Grace and then a flight to Norway. Lee and Bochkon planned travelling to Harbor Grace by way of the Maritimes.

At 10.07 the third ship got away, the "Flying Family" taking off from Floyd Bennett field, New York, with George Hutchinson, his wife and two young daughters.

The Flying Hutchinsons are on a leisurely flight to London. They were scheduled to stop at Saint John, N.B., and then continue over the northern route.

From Middletown, Start

New York, Aug. 23.—George Hutchinson's flying family took off in the Sikorsky Amphibian "City of Richmond" from Floyd Bennett field at 10.07 a.m., E.S.T., today, on the first leg of an exhibition flight to London.

The flying Hutchinsons are: George, his wife, and their daughters, aged six and eight. They proposed to stop first at Saint John, N.B.

In addition to the Hutchinson family, which includes himself, his wife and two daughters, Kathryn 8 and Janet Lee, 6, the crew of the flight consists of Peter Redpath, navigator, Joseph Huff, motor engineer, G. J. Allitisch, radio operator and Norman W. Alley Cinema cameraman.

Northern Route

Unless weather conditions are bad the expected plans to reach Labrador on the second day. Greenland on the third, Iceland on the fourth day and London on the fifth day. The distance for the entire flight is approximately 3,000 miles.

The purpose of the flight is to demonstrate the safety of transatlantic travel by the northern route, which has been chartered by the government.

The plane carries 250 gallons of gasoline and has a cruising radius of 1,000 to 1,200 miles at 115 miles an hour. It is powered with two Pratt-Whitney 450 horsepower motors.

Refuses Responsibility.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 23.—The Danish foreign office formally notified United States legation that Denmark must refuse all responsibility in connection with the trans-Atlantic flight of the Hutchinson family which started from New York today for Europe by way of Greenland.

It was explained that if there should be an accident over Greenland it would be handicapped difficult to provide hosting and food for so large a party and it might be almost impossible to go to their assistance.

New Aspirants.

Harbor Grace, Nfld., Aug. 23.—(By The Canadian Press)—Hopeful base for a score of transatlantic aeroplanes or whom five to glory, some to death—Harbor Grace today awaits an influx of new aspirants.

Two planes are expected to alight here this afternoon. Both are red. Both carry two men. Both are bound for Oslo, Norway.

"If all goes well they will refuel and start out over the ocean at dawn tomorrow morning. A thrilling race may develop.

Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen who left New York at 4.41 E.S.T., this morning are expected to arrive here first.

The other plane, carrying Lee and John Bochkom, took off from Barre, Vt., at 5.15.

George Hutchinson and his flying family may stop here on their projected flight by the northern route to London. and Captain James A. Mollison of Scotland, at the local airport if he decides to come this way on his return flight over the Atlantic.

Norway Goal

Barre, Vt., Aug. 23 — Clyde A. Lee and Calhoun Wit, and John Bochkon of Brooklyn, N.Y., took off for Harbor Grace, Nfld., at 5.15 Eastern Standard time this morning on the first leg of a projected flight to Oslo, Norway.

The flyers expected to make the 977 mile hop in approximately nine hours. They planned to fly from the Barre-Montpelier Airport to Harbor Grace via Augusta, Maine, Saint John, N.B., East Point, P.E.I., and Cape Race, Nfld.

They figured the distance from the Norwegian capital to Roger Ier Field, Oslo, their ultimate objective, however, only 3,150 miles and expected to cover the distance in 30 hours.

Lee, acted as pilot-commander of the flight and Bochkon as co-pilot.

No Ocean Piloting

Lee, 24, has done no ocean piloting but has had about nine years experience in the air. He was once associated with the late "Speed" Holman in the aviation engine field and has engaged in commercial flying in the past few years.

Bochkon, four years his senior, has had a flying career with the Norwegian Air Force in 1920. He came to this country seven years ago and has been engaged in aviation activities as a pilot and an engineer.

Bochkon is married.

They planned to stay at Harbor Grace just long enough to refuel and receive favorable weather reports from Hubert Huntington, aerologist, at Gander, Nfld., airport in Barre. Huntington will remain here.

On being told that Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen had taken off from New York for Harbor Grace enroute to Oslo, Lee and Bochkon said they believed they had a good chance to get to Oslo before Solberg and Petersen. They based on this belief on the Green Mountain Boys' motto that they "Get there" by means of making a race out of the journey and would stick closely to their plans.

POSTIE FOILS PLOT TO DIE WITH POISON

New York, Aug. 23—Despondent, Fred Hanson, 30, swallowed poison then lay down to die. But a messenger with a letter from the insurance company ended the landlady who called a doctor and they saved the would-be suicide.

Hanson was rushed to a hospital where he will recover.

The letter, three pages long, and signed by Frederick Hanson the writer would remain steadfast and true under any circumstances.

WORLD WHEAT PRODUCTION FALLS SHORT

CALGARY, Aug. 23.—Total world wheat production of 3,000,000 bushels below the 1931 total and 36,000,000 bushels below the 1930 total is forecast in an estimate issued by the Alberta wheat pool on the basis of Canada's 1932 wheat production is estimated at 475,000,000 bushels; United States 732,687,-000 and total North American continent production at 1,305,-751,000 bushels.

HARVESTING NEARING END IN PROVINCE

Threshing Progresses Rapidly Says Department Report

DELAY BY RAIN

Wheat And Barley Are Average But Oats Light

Toronto, Aug. 23—Harvesting is nearing completion in Ontario and threshing is progressing favourably according to the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Yields of wheat and barley are average, but oats are quite light, the report states. The recent rains have benefited the new seedings and pastures with the exception of those in Eastern Ontario, are occurring.

In Eastern Ontario rain delayed threshing but the crops are good. Glengarry but the latter is more badly affected by hail. With favouring general in leeds, yields are good in most districts.

Heavy rains nearly every day during last week delayed harvesting seriously in Sudbury district. Early oats and barley have been cut and the yield is apparently fair.

COMMISSION MEETS DAILY

Report Findings of Transportation Body is Preparing

Ottawa, Aug. 23—Private sittings of the Royal Commissions for Transportation are being held daily, its report are taking place daily. As the members of the commission, headed by Mr. Justice L. P. Duff, are concentrating on the work, the document will probably be in the hands of the government for consideration before parliament assembles. Consequently it may be held public hearings next week or two, some time in October, assuming that the session opens then.

No official News

Rumor and conjecture in regard to its recommendations are current, but absolutely nothing of an official or semi-official nature has been given out. Joint operation of the Hon. Commission on railways eliminating two parallel lines and services and apportioning revenues, is one rumored recommendation.

Supervision of both systems by a commission with more than wide powers of control over capital expenditure, is also suggested but the commission has given no inkling of its findings.

Why Marriages Fail Eugenists in Debate Three Causes Given

(By Howard Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Editor)

New York, Aug. 23—Mistakes in love-making, bad home-making and failure to use leisure time constructively" were blamed for United States marriage failures today before the Third International Congress of Eugenics.

The three points summaries the dismal experiences of one of the few marriage-counseling bureaus in the world, the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, Dr. Popenoe, director, presented the findings.

Not every love-making difficulty leads to a broken home, he said, but in his experience almost every such home is preceded by one, and frequently all, middle agree in suggesting that at least in the educated part of the population "love" often fizzles exist in "25, per cent. or more" of marriages at any one time.

Mr. Popenoe advocated more sound education about marriage and parenthood.

In bad home-making are "paralyzing fears" of desertion among many women and some men, "mon-xiike the filmet and unlitted."

Toronto Calls for Six Whales Trappers to Essay Harpooning

Churchill, Man., Aug. 23— Six white whales are wanted in Toronto, R. O. Hogers, former Fisheries Bay Company trade, has received a telegram from a Toronto aquarium asking for quotations on half dozen of the aquatic mammals which frequent Hudson Bay.

Doubt was expressed as to whether they could be obtained, for Eskimos have no inducement to hunt them in the bay they have moved colony and deadly routine" in home and a serious problem of women who feel lack of proper clothing to appear in society to which they have been accustomed. "Sufficient recreation, inexpensive, wholesome and spiritual" are an important part of our treatment. It will doubtless be like universal experience that no city has anything like sufficient facilities of this sort.

The depression from the eugenic point of view described by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum, where the congress is held, is a "world calamity" in case of over-population, of overmultiplication of the unfit and unintelligent, or the reign of terror and the criminal, and of the tragedy of unemployment.

"The only permanent remedy is the improvement and uplift of the character of the human race thru passage and legislation and humane birth selection and by humane birth control," he said. He defined birth selection as increase of the superior mental stocks. Birth control, he warned, "may prove to be a two-edged sword, eliminating for the fittest and unfittest."

Poor Hungry Scholar Steals a Book Judge Gives Dollar, 'He's No Crook'

San Francisco, Aug. 23 — Harold Lord, 23, Northeastern University student, is a student of philosophy. So, too, is Municipal Judge Frank J. Murasky. Murasky owns books—on philosophy, of course— from a local bookstore, Lord explained to the judge today, in court. Lord explained he was hungry, so he stole a book.

For the next 45 minutes, the courtroom resounded with the names of Spinoza, Kant and other giants of philosophy. Then Judge finally announced: "This boy is no criminal. He's a dreamy smart lad. Probably is right in his way of thinking. And here's a dollar, my lad, so you won't have to go hungry."

OLYMPIC TEAM COACH SMITH HEART VICTIM

Dies in Toronto From Heart Seizure on Train

FORMER BROKER

In Charge of Canada's Oarsmen at Los Angeles

Toronto, Aug. 23 — Sydney W. Smith, coach of Canada's Olympic Rowing Team at Los Angeles, died here today from a heart attack suffered on the train while returning from the Pacific Coast.

Smith was in charge of the Vancouver, Halifax, Toronto and Toronto-Montreal and returned to Toronto with the olympic team last summer eight.

He was former manager of a Toronto brokerage firm which went into liquidation some months ago, and had been out of the same firm for years throughout Ontario before coming to this city 15 years ago.

He is survived by his widow.

C.P.R. RISES DOLLAR SHARE

Loses in Profit-Taking Part of Day's Gain

New York, Aug. 23—Heavy buying of Canadian Pacific stock was a feature of trading on the New York Stock Exchange today.

The transportation issued 81 a share to close to $18, continuing its sharp upward ascent of yesterday when on a turnover of more than 131,000 shares it moved up over $3 a share, to close at $18.87 a share.

In later trading, a wave of profit-taking swept over the issue which caused it to lose most of today's gain.

The stock was more active than it has been in many months. In brokerage circles the increase was attributed to rumors that an early statement would be issued by the Royal Commission appointed by the Dominion government to recommend steps which should be taken in regard to the Canadian railroads.

There was a rumor the commission would recommend plans designed to prevent duplication of operation through unification of services, with the elimination of considerable present competition.

Asserting the Nazis would be able to "finish" the Von Papen Government the Brown-shirted leader declared that German democracy "will now understand why I refused to enter the Von Papen Government. Herr Von Papen your bloody objectivity, does not exist for me."

Hitler is not suited to become the executioner of Patriotic fighters for freedom. The verdict was a stupid provocation.

LUMBERMAN DIES

Hillsboro, N.B., Aug. 23 — Alexander Gibson, 84, lumberman and financier identified with the lumber industry of the Maritime Provinces for forty years, died at the home of his daughter here last night.

WEATHER

Toronto, Aug. 23—Pressure is high over the eastern portion of the continent and on the Pacific coast, but low west of the Great Lakes and over the Prairie Provinces. The weather has been cool and unsettled over most of Ontario, thunderstorms in Saskatchewan. It is also showery on most Superior points, cool and moderately warm in Eastern Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes.

Northern Ontario — Southerly winds, mostly moderate, warm today and early Wednesday following by cooler weather.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence Valleys—Moderate winds, shifting to southwest winds; mostly cloudy today and Wednesday with scattered thunderstorms

Snake Whisky Found in Jar

London, Ont., Aug. 22 — Police officers here have found in a swamp whisky, mule whisky, stone fence and moonshine of all the brews beverages but today they saw for the first time real snake whisky. Found coiled in a wall 4 feet on an alleged Chinese opium den on Dundas street.

In the place the officers found hidden behind a wall a jar of one gallon jug of whisky. In it were about four snakes although dead ones.

The snakes were big ones but have been cut in sections about a foot in length. The Chinese said it was an old custom of their country, to drink snake whisky. Besides being quite a beverage it was also good for rheumatism.

"It makes a rattling good drink," one remarked.

Ottawa, Aug. 23—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett is planning to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association opening in Calgary on August 31.

Carpenter Saws, Later Dentist Drills Both Satisfied When Work Completed

Carpentry and dentistry had much in common in the city during the past few days.

A local dentist who needed some repairs to the woodwork of his home made some discreet enquiries about town. At last he located a carpenter, who between times found himself short of work but long on aching molars which needed considerable overhauling. A bargain was struck up between them in a downtown barber shop. So now, while the carpenter hammers and saws all day, the dentist drills and scrapes during the evening after work.

Last reports stated that both are satisfactorily completing the jobs in record time.

REPRISALS ON GOVERNMENT THREATENED

Hitler Threats Answered by German Government

NAZIS ANGERED

Hitler, It is said Identifies Himself With Murderers

BERLIN, Aug. 23.— Threats of reprisals against the Government for death sentences imposed on five Fascists convicted of political murder were answered today by an announcement the government "would not stand for political terror," directed solely on the basis of justice whether or not to grant pardons.

This statement was issued after Adolf Hitler, leader of the National Socialists, had assured the five condemned men that the freedom of their souls from this minute on is a question of our honor."

The Hitler followers were condemned to death at Beuthen yesterday for the murder of a communist.

Does Few Service

In Government circles it was said no one did the five men by the Nazi movement, were service than Hitler himself, who soahing of the condemned men as "my comrades" and the Von Papen Government and, it was said, identified himself with many sound policy of murder.

A government spokesman said Hitler had made it extremely difficult for Chancellor Von Papen to make terms and as more would be regarded as yielding to Nazi demands.

NATIONAL COLOR SCHEME FOR HALL

Contrasting colors in red, white and blue are being added to the face of Memorial Hall building by painters, who have been employed on the work for some few days past. Window sash, coping and lettering of the Army and Navy Veteran's Association, who are now using the hall for their meetings, are in blue. Other woodwork is trimmed with red, while the brickwork is white. A large flag on a staff at the top of the building has added the finishing touch.

ASSISTANT FIRE CHIEF IN CHARGE

In the absence of Fire Chief William Lynch, who is at present on his holidays, the department is being operated by Assistant Fire Chief Gerald Vance. A remarkable record for the city has been hung up by the department this year, together with the fact, that there have been no fires this season than for years. No real runs have been reported for the past several weeks.

DIFFICULTIES ARE BEING IRONED OUT

Dissatisfaction expressed by visiting tourists over the fact that they had been unable to get rooms at cabins in the city tourist camp merely by the lunch which they had carried prepared, is being ironed out this week through the efforts of aldermen Ross, Sprackett, chairman of the Tourist and Publicity department, and the chief help of Mr. J. O. Herity, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce are at present preparing signs to be distributed throughout the camp advising tourists, that no charge will be made for the use of the tables unless gas and other camp facilities are used in preparing their meals. If gas and water is used for meals the price will be twenty-five cents per car. Small signs which are now being prepared will be ready within the next day or so.

WARMER WEATHER NOW ON ROAD

A slight drop in the local temperature was noted following Monday evening's rainfall, when 1.06 inches of water was registered at the local Filtration Plant. Monday's temperature was 82 high and 56 low Tuesday, however, the mercury fell to but 52 during the early morning hours, while it had soared to but 78 at 1 p.m. All indications are to the effect that the local citizens will enjoy the very best kind of weather conditions on Wednesday's half holiday.

LABORATORY CHIEF EXPECTED HOME

Mr. A. B. Baird, chief of the local Provincial Police laboratory, who has been engaged in departmental work among forest insects in the Rocky Mountains for several weeks past is expected to return to the city within the next month.

Assistants in the laboratory are still concentrating the examination of the corn borer in this section and other allied insect pests. Splendid results are to be seen obtained especially in the work connected with the corn borer.

MARKET PRICES NOT CHANGED FROM SAT.

Tuesday's Belleville market saw a brisk few hours of business when many local citizens took advantage of the largely attended market. Prices remained about the same as Saturday's market, when green corn sold for three dozen for 25c and fresh cucumbers sold for the peck. New potatoes were quite plentiful selling at 15c a peck. Fine looking young cauliflowers sold from 5c upwards according to their size. Plenty of other seasonable vegetables were in evidence selling at the usual prices, which have been in vogue all summer. Many fine looking carrots, beets, onions, cabbages and radishes were soon sold at the prevailing prices of last Saturday.

A few eggs were offered at 18c the dozen while chickens were sold at 75c each. One vendor of honey coming was observed and soon disposed of their wares. In the fruit lines, long black berries sold for 15c the box while huckleberries to straighten out a curl. Plums being brought 20c a quart, but by the peck a quart more than the price asked on Saturday. Apples sold from 75c to $1.00 per bushel while a fine looking plum were also in evidence.

REVIVAL IN CHEESE INDUSTRY IS SEEN

Stimulated by an increased interest displayed by those connected with the industry, a strong revival of the cheese business has been indicated by figures of the total shipment of cheese which left this city on the Clan Allan steamer for the East this week. The shipment consisting 3213 cheese was one of the largest from this port for some time.

In the office of Mr. J. L. Irwin, Dominion Dairy Produce Grader for this district information which was given tends to disclose the fact that farmers throughout the section have shown a concentrated effort to put the cheese industry back on its feet. Increased interest in all phases of the dairying industry has been reported from each section.

"The cheese business at present is slightly above normal for this time of year," declared Mr. Irwin.

LT. COL. PENSE PAYS TRIBUTE

R.S.M. T. F. Jordan One of Most Valuable of R. S. M's.

Tribute is paid by Lieut.-Col. J. E. Pense, D.S.O., M.C. of Walkerton, to the memory of the late Regimental Sergeant-Major T. D. Jordan, D.C.M., M.C.

"It was with a sense of deep personal regret that I learned of the passing of T. D. Jordan, who, for nearly three years, was regimental sergeant-major of the 21st Canadian Infantry Battalion. I knew him from the time he arrived in Kingston, late in October, 1914, with the personnel of the 16th (Prince Edward County) Regiment who volunteered for service with the 21st, and from February, 1917, when I became Adjutant, until the end of May, 1918 we were closely associated except for four months during which he was convalescing from the wounds he received during the advance east of Amiens in August, 1918.

"A veteran of the South African campaign and with 13 years' service in the Imperial Army, the deceased came to the 21st specially well qualified as an instructor and well versed in military routine. In the spring of 1916 when the 21st, of 'A' company, he was promoted to the rank of C.S.M. and there was made of that important post is common knowledge to all who served with the 21st. His tactful manner, toughness impartiality and devotion to duty with ability displayed in charge of his duties stamped himself as one of the most efficient R.S.M.s. of the Canadian Corps. The officers, but principally those upon whom the heaviest responsibilities fell, fully appreciated Sergeant-Major Jordan's true worth as a courageous and efficient leader and as one of the former contained in the 21st. In this I cannot speak too highly of the services he rendered.

"T. F. Jordan who, during the last couple of years of the war, was senior R.S.M. of the 4th Infantry Brigade not only enjoyed the respect of all ranks but his tact and knowledge of how best to handle men on active service earned for him a popularity that is rare in a regimental-major.

"Since demobilization the late T. D. Jordan took an active and enduring interest in the affairs of the various 21st Battalion clubs, visiting them frequently, and the Belleville last fall he was elected first vice-president of an association formed to publish a 21st newspaper and enroll former members of the unit who, by reason of their places of residence are not affiliated with the eighty-first Battalion Central and Eastern Ontario. The leadership and counsel he so willingly gave was invaluable; not a few comrades in straightened circumstances were helped by him and at our 13 annual reunions no one received a more hearty welcome than Tim Jordan.

"The 830 members of the 21st who gave their lives in France and Belgium including Lieut.-Col. Elmer W. Jones, D.S.O., are being united monthly with those who survived the fighting and hardships but the demise of R.S.M. Jordan leaves one of the vacancies that never can be adequately filled."

SOMETHING NEW IN LAND RECORD

A pep behind the scene in the Registry Office was afforded Belleville Rotarians at the regular luncheon meeting when Rotarian Bob Dewar, Registrar for the County of Hastings took the members of that office where all transactions in land are registered, through the intricacies of land and business title, and where those who wish to buy a small lot may read their title clear or otherwise in connection with buildings in which they may be interested. Mr. Dewar mentioned the fact that many builders have neglected to register partnership agreements and naming of business concerns and thereby left themselves liable to a fine of one hundred dollars. He gave some very interesting particulars of ancient registration of land and other property and demonstrated that there are things new to be found even in the dustytomes of a County Registrar office.

STEAL CITRONS IN MISTAKE FOR MELONS

Reprisals against a number of men and youths who have been charged with the theft of nightly raids on the gardens of that section have been threatened by residents of the district of Marshal Road who have suffered slightly thereafter at the damage done and the amount of stuff stolen by marauders. In many instances whole rows and vines of citron, pumpkins and other stock have been torn loose and destroyed. Provincial police are aiding the farmers of the district in this battle with the night raiders, and a large sample will be made at the perpetrators evidently mistaking them for watermelons, citrons have been the chief sufferer.

PARTY WRATH STIRRED AS 5 SENTENCED TO DIE

Death Sentence on Five Fascists Brings Trouble To Head in Germany

Hitler Calls Nazis to Fight Against The Ministry

WILD SCENES

Believe Government Aimed Order at Communists

BERLIN, Aug 23.—(CP)— Adolph Hitler hurled the defiance of the Fascist party at the Government Monday night in a brief and pithy proclamation addressed to the five Fascists condemned to death at Beuthen, where violent disorders marked the protest against the court verdict.

The proclamation read:

"My comrades in view of the monstrous and gory sentence passed upon you, I feel linked to you in unbounded loyalty. From this moment on your freedom is a question of our honor, and struggle against a Government, which this has come to pass to our duty."

Earlier Hitler had sent a personal petition for commutation of the five death sentences to Chancellor Franz von Papen. Capt. Ernest Roehm, Hitler's chief of staff, was charged with delivery of the petition.

Blasting at Beuthen

Beuthen, Silesia, Germany, Aug. 23.—(UP)—Steel-helmeted police carrying rifles ruled the streets of Beuthen tonight after a night and a prolonged riot in which thousands of Fascists gathered to demand immediate liberation of five comrades condemned to death for political terrorism and murder.

In a violent outburst against the first death sentences passed by the special anti-terrorist court, the mob thundered through the streets to attack the court house, clashed with police in the streets where shots were fired and, finally, launched a bitter attack on Jews and Socialists in parts of the city.

The mob shouting "Hail Hitler!" ran wildly through the streets, smashing windows of Jewish stores and attacking Socialist property. Thousands surrounded the court house, demanding liberation of the condemned men.

Police clashed repeatedly with the rioters and there was sporadic shooting, forming a cordon around Kaiser Franz Josef Square in front of the court house and forcing the mob to disperse.

Edmund Heines, chief of Hitler's Storm troops in Silesia, set off the rioting when he denounced the court verdict and declared that it would never be carried out. The only appeal from the court's decision but the Government may commute the sentences.

The scene in the court room, was dramatic when the court verdict was set up by presidential decree to halt terrorism snatched the five Fascists for the murder of a Communist, Pietrzuch, at the village of Potsampe, in Silesia, on August 10, shortly after the decree went into effect.

The condemned men are Paul Lachmann, 24, miner; Alfred Leippe; Reinhold Kottlach, August Grassyner Hans Schmidt and Rudya Wolnitzer. Gercy Hoppe was sentenced to ten years and three others were acquitted.

The announcement was greeted with deathly silence—but a roar of about of protest.

Helena leaped to his feet. He wore the brown shirt uniform of the Fascist militia and threw his arms rang out in the court room.

"The German people will deliver a different sentence", he yelled. "This will signal Ormany's liberation Hail Hitler!"

He gesticulated wildly and the crowd raised a roar of sympathy.

DEATH PENALTY FOR THEFT OF GRAIN

SAMARA, U.S.S.R., Aug. 22.—A Kulak woman named Grishova today became the first of her sex to receive the death penalty under a new decree classifying as capital offenses thefts from collective farms.

The woman was sentenced to be shot after she had been convicted of stealing grain near the village of Cel Orava. Two other women were sentenced to five and 10 years in prison, respectively and a man got a 10 year sentence for similar thefts.

SEARCH FOR MEN WHO ASSAULTED GIRL

Toronto, Aug. 22—Police reported no progress last night after an all-day search for two men wanted for criminal assault upon a 17-year-old maid in a Mimico home.

The girl came to the employer's home late Saturday night, her hair dishevelled and her clothes torn. In a hysterical condition she told of being dragged into a car, driven to a lonely spot on the Dundas highway and of there suffering an attack.

STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT IS LAID OVER TO 1933

Desenano, Italy, Aug. 22 Augusto Piccard, who has ascended twice to the stratosphere more than 10 miles above the earth's surface, will make the project assent from the Hudson Bay territory.

The project will be carried out next summer, however, with Chas. Kipper in charge. Kipper was Piccard's companion on the first flight a year ago and was closely connected with the recent unsuccessful venture. It is understood Prof. Piccard will however be associated with the Hudson Bay project as well. Prof. Piccard disclosed today he will not go up again because he is "getting too old."

JOE. WALCOTT DOWN AND OUT

Greatest Fighter of His Weight Taken to Hospital

New York, Aug. 22—A heart condition has sent 60-year-old Joe Walcott, former world's welter-weight champion, to hospital.

The Barbadoe demon' of 30 years ago collapsed on his apartment floor today and was taken to the hospital where the diagnosis was "arteriosclerosis and senile psychosis."

But the aged Negro, called by many experts the greatest fighter ever to weight in boxing history, is not worrying over muche. "I've had a good whirling and now I'm satisfied," Maybe I'll be all right in a couple of days."

Walcott has been living for some time in the basement of building on West 37th Street, maintaining himself on the small sum he could pick up as a referee or an instructor to Harlem's ring aspirants.

NO COMMENT FROM LEADER

Hon. Mackenzie King Prefers Not to Make Statement Now

Ottawa, Aug. 23—(CP)—Warning against hasty conclusions as to the results of the Imperial Economic Conference, Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, declined to comment for the present when he was asked his views Monday morning. He would be time enough to comment, he said, when the Government made up its mind in the country, in detail, the particulars which alone can give meaning to many of the clauses of the agreements, which were signed on the conference floor in the Monday.

The administrative interpretation to be given by the Government in the classes would be of less important in any estimate of the value of the clauses themselves than the actual terms of the trade agreements," he declared, "a vague and general clause, which may be so attached thereto would only be apparent after the actual application of the various tariff items effected, and the probable effect of preferences on the trade and industrial trends of our trade.

"The public interests do not become operative until after legislative enactment by Parliament, there will, fortunately, be plenty of time meanwhile for careful examination of these and kindred matters, before the subject becomes one of discussion in Parliament.

"In my opinion," Mr. King added "ultimate judgment thereon will be best left to the people by the avoidance meanwhile of conclusions too hastily reached, and based on information that will be present form is obviously inadequate.

MAY SWING TO ADVERSE IN SHORT TIME

Parley Opinion Reaction Seen in Ottawa Circles

TIME NEEDED

It May be Months Before Judgment Matures

Ottawa, Aug. 23—International political circles await with keen interest the final appraisal by impartial Conference, as well as the possible effects on domestic politics of the important topic of conversation in Ottawa Monday, following the spread of the four winds of the Empire statesmen who formed the momentous conference.

Editorial comment in British and United States newspapers idle preached here during the day, were avidly scanned by Canadian public men as well as the large number of conference observers, who have flocked to the capital. Cabinet ministers and their advisers were sleuthed on the subject universally cordial reception given the agreements abroad, by a large same line, were inclined to believe that weeks, if not months, must elapse before any definite opinion can be passed on the conference results.

In this connection, a hint of a possible reaction in the immediate good comment was thrown out yesterday by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain. Mr. Ferguson, whose opinions are highly valued, recognize as one of the most astute observers of public opinion in contemporary politics, suggested that in a couple of weeks there might be considerable crystallization of the conference. His opinion, of course was that such criticism would be ill-informed, that time alone could give a proper view of the conference, but, nevertheless, his observation that the political future may bring an anti-climax to the present enthusiasm by political observers as important.

Bennett's Following Safe

Rumors published in United States papers that Mr. Bennett might lose the support of some of his followers, notably the western, were not regarded seriously here. No one knows better than the Prime Minister how thoroughly he can depend on the support of his following in Parliament.

The suggestion published abroad that the western farmer does not take kindly to the preference gained for wheat, was not given a basic formation. The grain trade has criticized the wheat preference but all observers here feel that in this respect the trade is definitely out of step with the grain-growers on the quarter and half-section of the prairies.

A benefit to the western farmer will come here today lies in the preference secured on beson. Well informed observers point out that the public invariably puts much emphasis on the amount of the duty and as I hard wheat, the highest priced, and forgets that the duty on other grades of wheat. With the coarser grades of wheat. With the exception of the current prices farmers can afford to feed the cheaper varieties of grains, it is also to be pointed out, the bacon preferences secured will increase substantially the demand for Canadian pig products abroad, the western farmer may benefit as a matter of course should have a greater domestic market for his coarser grains, it is also regarded as a factor of much importance both from the British market and from the grain market standpoint.

What attitude the Liberal party in the House of Commons will adopt towards the conference agreements remains a matter of conjecture at the moment. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, is not in the capital Saturday from his summer home at Kingsmere for the closing ceremonies, but he held his counsel regarding the effects of the pacts. Back again at Kingsmere, he is enabling the political wise, according but to well-informed opinion and will not likely voice his views until the fall session of parliament opens on By that time public opinion will have crystallized to some extent and the Liberals will know how the land lies.

Five Man Commission for Canadian Railways is Believed Plan in View

Have Over Riding Supervisory Powers in All Matters

AWAIT REPORT

Not Expected Report Will be Handed Down For 2 Wks.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—Appointment of a permanent commission of five members to be vested with overriding supervisory powers over both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, is strongly rumored here as one of the remedies to be proposed by the Duff Commission for the solution of Canada's railway troubles.

The commission, which has been investigating the railway situation early last winter, will not have its report ready for submission to the Government by the two weeks, it is understood. Stock markets rumors that the report would be out in a day or two were not seriously regarded here in well-informed circles.

Each of the two transcontinental railways would nominate three members of the suggested commission, while the Government would name the chairman. The commission, it is said, would have powers to deal with details of the management of either railway. Its powers would be limited to supervision of capital expenditures and the regulation of competition is also believed.

Compromise Proposal

In this way it is suggested, Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of the Royal Commission, and his six colleagues who have toured the country with the object of studying transportation situation generally, would provide a compromise between two equally vexing situations. A possible objection to such a suggestion would bridge the gap between the politically impossible suggestion of amalgamating the two railways and the present much-criticised liberty of the railways to fix, largely speaking, their own masters in matters of competition and expenditure.

It has never been considered here for a moment that the Duff Commission is swayed by any political influences, however subtle, in its recommendations for the enforcement amalgamation. It is held here that members of the commission are fully convinced, however, that amalgamation is an utterly impossible policy in this country, due to a public opinion which has grown up through the years, particularly in the western Canada. And the commission, of course, does not propose to take part of its duties to make recommendations that no government could or would carry out.

Stock Market Wrong

In the light of this consideration, Ottawa opinion is that the stock market has gone wrong again if it has run up C.P.R. stock in the expectation of the commission recommending any kind of benefits to the C.P.R. shareholders. The commission, it is believed, will limit itself largely to suggestions for the operation of the roads and will have financial reorganization plans, if any, to suggest of those now responsible; that is, the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. directorate.

Any recommendation looking to forced amalgamation will be limited it is believed here, to the express and telegraph subsidiaries of the two railways. Opinion here is that Parliament will be overwhelmingly opposed at present to support two express and two telegraph companies when the gross national saving could be made by uniting the two. At the same time it is believed here that an amalgamation of this kind would be a step towards the ultimate goal—would a union of the two railways.

MARX BROTHER ROBBED OF $37,000 IN JEWELRY

Los Angeles, Aug. 23—(UP)—Zeppo Marx was an exciting and unhappy person yesterday and Monday morning. He reported to the sheriff's office that his palatial uptown apartment had been looted of $37,-000 in gems, while he was sojourning at the Malibu Beach film person.

Zeppo, youngest of the four Marx brothers and "straight man" in their comic characterization, said the burglars obtained among other things a $17,000 diamond and platinum ring, a $2,000 gem-studded cigarette case and two tie pins worth $750.

HONOR GRADUATE IS DROWNED IN RAPIDS

Coldwater, Ont., Aug. 22—First class honor graduate of Victoria and Emmanuel Colleges Toronto, E. Glenn Wilkins, Waterford, was drowned in the Severn River near here yesterday when he attempted to paddle through the Little Chute rapids.

Ted Griffin, Coldwater, who was Wilkins' companion was able to swim to shore when the canoe was swamped in the swirling waters of the rapids. Little Chute is regarded as a very severe test of a canoeist's ability.

THANKED FOR PARLEY WORK

Congratulations Sent to Baldwin Aboard Liner

London, Aug. 23—Heartiest congratulations on the Imperial Conference work at Ottawa were sent by wireless telegram from the British Isles to Baldwin by the association of British Chambers of Commerce.

Agreements concluded at the Imperial Conference must benefit the whole Empire, said the message, by the creation of a commercial "Empire consciousness" and Canada, should lead to a lasting consolidation. The trade benefits to follow would be a reduction in the unemployment.

Mr. Baldwin, accompanied by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, is now aboard the Duchess of Britain on his way back to England.

N.H.L. MOGULS FACE PROBLEMS

Three Clubs of Circuit Are Not Too Strong at Present

Toronto Aug. 23—Facing what is believed to be their most important meeting the National Hockey League will have for some time, the annual huddle here today. The meeting, which opens at 2 p.m. at Government may be issued to the press later in the day.

Financial difficulties, which are alleged to be threatening at least three teams in the big loop will be up for decision today, it is understood. The Ottawa franchise, according to popular rumor, may be transferred if the rumors are correct and the Detroit squad has found the competition from the International league to be very strong.

HAUL SECURED NEARLY $20,000

Lone Robber Holds up Salesmen For Gas Company

Vancouver, Aug. 23—An armed robber who held A. Gordon A. Menchions, Shell Oil Company cashier and Hector McLean, his assistant yesterday, near the company's distributing plant, was escaped with approximately $20,000. The loot was made up of nearly $17,000, in cash and $3,000 worth in cheques many negotiable.

The bandit, walked up to Menchions and McLean as the two entered their car after making collections from drivers of the Shell Oil company's gas cars.

"Stick 'em up" he said as he flourished a long black revolver, "and get out of the car."

Menchicz and McLean were forced to obey and the bandit drove off. He sped south, where he abandoned the vehicle near a garage.

QUIET NOTED ALONG BORDER

Troops Orderly After Clash on Front Over Weekend

Tokyo, Aug. 23 (AP)—All Japanese sources indicated today that quiet had been restored along the border of Jehol Province, by the between Manchukuo and China proper. Fighting between Japanese troops had clashed over the week-end.

Meanwhile, Japanese troops remained in Chaoyang Temple station in Jehol. A Reuter's Peiping news agency despatch from Chihfeng to Dengta, Wang Chi commanding 2,000 Chinese volunteers in Eastern Jehol, had offered submission to the new Manchukuo government.

Wang formerly was allied with Marshal Chang Hsia O'Liang, deposed Manchurian war lord, and was in command of Chang's garrison at Nuhsien at the outbreak of last September's Sino-Japanese fighting in Manchuria.

CORN TRADE BOARD AGAINST ANY ACTION

Liverpool, Aug. 23—Any action, governmental or otherwise, interfering with the freedom of grain markets is condemned in an official statement issued yesterday by the Liverpool Corn Trade Association.

The association is opposed to governmental action says the statement, on the ground that any such interference is against the interests of all parties and particularly the consumer interests.

Duties on foreign wheat with an accompanying preference on Empire-grown wheat will necessitate certain readjustments on the grain market here, but are not expected to affect the general operation of wheat futures trading.

WOMAN BEATEN BY ANGRY MEN

Claimed She Was Not Alloting Relief Work Fairly

Charles City, Iowa, Aug. 23 (UP) —Miss Marion Stull, a prim little woman whose hair is tinged with grey, was kidnapped Monday by unknown men dissatisfied with her administration of county poor relief beating, unconsciousness and finally released 30 miles away.

Miss Stull was busy in her little second-floor office when 75 angered men broke in. They carried her screaming down the stairs, threw her into a ramshackle automobile and drove her into the country, beating her on the head with clubs and twisting her legs painfully as they went.

The rest of the mob followed in other automobiles and the Miss Stulls own car.

They stopped at the outskirts of New Hampton, where they charged Miss Stull with partiality in the allotment of relief funds. Then they administered a final beating, put her into her own automobile and fled.

When Miss Stull regained consciousness she drove to Alta Vista, where she telephoned Mayor C. O. Gray for help. She said she was afraid to return to Charles City.

MINISTER ASKS BIG QUESTION

Attitude Hardly in Keeping With Christian Principle

Montreal, Aug. 22 (CP)—The Imperial Conference attitude towards Russian trade was hardly in keeping with Christian principles, Rev. P. W. Norwood, D.D., of the City Temple, London, stated while approaching last night at Emmanuel Church here.

He wondered if the parties to the conference had appreciated that Russian question in the right spirit if by going a little farther in a spiritual sense. The city council of Montreal, he said, would have reached a better, or at least a more christian, arrangement.

"It was good in this community of nations to want to inter-related our trade, but when we lifted up our hands and cried to God, Father, I wonder if we did not stop short when we might have gone further?" he asked. "We all want peace, to resent and fear the terrifically destructive methods we call weapons but I wonder why we did not say to ourselves a little more earnestly, 'but what does Russia mean?'"

WINNERS

GAME PLENTIFUL

The Pas, Man., Aug. 23—Duck hunters of Western Canada are promised a good season's hunting fall. The lakes and swamps of Northern Manitoba and Saskatchewan are covered with ducks and geese, and even oldtimers can remember seeing nothing so plentiful at this time of the year. Indians predict a cold fall and prospects are that the lakes will fly South earlier than usual.

VICTORY FOR EMPIRE DEMOCRACY WINS

Quebec, Aug. 22—"A victory for the Empire and a triumph for democracy" is the characterization placed on the Imperial Economic Conference by Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, in a speech delivered on board the "Empress of Britain" prior to the sailing of that ship from here yesterday with the United Kingdom delegation.

"Agreements that in my judgment have paved the way to a greater degree of prosperity and to an increased share in each other's markets," was how Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin described the results achieved.

HOMES, CATTLE ARE IN DANGER

Further Outbreaks of Fire in West Threaten Districts

Winnipeg Aug. 23—Further outbreaks of forest fires which still are baffling efforts of firefighters in the north country southeast of here today while many farm houses and large numbers of cattle are threatened by a new extensive conflagration that had evidently been smouldering in the dry underground for several weeks.

Extra bands of settlers were pressed into service yesterday as a new outbreak occurred at Whitemud, twenty-five miles east of the main blaze at Hadashville on the Whiteshell River. Flames at Rhine, north of Hadashville are beyond control, and many homes further north demand the attention of a strong body of firefighters.

AFTERTHOUGHT

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—Although he came to Ottawa to do it, Hon. C. Howard Ferguson almost forgot to open the Central Canada Exhibition here Monday. Mr. Ferguson, Trade Commissioner in London, was opening luncheon. He was introduced by Prime Minister Bennett. He spoke. He sat down. And he had not uttered the words which must open the fair. Mr. Bennett did so. Then he remembered that an exhibition opening has received official attention. Another speech followed Mr. Ferguson. Then Canada's Right Honorable Premier rose again. "I will now do the job that I came here for," he announced. "I declare the exhibition open." And all was well.

A new German process for the conversion of wood cellulose into stock feed, glucose and alcohol, is said to be attracting attention in German industry.

Statistics are all right in themselves, but what is necessary is a competent interpretation of them. —John Dewey.

COUNTY COURT JUDGE NAMED

Former Member of Bench is Dismissed Following Charges Laid

Ottawa, Aug. 23—Herbert W. Sangster, K.C., Windsor, Ont., has been appointed county court judge of Essex and Kent, it was announced officially today. The official announcement of the appointment was made here by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice. Mr. Sangster succeeds L. H. Davis, whose name was removed by Order-in-Council as county court Judge. The Order-in-Council was passed following removal by the Dominion government of the report of the Ontario Judicial Council charges against Mr. Martel of conduct unbecoming a Judge.

HUMAN INTEREST IS ALL

People have ever loved the human interest story, the narrative which gets close to their hearts. That is why they love their talkie stars—because they get closer or think they get closer to them than they do to their friends. For what best friend takes even relatives into the bosom secrets of life and tells them. When people have an opportunity to emasculate over a story of a stray child, they enjoy it to the full.

The other night a Toronto paper gave almost a page to the story of the little girl who wandered away and fed on berries for days, but was never afraid because she knew as she said that God would take care of her.

Such a story was bound to attract attention for it was as perfect a story as old Homer could have made. The blessing in of a second lost person, one of the searchers, a camper, added zest to the tale.

And it all ended happily. Not every story has a happy ending and many a sorrowful tale has been written around accidents to youth and yet the human appeal was powerful.

Newspapers realized what such a story meant to their readers and gave it plenty of space. They judged rightly.

EXCELSIOR

Prof. Piccard, who went up into the empyrean the other day to a height of over ten miles, records that as higher levels were reached the cosmic rays increased in intensity beating upon the metal globe as rain upon a tin roof. He believes that the study of many scientific problems will come when men have learned more of this aerial bombardment.

How are the sun's fires kept burning in the awful conflagration of this system? Will Piccard's records help with an answer to this problem?

MOLLISON

The air-minded people who are becoming so numerous as to be numbered by millions as far as interest in aeronautics is concerned, will vote for Captain Mollison the greatest distinction—the complete round trip of the Atlantic Ocean by air can bring. It will be a delight to everyone to acknowledge him the greatest of the world's aviators on the score of actual achievement.

The greatest of fliers like Lindbergh and Mollison appear to achieve with a minimum of publicity, their flights are begun with little public notice, perhaps because everything has already been so carefully planned and they are masters of aeronautics.

Mollison has conquered what no other single person has done, the west flight and that is the greater half of his double undertaking. That he may be able to take his rest in England quietly after rounding out his trip is the wish of all.

Some may wonder why even a Mollison and a Lindbergh might hesitate before any more attempts in making of air records. But these men do not wish to "hog" honors and they also realize that one man cannot make the whole contribution to the bringing in of the new air era. Every flier has an individual standpoint and can do until he is foiled or defeated, to make an individual contribution to aeronautics, which no other person can make.

THE HOMELAND

More Britishers are returning home than are leaving the homeland. The balance is 37,072 on the right side of the book. Something is drawing them home while something is happening in the United States which has lost 103,295 alien residents last year taken in both 1930 and 33,987 United States citizens expatriated themselves. Sociologists will study the cause of these two movements.

THE FAIR

Belleville Fair is not far away. In the country and in the city the exhibits which will be on view are already planned. These times ought to rivet more and more attention upon the district character of the Belleville Fair.

DELIBERATIONS

What took all the membership of the Economic Conference with experts four weeks and two days to achieve is now in the hands of the world. Opinion is being formed upon the results and attempts made to appraise the various agreements which have been signed. Most of these opinions are colored by the political bias of the appraiser but the general opinion is that much has been done from an Empire standpoint. The results will probably exceed the confident expectations of the most competent judges.

The new agreements are to hold for five years and will provide ample opportunity for testing in the actual commerce of the Empire and of the world.

NEW JOYS
By Aline Michaelis

New joys will bloom while years go by
As roses greet the smiling sky
With every glad, recurrent June,
And linnets pipe their happy tune.

New joys will stretch their tendrils out
To creep and climb and twine about
Our lives, till all is fair and bright,
While wintry doubts and fears take flight.

New Joys! Then yield to no dismay
When these now cherished pass away
For all things change and all are fleet,
Most evanescent are most sweet.

Ah, trust the future; it will bring
Glad days that shine and hours that sing.
Days even as dear and prized as these
That now weave glowing tapestries!

HERE'S A FASHION HINT for the men. According to New York City footwear fashion experts the well dressed man next year colored sandals plus bare feet — green, lavender, ultramarine, canary, every color conceivable, so start treating those aching dogs with care; they've got to look their best. Back from a trip to France one of the leading metropolitan fashion experts said that he was amazed at many stylish evening functions in Southern France to see the men as well as women wearing sandals in colors. With these trousers and the wicked silk shirts in contrasting colors, are the mode. The fashion is spreading rapidly, said he, Men of all ages, Englishmen and Americans, too, have discarded formal attire for dancing. The women's toes are tinted blood red. All of which goes to show that the insanity produced by the bunion of the mon money shows no signs of abatement.

BELLEVILLE MERCHANTS drop the game and play it right. They are always ready to give patrons from far and near the best deal possible, and this is amply attested by the frequent Bargain Fiestas, like the Community Dollar Days held last week in which progressive stores sliced profits, in some cases to the vanishing point to give patrons an opportunity to save money. Not so long ago the "Happy Days Community Sale" drew patrons from all points of the compass to Belleville and made business hum for merchants while shoppers saved money and had a happy time visiting the various stores taking art. Belleville is a great shopping centre, the logical shopping centre for an area covering many miles in every direction, and Belleville can be made a greater shopping centre by the business men continuing to act together and advertise the city's business advantages continuously, consistently, and in a big way. This is an era of big, bold, courageous business enterprise with small room for pikers.

ARTIFICIAL FEEDING FOR YOUNG BABIES

In Babies Artificially Fed There is Less Weight For Week or so

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., Famous Authority on Health and Psychology

LOUIS E. BISCH

Although a mother may be willing or even eager to nurse her own baby, it often happens that this is impossible. The milk may be scant-in amount or not nutritious enough, or it may be that the baby does well, then gradually the supply gives out.

When artificial feeding must be resorted to, this principle can should be exercised. Cow's milk is the best substitute although the foreign countries goat's milk is often used. If possible, tracings of the baby from breast should be gradual. Always a milk formula must be worked out under the supervision of a physician or, upon advice given at a recognized baby clinic or milk station. The number of times to feed each day, and the amount, are quite as important as the formula itself.

In all milk formulas lime water must be added to make the cow's milk properly alkaline, for cow's milk is slightly acid while mother's milk is alkaline. Sugar also must also be added.

During the first days of life, when the baby is put to the breast it should be allowed to nurse only from eight to seven minutes. All mothers, especially young ones with their first child, have to let the infant nurse too long. Sometimes the baby will get satisfied by sucking enough nourishment, although over-feeding is as bad as underfeeding. Then, too, the baby may vomit after a feeding, the quantity of too much or too little must always be considered.

If artificial feeding is necessary from the very beginning, the child should never be given more than six on the first day, but two teaspoonfuls of sugar of milk solution can and should be given. Any of this amount seems thirsty.

Below are two tables. The first indicates the amount of food and the second the number of feedings at different ages.

Age	Amount of Boiling Milk
1 week	½ to 1½ ounces
2 to 3 weeks	1½ to 3 ounces
4 to 5 weeks	2½ to 3½ ounces
6 to 9 weeks	3 to 4½ ounces
3 to 3 months	4 to 5½ ounces
3 to 9 months	5 to 7 ounces
9 to 12 months	7 to 9 ounces.

Age	Number of Daily Feedings
1 week	6 to 8
2 to 3 weeks	10
4 to 5 weeks	10
6 to 8 weeks	9 to 8
3 to 5 months	8 to 7
5 to 9 months	7 to 6
9 to 12 months	6

The way to determine whether the breast milk or the cow's milk formula is agreeing with a child is to watch the digestion and the infant's weight increase.

On the first day all babies lose. After the third day the normal child begin to gain steadily. In babies artificially fed, however, there is loss of weight for a week or...less. After that, provided the formula is right, these babies gain as steadily as their breast-fed brothers and sisters.

PREDICTIONS OPTIMISTIC

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson Tells of Far-off Results

Ottawa, Aug. 23—Optimistic predictions of improved conditions resulting from the Imperial Conference featured the speech of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canada's High Commissioner for Canada in London, here yesterday. Accompanied by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who introduced him as a distinguished luncheon, Mr. Ferguson formally declared the Central Canada Exhibition open.

Mr. Bennett, on the occasion of his first public appearance since the conclusion of the conference, was given an ovation when he rose to speak. Rising, the 300 guests clapped and cheered. Mr. Ferguson also was welcomed with enthusiasm.

While predicting great advantages as a result of the conference agreement, Mr. Ferguson warned his hearers that immediate improvement should not be expected. The channel for a new trade current had been dug, but the stream must still be directed into it. This might take a little time, but, the stream once started, beneficial results would certainly come.

This attitude applied even in the City of Toronto where I stopped over for a week. It is quite true that some of our newspapers are advocating it but I don't think thought I cannot help feeling that this is largely because they have not yet had the time or opportunity to study this complicated undertaking. I also feel very sure that no government would advocate the huge expenditure that this work will call for if they only realized what a very small element of public opinion is in favor of it. No government wishes to court defeat and with this thought in mind, I am offering them the benefit of the result of my interviews with citizens in every province of the Dominion.

The adverse features in connection with this development are so many that I marvel that it should at least at this time, be given a moment's serious consideration. The outstanding objections are that we already have a huge surplus of canals, with a consequent crushing burden of taxes, a huge surplus of transportation and a like surplus of power, and as one editor says we have power running to waste. The fact that we have been railway mad when mad railway mad pulp and paper mad and debt mad we seem to be no deterrent to our now, going power mad.

The amount of additional water the government proposes to divert to the St. Lawrence, at considerable expense will be more than offset by the added evaporation on the acreage, and as we are even now in low water periods unable to haul our cargoes to their capacity it simply means that there will be another element water to float the larger ships that the waterway is supposed to provide passage for. Even a child who we have a surplus of every conceivable commodity that enters into the scheme, there will be an actual shortage of the labor necessary for its successful physical operation namely water.

The above are merely a few of the adverse features; there are others enough with regard to navigation and manifold complications.

THE WATERWAYS

To the Editor:

ONLY WOMAN IN DENTAL SUPPLIES

Miss Annie Miller, Canada's only woman in the dental supply business who made a name for herself at the Empire dental convention in Toronto is in the city and is staying at the home of Mrs. Foster, 240 Front Street.

Her story is interesting. Five years ago she was staying at a summer resort where the guests included the family of the head of a large manufacturer of dental supplies. At that time she had just learnt that she would have to make a living. Following this she became a salesman for the firm. It was one day after she took the plunge and went into business for herself. Now she has her own office and secretary.

Her experience is one that ought to cheer the salesman generally. Most of her had got special preparation she says "No but I always found it fairly easy to sell things." And such a line of talent for church bazaars and things". She added that she believes the touchstone of success for business was absolute dependability and on this principle she works, believing it is effective in opening up business opportunity for man or woman pioneer.

BULLET-PIERCED BODY DISCOVERED

Fort William, Aug. 23—With a bullet hole in the back of his head, the body of Banks Beamish was found on a highway in Devon township, fifty miles from here. The body was found by a party of berry pickers and apparently had lain on the road for several hours. Sixty years old, Beamish had lived a hermit-like existence in Devon township for many years.

Rain Halts Game in 5th Frame With Kingston Leading 1-0 To Give Them Edge in Series

Umps Declare Grounds Unfit For Resumption of Play

TOUGH BREAK

Teams Battle on Wednesday For Right to Meet West Toronto

Will someone kill that black cat, that has been hounding the Nationals all season.

It never rains but it pours and old Jupiter Pluvius has been most unkind all summer.

The series now being played between the Ponies of Kingston and the Nationals has been a corn-ups and downs than the bumps on a corn and each time the Nationals have been left holding the bag.

Taking out the first game, which was won by Kingston, the Nationals have been more outfucked than outplayed and that's about all.

Saturday's game was no exception. Five innings were completed, when the sky clouded up and rain descended sufficiently to call the game off on account of the ground.

At the time the Ponies were leading 1-0 and five innings constitutes a legal game, the Nationals had to be content with a loss. It was the toughest kind of luck but probably the sun will shine long enough to get the postponed game to be played. Probably "Pat" Walsh, who was the victim of the tough but perfect right to call the game, yet games have been called in much fairer worse, for instance the day Bell Telephone and Sportsmen battled in the mud, but he had the last say and there was no come back. The record was somewhat hostile over the unsatisfactory ending to the game. Nationals were seen as was witnessed in Kingston when Umpire Walsh called the game on account of darkness. But those Kingston fans will have their little joke and Walsh's decision is not over yet and Wednesday may be the first day when the odds are to be placed under the Ponies.

Neutral Umpires.

The umpiring has not been satisfactory to either team in the series simply because both men are striving to be fair and to show no calling the ball and to the Kingston players thought discretion the better part of valor and waived Mills. "Peeney" has always been regarded as a hitter and it is pleasing to note, that Kingston still consider his dangerous hit in the pinch. Coming in the next hitter instead of waiting for Fournier to go to work, slugs the first ball pitched. Quinlan made it look easy and the rally was over and with that play went the ball game for the Nationals. Usually Fournier hit under lucked an easy win under his belt on Monday afternoon. He had pitched a fine game and a good one was used a false motion on the rubber but this was passed up and away with it, yet the majority of the Nationals could call it a balked in it was thrown to the plate.

Tuesday night was elected to battle the Ponies and he in no way can be charged with the defeat. Although he walked the first man up who scored the deciding run. He whiffed seven and had fair control in the pinches. Fournier on the other hand was wild at times and whiffed three and his team mates never faltered behind him. Monday night should be the playing day the game, when he went far into the afternoon and Tuesday is a ball. The series is nearly over and Wednesday's game will be a hard bowling success but it is hoped the Nationals can call on Wednesday for the grand finale.

AMATEUR SWIM WILL BE WELL CONTESTED

To promote amateur swimming among the youths of this district, Harry Ketcheson, proprietor of Bide-a-Wee Beach, has decided for some years has sponsored a swim across the bay. A cove and a prize the winner receiving a handsome trophy. This year's swim has created keen competition and the event tomorrow will no doubt bring out some of the best swimmers in this district. Instead of having the contestants cross the bay, the course this year will mark out a course up the bay shore. The swim will be about three miles and the boys do their stuff.

MAY WIN FLAG AND ALSO MAKE NEW RECORD

Have Chance to go Through Season Without Shutout

ONE HIT GAME

"Firpo" Marberry Senators Nearly Enters Hall of Fame

(By Gayle Talbot, Associated Press Sports Writer).

It seems likely the Yankees, in addition to winning the American League flag in a canter, will go right on and round out the campaign without having settled a shutout defeat.

They have scored at least one run in each of their 119 engagements to date, and with the big guns of their attack, Ruth and Gehrig going better every day and pushing Lindbergh apparently face a hopeless task in trying to blank the New York's slugging.

No big league club ever completed a season without at least one shutout and only two, Pittsburgh in 1901 and the Yankees of 1927, have had the minimum of one white washing. The Yanks have a chance to go to crack the record.

Irving "Bump" Hadley, journeyman righthander of the St. Louis Browns, came mighty near applying the brakes yesterday when he held the Athletics to one run on four widely scattered hits. Earle Combs saved the day for the Yanks, driving in Chapman with a first inning and scored on an infield out after that Hadley was invincible, even though he issued seven walks.

The next most startling performance of the day was Lefty Grove in pitching the Athletics to an 8 to 1 victory over the White Sox. Grove, despite his usually high class bale, he belted a home run with the bases empty and two runs.

Firpo" Marberry of the Washington Senators turned pitcher and held the Tigers to one single by Dick Porter in the first inning, and beat the Indians, 4 to 0. Monte Weaver, Detroit southpaw shaking up. After taking the fence down they were able to produce their own power to put in the yard of Mr. Bellyou, where the car was left. The party went on their way to Ottawa to visit friends with the intention of returning.

The third accident occurred when Mr. Art Roth of the R.C.A.F. was making a left hand turn from the Airport grounds, when a car driven by Mr. Hugh Bowman of 18 East Essex Ave., Lansdowne, Penn., accompanied by Mr. Ralph O. Chapman of Belleville, N.Y., skidded into the Ford coupe driven by Mr. Bowman was following Roth close and when he went to make the turn to the right forced them on his brakes to avoid hitting Roth, on applying the brakes the car skidded around, the back end of it striking the rear end of the Roth car, damaging both cars. Mr. Bowman settled for all damages.

TRENT RIVER CLAIMS LIFE

Fred Jarvis, 19, Went Beyond Depth as Beginner

Trenton, Aug. 23 (Special)—Mr. Fred Jarvis age 19, lost his life, Saturday afternoon in the Trent River on Sunday afternoon at Chases Landing. Jarvis was a beginner and it is thought that he got out over his depth and was drowned. Two friends of his were close by at the time, but did not see him go down. Deceased, first came up to the cottage of Mr. Jack Austin of Wooler, who is the owner of camp at the Landing. Constable Frankford was immediately notified at once and dragging operations were begun, but it was not until ten o'clock on Monday morning that the body was recovered. The body was taken to the undertakers some three years ago from Frankford, where he had been employed on the farm of Mr. Percy Vanalstine, by the way of concession of Murray. A preliminary inquest was held, Dr. Lapp of Consecon officiating. The inquest is adjourned until Wednesday, August 24th, when it will be held at the Charlesworth Home. Mr. Jarvis had no relatives in this country.

SCHOOL BELLS SOON TO RING

Public Schools in Trenton Opens 1st And High School on 6th

TRENTON, Aug. 23—(Special)—School days will soon be here again as the Trustees of the Public School Board announced "Labor" as the opening day. It is understood that the Separate Schools will be open on the same day. The High School Board have announced Sept. 6th as the opening day for the older pupils.

It is important that parents arrange to send their children to school on the first day, as this enables the teaching staff to get their classes organized without any unnecessary delays in registering late scholars.

SLIPPERY ROAD CAUSE OF TWO CAR CRASHES

Car Turns Over Into Ditch Injuring Occupants

FINGER BROKEN

Application of Brakes Responsible For Other

Trenton, Aug. 23 (Special)—Three accidents occurred on highway number two due to the heavy rainfall, that left the pavement slippery. The first one happened about two miles west of Trenton on 6.30 p.m. Monday, when Mr. James O'Neill of Bayside Terrace, pasled by Miss Geraldine Stubenberg of Dearborn Ave., Trenton, while driving east lost control of his car and shot over onto the left side of the road, crashed through the ditch, the car turning over and resting on its top. Mr. O'Neill suffered severe bruises about the chest and had the middle finger of his right hand broken, also a deep gash in the same hand, that required several stitches to close. Miss Stubenberg suffered severe bruises about the body, but first aid was in attendance. The car, a Pontiac coupe was badly damaged. Went Into Ditch.

The second accident occurred at nearly the same time but one mile nearer Trenton. Mr. A. D. McKee of 69 State St. Trenton, was accompanied by his wife and neice Miss Ina Mae Harrison, when he also lost control of his car, a Franklin touring and skidded off into the ditch on the left hand side of the road. The car turned over twice and came to rest on its top, but finally stopped, resting on all four wheels. Mr. and Mrs. McKee were not completely torn off as were the two windshields by a happy chance none of the passengers or driver were injured although Mrs. McKee did sustain a slight shaking up. After taking the fence down they were able to proceed under their own power up into the yard of Mr. Bellyou, where the car was left. The party went on their way to Ottawa to visit friends with the intention of returning.

CURRENT SPORT

Knocks and Boosts

It assuredly was most regretable that the weather on Monday evening's senior baseball game terminated. Although the two umpires were at the ball park, the grounds was far too wet to play baseball and they were unanimous in displaying in their decision of calling off the game at the expense of the Nationals. Even a fine race of defeat, and it naturally was a keen fight and the fans of both clubs are to be congratulated in the manner in which they took the disappointment. A few minor boos and rat-calls and that was all that was heard. In the situation had been reversed and were in Kingston, well we will leave it to you the ultimate result. Never again do we wish to hear any fans in Kingston on the subject of sportsmanship. We have always had a number of Kingstonians we know should purchase a ticket to the Ponies up the real meaning of the word.

Following Monday evening's game President H. Colling was presented with Umpires "Pat" Walsh and "Ken" Gallagher's fees which was announced by the President that two needed umpires would be used on Wednesday's game in Belleville and Thursday's game in Kingston. And who has the two natural officials are to be we could not ascertain when this issue went to press but we have a hunch that the Queen City will be the choice.

Although the Nationals have another home game on Friday we of course look very black for their cause now, as they are due for a return to the Limestone City for the fourth (or is it the fourth?) game on Thursday and with the baseball club has ever run into Chatham. To keep up the tradition which has been so marked during the local's home games this year it had to rain and literally grab victory from the locals as we are of the opinion that the local swatsmiths would have put the Chatham Tourists in the cemetery before many more innings had lapsed.

In all probability Manager Detrow will start Alex Weir on the mound against the Ponies on Wednesday. Alex has been quite successful in his past attempts on the hilltop against the Ponies but he has been unable to go the distance in seven frames. Of course this is only answered when one takes into consider that the self-same Alex was not groomed for a pitcher this season but was shifted into the breach like a man and gave all he had to help the club wherever he felt itself. And before we forget it we would like to say a word in behalf of the fact that the Kingston fans have to watch, when we learned that "Frenzy" Mills is still the most feared hitter in the C.O.B.C. and proof of the pudding is in the eating."

In the third innings on Monday when the Ponies purposely passed Alex Weir Alex Weir perched on third and they were unable to catch Alex Belleville's veteran catcher was still the peer of hitters in the C.O.B.C. and is a big factor for the ex-pitcher, but Mills merely laughed.

Monday was a bad day for local baseball fans as Kingston, the Hamilton Frontenacs, champions of the Kingston girls' loop, experienced their downfall in defeating the locals Belleville Fruit, winners of the local girls' loop, by 25 to 2 runs. It was said about this game would only be fair to state that the visitors were far superior for their local rivals. Although the two teams are tied for first place they are not in the third game, if necessary is to be played off on Wednesday evening we are of the opinion that there will be no way that the locals can possibly after witnessing last night's tilt. The visitors were just too much for their Belleville rivals, that's all.

Like a bolt from the blue it was announced last week that Ottawa had both Pittsburgh and Ottawa had applied for berths in the National Hockey League. With the re-entering of these two clubs it gives the N.H.L. a ten teamed circuit again. Just where two clubs expect to purchase their players is still a deep dark mystery. Even Detroit, who clung hard at the Canadian border last winter, will have to relinquish extensively this season. No doubt many amateur will "go up" this fall.

FRUIT GIRLS OUTCLASSED

Frontenacs of Kingston Win First Playoff Game 25-2

Completely outclassing their Belleville rivals the Kingston Frontenac girls' softball club, winners of the Kingston girls' loop, gave the Belleville Fruit team, winners of the local league a 25 to 2 trimming at the Armouries lawn last night.

The Kingstonians were far too good both in the field and especially at the bat for their local rivals. The battery of Marion Walker and Marion Grass of Napanee, simply baffled through the entire game and never pressed at any period during the game. Marion Walker allowed but five hits, while coupled with these the visitors committed three errors which helped to swell the scoring one of the Belleville runs.

Besides being somewhat erratic in the field when they committed no less than seven errors Belleville Fruit players seemed to assume the beaten attitude long before the game was over. Ten innings was completed. Norma Cooke hurled for the locals and her offerings were nicked for 16 hits, many of which were for extra bases, respectively.

The two clubs are playing the return game in Kingston this evening and as the Belleville Fruit club won the last evening's game by one game, if necessary, will be played in Belleville Wednesday evening.

The line-up:

Kingston, Frontenacs—G. Golledge; E. North; F. Sinclair; M. Grass; M. Walker; L. Prentice, Allen, J. Ferguson, C. Frederick; R. Comeau.

Belleville Fruit—Gehna; Finger; Leavey; Smith; Bland; L. Meduke; Warham; Simmons; B. McGuire; Cook.

Runs by innings:

Frontenacs ..... 142 576—25 16 3

Belleville Fruit ..... 000 020—2 5 7

Batteries—A. Twigg of Kingston; A. Meagher of Belleville.

PLAYER DEALS ARE PUT THRU

Every Club in N. H. L. is Strengthening For Long Grind

Toronto, Aug. 23—Several important player deals were rounded up in the personnel of the big league squads remain in the fold for today following the decision of governors and managers of the National League at the semi-annual meeting yesterday to readmit Ottawa, Detroit and Pittsburgh to their jackets to the league race making it a 13 club league.

Although only two important player deals were rounded up at the meeting many others are pending and a number of unidentified moves will be seen in action when the N.H.L. grind commences early in November.

Decision of the governing board in relation to the application of Messrs. Norris and Shaughnessy, who applied for the franchise of the Detroit, Hockey Club, which transferred to Chicago in the International and Olympics in the International circuit brought about a decision as it was previously rumored the wealthy Chicago sportsmen and Mr. Norris personally completed arrangements to run the Detroit franchise.
